ROOSEVELT DECLARES WAR AS THE REPUBLICANS MOVE TO KILL HIS FISCAL PROGRAM

ALBANY FIGHT OPENS TODAY

REPUBLICANS HOLD CAUCUS

Pledge Themselves Unanimously to the Fiscal Bill Cuts, Made by Committee.

EXTRA SESSION THREATENED

Executive Says He Will Insist on His Gasoline Measure and Lower Income Tax.

By W. A. WARN.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 26.—An open declaration of war by Governor Roosevelt on the Republican leaders of the Legislature because of their efforts to ditch his fiscal program and substitute one of their own brought definitely to an end today the era of good feeling at the Capitol which the Governor urged in his inaugural address and his annual message to the Legislature.

From developments here today it appears inevitable that the present session of the Legislature will end amid the same storm and stress that marked the relations between Governor Roosevelt's Democratic predecessor, Alfred E. Smith, and the Republicans in the Legislature. The Republican leaders said today they were fully prepared to meet the Governor on his own ground.

They have fortified themselves for the fray by taking counsel with the members of the Republican majority in both branches of the Legislature at conferences which were held behind closed doors. Tonight the lines are drawn as closely at the Capitol as they ever have been during the last six years of Democratic occupancy of the executive chair.

Governor Issues Challenge.

The Governor announced late this afternoon that he would not accept the Republican bill offered last night as a substitute for his own measure providing for a gasoline tax, even though this involved calling an extra session of the Legislature to provide for the financial needs of the State. There has not been such a session since 1914, when the Republican-controlled Assembly took "French leave" without concurring in the appropriation bill passed by the Democratic-controlled Senate, with the result that the lawmakers were compelled to spend sweltering July days at the Capitol, engaged in the tedious work of budget making.

Governor Roosevelt also declared today that he would stand firmly to the end for his recommendation for a 20 per cent reduction in the personal income tax, which would make impossible, within the State's present financial resources, elimination of the direct State tax on realty to which the Republicans are pledged through their platform. The Governor said he would insist on a cut in the personal income tax "because it will do the greatest good to the greatest number."

The Executive feels that in taking a firm stand on his fiscal program and against the changes made by the Republicans he will have the people of the State behind him.

"The Governor's bill or nothing," is the way the Democrats in the Legislature define the situation. Even though the matter was put somewhat less bluntly in the Executive Chamber this afternoon, it was clear from what Mr. Roosevelt said that he can see only a fight to the finish, and is ready to go through with it.

Nor is the warfare foreshadowed by developments today to be confined to the budget bills, main and supplementary. Governor Roosevelt also denounced a bill which the Republican leaders caused to be introduced last night to supersede a similar measure providing for a study of the public service commission law and the present system of public service regulation which had been introduced a week earlier with the Governor's approval. He holds that the Republican bill is designed to obstruct the scope of the proposed inquiry.

On this issue the Republicans are expected to stand their ground and the Governor his. The Governor has the veto power over any measure to investigate the Public Service Commission that the Republican Legislature passes.

The Governor's outspoken denunciation of Republican tactics in the present session was confined to these two measures, but there is no doubt in the minds of observers at the Capitol that Mr. Roosevelt had in

Coolidge Seeks Way to Keep The Three White House Dogs

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President and Mrs. Coolidge, who are very fond of pets, have three dogs, two collies and a chow. The President desires to keep them, if possible, but he does not know whether he will be able to do so or not.

So many friends have asked for the dogs, however, that it may even prove necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge to take them back to Northampton with them in order to avoid many disappointments. At the old Coolidge home the pets would find only a small yard in which to run.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 26.—When I was called upon to cease all political activity I answered that such a demand could come only from the most abject officials and nobody but a renegade could accede. I doubt if the Stalinists themselves expected any other answer. A month went by without incident. Our relations with the outside world were completely cut off, even illegal relations with political friends who despite the government's watchfulness succeeded in keeping me supplied at Almaata with the most complete news happenings in Moscow and other centres until the end of 1928.

In January I received nothing but Moscow newspapers and the more they talked about government measures against the Right Wing the more we realized that we must expect an offensive against the Left. That is Stalin's method.

The Order of Exile.

The OGPU agent, Volynski, sent from Moscow had remained at Almaata all this time awaiting instructions. On Jan. 20 he came to me, flanked by several armed police, who immediately occupied all entrances and exits of the house and handed me the following extract from the OGPU decree, dated Jan. 18:

Whereas citizen Trotsky Leon Davydovitch is guilty of infractions of Article 58 of the criminal code against counter-revolutionary activity, having formed an illegal party which recently has engaged in fomenting anti-Soviet revolts and is preparing for armed struggle against Soviet power it is hereby decreed that citizen Trotsky Leon Davydovitch is expelled from the territory of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

When I was asked to sign a receipt of this document, I wrote:

The decision of the OGPU, criminal in substance and illegal in form, was communicated to me Jan. 20, 1929.

REICHSTAG A "CARICATURE"

Foreign Minister Asserts It Has Lost Sense of Responsibility —Pleads for Coalition.

HE SAYS HE MAY QUIT SOON

Alleged Franco-Belgian War Pact Intensifies Difficulty—The Steel Helmets Disclaim Idea of Coup.

By WYTHE WILLIAMS.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The political situation precipitated today by the new failure to form a coalition government, following as it did the report of the alleged Franco-Belgian military agreement, may contain elements of greater trouble for the German republic than anything that has happened since the congress at Weimar.

For a full week the "Steel Helmets," an organization of reactionary war veterans, have been agitating until the entire press is filled with sinister suggestions ranging from the establishment of a mere dictatorship, possibly to be personified by President von Hindenburg, to the appointment of an "imperial administrator" with functions similar to those of Admiral Horthy, Regent of Hungary.

Present Régime Criticized.

Although President von Hindenburg has taken strenuous measures to curb the Monarchists, at least temporarily, today's repudiation of Dr. Stresemann, the Foreign Minister, by his own party in its failure to heed his request to abide by a coalition, even though the party later indicated that it might support the coalition, will certainly provide fresh arguments against the existing régime.

Dr. Stresemann, while preparing to leave for Geneva to attend the March session of the Council of the League, decided to tackle his own party representatives today and he did not mince words with them in assuring them of the gravity of the situation. Speaking as Foreign Minister of the Reich, as well as their party chieftain, he solemnly reminded them that a dictatorship might not be outside the realm of possibility. He even declared that in view of his bad health he would probably resign in the very near future. Dr. Stresemann said:

"Do not deceive yourselves. We are on the eve of a grave Parliamentary crisis. First, because our Parliamentary system has become a caricature and secondly because our Parliament has lost its sense of responsibility toward the people.

"Must Limit Party Power."

"We must find a way to keep the Cabinet in power at least for the present, because our experts in Paris would lose all moral support if at the moment they signed agreements involving the fate of generations, our government were to collapse. I consider it the duty of the men at the helm of government to remain in their places even if the waves wash the deck and the crew talks of mutiny. Responsibility to the State comes first, responsibility to the party second.

"I call upon you to give the other parties an example showing that we are anxious to bring about party reform. We must demand that the power of parties be limited."

But despite Dr. Stresemann's eloquence a resolution calling upon the People's party to adhere to the coalition was voted down. The party found a convenient excuse for not supporting the Minister, namely, that the budget, in its present form,

Maniac Slashes Five in Times Square Subway; Knife Scatters Rush-Hour Crowds in Panic

Hundreds of homeward-bound passengers became panic-stricken in the Times Square subway station at the peak of yesterday's rush hour just before 6 P. M. when an ironworker apparently went insane and started to slash wildly at those about him with a butcher knife. He injured five persons before he was subdued.

The maniac cleared a space of about twenty feet on the upper level of the station, which a few moments before had been a milling mass of humanity, the throngs greater than usual because of the heavy rain. Women screamed and those near exits forced their way out and ran to the street crying for help.

A few of the more daring men and one 15-year-old schoolboy made futile attempts to grapple with the crazed man and seize his knife. In nearly every case they were cut, some of them severely. Leon Lavay, 21 years old, of 117 Clymer Street, the most seriously injured, was taken to New York Hospital, where he was treated for deep stab wounds in the chest and back. Nathan Feldman, the schoolboy, of 1,432 Forty-third Street, Brooklyn, is in the same hospital, having suffered lacerations of the right arm and chest. Paul M. Thate, 35, of 142 West Forty-fourth Street, and Richard Enthrup, 37, of 318 Twenty-first Street, Union City, N. J., went home after treatment for minor wounds.

The first policeman to reach the scene was Patrolman Harry Schaffel of Traffic B, on duty at Forty-second Street and Seventh Avenue. As soon as he heard the cries for help he forced his way into the crowded station and found the man menacing men and women with his knife. Although Schaffel held a revolver in his hand, he was afraid to shoot because of the danger of hitting some one else, and crept up on the man with a blackjack. Before Schaffel was able to fell him he was cut on the left hand and his uniform slashed in several places.

At the West Forty-seventh Street station, where the man was taken, the police learned that he was John Kipt, 28, of 243 East Tenth Street. In broken English he said he had come here from Germany about two years ago. His incoherence made it impossible for anything further to be learned concerning him. He was treated by Dr. Palermo of Flower Hospital at the police station and removed to the prison ward at Bellevue for observation.

WAR LORDS MENACE CHINA'S GOVERNMENT

SHANTUNG RISING UNCURBED

Nationalist Aid to Loyalists Will Serve to Prevent Feng From Seizing Province.

By HENRY F. MISSELWITZ.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—The quickened activities of the widespread factions working against the present Nanking régime are rapidly giving rise to the growth of fear of Chinese Communist uprisings, which, in conjunction possibly with other young radical groups within the Kuomintang, or Nationalist party, is seen as a vital factor pressaging, if not the defeat of the Nationalist Government at least sweeping political changes looking toward less centralized control.

The unrest, which is increasingly evident on every hand, is evidenced not only in the outbreak in Northern Shantung, where General Chang Tsung-chang, former Military Governor of the province, is rebelliously seeking to regain control of his former domain, but in the western and southern areas, where the dissenting leaders, although ostensibly continuing to profess allegiance to Nanking, are reliably reported to be preparing a political coup d'état at the coming session of the third National Kuomintang Congress on March 15 at Nanking.

Dissatisfaction Is Rife.

The situation as it is at present is virtually one of armed neutrality among the various sections within the Nationalist Government's loose federation, and while it is premature to predict an actual outbreak dissatisfaction is apparent. The return of President Chiang Kai-shek to the capital yesterday tended to ease the situation, but persons in close touch with affairs are inclined to view the movements of the leaders at the Wuhan, Canton and Honan centres with growing alarm.

The heads of these areas, following the recent military demobilization parleys at Nanking, returned to their various capitals, and the Nationalist Government, declared that reports of their insincerity were unfounded, the explanation being that they had merely returned to carry out the program of reducing their armies as outlined at the conference. However, doubts have been growing as to the practicality of that program, opinion being that none of the military leaders is yet willing to disband and that the success of the optimistic project will be at least long delayed.

Red Revolt in Honan.

Meanwhile troubles have broken out in Honan, where the Nationalist Government's appointee as chairman of the provincial government was forced to flee Changsha for Nanking, following what is described as a Red uprising against him. Governor General Lu Tih-ping telegraphing the State Council that Communist troops in armored trains had attacked the capital, shooting scores of non-combatants with machine guns and forcing him to flee.

General Li Chung-jen, head of the Wuhan area, has defended the action, however, asserting Lu Tih-ping is a Communist and that hence he was forced to oust Lu as Governor. Li Chung-jen, who is a member of the Kuangsi clique, which has been long in opposition to the Chiang Kai-shek group, is further declared to be affiliated with the Kwangtung faction of Marshal Li Chai-sum, the Canton Governor, and also a Kuangsi partisan. These, together with General Pei Chung-hsi, the Field Marshal now commanding the forces in the Tientsin area, are reliably reported to be allied against the leaders of the present Nanking régime.

Pei Chung-hsi, who is one of the ablest military men in the entire revolution, has resigned because of illness and is planning to return to Kuangsi forthwith. This powerful alignment, therefore, would seem to

FIXES SETTLEMENT TERMS

Rigid Code Embraces Reforms Urged by Wasservogel After His Inquiry.

The most revolutionary rules ever devised to regulate the conduct of lawyers, especially in negligence cases, and designed to end "ambulance chasing" or soliciting of retainers for any other branch of litigation were announced yesterday by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department. The rules apply only to the attorneys in New York and Bronx Counties.

The new code, which also deals with the terms and with the settlement of litigation, is the response of Presiding Justice Dowling and Associate Justices Merrell, Finch, McAvoy, Martin, O'Malley and Proskauer to the recommendations made by Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel in his report last October on his investigation for the Appellate Division.

The new rules prescribe many of the requirements which Justice Wasservogel recommended as necessary to stop ambulance-chasing, the only important features of the Wasservogel report omitted from the rules being those regarded as requiring legislative action. Bills have already been introduced to effect these reforms.

Stress Importance of Rules.

Lawyers who studied the new code yesterday said that the rules far transcend in importance the disciplinary proceedings now pending against seventy-four lawyers whose cases figured in the investigation because they declared to be "professional misconduct" any violation of the rules, and also provided for a session of court at any time for the investigation of such violations.

George T. Campbell, clerk of the Appelate Division, said that the special rules now promulgated were suggested originally by the City Bar Association and the New York and Bronx County Associations. These rules are the result of the deliberations of the Appellate Division on the suggestions of the associations and the recommendations of Justice Wasservogel, Mr. Campbell said.

The first rule announced provides for their application to all attorneys practicing in the First Department, while the second, under the head of "Solicitation," says:

"No attorney shall directly or indirectly solicit a retainer or employment to present, settle, prosecute or defend any claim or action, or employ or authorize any person so to solicit on his behalf."

"Champerty and Maintenance" Rule.

The third rule, relating to "Champerty and Maintenance," incorporates in the new code Section 274 of the penal law in similar wording. For the violation of this section the penal law provides punishment as for a misdemeanor and also forfeiture of the right to practice law. This rule, which applies not only to negligence cases but to street openings and other branches of litigation which in the past have been profitable for lawyers, says:

"No attorney shall by himself, or by or in the name of another person, either before or after action brought, promise, give or procure, or permit to be promised or given, any valuable consideration to any person as an inducement to placing in his hands, or in the hands of another person, any claim for the purpose of making a claim or bringing an action or special proceeding thereon, or defending the same; nor shall any attorney, directly or indirectly, as a consideration for such retainer, pay any expenses attending the prosecution

RIGHTS FOR SHAREHOLDERS

$29,247,350 COSTS ERASED

Savings Cover Dividend on Added Shares—Common to Total $1,250,000,000.

Under a sweeping capital readjustment approved by the directors yesterday, the United States Steel Corporation will eliminate $271,385,000 of funded debt, increase its authorized common stock from 7,533,210 to 12,500,000 shares of $100 par and place in the hands of the public a vast amount of additional stock through a subscription offer which will rank as one of the largest transactions of its kind in financial history. The additional $496,679,000 par value to be authorized gives the company a total common stock capital of $1,250,000,000.

The plan, of which the corporation's chief financial officer, Myron C. Taylor, gave only a broad outline yesterday, calls for a complete revamping of the capital structure. It will erase all the bonded indebtedness of the corporation proper, leaving outstanding only the obligations of subsidiary companies, amounting to about $200,000,000, and the preferred and common shares.

Details of the stock offer were not revealed, but it is expected that the amount to be sold, the subscription price and the ratio to present holdings will be announced before the annual meeting of stockholders on April 30. The recapitalization plan will be ratified at that time unless it is decided to call a special meeting before then.

Step Revealed After Market Close.

The corporation announced its proposed reconstruction program in a statement at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, which said in part:

"At the regular meeting of the directors of the United States Steel Corporation held today approval was given of a plan for submission to the stockholders for an increase of the authorized common stock of the corporation to 12,500,000 shares (par value $100 each).

"Upon the increase being effected, it is the present intention of the directors to offer to the common stockholders the right to subscribe for additional shares, the amount, the ratio to present holdings and the price, terms and dates of payment to be fixed in the offer when made.

"Funds received from the sale to stockholders of the shares of common stock thus to be offered, together with such portion as the directors may then decide upon employing of the cash resources of the corporation in hand representing surplus and other reserves, will be employed to redeem by purchase and to call for retirement all or part of the bonds of the United States Steel Corporation as the directors may elect, of which there were outstanding Dec. 31, 1928, $134,830,000 of fifty-year 5 per cent gold bonds of 1951 and $136,555,000 ten sixty-year 5 per cent bonds of 1963."

Bond Charges Cut by $29,247,350.

Retirement of these bonds will result in a reduction of fixed charges of $29,247,350. Such saving in net income will exceed the dividend requirements, based on the present rate of the additional common stock to be sold, the statement says.

Stockholders also will be asked to ratify a revision of the corporation's employes' stock subscription plan, to give the directors the option, under the New Jersey statutes, of issuing

HOOVER EXPECTED TO NAME W. D. MITCHELL, A DEMOCRAT, AS HIS ATTORNEY GENERAL

NOW SOLICITOR GENERAL

President-Elect Is Said to Be Awaiting Word He Will Accept.

HE QUALIFIES AS A DRY

MANILA OFFER FOR DONOVAN

But He Declined Governorship and Is Reported Disinclined to Take War Post.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President-elect Hoover has at last found the man he wants for Attorney General. He is William D. Mitchell of Minnesota, the present Solicitor General of the United States. And he is a Democrat.

But finding the man and getting his acceptance are different things.

"In no circumstances will Mitchell accept," said friends of the Democratic Solicitor General.

They asserted that he had already determined to practice law in New York. "There is nothing to it," was the answer to inquiries at Mr. Mitchell's office this afternoon.

Nevertheless, there is substantial reason to believe that Mr. Hoover wants Mr. Mitchell to be head of the government's legal branch. Perhaps he has not yet made a definite offer to Mr. Mitchell. But the "nothing to it" of this afternoon was followed this evening by a refusal to say anything.

Donovan's Status "in the Air."

Colonel William J. Donovan of New York has received an offer of and has declined the office of Governor General of the Philippines to succeed Colonel Henry L. Stimson of New York, who is on his way from Manila to Washington to enter Mr. Hoover's Cabinet as Secretary of State.

It was the understanding among Colonel Donovan's friends late tonight that he had also had the offer of the position of Secretary of War and had declined it.

But opinion persists that Colonel Donovan is not definitely out of the running for Secretary of War. He has postponed until tomorrow his prospective departure for Santa Fé to resume his temporary duties as chairman of the commission which is laying the preliminaries for an agreement between California, Arizona and Nevada for allocation of the waters of the Colorado River under the Boulder Canyon Dam project. The expectation is that Mr. Donovan will see the President-elect again tomorrow.

On account of the close personal relations that have existed between Mr. Hoover and Colonel Donovan, some of those in informed political circles refuse to believe that Colonel Donovan has been eliminated from consideration for Cabinet honors.

Mitchell Qualifies for Office.

To return to Solicitor General Mitchell, the understanding is that the President-elect has come to the conclusion that Mr. Mitchell is well qualified in every respect to fill the office that has given Mr. Hoover the most trouble to fill.

One of the qualifications laid down by Mr. Hoover is that the Attorney General must be a "constitutional dry," which means that he must believe in the principle of prohibition. It is assumed that Mr. Hoover has satisfied himself that Mr. Mitchell fits that requirement; otherwise he would not have decided that Mr. Mitchell is the man he wants to head the Department of Justice, to which the prohibition unit is to be transferred from the Treasury Department if Mr. Hoover has his way after he becomes President.

Weeks ago the name of Solicitor General Mitchell was brought into the gossip about the Attorney Generalship. It was beginning to be rumored then that Colonel Donovan was not to have this office. When Mr. Mitchell heard that friends of his were urging Mr. Hoover to give the justice portfolio to him he passed the word that he would like them to abandon the effort.

But admirers of Mr. Mitchell insisted on telling Mr. Hoover what a splendid lawyer the Solicitor General was. Among them were Justices of the Supreme Court.

"Why," Mr. Hoover was credited with exclaiming to one of them or perhaps it was a group of them, "he's a Democrat."

But now the information at hand is that Mr. Mitchell's Democracy is not to stand in the way of a Cabinet offer to him from the Republican President-elect.

It will not be unprecedented for a Republican President to have a

Testimonials Pave the Way for Petty Graft, He Says—Gets Merchants' Data This Week.

Police Commissioner Whalen issued two orders modifying traffic regulations yesterday, but stood pat on the system of vehicular control he has established in the Times Square section. Meanwhile, midtown civic associations hurried to complete their surveys so as to present to him the "facts and figures" he has demanded to support their petitions for a change.

One order signed by the commissioner yesterday abolishes one-way streets between Sixty-second and 110th Streets. The other permits traffic to go to the left of street car safety zones at the discretion of traffic policemen.

In addition to these orders affecting traffic, the commissioner placed a ban upon testimonial dinners for members of the police department unless sanctioned by him, on the ground that such functions too often serve as an incentive to petty graft, not only from subordinate members of the department but from merchants as well.

Data Ready This Week.

Meanwhile, Dr. John A. Harriss, president of the Broadway Association, which has led the movement to revise the theatre zone traffic plan, announced that his organization's data on the effect the new regulations have had upon merchants would be ready the latter part of this week. Afterward, he said, he hoped to meet the commissioner and urge upon him personally the need for modifications. Dr. Harriss said he expected to meet the Transit Commissioners Friday or Saturday to discuss his plan for converting Broadway and Seventh Avenue into one-way streets from Thirty-fourth to Fifty-ninth Street, including re-routing of surface cars.

In addition to the data which the Broadway Association is preparing to submit, Mr. Whalen will receive

Red Factions Battle Here Over Trotsky Exile; Stalin Followers Break Up Protest Meeting

Trotskyites and anti-Trotskyites, howling imprecations, fought with fists, umbrellas and finger nails last night at Labor Temple, 242 East Fourteenth Street, when the New York Opposition Group of the Communist party tried to protest against Trotsky's deportation from Russia.

Before the melee was ended, the police had intervened twice, throwing out disturbers. Reserves from three near-by police stations and two detective squads took part in the second visit, making such a show of force that the Stalinites departed in a body. They had succeeded in breaking up the opposition's meeting, because the minority group leaders refused to proceed under police protection.

"We protest at the Fascist tactics of these gangsters," shouted Martin Abern, chairman of the meeting and one of the editors of The Militant, periodical of the Communist minority. "They have brought in the police and we don't want them. We'll hold another meeting, so organized that we can take care of ourselves."

About 400 persons had paid twenty-five cents apiece to enter. As a protest against the Stalin régime in Russia it was a failure, but as a free-for-all fight it had magnificent moments. Over the church pews and down the aisles of the Labor Temple whirlpools of flying fists and umbrellas swirled amid howls from partisan comrades and screams from struggling women and girls.

Buxom Charlotte Cerdays in this factional fight leaped enthusiastically at all opponents. One Trotskyite, charged with the task of guarding the platform, gained two black eyes by collision with Stalin arguments.

It all started when Comrade Abern announced the meeting was being held by the minority movement, which had stood faithfully for the revolution and Trotsky since some event which he had no chance to mention.

"Boo!" yelled a majority of his audience.

"Counter-revolutionary!"

"Fascist!"

"You're no workingman!"

The business of the evening began at once in half a dozen parts of the hall. It continued with some lulls for about an hour and a half. As fighters tired or suddenly found themselves propelled into outer darkness, a revolutionary ballad sung with gusto took the place of the fighting. The title of this piece was "Solidarity."

Clerk, 64, Finds $20 'Shortage' and Ends Life; Officials Discover He Erred and Had Surplus

Special to The New York Times.

HARRISON, N. J., Feb. 26.—When government inspectors visited the branch postoffice here Monday afternoon Arthur J. Kubler, a stamp clerk for twenty years, quickly tabulated his accounts. Figuring hurriedly, his totals left $20 unaccounted for. Kubler wrote a worthless check to cover the shortage. The inspectors studied the balanced figures briefly and moved on to another window.

Sixty-four years old, Kubler had worked in postoffices at Newark, Irvington and Harrison for twenty years and had never been short in his accounts. His perfect record of honesty and accuracy was, his fellow-employes say, his principal pride.

When all others had left the postoffice building last night Kubler stayed on. He wrote to his wife Theresa, with whom he lived at 106 Ampere Parkway, East Orange:

"I have committed an act in my life that only my life can pay for. I covered a shortage in my stamp account with a check when I had no deposit in the bank. * * * Now I am disgraced.

"Darling, darling, you have been such a good wife to me that you must think I am a low cur, but please try and forgive me."

To his son Ferdinand of 288 North Fourth Street, Newark, Kubler wrote a second note, addressed to "My dear children." He said that he hoped his "downfall" would be a lesson, and asked them to "say a kind word for me, as this is my first crime."

He took a postoffice pistol from a drawer of his desk, turned out his desk light and went to the rear of the dark office. There, seated in a chair, he killed himself by sending a bullet through his neck.

John Campion, parcels post clerk, entered the office at 6 o'clock this morning. He discovered the body and telephoned the police.

Late this afternoon postoffice inspectors again examined the stamp account. They found that Kubler had been mistaken. There was 31 cents more in his tray than the account called for.

Democrat in his Cabinet, Rutherford B. Hayes had one. Theodore Roosevelt appointed two Democrats, Luke E. Wright and Jacob M. Dickinson, both Tennesseeans, to the office of Secretary of War. One of Mr. Mitchell's recent predecessors as Solicitor General, Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis, who served under the Taft Administration, was a Democrat.

Among Mr. Hoover's visitors today was Justice Harlan F. Stone of the Supreme Court, to whom Mr. Hoover offered the Attorney Generalship, which Mr. Stone declined after eminent jurists and friends of Mr. Hoover had come to the conclusion that it would be bad practice to make the Supreme Court a stepping stone to political office. Justice Stone served for a short time as Attorney General under President Coolidge.

The inference is that Justice Stone's conversation with Mr. Hoover had to do with the promotion of Solicitor General Mitchell to the Attorney Generalship. The justices of the Supreme Court have been enthusiastic over Mr. Mitchell's abilities as a lawyer.

Bolstered on Early Hoover Man.

The status of Colonel Donovan as a Cabinet possibility fits into the story of Mr. Mitchell as the prospective Attorney General. Colonel Donovan now holds the title of Assistant to the Attorney General. He was one of the first members of the Coolidge Administration to espouse the pre-convention Presidential cause of Mr. Hoover. He came out for the Hoover candidacy when there was considerable uncertainty in administration circles as to just what Mr. Coolidge meant by "I do not choose to run for President in 1928."

When Mr. Hoover was preparing his speech of acceptance at Palo Alto last Summer Colonel Donovan was with him. Colonel Donovan made another trip to California to see Mr. Hoover, presumably at the latter's request. It was taken for granted in political quarters, from the moment Mr. Hoover was elected President, that Colonel Donovan would be his Attorney General.

When Mr. Hoover came back to this country from his Latin-American tour Bishop James Cannon and other leaders of dry organizations began to lay before the President-elect objections to having Colonel Donovan as Attorney General.

Many of them conceded that he was personally a dry and that he had a fine record in prosecuting violations of the prohibition law when he was attorney for the Western District of New York at Buffalo, but they charged that he did not believe in his heart that prohibition was a good thing for the country. They cited some statements to that effect attributed to Colonel Donovan.

They declared that if the prohibition enforcement branch of the Treasury Department was transferred to the Department of Justice it would necessarily be here at the latter department some one who did not believe in the efficacy of prohibition.

Others made representations to President-elect Hoover about Colonel Donovan. Dry members of Congress joined with the dry organization leaders in protesting against putting him at the head of the Department of Justice. Some asserted that, if he got the Attorney Generalship, the drys in Congress would prevent the transfer of the prohibition unit to that department.

"Religious Issue" Apprehended.

According to the information of THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, other members of Congress, professing to be friends of Colonel Donovan, represented to the President-elect that if Colonel Donovan, a Catholic, became Attorney General, every official act of his that appeared to be favorable to a Catholic or detrimental to a Protestant would arouse suspicion that he was actuated by religious prejudice.

Ultimately it became known that Colonel Donovan was not to be Attorney General.

It was accepted that the President-elect intended to offer him the position of Secretary of War, for which he was fitted by reason of his experience in the New York National Guard, with service on the Mexican border in 1916, and the ability he showed in France during the World War as colonel of the 165th Infantry, best known as New York's Sixty-ninth Regiment. He received many decorations and citations from his own and the allied governments, and is one of the comparatively few men holding the Congressional Medal of Honor, awarded to him for extraordinary bravery in action.

While President-elect Hoover is maintaining silence concerning his selections for Cabinet posts, this reticence is modified with regard to places in the "Little Cabinet," which consists of the chief subordinates of Cabinet officers.

It was made known today that three members of the present "Little Cabinet" would be retained under the Hoover administration. All three have to do with aeronautical activities of the government. They are F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics; Warren J. Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, who is devoting himself to extending air mail services, and William P. MacCracken, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics.

Offer to Adams Unconfirmed.

There still remains uncertainty as to several places on Mr. Hoover's Cabinet slate. Doubts are arising in some minds that the Navy portfolio has definitely been offered to Charles Francis Adams of Massachusetts, although the statement from quarters in Boston, apparently informed on the subject, is positive that the tender has been made and accepted.

Decisions as to the War and Agricultural portfolios seem to hang in the balance, but there is no reliable information that Mr. Hoover has not made up his mind with regard to both posts.

Nothing beyond the impression in New England congressional circles that William F. Whiting of Massachusetts, the present Secretary of Commerce, is to retain that position temporarily pending the arrival in Washington of some one Mr. Hoover has selected for it, has appeared concerning that office, in which Mr. Hoover has a deep interest by reason of his having filled it for more than seven years.

Uncertainty has arisen also in regard to the Secretaryship of Labor. William N. Doak of West Virginia, a vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, was understood to have been picked for that position. Union Labor leaders now indicate that they have information that there may be a switch in spite of the fact that the selection of Mr. Doak was set down as certain. Out of this doubt has come the suggestion that James J. Davis of Pennsylvania will remain as Secretary of Labor. He and Mr. Hoover entered the Harding Cabinet on the same day.

Hoover's Visitors During Day.

William R. Castle, Assistant Secretary of State, was another visitor at the Hoover home during the day. While it was said that he called merely to pay his respects, an inference is that he discussed with the President-elect the procedure necessary in designating a Secretary of State ad interim for the period between the retirement of Secretary Kellogg on March 4 or 5 and the arrival here of Colonel Stimson. Colonel Stimson will not be able to reach Washington until late in March.

Vice President Dawes had luncheon with Mr. Hoover. He went to the Hoover residence with Mrs. Dawes, but she left after a few minutes to preside at a farewell luncheon given to Mrs. Coolidge. The utmost cordiality prevailed between the President-elect and the Vice President. In the pre-convention campaign, General Dawes supported the Presidential aspirations of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Mr. Hoover's chief rival for the nomination.

Senator Hastings and Senator-elect Townsend of Delaware called on Mr. Hoover to pay their respects.

Postmaster General and Mrs. Harry S. New will have luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Hoover tomorrow, while among those having appointments to confer with the President-elect are Representatives Fish and Tabor of New York.

Mitchell a Coolidge Appointee.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 26.—William D. Mitchell of this city, Solicitor General of the United States, who is reported from Washington as being sought by President-elect Hoover for Attorney General, was born in Winona, Minn., fifty-five years ago. He obtained his education in Lawrenceville Academy, Yale University and the University of Minnesota. He was graduated from the Law College of the University of Minnesota in 1896 and began the practice of law in Winona.

About thirty years ago he came to St. Paul, and later became a member of the law firm that was headed by Pierce Butler, now associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Mitchell, while a self-declared Democrat, was appointed by President Coolidge as Solicitor General, taking office June 4, 1925. Some time ago he announced his resignation, to take effect as soon after March 4 as could be effected.

HOOVER'S AIDES TO GATHER

He Will Spend Short Time With Those Who Worked Overseas.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Inauguration week will also be reunion, conference and committee week in Washington.

Aside from many social events, groups ranging in interests from the "Hoover overseas and war service organizations, 1914-1924" to the Republican National Committee, will meet here.

The seven wartime and post-war agencies formed by and around Hoover will hold their annual dinner Sunday night and the President-elect will come in and foregather briefly with the men and women who worked with him overseas. The Republican National Committee meeting to be held March 5 will be the first ever called during the inauguration week. It takes the place of the meeting usually held in January.

State societies are arranging dinners, receptions, buffet suppers, theatre parties and other jollifications in honor of the Governors and other visitors who are to be here from every State.

Hoover's Brother Unable to Come.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Dr. Theodore Hoover, dean of the Stanford University School of Engineering, the only brother of the President-elect, is suffering from a severe case of bronchitis and cannot come to the inauguration. Mrs. May Hoover Liggett of Los Angeles, Mr. Hoover's sister, and Alan Hoover, younger son of the President-elect, who is a student at Stanford, are on their way to Washington. Delegations of Mr. Hoover's Palo Alto, Stanford and West Branch (Iowa) neighbors are coming on special trains.

Says Adams Quit Harvard Office.

BOSTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Boston Herald will say tomorrow in a copyrighted article that Charles Francis Adams, who is reported to have accepted the portfolio of Secretary of the Navy in the Cabinet of President Hoover, has tendered his resignation as treasurer of Harvard College. The Herald also will say that Henry L. Shattuck, State Senator and Boston lawyer, has been chosen as Mr. Adams's successor at Harvard. The Harvard Corporation, after its regular meeting yesterday, issued a statement in which it said Mr. Adams had not resigned.

Flier From Mexico to Hail Hoover.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26 (AP).—An airplane journey to Washington to carry greetings from President Portes Gil of Mexico to the new President of the United States, was announced here today by Joaquin Gonzalez Pacheco, a wealthy young air enthusiast. He said he hoped to hop off on March 2, arriving in Washington the morning of inauguration day. The flight, it was said, has the approval of the Mexican Government. C. E. McMillan, an American, is to pilot the plane with Gonzalez Pacheco as passenger.

Curtis in Taking Oath to Use German Bible 365 Years Old

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Charles Curtis will use a Kansas-owned German Bible, 365 years old, when he takes the oath as Vice President.

Representative James G. Strong of Kansas offered the use of the Bible, now in possession of E4 Geis of Salina, to Senator Curtis, and the Senator, following a conference with Vice President Dawes, who will administer the oath, accepted.

The Bible is said to have been copyrighted under Emperor Ferdinand at Pressburg in February, 1564. It was brought to America in 1841 and has been in the Geis family for five generations.

Use of the Geis Bible was offered to President-elect Hoover, but he preferred his own family Bible, possessed by the Hoovers for several generations. Though a President has always taken oath with a Bible, this will be the first time that the Book has been employed for a Vice President at the Senate chamber ceremony.

COOLIDGE RELIEVED TO SEE TERM CLOSE

He Is Glad to Lay Down Responsibility and Regrets Only the Parting With Friends.

FEELS WELL, WEIGHS MORE

His Speedy Exit From Inauguration Picture Is Designed to Leave All Honors to Hoover.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Few Presidents have seen the end of their terms approach with such satisfaction as President Coolidge. He let it be known today that he had made his decision emphatically in August, 1927, and that he would lay down the responsibilities of five years and a half of the Presidency with great relief, although he would part with regret from his friends and associates here.

The President leaves office feeling that he has endeavored to act conscientiously for the benefit of the people. Although it was stated that he did not desire to point out what he considers the greatest achievement of his Administration, it is understood that he looks upon the three tax reductions, the settlement of the war debt, and the anti-war treaty as things that may stand out in history. He is especially proud of the conservative methods his Administration has followed—methods which did not disturb business.

A decision from which the President derives the utmost satisfaction is his refusal to run counter to the tradition against seeking a third term.

Weighs Ten Pounds More Now.

Mr. Coolidge goes back to private life and his small house in Northampton in excellent health. He is ten pounds heavier than when he entered office, and though he has taken no regular exercise, aside from short walks twice a day, this exercise being such as his physical strength permitted, tended to keep him in the best of condition.

Today the President was in the best of humor. He signed 256 photographs, had his picture taken with the newspaper correspondents, and appeared to be as happy as a schoolboy at the approach of a long Summer vacation. He let it be known that he has made no contracts for writing and no decision as to just what he will do upon retirement.

Mr. Coolidge believes that all the honors of inauguration day belong to the new President, and it is for that reason that he is planning to fade out of the picture as quickly as possible on March 4 and, following the precedent established by President Roosevelt, part with President Hoover at the Capitol after the ceremonies instead of returning to the White House.

Plan Farewells at Station.

President and Mrs. Coolidge will leave the inaugural stand at the end of the ceremonies and drive to Union Station, where they will say good-bye in the President's room to Cabinet members and friends before boarding the Montrealer of the Pennsylvania Railroad at 2:35 P. M. They will travel in a special car and be accompanied by a few old friends, including Frank W. Stearns of Boston.

The train will carry them direct to Northampton, Mass., where it is due soon after midnight. The plan is to switch the car off the train, so that the Coolidges need not arise until the next morning.

The rest of the present week here will be one of social gayety and leave-taking for the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Tonight they were the guests of Speaker and Mrs. Longworth. On Saturday night the President and Mrs. Coolidge will entertain the Cabinet members and their wives.

On Sunday night President-elect and Mrs. Hoover, Senator Curtis and Mrs. Edward H. Gann, sister of the Vice President-elect, will be dinner guests of the President and Mrs. Coolidge, who will show the President-elect and Mrs. Hoover about the White House, and inform them as to details of running the mansion.

AIR POLICE PICKED FOR INAUGURATION

Flying Patrol Will Keep Skies Clear for Aerial Parade of Army and Navy Craft.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Aerial policemen of the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce will patrol the skies here during the inauguration of President-elect Hoover, under plans revealed today by Edward P. Howard, chief of the Air Regulations Bureau of the department.

Commercial planes are to be barred from flying over the District of Columbia during the inauguration and the inaugural parade and during fixed hours next Saturday and the Tuesday following the inauguration.

Mr. Howard said he had ordered four department inspectors to Washington for the patrol of Bolling Field and the commercial airport here. They will take the air during the aerial inaugural parade to keep the skies clear for the military planes and airships which will take part.

FOR LENROOT APPOINTMENT

Senate Committee Also Reports Favorably on Glassie.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Varying views were expressed tonight as to the prospect for a vote in the Senate on the nominations of Irvin L. Lenroot of Wisconsin to be a judge of the United States Court of Customs Appeals, and Henry H. Glassie, a former tariff commissioner, to be a judge of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The nomination of Lenroot, a former Senator, was reported favorably by the Senate Judiciary Committee, 11 to 4.

Glassie was approved by the committee by a much closer margin, nine members of the committee voting in favor of his confirmation and seven against.

Plans Toronto-Mexico Flight.

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—Captain Errol Boyd, a Toronto flier, announced today he would attempt the first non-stop flight between Toronto and Mexico City, "in about a month's time." The plane will be used to carry mail and passengers, Captain Boyd said.

Wives of Senators Give A Desk to Mrs. Coolidge

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Coolidge today attended for the last time a meeting of the Senate Ladies' Luncheon Club, and an antique desk, for which she was once heard to express a wish, was presented to her.

The gift was made in recognition of Mrs. Coolidge's unfailing interest in the well-being of the club, of which she was president during the first few years of her Washington life, and the personal regard she has always shown for its members.

To Mrs. Dawes, the retiring president of the club, was presented a pair of silver candlesticks.

NORRIS WINS DELAY ON FUNDS FOR CRUISERS

After 50-to-13 Vote Favors Action, Hale Gives Senate Opponent a Day to Study Report.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Possibility of a fight in the Senate this afternoon against appropriations for the fifteen cruisers recently authorized was removed when Senator Hale, chairman of the Naval Committee, relinquished his effort to press the matter.

Mr. Hale had sought to force action on a conference report on the naval appropriations bill, in which the conferees had approved with a slight alteration the Senate amendments providing the cruiser money. But Senator Norris of Nebraska, one of the cruiser opponents, urged delay until the conference report could be studied. At first Mr. Hale pushed the issue determinedly, but later, on advice of Senate leaders, he allowed the matter to go over until tomorrow.

The conferees agreed to the $12,370,000 initial appropriation for the cruisers and one airplane carrier, and also to the Senate amendment that $200,000 should be immediately available to start work on the five 1929 ships. But they cut to $200,000 the $500,000 which the Senate had decided should be available July 1 to begin construction of the five 1930 vessels. They agreed to the Senate amendment that $570,000 for improving navy yards should be available at once.

When Mr. Hale asked unanimous consent to take up the conference report, Mr. Norris objected. Mr. Hale moved to take up the report, whereupon Mr. Norris demanded a quorum. A roll-call was taken and the Senate by vote of 50 to 13 decided to consider the matter. Senators Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Frazier, Norris and Nye, Republicans, and Black, Blease, Mayfield, Neely, Thomas of Oklahoma; Walsh of Montana and Wheeler, Democrats, voted in the negative.

Before the report was actually considered, the Senate became involved in a parliamentary tangle concerning its calendar and other subjects, at the end of which Mr. Hale said he had concluded Mr. Norris should have opportunity to study the report.

$5,000 WOOD PENSION VOTED BY THE HOUSE

Senate Figure for Widow of General Is Restored—Like Sum Granted to Mrs. Wilson.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The House tonight rejected the action of its Pension Committee in reducing the pension of Mrs. Leonard Wood, widow of the General, from the $5,000 a year voted by the Senate to $1,800, and accepted the measure as acted upon by the Senate. The bill now goes to the White House, where approval is expected.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill granting an annual pension of $5,000 to Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, the widow of the War President.

In the debate on the Wood pension bill, introduced by Representative Bacon of New York, Representatives Schafer, LaGuardia and Robison declared the committee neglectful of duty toward the widow of an army officer and public official who had contributed greatly to the nation.

ACTS ON GROCERY SURVEY.

Louisville Conference Approves Project to Study the Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 26.—The national conference of executives of the grocery industry passed a resolution today requesting that a committee from the conference be appointed to cooperate with a similar committee designated by the Secretary of Commerce in making a study of the Louisville grocery survey, and that when the survey is completed an adjourned meeting of the conference be called to hear the recommendations of the committee.

The committees would study the report on the trade and make suggestions at the adjourned meeting on the advisability of similar or related surveys. The project here was described as "history making" in another resolution.

Frank M. Surface of the Department of Commerce, outlined the Louisville survey as "a comprehensive fact-finding analysis of grocery distribution problems."

The conference was called by Secretary of Commerce Whiting and was conducted under auspices of the department and the board of directors of the Louisville Grocery Survey.

AMERICAN SHIP HITS ROCKS.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 27.—The wreck of an American steamship in the Black Sea was reported here today from Constanza. The ship's name was given as the Extavia, and belongs to the Export Steamship Corporation.

While endeavoring to evade Black Sea icebergs in order to enter Constanza Harbor, the ship struck the rocks on which the harbor lighthouse stands, sufferin serious damage below the water line. No lives were lost. The ship docked in a sinking condition.

FOCH, FACING DEATH, WAGES BRAVE FIGHT

2 OF 5 DOCTORS HOPELESS

But the Three Others Say the Old Warrior's Spirit May Carry Battle Along for Some Time.

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—Marshal Ferdinand Foch was said tonight to be slowly sinking from an illness with lung, heart and kidney complications. The old warrior who, on a desperate day in 1914, declared "My right is crushed, my left is in retreat, I am attacking with my centre," is at last apparently on the defensive on all fronts with but little hope of another victory.

His five physicians will consult again tomorrow afternoon. Two of them regard the case as virtually hopeless. The three others, remembering the Marshal's favorite aphorism, "A battle lost is a battle which one believes is lost, for battles are not lost materially," said that the spirit of the game old fighter might carry the battle along for some time.

This latest campaign of the former generalissimo of the Allied armies began on Jan. 14. The 77-year-old veteran made several advances against the inroads of disease, but none carried him to a point of safety. It was indeed hoped, only a week ago, that he might soon be transferred to the milder climate of Southern France.

Aside from his medical and nursing staff and his closest relatives, the Marshal has had to fight his battle alone. Although friends, comrades-in-arms and statesmen of several nations have signed the register at the Foch home, not even the most distinguished has been permitted to visit the sickroom.

The Marshal's mind has been almost abnormally active and it is his character to chafe at any restraint, so that his physicians feared that his strength would be strained by the stimulation of any visitors.

Even now, critically ill as he is, his physicians do not dare to say all in their formal bulletins, for the Marshal, still in his rôle of Commander-in-Chief, reads these communiques. Thus today's bulletin did not mention that his temperature had risen above 101 degrees.

FIFTH AV. ASSOCIATION MARKS ITS 21ST YEAR

The Fifth Avenue Association celebrated its coming of age last night with its twenty-first anniversary dinner, held for the last time in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf.

Tracing its descent from the merchant gulids of medieval cities, Dr. Frederick B. Robinson, president of City College, declared that the association has made Fifth Avenue "a worthy symbol of American business and American culture." Under its tutelage, he declared, Fifth Avenue has become the central trunk of the city.

Deploring the "low political conscience" of the city, Dr. Robinson said that if the devotion shown by the association to its district were only emulated throughout the city "then indeed New York City, the most magnificent, the most generous, the most prosperous in the world, would become not only the city of splendor, but also the city of high integrity and the abiding place of brotherly love."

ALFONSO BANS DEPUTATION.

King Won't Interfere in Politics, Spanish Border Hears.

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, Franco Spanish Frontier, Feb. 26 (AP).—Reports from the Spanish capital today described a different attitude than had previously been reported on the part of King Alfonso toward the present political situation. He was now represented as refusing to see or to talk politics with any outside the government of Premier Primo de Riveria.

His deep mourning for his mother was given as his reason for declining to receive Count de Romanones, Liberal; Marquis de Alhumcemas, Liberal, and Joquin Sanchez Toca, Conservative, all former Premiers, and Count de Bugallal, a former Minister who heads the moderate wing of the Conservative party.

However, the Duke of Miranda, major domo of the palace, informed them that the King was loath to intervene in the present situation and that for this reason also it would be useless to try to see him.

THORNE FORGIVES ELOPERS.

Then His Cowboy Son-in-Law Starts for Los Angeles to Seek a Job.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 26 (AP).—The parental storm which pursued George Gillespie, Arizona cowboy entertainer and curio dealer, and his heiress sweetheart, Katherine Thorne, on their elopement from Castle Hot Springs to Phoenix, abated here today. After the reconciliation, a formal announcement was made by Robert J. Thorne, former president of Montgomery Ward & Co., father of the bride, that the couple had been married and would live in the "West."

The honeymoon of the young couple, married here late yesterday and pursued by officers, came to an abrupt close as Gillespie departed for Los Angles "to seek a position."

After the bridegroom left, Mr. Thorne announced that his son-in-law would stay in the West where he had greater business opportunities."

Zeppelin to Start Trip on March 26.

If diplomatic difficulties prevent cruising over Egypt and Palestine the dirigible will make a tour of the Mediterranean and visit Constantinople. Some English fliers will be the guests Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, aboard the Zeppelin.

LOS ANGELES BOY FOUND WITH HIS KIDNAPPER

Two Months' Search Reveals Dickie Grant Safe and Happy in New Mexico.

ROSWELL, N. M., Feb. 26 (AP).—His face wreathed in smiles and his clothes in tatters, 11-year-old Richard (Dickie) Grant of Los Angeles today coasted on his roller skates into the arms of officers here, ending a two months' search for him by air and by foot over the wide expanses of the Southwestern desert country. The boy was found upon the arrest of his alleged abductor, Harry Palmer, 40 years old, with whom he left Los Angeles on Dec. 22.

Palmer was captured while painting a house here near the dingy shack in which he lived with the boy. Officers found Dickie happily skating on the pavement.

"I had a good time," he said. "Mr. Palmer was good to me."

Palmer, who went under the name of Nathan Eagle here, said the boy had not been deliberately kidnapped, but that he took him away from Los Angeles because his parents had mistreated him. The boy had threatened to commit suicide if he was left with his parents, Palmer declared, and this statement as well as others was corroborated by Dickie himself.

The child is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Grant of Los Angeles. His father is a well-to-do painting contractor. Tomorrow Dickie and Palmer will start back to California, where the latter may face a maximum penalty of fifty years' imprisonment, if convicted of kidnapping.

Palmer was traced in several Western States through the Postoffice Department. When officers approached the child and asked him his name and why he was not in school, he replied:

"I am Robert Eagle."

BRAZIL FLOOD LOSS HEAVY.

Nearly 16 Inches of Rain This Year —Coffee Hard Hit.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, Feb. 26.—Rains are falling in Minas Geraes, causing floods, particularly in Itajuba County.

The city of Itajuba is inundated. It it located on the Sapucahy River, which has overflowed its banks thrice this year. The floods are surrounding the house of former President Wenceslau Braz.

Many Minas Geraes roads are impassable, as well as long stretches of the Sul Mineris Railway. In the State of Sao Paulo, the Tiete River is subsiding, but is still above normal. Freight service between this city and Santos has not yet been resumed, and Brazilian ships are refusing cargo for Santos.

Dr. Ferreira Ramos, president of the Sao Paulo Agricultural Society, has visited the interior of the State and reports that "due to heavy and uninterrupted rain during January and February, the coffee berries which flowered last June and July are considered nearly all lost. The losses have varied in different districts. The present rainfall has been the heaviest in twenty years. So far this year the rainfall has totaled nearly sixteen inches."

Apparently the production of other crops has not been affected seriously, except beans and potatoes.

VEBLEN GETS OXFORD HONOR

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The University of Oxford conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Science today upon Dr. Oswald Veblen, Professor of Mathematics at Princeton University, who for the past two terms has been lecturing at Oxford on an "exchange" professorship.

Using the sonorous Latin phrases traditional at Oxford conversations A. B. Poynton, Public Orator, said that a new link has been created between English and American universities by the exchange system.

Four Reported Killed—Submission of Group Caused Outbreak.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, Feb. 26.—News of tribal war among the San Blas Indians, inhabitating the Atlantic Coast of Panama and numerous islands off Colombia, were published in El Tiempo today. Four Indians were reported killed in an encounter with Panaman police.

A number of groups of this tribe have never acknowledged the sovereignty of the Government of Panama and the present conflicts are understood to be between them and a group which recently submitted to Panamian rule.

MOSCOWITZ INQUIRY VOTED IN COMMITTEE

House Action Taken as Somers Offers Five New Receiver Cases to Back Charges.

CELLER ATTACKS THE MOVE

But Joint Resolution Will Be Presented Today in View of Judge's Plea for Speed.

DELAY IN SENATE UNLIKELY

Winslow Resolution Approved by President and Both Bodies May Be at Work Here About March 14.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A joint resolution proposing an inquiry into alleged misconduct on the bench by Judge Grover M. Moscowitz of New York will be offered in the House tomorrow, with the probability that it will be adopted at once. The House Judiciary Committee today directed its chairman, Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, to present it.

The joint resolution, which requires concurrence by the Senate and the signature of the President, will instruct a subcommittee, to be composed of members of the Judiciary Committee, to report whether in its opinion Judge Moscowitz "has been guilty of any acts which in contemplation of the Constitution are high crimes or misdemeanors requiring the interposition of the constitutional powers of the House."

It is framed along the lines of the joint resolution which was offered in the case of Judge Francis A. Winslow. The Winslow resolution became a law late this afternoon when it was signed by the President and action under it will be taken Thursday by the subcommittee named to make the investigation. The Winslow subcommittee will be headed by Representative Dyer of Missouri, Republican.

Subcommittee Is Named.

Following the precedent established in the Winslow case, the joint resolution bearing on Judge Moscowitz names the subcommittee that is to be entrusted with this investigation if one is authorized. Representative Michener of Michigan, Republican, is designated as chairman. Associated with him will be Representatives Kurtz of Pennsylvania and Moore of Ohio, also Republicans, and Weller of New York and Tucker of Virginia, Democrats.

The Judiciary Committee decided today to request the House for authority to inquire into the Moscowitz case following a hearing accorded to Representative Somers, sponsor of the charges, who urged immediate action, and Representative Celler, who protested against an inquiry on the ground that the allegations against the Brooklyn judge were based in large part on "a statement by a disgruntled and chagrined litigant." Mr. Somers supplemented charges contained in the Sidney Levine affidavit, having to do with a bankruptcy case, with five new receivership cases passed upon in the Federal District Court in Brooklyn. While the hearing was held in secret, it was learned that all these five cases involved lawyers and receivers whose names have been heretofore mentioned in newspaper reports. In demanding that the House committee act on the evidence he submitted, Mr. Somers declared he was ready to take full responsibility for his statements.

"If this committee believes it necessary," said Mr. Somers, "I will introduce a resolution providing for a formal investigation or take such other steps that may be necessary to give Judge Moscowitz the investigation he asks for.

"The bankruptcy situation in New York is so bad that I am going to destroy it or get out of politics. All I want is an inquiry into the facts. I will assist the investigating committee to the full extent of my power."

Attacks the Inquiry.

"I have known Judge Moscowitz for years," Mr. Celler told the committee. "I believe him to be an upright and fearless judge. The affidavit of Levine concerning his official conduct contains mostly hearsay and innuendo, and is manifestly false. If the Judiciary Committee would lend ear to all such statements of all such dissatisfied litigants it could not do its proper work. I am of opinion that the Levine affidavit should not give rise to any necessity for an investigation, because of its palpable falsity.

"However, Judge Moscowitz welcomes the investigation and will cooperate to the fullest therein."

Members explained that the committee determined to act promptly on the Somers charges in view of the request contained in a letter received from Judge Moscowitz urging an immediate investigation.

Expects No Senate Delay.

Chairman Graham does not believe that any serious attempts will be made to prevent the passage of the joint resolution. Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the corresponding committee in the Senate, gave assurances that the Senate would promptly concur in any action taken by the House.

The Winslow joint resolution provided that the subcommittee of inquiry should be composed of seven members. A subcommittee of five is proposed in the Moscowitz joint resolution. This was made necessary by reason of the fact that seven members of the committee failed of reelection and a political balance could not be provided by the creation of a subcommittee of seven. The subcommittee of five is made up of three Republicans and two Democrats.

When informed tonight that the President had approved the Winslow joint resolution of inquiry, Representative Dyer sai dthat at Thursday's meeting the first business of the subcommittee would be to deputize investigators to go to New York to assemble evidence preparatory to beginning hearings in that city on or about March 14. The joint resolution authorizes the committee to employ aid. It is regarded as probable that the Department of Justice will permit some of its agents to cooperate with the subcommittee.

To what extent officials of United States Attorney Tuttle will be asked for help will not be known until the subcommittee has organized. Members who will serve on the subcommittee with Mr. Dyer are Representatives Christopherson of South Dakota, Hickey of Indiana and Stobbs of Massachusetts, Republican; and Sumners of Texas, Montague of Virginia and Dominick of South Carolina, Democrats.

If the Moscowitz joint resolution becomes a law, as seems assured, the subcommittee assigned to it will hold hearings in Brooklyn probably at the time the Winslow subcommittee is sitting in Manhattan.

Taft to Become Eligible for Retirement Under Bill Sent to Coolidge for Signature

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Under the terms of a bill amending the judicial retirement law, which was passed by the House yesterday and sent to the President today, Chief Justice Taft of the Supreme Court and several circuit judges will be eligible to immediate retirement.

The effect of the amendment is to remove the requirement that Federal judges having attained the age of 70 years must have served in one court continuously to come under the benefits of the retirement law. The amendment makes the service aggregate rather than continuous.

The suggestion has been made that the measure, which was recommended by President Coolidge and the Department of Justice, was intended to deal chiefly with Chief Justice Taft's situation, although the framers of the legislation declare that it was not conceived for that purpose.

Justice Taft and some other members of the Supreme Court and district courts have served on various Federal benches.

Justice Taft, for example, served eight years, from 1892 to 1900, in the court of the Sixth Circuit. He has served since June 30, 1921, as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. His aggregate service on the Federal bench has been sixteen years, but his continuous service on the Supreme Court is only eight years. Therefore under the old law he could not retire, although he is 72 years old, until he has served ten years in the Supreme Court.

In official circles it is said that Chief Justice Taft may elect to retire before he reaches 74, the age which he would have to reach under the old law before becoming eligible for retirement with salary. It was said tonight that he would not elect to take immediate advantage of the new law.

GRAND JURY WORK NEAR END.

Tenure Extended for Rest of Week to Review Winslow.

With a Congressional investigation of his judicial acts now assured, Federal Judge Francis A. Winslow finds himself the subject of two inquiries, one of which has been under way here for two weeks or more by the Federal grand jury. It is not considered likely, however, that the subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee will sit either here or in Washington until the grand jury has announced the end of its inquiry, either by returning indictments or a presentment setting forth its findings.

Although the grand jury investigation seemed to centre yesterday upon the bankruptcy case against Costis Takis, who operated as the Goody Shop, a candy store chain, it was pointed out that E. Bright Wilson was appointed receiver for Takis by Judge Winslow, who gave him also the authority to continue the business for several months.

Witnesses before the grand jury yesterday included Archibald Palmer and Edward T. Corcoran, attorneys, who, with Marcus Helfand, acted as attorneys for Wilson while he was receiver for Takis. Other witnesses were Olga Nicoletti, Wilson's secretary; Abraham Liebgold, who was custodian under Wilson as receiver; Edward K. Bertine, attorney; Louis Israelson, a real estate dealer; Samuel Sonet, an accountant; Stuart Eaton, Judge Winslow's step-son; Francis J. Herman and Joseph Geist, attorneys, and George A. Clarke, an insurance broker.

Neither United States Attorney Tuttle nor any of his aides would discuss the progress of the inquiry, which, nevertheless, is believed to be rapidly drawing to a close. By order of Judge Bondy, its tenure was extended yesterday to continue throughout the week.

HALPRIN ON LEVINE CASE.

Lawyer Says Mortgage Was Executed After Bankruptcy Petition.

Abraham J. Halprin, counsel for the creditors in the Samuel Levine bankruptcy case when Mrs. Levine assigned her $45,000 mortgage to Aaron Palmer, issued a statement yesterday asserting that this mortgage was executed after an involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed in the Clerk's office of the Federal Court against her husband. Halprin, who was counsel for a surety company at the time, asserted that the company had received from Levine a financial statement showing a net worth of $1,300,000.

When information reached him that this statement was false, Halprin said, he started court proceedings against Levine and on the day he was required to appear before a special commissioner Levine committed suicide. Efforts then were made to serve the widow and daughter, to whom, Halprin alleges, Levine had conveyed certain assets. But these efforts, Halprin said, were unsuccessful.

Examination of Levine's account at the Manufacturers' Trust Company, Halprin asserted, showed that within a short time prior to the filing of bankruptcy petition, Levine had obtained from the sale of mortgages between $100,000 and $200,000 in cash, and that he had withdrawn funds from the bank as fast as checks representing receipts from such sales had been deposited and paid.

Although both Sidney and Joseph Levine, sons of Samuel, had been active in their father's affairs, Halprin said, they refused, when examined by Commissioner Russell, to give information and Commissioner Russell certified that in his opinion their testimony was evasive. The conclusion of the Special Commissioner, Halprin said, was that both were in contempt of court. There followed a hearing on the certificate before Judge Moscowitz, Halprin said, and they were adjudged guilty. Regarding the fees mentioned in Sidney Levine's affidavit, Halprin said, the fees paid were those previously allowed by the referee.

BILL FOR JUDGES HERE IS APPROVED

President Signs Measure for New Ones in State—Recommended Candidates Listed.

BLOCH'S NAME ADVANCED

Senator Wagner, in Tammany's Behalf, Suggests to President the Choice of One Democrat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Coolidge today signed the bill creating three additional Federal judges in the Southern New York district.

Two new Federal judgeships instead of one will be authorized for the Eastern District of New York under an agreement reached today by conferees on the bill recently passed by the Senate and House. As passed by the House, the bill had authorized two judges but the Senate had cut the provision to one.

A long list of candidates for the new judgeships has been presented to the Attorney General by bar associations or recommended by individual lawyers. The recommendations by the Republican organization of New York are expected this week.

Candidates recommended for the judgeships in the Southern District comprise Martin C. Ansorge, former member of Congress; William Blau, former Municipal Court Justice; Francis G. Caffey, former United States Attorney; Edward H. Childs, Louis Cormick, Alfred C. Coxe Jr., Sidney C. Crane, former Municipal Court Justice; Harry H. Fleming, George L. Genung, Municipal Court Justice; Carroll Hayes, Bernard Hershkopf, John Edmund Hewitt, Oliver James, Jerome Michael, John S. Sheppard, Isaac Siegel, former member of Congress; Lloyd P. Stryker, Edward W. Willcox, John H. Woolsey, Thomas J. Crawford, Assistant United States Attorney, and Robert H. Nielson.

The Eastern District candidates are as follows: Howard Ameli, Assistant United States Attorney; Edgar M. Doughty, Joseph C. H. Flynn, Clarence Galston, Herbert H. Kellogg, Assistant United States Attorney; Frederick W. Lahr, Herbert Peake, Abraham Rockmore and Harold L. Turk.

It is understood that the Attorney General is prepared to make his recommendations to the President for these four judgeships and that they may be appointed before the end of this week.

Tammany Seeks One Judgeship.

Tammany will seek one of the three Federal judgeships created by the bill signed by President Coolidge.

According to word received here, Senator Robert F. Wagner called on President Coolidge soon after the bill was signed and urged that a Democrat be appointed to one of the three places. It was said that if the President should look favorably upon the appointment of a Democrat, Senator Wagner was ready on behalf of the Tammany organization to suggest Maurice Bloch, minority leader of the Assembly.

The report here was that Senator Wagner, if he had not already submitted Mr. Bloch's name to the Attorney General stood ready to do so.

It has long been known by Mr. Bloch's friends that he desired to go upon the bench. A provision of the State Constitution barring a member of the Legislature from city or State appointments during the term for which he had been elected has prevented Mr. Bloch from being considered for appointment to vacancies in the Supreme Court, a State body. There is no constitutional bar to a Federal appointment.

Pressure for Up-State Choices.

If President Coolidge or Mr. Hoover, after his inauguration, should decide to give one of the three places in the Southern District of New York to a Democrat, it would reduce further the chances of the Republican organization candidates from Manhattan and the Bronx. The Southern District includes the up-State counties along the Hudson River as far north as Columbia County, and Representative Hamilton Fish of Putnam County is demanding that one of the appointments go to a Republican from his district.

Because no request for organization recommendations for appointments to judgeships in either the Southern or Eastern district had been received from Washington up to last night, it was regarded here as doubtful that President Coolidge would make the appointments during the few remaining days of his term.

Charles D. Hilles, National Committeeman, who returned yesterday from Florida, said regarding the Federal judicial situation:

"I have made no recommendations for the appointments nor have I been asked for any."

Mail Robber Gets 25 Years.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 26 (AP).—Frank (Bubbling Over) Devers, arrested at Memphis and returned here to face a charge of robbing the mails at Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 5, 1926, was sentenced to twenty-five years at Leavenworth Penitentiary today by Federal Judge Cant. With Devers when he was arrested was Miss Johanna Bruce of St. Paul, who also was taken into custody. She was charged with receiving stolen property and is in jail at Minneapolis awaiting trial.

TWO RECEIVERS GET PRISON FOR THEFTS

Court Halts Gladstone's Plea in Bankruptcy Case and Imposes 18-Month Term.

YEAR SENTENCE FOR GATES

Lawyer Hears Tuttle, Former Classmate, Ask That He Be Jailed—Stay on Psychopathic Report.

David H. Gladstone, 60 years old, of 800 West 111th Street, and Merrill E. Gates Jr., 52, of 154 East Sixty-fourth Street, attorneys who once stood high in their profession, were sentenced to prison yesterday for eighteen months and one year, respectively, for embezzling funds entrusted to them as receivers and trustees in bankruptcy. Each had pleaded guilty.

Drama made its appearance in each court room in which sentence was imposed. Gates, facing Federal Judge William Bondy with head erect but eyes lowered, heard United States Attorney Tuttle, his former classmate at Columbia Law School, plead for a prison sentence, although he admitted the situation was "distressing" to him.

Martin W. Littleton Jr., Gates's attorney, pleaded for leniency for his client whom he was serving, he said, without compensation. Gates, son of the late president of Amherst College and himself an honor student, was, according to Mr. Littleton, a victim of an unusual sequence of misfortunes which finally had driven him to "borrow" $3,400, which he had intended to repay and which had been repaid in full by his still loyal friends.

Says War Caused the Theft.

It was pointed out that Gates, formerly an Assistant District Attorney of New York County and also counsel for the Legal Aid Society, had had a flawless record, legally and otherwise. Then came the World War, Mr. Littleton said, and Gates served with distinction in the A. E. F., returning to America as a Major. For two years after his return he was president of the Veterans' Association of the Seventy-seventh Division.

His practice largely broken up and his health failing, Gates was "in a pinch," according to his attorney, which made him desperate, but even so, he added, he might not have used money that was not his had his physical and mental condition been what they should have been. It was then disclosed that Gates had been in the psychopathic ward at Bellevue Hospital for observation a year ago and had returned there last week, having come to court from the hospital.

After Judge Bondy had glanced at a statement from Dr. Menas S. Gregory of Bellevue that he had not had sufficient time to give a final opinion with respect to Gates's condition, Mr. Littleton told the court that Dr. Fagan, also of that hospital, had reported that Gates's psychopathic condition was poor on account of excessive alcoholism.

After imposing sentence, Judge Bondy announced he would stay its operation pending Dr. Gregory's final report on Gates's condition. He informed Mr. Tuttle and Mr. Littleton that should Dr. Gregory's report appear to warrant such action he would entertain a motion to suspend the sentence indefinitely if other arrangements were satisfactorily made.

Gates had pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling $3,400 from the J. Harold Rapp Company, Inc., a bankrupt engineering concern with offices at 570 Seventh Avenue and in Pittsburgh. If Gates is sent to prison he will serve his term in Westchester County Penitentiary.

Gladstone Pleads for Himself.

Judge Bondy refused to sentence Gladstone because of an affidavit of bias Gladstone had filed against him last week. Gladstone, therefore, was sentenced by Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson of Tennessee, sitting here temporarily.

Before sentence Mr. Tuttle told Judge Anderson that Gladstone had pleaded guilty to three indictments and that his shortage amounted to $8,000, none of which had been refunded. Although Abraham Solomon, his attorney, was in court, Gladstone himself addressed Judge Anderson:

"If your Honor please," he said, "if David Steinhardt (fugitive attorney under indictment for embezzlement of $50,000 of bankrupts' funds) had not collapsed as he did, I would not now be throwing myself upon the mercy of this court. The surface of the bankruptcy situation has only been scratched. There are receivers and trustees in bankruptcy today who had the opportunity——"

"I do not care about others now, Mr. Gladstone," interrupted Judge Anderson. "Speak for yourself. Let me quote you a line from Rudyard Kipling's 'Tomlinson':

That the sin they do by two and two
They must pay for one by one.

"Ever since I was a child I have had a feeling against any one in trouble trying to mitigate the situation by dragging others in. I know just what you were going to say, or I think I do. You were going to state that, warned by the Steinhardt case, other receivers and trustees had put their affairs in order; but that has nothing to do with you."

Gladstone said he had not intended to blame any one else. He told of having been an assistant prosecutor in Durham, N. C., where he started his legal practice in 1900. Later, he declared, he had been appointed a judge of the recorder's court in Durham. After his arrival in New York in 1920, he said, he prosecuted bankruptcy cases as an aide to A. Mitchell Palmer.

Gladstone told Judge Anderson he had not spent his stolen money on "women, or otherwise extravagantly," but that it had all gone for family expenses, including large amounts to surgeons and nurses for operations.

Gladstone will serve his eighteen months in Atlanta penitentiary.

D'Annunzio Quits Society of Authors

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—La Tribuna says that dissension over the administration of the Society of Authors has led to the resignation of Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italy's poet-soldier, who was the honorary president. The dispute is said to have arisen because the directors of the dramatic and musical theatres had taken control in the society instead of the authors who founded it. "I beg leave to be relieved of the weariness of the honorary presidency, which is quite empty for a man who was military all his life," d'Annunzio's telegram read in part.

MISS PHILIPSE LEFT ESTATE TO COUSINS

Although her Tory ancestor, Frederick Philipse, once possessed all of what is now Putnam County and considerable territory in Westchester, Miss Catherine Wadsworth Philipse, the last direct descendant of a family which established itself here in 1682, left as her only realty a few undeveloped mountain tracts in Putnam County when she died on Jan. 20. This was disclosed yesterday when her will was offered for probate in Surrogate's Court. Miss Philipse, who was 68 years old, lived at Greenwich, Conn.

The testament divides the property equally among three cousins, her closest relatives. They are John H. Iselin, an attorney, of Iselin Avenue and West 252d Street; Mrs. Margaret Marston Fearing of Mount Kisco, N. Y., and Mrs. Ethel M. Goodridge of Pomfret Centre, Conn. Mrs. Fearing also receives a life income from the residue of the estate, estimated at $200,000. Mrs. Goodridge gets portraits of the Philipse and Marston families.

The Philipse family was closely related to Peter Kemble, described by Washington Irving and James K. Paulding in "Salmagundi Papers." A descendant of the latter, James K. Paulding, 1,269 Madison Avenue, is named trustee of the estate. Miss Philipse, the daughter of Frederick and Catherine Post Philipse, was a member of the Putnam County Historical Society.

The largest share of the estate of Martin Grossman, valued at $335,000, was bequeathed to his brother Samuel of Mount Vernon, who was also named an executor in the will probated yesterday in the Bronx Surrogate's Court. Martin Grossman died on Feb. 3 at 1,018 East 163d Street, the Bronx. The will was executed on Nov. 2, 1928. Julius L. Perlman of 1,018 East 163d Street, the Bronx, friend and coexecutor of the estate, receives $25,000. The residue, after other minor bequests, is bequeathed to the brother.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Feb. 26.—Bequests of cash to friends and relatives are contained in the will of Mrs. Margaret Lanier Winslow of Maple Avenue, this city, which was recorded yesterday in the Surrogate's office here. In addition, she gives $1,000 to the Church of the Redeemer of Morristown and a like amount to the Berry School at Mountberry, Ga., for the establishment of the "Margaret L. Winslow Fund." A bequest of $1,000 is made to the Eye and Ear Infirmary in New York. The residue of the estate is given to a nephew, Lawrence Lanier Winslow.

'FICTITIOUS' RESIDENCE VOIDS RENO DIVORCE

Supreme Court Here Grants a Separation to G. G. Healey Whose Wife Remarried.

Supreme Court Justice Tierney granted yesterday a separation to Giles Grenville Healey of 233 East Fifty-second Street, grandson of General Warren Healey of the Union League Club, and declared fraudulent the divorce obtained by his former wife, Mrs. Virginia Smith Healey, and her subsequent marriage to Justin O'Brien Haynes of 1,088 Park Avenue.

Mrs. Haynes got a divorce in Reno on March 19, 1927. Justice Tierney held that her supposed residence there was "purely fictitious." The court denied, however, Mr. Healey's plea for custody of the two children, Phyllis, 5 years old, and Cynthia, 3, but ordered that he be permitted to visit them.

The Healeys were married on June 27, 1923, at Amenia, N. Y., after an elopement. Mr. Healey was then a sophomore at Yale and his wife was a junior at the Spence School.

Mrs. Healey was the foster-daughter of the late Elmer E. Smathers, wealthy turfman of Port Chester, N. Y., who settled $20,000 on her after the birth of her first child. Mr. Smathers also sent the couple on a voyage to Europe. In her petition for the Reno divorce, Mrs. Healy charged her husband with cruelty and neglect during the trip.

Mr. Smathers died in January, 1928, leaving Mrs. Healey a $60,000 annuity and $40,000 a year for the children. Mr. Healey, according to his wife, first evinced an interest in the children on learning of the bequest.

The couple separated on Sept. 14, 1926. Mrs. Healey married Mr. Haynes in Newark, N. J., on July 2, 1928.

FOUR IN JAIL INDICTED FOR GRAZIANO MURDER

Suspects to Be Arraigned Today in the Killing of Couple at Franklin Square, L. I.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Indictments for first-degree murder were returned today by the Nassau County grand jury against four men who have been questioned by the police for the killing of Saro Graziano and his wife, Mary, on Dec. 15 in Franklin Square, near the Hempstead Turnpike.

Those indicted were Frank Piala, 20 years old, of 2,232 Atlantic Avenue; Arthur Benny, 20, of 2,720 Atlantic Avenue; Antonio Castigliola, 38, of 393 Jerome Street, and Michael Scafonia, 20, of 174 Van Sicklen Avenue, all of Brooklyn.

Piala and Benny are now in Raymond Street jail on burglary charges, following their arrest in Brooklyn last Friday. Castigliola is also in the same jail, held as a material witness in connection with the murder. Scafonia, after further questioning tonight, is in the Nassau County jail here, awaiting arraignment on the murder charge before County Judge Lewis J. Smith tomorrow.

Another material witness now confined in the jail is Carlo Calabrese of 2,628 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, and who has been in the custody of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children until today, when he reached the age of 16. Salvatore Rinaldi of 428 East Fourteenth Street, New York, and John T. Barri of 86 Kenmare Street, New York, also are in the county jail as material witnesses.

Captain Harold R. King, head of the detective bureau, has detained Salvatore and Dominick Esposito, owners of the bungalow outside which the bodies of the Grasianos were discovered, for further questioning. They have retained counsel.

About forty witnesses were called by the prosecution today in connection with the hearing.

MEASURES REPORTED OUT

Own Domiciles for Women and Veterans' Preference Included—Estate Law Changes Proposed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 26.—Backed by Mayor Walker, a bill providing for a New York City Planning Board was introduced today in the Legislature by Senator Kleinfeld and Assemblyman Gavagan. At the same time Senator Knight, Republican leader of the upper house, announced there would be a hearing on March 13 on all major New York City legislation, including city planning, transit, the Board of Sanitation and the Bridge and Tunnel Authority.

The city planning bill was drafted by Edward M. Bassett, former Public Service Commissioner and an authority on city planning.

Walter Caughlan, Assistant Corporation Counsel, made it plain that Mayor Walker has an "open mind" on the proposal and that if constructive suggestions are made which will provide a better scheme for coordinating the city's improvement plans they will be carefully considered.

Under the bill hearings relating to building zones now required to be before the Board of Estimate will be held before the City Planning Board, but final action will rest with the Board of Estimate. Recommendations of the City Planning Board on changes in the city's official map will require a vote of twelve out of the sixteen members of the Board of Estimate.

"The main duty of the City Planning Board," Mr. Caughlan explained, "will be to produce its own master plan containing and coordinating the plan of all city planning features.

The Planning Board would consist of three members, two to be appointed by the Mayor and the third to be the chief engineer of the Board of Estimate. One member would serve for four years and the other for two years, and the Board of Estimate would fix the salaries.

Jurywoman Bill Killed.

The Senate Judiciary Committee today voted to kill the Mastick bill extending jury service to women. The Assembly Judiciary Committee reported the Goodrich bill which would permit women to establish their own domiciles for registering and voting.

A proposal by Senator Kennedy, Democrat, of Queens for a referendum in New York City on fixing the minimum salary for first-grade policeman and firemen at $3,000 a year was reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee, as was a bill by Senator Hickey of Buffalo amending the municipal law to provide one day of rest in each seven for policemen.

A measure presented by Senator I. Thompson of Nassau which would divide Long Island into two judicial districts was reported.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee reported a resolution presented by Assemblyman Cuvillier proposing an amendment to the Constitution under which all war veterans would receive preference in civil service examinations. The proposed amendment was adopted at the 1928 session, and if approved at this session it will be submitted to the voters at the election next Fall.

Ask for High Tariff.

After Senator Downing, the Democratic leader, had denounced the measure, the Senate concurred with the Assembly in adopting a resolution calling on Mr. Hoover to call a special session of Congress as soon as possible after March 4 to "revise the tariff upward." The proposal was sponsored by Assemblyman Willis H. Sargent, Syracuse Republican. When Senator Downing said the resolution was "ridiculous," Senator Fearon replied that Governor Smith apparently favored a high tariff at the last election.

A series of bills to amend the estates law was introduced by Senator Fearon and Assemblyman Jenks on behalf of a commission headed by Surrogate Foley of New York City which has been studying the subject. The Legislature also adopted a resolution extending the life of the commission for another year.

Under the proposed changes a wife's dower rights are considerably increased, and it would be impossible for a husband to disinherit his wife. If a husband died without leaving a will, his widow automatically would inherit outright one-third of his real and personal property.

Signed Veterans' Camp Bill.

Governor Roosevelt signed immediately after it had been passed a bill which leases to the Federal Government for ten years the State camp for veterans at Bath. The Governor wrote in a memorandum:

"A stipulation in writing will be procured from the Federal authorities which will assure preference in admission to the home to the resident veterans of this State in all our wars during the period of the lease.

"Assurance has been given that the Congress of the United States will appropriate before its adjournment the sum of $1,000,000 for maintenance and the repairs, improvements and betterments of a number of large buildings at the camp which have been unoccupied for a number of years and which are in urgent need of repair. This home will ultimately accommodate some 2,000 veterans, as against 100-odd at the present time."

Governor Roosevelt also signed a bill authorizing counties to construct and maintain municipal airports.

Under a bill introduced by Senator Thayer of Franklin, the Public Service Commission would have power over holding corporations.

Ends Indian Bureau Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Senate refused today to grant authority for a continuation of the investigation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and to set aside an additional $15,000 for its expenses. Despite the plea of Senator Wheeler of Montana, objection was made by Senator Fess of Ohio. Senator Wheeler declared that there had been a "determined effort" by Commissioner Burke of the Indian Bureau to "stop the investigation ever since it began."

ALBANY WITNESSES HIT ALIMONY LAW

MANY HELD FALSELY JAILED

R. G. Escob of Alimony Payers' Protective Association Urges Nugent Relief Measures.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 26.—The present alimony law was compared to "dynamite in the hands of gold-digging women" at a hearing today before the Assembly Codes Committees on two bills, sponsored by Assemblyman John P. Nugent, Democrat, of New York, which are designed to provide relief for alimony payers.

One of the measures would assure a speedy trial for husbands who have been held in contempt of court for failing to make alimony payments. The other would provide that a person's financial inability to meet payments must be regarded as evidence by the court that he has not willfully refused to keep them up.

Robert G. Escob, New York City architect and head of the Alimony Payers' Protective Association, two representatives of the National Sociological Club, Dr. A. Dallek of the Bronx, and Dr. R. C. Wilber of New York, and Assemblyman Nugent pleaded with the committee for favorable action on the measures.

Says Many Women Wed to Sue.

"The present alimony law has become a stick of dynamite in the hands of gold-digging women who hate their husbands and like nothing better than to have them thrown into jail," Dr. Wilber told the committee.

"In these days it is getting so that many women marry men only because of their cash alimony value. There are seventeen divorces and forty-three separations for every 100 marriages in this State. It is getting so that when a woman has a spat with her husband she runs him for separation, and if he fails to keep up every cent of his alimony payments she has him cast into jail."

"I tell you, the present alimony law has become a powerful instrument in the hands of gold-digging women."

The Alimony Protective Association was formed by a group of alimony payers while they were "meeting" in a New York City jail about two years ago, Mr. Escob explained.

"Most husbands are thrown into jail before it has been legally determined whether they are able to pay the amount of alimony that has been fixed by the court," he said. "I knew of one woman who kept her husband in jail for ten months. She didn't care anything about the alimony, but she delighted to see her husband behind the bars. I dare say there are lots of others just like this woman."

Mr. Escob said that the oldest member of the Alimony Payers' Protective Association is 78.

"He has been in legal trouble with his wife for fifty years, and now she has finally told him that if he doesn't hurry up and pay his alimony she will have him put in jail," Mr. Escob added.

"Our youngest member is 19. He met a gold-digger one week, married her the next and the third week he was in jail for failing to pay alimony."

Dr. Dallek told the committee of his personal experience as an alimony payer, which included experience in jail.

Assemblyman Nugent declared that many World War veterans have been victimized under the alimony law.

"Many girls married soldiers because they thought the boys wouldn't live very long, but when their husbands didn't die quick enough for them, they sued them for a separation and then collected alimony," the Assemblyman asserted.

BILL ASKS FOR AUDIT OF PORT AUTHORITY

Measure Coming to Legislature Today Is Designed to Strengthen Board Before Conference.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 26.—Republican friends of the Port Authority, supported unofficially by the authority itself, will meet an attack on its financial responsibility by introducing a bill in the Legislature tomorrow empowering the State Controller to examine its books and accounts at any time.

The bill comes at an important time. An interstate conference will open on Friday morning in New York City which may determine the fate of the Port Authority. Governor Roosevelt, Governor Larson of New Jersey and the legislative leaders will discuss the matter of port development and the whole question of further construction of bridges and tunnels between the two States.

A decision to allow any other agency than the Port Authority to build the connections would severely check its plans and influence.

The bill to be introduced tomorrow by Assemblyman Moffat of New York City and Senator Mastick of Westchester who have sponsored other measures for the authority, is taken as a demonstration by the Port Authority that it comes to the conference with a clean financial slate and a willingness to maintain financial accountability to the State.

ROOSEVELT FIGHTS FOR HIS TAX PROGRAM

By W. A. WARN.

mind a long train of events which provoked his normally good temper. Ever since the legislative session began there has been a concentration of Republican thought on strategy to aid the Republicans in "stealing a march" on the Governor, a member of the opposition party.

It has been so with regard to farm relief measures and legislation to aid the schools in rural sections, as well as in regard to some other outstanding features of the Governor's legislative program.

The Governor would make it known that it was his intention to recommend certain legislation to the lawmaking body within a few days. Presto, the Republican leaders would cause legislation, sponsored by Republican members, to be introduced, following in general the lines suggested by the Governor but embodying some feature carrying an appeal to this or that class of voters not foreshadowed by his statements, thus again and again anticipating his actions, and, as it were, stealing his thunder.

The declaration of war today came after the Republican Assemblymen in secret conference, following similar action by the Republican Senators last night, had pledged themselves to stand by to a man the cuts made by the Republican fiscal committees in the Governor's main budget bill. This measure will come up for final debate in both branches of the Legislature tomorrow.

Governor Roosevelt feels that if the Republican members of the Senate and Assembly were permitted freedom of action his own budget recommendations would be assured of a majority. He resents the Republican manoeuvrings in particular, because under the terms of the Executive budget plan the responsibility for balancing the budget rests with the Governor rather than with the Legislature.

Budget Cuts Total $3,776,988.

All the Republican budget calculations begin with the elimination of the direct State tax on real estate and and Republican chiefs insist that they will refuse to let the Legislature pass the necessary legislation to prepare the way for such a levy. The Governor, on the other hand, believes that elimination of this tax would benefit only a small number of taxpayers as compared with the number that would benefit from a reduction in the income tax.

The net budget cuts which the Republican Senators and Assemblymen pledged themselves to support at conferences last night and today aggregate $3,776,988. There is no doubt that the Republicans will be in a position to force the "perfected" budget bill through with those cuts tomorrow and send it to the Secretary of State to give it legal force. The Governor's hands with regard to this particular measure are tied. This does not mean, however, that he has abandoned his fight to have the items restored, though this will require the passage of additional budget legislation.

The budget fight probably will keep both houses in continuous session for many hours tomorrow, because the Democrats tonight are making plans for the biggest battle waged over a budget measure in recent years at the Capitol. Every Republican, too, has been cautioned to be in his seat when the sessions of the Senate and Assembly get under way.

Speaker McGinnies today ridiculed the Governor's suggestion that his supplemental budget bill calling for a gasoline tax should have the right of way.

"We do not have to advise with the Governor about the legislation we introduce," the Speaker said. The Republican cuts would allow for a $9,000,000 surplus, he said, if a direct tax on realty were levied, and he added:

"If the Governor vetoes our latest budget bill, he will leave the situation in status as far as relief to the up-State counties is concerned. We have no intention of receding from our position that if there is to be tax reduction in any direction the direct State tax on realty should be eliminated first. We are willing to go to the people on that issue, if he is. The responsibility is his."

Tells of Assembly Parley.

Discussing the Assembly conference in general terms, the Speaker said:

"After we had disposed of the main budget bill which comes up for final passage tomorrow, I made an announcement that we had received the Governor's supplementary budget bills and message and that bills had been introduced by Republican members with the idea of attaining in the main what the Governor in a little different manner wanted to accomplish.

"I asked the members to study both sets of bills and told them that nothing would be done until there has been another conference of Republican members, when we will decide upon the stand we are to take upon these additional financial bills. When this decision is reached it will be by a majority vote in conference.

"We understand the Governor wants a hearing on his bills on March 12 or 13. That will be granted. It would not be the proper thing for us to do to announce a stand upon these measures prior to a public hearing."

At the executive chamber it was said that the Governor had not asked for a hearing on his supplementary budget bills. The Governor made it clear that he utterly disapproved of the proposal in the Republican gasoline tax bill to refund 25 per cent of the proceeds to the counties unless it was understood that the money was to be spent for good-road purposes. Moreover, the State must have power of approval and supervision over the manner in which the money is used. It is known that the Republican bills contain safeguards to insure State supervision over expenditures for the 25 per cent refund.

"In view of all the facts that enter into this situation," Governor Roosevelt said, "I must take my stand behind my own bill, partly because, providing as it does for both the levy of a gasoline tax and a reduction in the income tax, according to my recommendation, it gives a complete picture of the tax situation and is so closely tied up with the entire fiscal program for the year 1929-1930 that if any of the component parts are thrown out it will destroy the whole plan."

Comments on Utility Bill.

When a draft of the Republican public service investigation bill was shown to the Governor, he read it and said:

"I am not satisfied with the powers and duties provided for under this new bill. It does not do more than provide for a study and investigation of the effect of the present law, as applied to regulation of public service corporations.

"As I have said before, I would like to have the scope broad enough to cover the whole field of regulation of such corporations, including any new methods which could be devised to favor lower prices of their products or services to the consumer, preserving both the rights of the latter and the rights of the corporations."

The Governor has learned that in Massachusetts a similar commission has been considering whether a better method in rate-fixing would not be to include the schedules in contracts between the public service corporations and the State or the localities within which they operate.

FORD RENEWS DRIVE FOR EUROPEAN SALES

Company in the Process of Formation in France Will Push the New Model.

THOUSANDS ARE ON ORDER

Europeans See the Ford Situation as Indicating American Campaign for Foreign Automobile Trade.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—After a lull in its activities in European markets the Ford Motor Company is about to launch a characteristically intensive campaign to recapture and extend its former sales in Continental countries. The costly suspension of the company's usual activity on this side, due to a change in the model and to other trade conditions, does not appear to have dimmed the fame of the Ford in Europe, according to competent observers here, and thousands of the new model have already been sold in advance of the aforementioned plans.

Nowhere is the Ford effort to be more determined than in France, where the company possesses one of the finest assembling plants in the old world. Situated in the suburbs of Paris, the plant is capable of turning out about 15,000 cars annually and an extension could easily be made if the sales were to exceed that number.

As was done in the recently formed British Ford Company, a portion of the stock of the French Company will be offered to the French public. This company is now in the process of formation, your correspondent was informed at the Ford plant here today, and an announcement will probably be made in the near future. Reports that it will be a subsidiary of the British Ford Company were denied by the officials, who explained that the French Ford Company would have no financial connection with the British organization.

Production has already begun at the Paris works and the sales during December—the first full month of operation with the new model—are reported to have exceeded 500 cars.

Prices Cut Despite Tariff.

To meet stiff competition from the only French mass production car, the Citroen, the cheapest new Ford model has been reduced to 25,700 francs (about $1,004), or practically the same as the four-cylinder Citroen, and this despite a 45 per cent tariff. Other Ford models will be priced to meet similar Citroen models, thus giving the American and the "French Ford," as the Citroen is sometimes known, an even break in France and other Continental countries.

It is pointed out in motor car circles here that the peak of the Ford sales in France was reached three or four years ago, when the company was selling between 15,000 and 16,000 cars annually. This figure dropped to a mere fraction of the former height when the change in the model necessitated a period of practical withdrawal. But the situation served to arouse French motor car makers to an unusual degree, and there was much talk of new protective tariffs and other trade barriers.

Main Parts From Detroit.

Although the Ford Company has been quiescent in the French market during the last two years, no one in close touch with the automobile business doubts Mr. Ford's ability to regain and even exceed the previous record. Hence arises the interest with which the Ford arrangements are being watched.

The Citroen Company has already announced a production schedule for 80,000 cars in 1929, the greater number of which it expects to dispose of in the French market.

The popularity of the Citroen cannot be gainsaid, but at the same time the Ford Company possesses a very efficient system of dealers and service stations throughout France, supported by an assembly plant at the door of Paris. The main parts will continue to be brought from Detroit, but the small engines popular in such markets as those of France, where the horsepower tax favors smaller types, will be made in the factory at Cork, Ireland, and will be shipped to Paris, thereby effecting a considerable saving. Other items, such as upholstery, can be obtained here. The Ford plans for other Continental countries have not yet been disclosed, but trade circles believe the company will follow the same policy as in France.

The Ford situation in Europe, in the opinion of automobile men, has a wider importance than might appear on the surface, for it is indicative of the general drive on European markets now being carried out by the entire American automobile industry. This year's American sales are expected to exceed 250,000 cars and trucks, and some put the estimate at 300,000. La Journée Industrielle, an influential organ of French industry, calls the attention of the motor car makers of this country today to the American campaign and warns them they must organize and prepare. French production will amount to 250,000 cars and trucks this year, as compared with 190,000 last year, the newspaper says, but the American total will be increased by another 1,000,000—largely due to foreign expansion.

WAR LORDS MENACE CHINA GOVERNMENT

By HENRY J. MISSELWITZ.

be the chief factor in the coming political, if it is not actually a military, clash.

The position of the wily Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, at present presumably recuperating from illness in a village in Northern Honan, is, as usual, uncertain, with the possibility that he will support Nanking.

President Chiang Kai-shek is known to favor peace at all costs, hence observers are inclined to the belief that he will advise the government to resign rather than throw the country into civil war again, but whether he will be able to influence the others is conjectural.

Apparently the chief points behind the unrest, aside from the inherent desire for power, are opposition to central control of the national revenues, based on a characteristic doubt of individual integrity, and the Communist and Left Wing's desire to institute an untried program of immediate relief for the peasants and laborers. It is doubtful if the fall of the Nationalist Government would result in a change in foreign policy, although it is possible that the application of the new tariffs would be subject to alteration to permit local autonomy in customs collections.

Canton Prepares for Fight.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26 (AP).—Fear in Canton that the Nationalist Government might soon attempt to compel its allegiance by force of arms is believed to be responsible for the recent disorders in Hunan.

In Canton and the Wuhan cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang there have appeared two young and ambitious military commanders who are expected to control four Southern provinces and put up a stiff opposition to any effort by Nanking at consolidation.

From Canton come supposedly well-informed reports that the government there is expecting Nanking to launch a military campaign to the South seeking to force the Canton Government to grant allegiance to Nanking. The Canton leaders held a conference at Wuchow in the Province of Kwangsi at which a plan of action was drawn up in the event of hostilities by Nanking.

These Cantonese leaders charged that Chiang Kai-shek and Feng Yu-hsiang are secretly in alliance and are seeking the favor of radical elements planning to subjugate Canton. It is Canton, with the assistance of the Wuhan cities, that has been consistently blocking the plans of the Nanking Government, balking disarmament, centralization and the control of communications and the customs and salt revenues as well as other taxes.

Believing that Nanking is awaiting the opportunity to open hostilities, it is reported that the Cantonese are losing no time in strengthening their defenses and alliance with Wuhan.

The latest realignments of the Wuhan-Canton combination place General Wang Shao-hsiung in control of Canton. He is a 33-year-old leader who has supplanted the old South China leaders and has long been an arch-enemy of Nanking. Wuhan's control also has passed from older figures to a comparative newcomer, General Hu Tsung-tu, the Wuhan garrison commander, who is known as "the Butcher" because of his wholesale executions of Communists in Wuhan. These two men are expected to control Hunan, Klangsi, Kwangtung and Kwangsi.

An isolated military unit also expected to line up with Canton is the famous "Ironsides Army," now stationed in Shantung. These troops served as the Nationalist shock forces and virtually led the Nationalist advance all the way from Canton to Peking without suffering a single defeat. The troops, made up of loyal Cantonese, are anxious to return to the South. Chiang Kai-shek wants to keep them north of the Yangtze, but it is believed that they are likely to start southward at any time.

NANKING ACTS TO BLOCK FENG.

Sends Gunboat With Money and Ammunition to Liu in Shantung.

By HALLETT ABEND.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PEKING, Feb. 26.—The arrival at Chefoo from Shanghai of the Chinese gunboat Tingan, carrying 50,000 silver dollars and 200,000 rounds of rifle ammunition for General Liu Chennien, the Nationalist commander in the revolt area, has complicated the situation in Eastern Shantung, for the Tingan was dispatched by General Chiang Kai-shek, President of the Nationalist Government, and this move has been interpreted as an attempt by Nanking to foil General Feng Yu-hsiang's determined effort to annex Shantung as his territory.

Eastern Shantung north of the railway, held by the Japanese, is now the scene of a scramble among the four factions of Chiang Kai-shek, Feng Yu-hsiang, Pei Chung-hsi, commander in the Peking-Tientsin district, and Chang Tsung-chang, defeated former governor in Shantung, who is attempting to regain control of the province by revolt. The representatives of Chiang, Feng and Pei do not show signs of unity, though working against Chang Tsung-chang.

Chang Tsung-chang is believed to have slight chance of success, for already he is renewing the policies which made him execrated last year. He has promised his soldiers three hours of uninterrupted looting as a reward for every village and town they capture.

In the event of violence foreign warships now at Chefoo may have to lay a protective artillery barrage around the portion of the city used as the foreign refuge.

ARMS BAN REMOVAL SOUGHT

United States Negotiating for Lifting Embargo Against China.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Negotiations are under way between the United States and other governments for lifting the embargo on arms against China. They have taken the form of diplomatic exchanges and conversations and were prompted by the feeling that the embargo was no longer of real service. The Nationalist Government, it was pointed out today, has extended its sway over most of China, but the embargo itself never has proved effective.

While the present provincial uprisings in China may delay final action, it is believed that before long definite action in lifting the embargo will be taken by the United States and Great Britain, if not by other powers.

The embargo was originally imposed against China in 1919 as the result of an agreement in Peking by diplomatic representatives of a number of governments. The United States acted under war-time legislation. It continued its action by proclamation of President Harding in 1922 under an act of Congress. Authoritative estimates place the value of arms and munitions sent into China at $500,000,000 since the ban was imposed.

Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who recently returned from two years' service as commander of the American Marines in China, called at the Navy Department today and expressed the opinion that representative government is in China to stay. The Nationalist Government, he asserted, is truly representative of the people in the principles it stands for. Anti-foreign feeling, prominent when he went there, had largely subsided, he said, and friendship for the United States is particularly pronounced.

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Because it may be the beginning of many things of which it contains a promise and not the least because it engages the United States in the ways of international cooperation for peace, the French Chamber of Deputies was asked today by many orators to accept and ratify the Pact of Paris, which is usually known by the name of the American Secretary of State.

"It should be a point of departure for a whole new policy, that of the organization of peace and must be a prelude to the signature of a general arbitration agreement," declared Pierre Cot, who introduced the measure for the Foreign Affairs Commission.

"As it stands, without obligations and sanctions," said Deputy Guernut, "it is a compact for innocents only. It is, perhaps, as has been described, an international kiss. But kisses do not always prevent blows. All one can say is that it is a beginning." M. Guernut also recommended ratification.

To their voices Maxence Bibie added similar sentiments.

"This act opens a new era and constitutes a basis for the juridic establishment of peace among the peoples of the world," he said.

Communist Expresses Dissent.

There was only one dissenter. Marcel Cachin, a sentimental Communist doctrinaire, a revolutionary honest man, his shoulders hunched and his index finger wagging a warning to all the world except Russia, prophesied evil.

"What is being prepared is war not peace," he cried. "It was in an atmosphere of combat that the pact was ratified by the American Senate. Between England and America a gigantic duel is coming nearer and nearer every day. There never have been such preparations for war as since this compact outlawing it was signed."

Today's speeches were, in a manner, only oratorical hors d'oeuvres to what will come Thursday and Friday when Joseph Paul-Boncour and Aristide Briand will speak. Few or none, it is expected, will vote against the pact. The Socialists will ask, perhaps, for a vote expressing their reservations, which will be defeated and will then vote for the measure as it stands. Even the Communists will vote or at best abstain, indifferent to such "hypocritical nonsense" as M. Cachin seems to consider this effort for peace.

M. Cot Drafted Report.

It was Pierre Cot who drafted some weeks ago a report for the Foreign Affairs Commission on the bill and his explanation and defense may be taken as the general French evaluation of its worth. To the high significance of its moral aim he rendered tribute. Until this pact was signed war was considered legitimate, figuring in the rights of nations equally with arbitration and meditation. Since the pact was signed, war no longer is a right but a crime.

"Between the nations that are signatories of this pact no war is possible which does not have its origin in violation of this pact," said M. Cot.

Then followed an attempt to read into America's signature an admission of abandonment of isolation. President Coolidge was quoted as saying that war in any part of the world must be injurious to American interests.

"The United States," he added amid universal applause, "must go further in participation in this international policy and must become accustomed to consider the Pact of Paris as only a preamble to new developments."

Refers to Capper Proposals.

Then came another applauded reference to the Capper and Porter proposals.

"Already interesting propositions for the completion of the pact are being put forward. Either the Pact of Paris is nothing, or it must draw the whole world's policy toward peace. The signatories have embarked, they must go forward with their enterprise."

"To condemn war," the Deputy continued, "is all very well, but one cannot really condemn what one does not replace. To replace war as a means of settling disputes other means must be invented."

Expects General Arbitration.

"The pact entails a declared principle of obligatory arbitration. For to declare that all conflicts should be regulated by judicial procedure is nonsense unless it means acceptance of obligatory arbitration. When all other juridic procedures have failed there remains only the necessity to bow before the judge—that is to say, to have recourse to arbitration."

M. Cot then continued his analysis of the situation resulting from the signature of the pact.

"No procedure is indicated. But if any respect is to be paid to logic, a procedure of general arbitration must be organized. From the French viewpoint, there are, therefore, three gaps in the pact which must sooner or later be filled. The first is the absence of any definition of defensive war. The second is failure to provide for an arbitration organization. And the third is the absence of sanctions."

M. Cot did not minimize that a moral sanction attached to any infringement of the pact. For members of the League of Nations also there are sanctions. But the Pact of Paris, in a way, he declared, is a completion of the League Covenant. It was a general engagement not to resort to war, and so filled that gap in the League organization which provides that after three months, if there were failure to obtain unanimity on the Council, disputants would be free to take what measures they chose.

Would Leave Military Glory to Past.

"From that situation," M. Cot added, "there is no exit except by the signature of a general arbitration agreement. That next step is to be taken. After it must come obligatory arbitration and arbitration with sanctions. In the construction of the edifice of peace, the first stones have been laid, but there is much work to be done.

"Let us leave to the past its military glory. We have had enough. Let us set ourselves to the task of organizing peace."

Among points brought out by other orators in debate was this by Deputy Guernut:

"Suppose a quarrel broke out between Lithuania and Poland and the League of Nations denounced Lithuania as guilty and called on League members to blockade her. Would America take part in the blockade? Senator Borah has declared that the Kellogg pact does not apply and the United States could send supplies to Lithuania."

Yet, because it is "an engagement without great consequence but nevertheless an engagement," M. Guernut, like all the others of today's speakers, promised his vote in ratification.

Bermuda Officials Favor Seadrome Project; Inventor Will Ask Island Base at Hamilton

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 26.—Edward R. Armstrong, the inventor of the seadrome which it is proposed to build between New York and Bermuda for the purpose of establishing a daily airplane service, returned to New York today well satisfied with the results of his visit here.

He will prepare a definite proposal to submit to the government asking permission to use the Isle of Wight in Hamilton Harbor, Bermuda, as an operating base and to erect aerial beam stations.

In talks with Mr. Armstrong government and chamber of commerce officials have been favorable to the project, but no action will be taken until definite proposals are received. Mr. Armstrong will arrive in New York on Thursday.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 26.—Construction will begin this week in Delaware Bay on the first Armstrong seadrome.

The work will be done by the Armstrong Seadrome Development Company.

Edward R. Armstrong, who has been working for sixteen years on a deep sea landing platform for planes that will be stable in the roughest weather, left New York for Bermuda a week ago last Saturday to confer with the government officials there on his project for placing a seadrome midway between the United States and Bermuda.

Just before he left here his company, the Armstrong Seadrome Development Corporation, engaged Henry J. Gielow, Inc., naval architects, to construct the first seadrome. Upon the success of this experiment depends the inventor's plans for a string of these seadromes across the North Atlantic.

AFGHAN MEDIATOR REACHES PESHAWUR

AIRMEN'S FEATS RECOUNTED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAHORE, India, Feb. 27.—New stories of the magnificent feats of airmanship which resulted in the evacuation of nearly 600 persons from beleaguered Kabul without the loss of a single life were told today.

In the course of two months' flying between Peshawur and Kabul, over a most difficult terrain at an average height of 10,000 feet and in all weathers, only one Vickers Victoria troop-carrying aircraft was lost, and the engine of one De Havilland machine scrapped. The pilot of one Vickers Victoria, who discovered water had been poured into his gasoline tank, landed with extraordinary airmanship on a small rock platform within a few yards of a 2,000-foot precipice, while another pilot landed at Kabul with his engine and wings riddled by fourteen bullets. A new engine was brought by air from Peshawur and the pilot flew the machine back to Peshawur the following day.

Altogether, nearly eighty trips were made by the Royal Air Force from Peshawur to Kabul, and whatever failure there may be to appreciate the achievement elsewhere, there is no question of the gratitude of representatives of the foreign nations who have now been landed here.

General Nadir Khan Arrives.

The arrival of Sir Francis Humphrys, the British Minister, with the Union Jack from the Kabul Legation flagstaff under his arm, coincided with the arrival at Peshawur of General Nadir Kahn from the south of France. He reiterates his ambition to prove a peacemaker in his distressed country, and strenuously denies—doubtless sincerely, for his health is obviously unequal to the strain of kingship—that he is a claimant to the throne.

Nevertheless, his appearance is unquestionably the most important factor in the present situation, as affecting the frontier province, since he has always been a powerful influence on the border tribes in south eastern Afghanistan, particularly Jalalabad, a once flourishing city which yesterday, Sir Francis noted through his glasses, was a heap of dusty ruins.

It was at Jalalabad that Nadir in 1919 and 1920 held several intertribal conferences, and founded a newspaper with strong nationalistic tendencies, which is still appearing in an attenuated form. This may explain his choice of Peshawur and not Quetta as his route.

British Maintain Neutrality.

It remains to be seen whether he elects to enter Afghanistan by the Kurram or Khyber pass. As he is an Afghan subject, no bar can be placed on his return home, but no special facilities will be accorded him by the British who have already informed him that no political activities will be tolerated on this side of the border.

In this and other respects the Indian Government is showing meticulous care to maintain a strict neutrality despite vague contradictory charges in the Indian vernacular press, which freely denounced Amanullah, the deposed king, in the heyday of his power, and treated him as a hero after his flight from Kabul.

A striking commentary on the closed British intrigue is the fact that the government here until recently was engaged in suppressing scurrilous cartoons against King Amanullah and Queen Suraya, when they were friendly and neighboring sovereigns. Amanullah is believed to be still at Kandarhar, though contemplating withdrawal to Herat, probably leaving the former King Inayatullah behind, as he previously did at Kabul.

Amanullah Nearing Kabul.

KABUL, Afghanistan, Feb. 26 (AP). The drive to regain the throne from which he was ousted recently has brought the forces of Amanullah to within twenty-five miles of the capital. His troops captured the city of Maidan today and attacked the Kuglstan army in that vicinity. Proclamations distributed in the capital said that the present headquarters of Amanullah were at Ghazni, about eighty miles south of here.

FRENCH VILLAGE RIOTS OVER MURDER MYSTERY

Mob Prepares to Lynch Judge and Prosecutor for Alleged Inactivity but Police Save Them.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Mob violence, which resulted in storming the City Hall in the little town of Commele, near Grenoble, yesterday and the near-lynching of the magistrate and the public prosecutor, has caused great excitement in France.

The circumstances from which the riot grew were connected with a murder mystery which had kept the population of the Isère Department in turbulence for weeks after the disappearance of two men, Louis Cretinon and Paul Bérier. The former's body was later discovered, but Bérier's body has not been found.

Upon charges by M. Fougère, a resident of a near-by village, two men were arrested, but Fougère, later denied his statement.

Yesterday after the accused men had been brought to trial, Fougere, while in a public café, made the sensational confession that he had participated in the murder, whereupon the police magistrate was called. Accompanied by a great mob, Fougère was taken to Commele to the spot where he declared Bérier's body had been concealed.

In the midst of the digging fighting broke out between the witnesses and the relatives of the accused men, and it soon became so general that the small force of police was powerless to stop it. The mob's fury suddenly turned upon the magistrate and the prosecutor, who were accused of a lack of energy in handling the case. They were badly handled and afterward pursued by a large crowd which pelted them with stones for nearly two miles. The two officials took refuge in the City Hall, where preparations were made to lynch them, but police reserves arrived in time to rescue them from the mob.

Digging operations continued today without result, and there is a doubt now as to the sanity of Fougère, who made the confession which started the riot.

TROTSKY DESCRIBES HARDSHIPS OF EXILE

By LEON TROTSKY.

distance were deliberately false. The very use of that formula, which was necessary to Stalin in order to justify expulsion, constitutes the most malicious attack possible against the Soviet power. For if it were true that the opposition, which includes all the chiefs of the October Revolution, the creators of the Soviet Republic and the Red Army, was now preparing military overthrow of Soviet power, that fact would demonstrate the catastrophic situation of the country. In that event the most fair-minded bourgeois might say: "Let us not hasten to enter upon economic relations with the Soviets, but let us await the result of the armed struggle now in preparation."

"Armed Resistance" an Invention.

Fortunately the OGPU's formula is only an insolent police invention. The policy of the Opposition has nothing to do with armed resistance. We remain entirely convinced of the vitality and elasticity of the Soviet régime.

Our policy is that of internal reform. I take this opportunity to proclaim it to the world in the hope of protecting the interests of the Soviet Republic as far as possible against the evil effects of the OGPU formula, dictated by Stalin. However great the internal difficulties may be today, resulting as they do not only from objective circumstances but also from the sterile policy of hesitation, those who look forward to an early collapse of the régime are doomed to cruel disappointment.

Austen Chamberlain, it is clear, has no such illusions. If newspapers can be believed, and especially the American weekly The Nation, Austen has declared that relations with the Soviets will become quite practicable the day when Trotsky is "stood against a wall." This phrase does honor to the vigor of the Conservative Minister, who, when talking about the American Navy, uses much more vegetarian language.

Though I have no diplomatic status I take the liberty of advising the British Foreign Minister, in the general interest as well as my own, not to insist too literally upon that sentence. Stalin, by deporting me, has shown his readiness to meet Chamberlain's wishes. If I did not go further, it was through no lack of willingness to please. That is no reason why British-Soviet trade should suffer the consequences.

I might mention also that international relations are based on reciprocity. But that is a disagreeable subject and I prefer to drop it.

Journey Begun in a Blizzard.

In acknowledging the OGPU order I laid stress on its criminality and illegality. I meant thereby that while a citizen may be given choice of leaving the country or undergoing punishment he cannot legally be deported without his own consent. When I inquired: "Whither and how is it proposed to deport me?" I was told that an answer to that question would be given by a special OGPU agent, sent to meet me in European Russia.

The next day was occupied in packing my trunks with clothing, manuscripts and books. My two pointer dogs were considerably disturbed at the presence of so many strangers in my quiet dwelling. I must say, however, that the attitude of the OGPU was not at all hostile.

At dawn on the twenty-second my wife, my son and myself with our escort, took an autobus which proceeded over the road of hard-packed snow to the Kurda mountain pass. A violent blizzard raged there. A powerful tractor which was to tow us over the Kurda mountains sank deep in the snow as well as several automobiles it was supposed to tow. Seven men and several horses perished during that blizzard. We had to abandon autos and take to the sledges and we were seven hours covering twenty miles. Along the way I saw sledges laden with building materials for the new Turkestan-Siberian railway, great drums of petrol, &c., all half buried in the snow. The men and horses had taken refuge in neighboring huts.

When we had crossed the pass we again took autos and at Pechweke Peke got aboard a train.

More Delays En Route.

Moscow papers received here showed that public opinion was being prepared for the deportation of members of the opposition. We were informed by telegraph at Aktjubinske that our destination was Constantinople. I demanded opportunity to see two members of my family, living in Moscow, and they were accordingly sent to meet us at Rjagesk and placed under the same surveillance as ourselves. Bulanov, the new OGPU agent in charge, tried to convince me of the advantages of Constantinople over Almaata as a place of exile. But I categorically refused to go.

Bulanov telegraphed Moscow, where everything had been foreseen except the possibility that I might refuse to leave Russia voluntarily. Our special was shunted on to another line and soon halted at a quiet little station where we remained a long time.

Day after day passed. Empty food tins accumulated about the train. Crows and ravens came in flocks to feast. There were no hares, because all had died of a terrible epidemic during the Winter. The locomotive with one car went to the nearest big station every day to get provisions. Our party was attacked by grip and spent the time coughing and waiting.

I reread Anatole France and the Russian history of Klutschevsky.

Moscow was debating our case. The locomotive kept running slowly back and forth to avoid freezing. Night followed night and distant radio stations groped in the ether for news of where we were. We played chess and did not hear their question, but even if we had heard we could only have replied: "We were brought here at night and don't know where we are. Somewhere in the region of Kursk."

Hears of Friends Exiled.

So passed twelve days and twelve nights. I learned meanwhile of the arrest of several hundred more of our friends, among others those known as the Trotsky centre group. Some of the names mentioned were Kavtaradze, ex-president of the Georgian People's Commissariat; Mdivani, former commercial representative of the Soviets in Paris; Voronsky, one of the party's best writers; Drobris, one of the most heroic figures of the Ukrainian revolution, and many others. All were active in the founding of the party and participated in the October revolution.

On Feb. 8 Bulanov announced: "Despite the best efforts of the Moscow Government, Germany flatly refuses to allow you to enter. Therefore I am ordered to conduct you to Constantinople."

I replied that I would not go willingly and would so declare when I reached the Turkish frontier. Bulanov answered: "That will not alter our decision that you will go to Turkey."

"Must I understand you are in league with the Turkish police to take me to Turkey against my will?" I inquired.

"We know nothing about that," he replied, "but only obey instructions."

So after standing still twelve days our train began to move. It was somewhat lengthened, because our escort had now been increased. I was not allowed to leave my car after quitting Pischpeka. We went southward at full steam. The only stops made were at small stations to take water and fuel. These extreme precautions were due to the demonstration at the Moscow station when I was first exiled in January, 1928. At that time the crowd prevented the train from leaving, so I could not be sent away secretly until the following day.

Discerns Government Disagreements.

Newspapers brought news of another big campaign against the Trotskists. Between the lines we could read the great dispute among members of the government concerning my deportation. Stalin's faction was in a hurry. They had not only political but physical difficulties to overcome. The steamer Kalinin was ordered to take me and was at Odessa, but was frozen in. Icebreakers were unable to free it, though Moscow was urging the greatest haste. Finally the steamer Ilyitsch was got ready. The train reached Odessa the night of Feb. 10. I saw familiar sights from the window for I spent seven years of my childhood here. The car came alongside the wharf. It was a bitter cold, black night, but I could see the wharf was packed with OGPUs and troops.

Here I had to leave two members of my family who had shared my seclusion for a fortnight. I saw the ship from the train window. I could not help thinking of another ship that once took us to an involuntary destination. It was in March, 1917, at Halifax, when British sailors with passengers looking on, removed me from the Norwegian steamer, Christianafjord, although I had all the necessary papers and visas for Christiania and Petrograd. My family was then the same, but twelve years younger. My eldest son, then aged 11, struck a British sailor with his fist before I could stop him. So instead of going to Petrograd I was held a month in a concentration camp at Amhurst.

At Constantinople at Last.

The Ilyitch, without cargo or other passengers, left Odessa at 1 o'clock in the morning. For sixty miles she was preceded by an icebreaker. The dying tempest gave us few furtive slaps and on Feb. 12 we entered the Bosporus. I handed to the Turkish Commissary, who was informed in advance of our arrival, the declaration saying I was brought there against my will. That statement had no effect. After twenty days and 4,000 miles of travel we were at Constantinople.

Eye Economy

THE slight difference in cost between Emeralite and ordinary lighting is the great difference between efficient work and the loss of output from eyestrain.

Nature made Green and daylight restful to eyes. That's why Emeralite has a Green glass shade, and a Special Screen that changes ordinary electric light into soft, glareless daylite that prevents eyestrain and improves visibility.

Emeralited offices look better—have more output—daylight on every desk—the best eye insurance.

Genuine Emeralites are branded for your protection. Look for the name on the Green Glass Shade and the Daylite Screen. It is a pledge of lighting service that satisfies.

AMERICANS HIT MOST BY OUR $10 VISA FEE

The Old World Countries Have Collected From Them Since War $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

ALL READY TO DROP CHARGE

Washington Plan by Which Only Immigrants Would Pay Was Rejected as Unfair.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Will this year's crop of tourists pay to various European countries the $10 visa fees which since the war have netted Old World countries between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000, all of which has come out of the pockets of American visitors?

Regardless of the validity of the reasons which led the Washington Government to establish the $10 visa fee during the World War as a source of revenue, there is a growing feeling among the 300,000 or 400,000 annual American travelers in Europe that much may be said against clinging to a system whereby Americans pay $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 yearly for foreign visas so that the American Government may collect $1,000,000 from foreign visitors to our shores.

For it should not be forgotten that other governments put into effect the $10 visa charge after the United States did and definitely to meet that action. Today nobody but Americans pay this exorbitant fee. Other nationals travel all over Europe on free or almost free visas.

Attitude of European Countries.

An effort to ascertain where the fault lies reveals a most interesting situation. While in Washington it is said that in pursuance of congressional action five years ago the State Department has tried, but in vain, to have the $10 visa collected from American tourists by England, France and other European countries abolished, official statements made in capitals of those countries proclaim their desire now or at any other time to enter into an agreement with Washington for mutual abolition or reduction of these visa fees.

But investigation quickly reveals the explanation of this apparent contradiction. America proposes to abolish $10 visas except for immigrants, while the European countries would abolish them altogether. The Washington proposal has been met with the reply that it would mean that practically all American travelers to Europe would thereby be exempted, whereas 60 per cent of European voyagers to America would still pay. This has been rejected by London, Paris and other capitals as an unfair proposition.

Yet it remains true that there is not an important European capital which is not willing to go back to the old system of free visas or else adopt the system proposed by the League of Nations of a $2 charge to cover the cost of the service.

It must not be supposed that all European countries still charge $10 for a visa. The lure of American tourist money has led several countries to abolish or reduce the charge, not as a fair bargain with Washington but as a simple bid for tourists' business. Such is the case in Germany, Switzerland, Belgium and now in Italy. However, England and France, the most important from the standpoint of tourists, still hold their position. As long as they do the greater part of the burden of this charge remains.

French Position Stated.

Inquiry made of the French Government brings the answer that Paris stands on its proposal for mutual abolition of the $10 fee, but that France refuses to make with America an arrangement whereby tourists would be exempted and immigrants still pay. The fee must be abolished for every one or must remain for every one—such is the French position. Paris takes the same stand as Britain toward the American proposal.

Inquiry made of the British Government elicited the reply that England stands on her proposal to reduce visa fees to $1 for a transit visa and $2 for other visas. Or England is ready to abolish all visas and visa fees, but as long as visas are insisted on she would retain a $1 or $2 fee.

It is pointed out that in 1925 America proposed the retention of visas, but abolition of fees for all but immigrants. This has been twice refused by London, once when presented by Chargé d'Affaires Sterling and once when presented by Ambassador Houghton. In his reply Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, said:

"The effect of such an agreement would be to relieve United States citizens of the obligation to obtain visas, while British subjects would obtain no such privilege, and on this ground alone it would be impossible for his Majesty's Government to accept. His Majesty's Government, moreover, attach importance to the fact that the very large number of British subjects traveling to America as immigrants would remain still liable to pay the heavy existing visa fees, which fall with especial severity upon that category of travelers."

Inquiry at Berlin brought the reply that Germany had agreed to free visas for American tourists and German visitors of the non-immigrant class to America because Germany not only desired to abolish all visas, as she had done with twenty-four countries, but also because Germany wished to attract American tourists. It was stated that Germany regarded the present arrangement as very one-sided and hoped eventually for what Berlin would consider a fairer arrangement.

Italy Calls Our Stand Unfair.

In Rome it was said that Italy's concession represented her desire to attract American tourists, but that it was regarded as unfair that many Italians going to America must still pay $10 for a visa, whereas almost all Americans going to Italy were exempted.

Thus we see France and England still charging $10 for a visa fee to American visitors, but that both those countries are ready to agree to a mutual reduction. However, Paris and London both hold out against what they regard as the unfair arrangement by which all American travelers to their countries would be exempted, while the majority of their voyagers to the United States would still pay. Inasmuch as they collect some millions of dollars every year out of the arrangement it may be guessed that they can wait until Washington sees the matter differently.

Italian Visa Accord Concluded.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Abolition of the visa fee for all American passports was effected today when Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher and Premier Mussolini exchanged notes of agreement on this reform, which becomes effective on March 1.

By the terms of the agreement, the United States, though continuing to require Italians entering America to obtain a visa from the American consular authorities, abolishes the $10 fee except in the case of immigrants.

It is pointed out here that as scores of Americans enter Italy for every Italian non-emigrant entering the United States the Italian Government will be out of pocket. It is hoped, however, that a larger number of Americans will be induced to visit Italy and that in this way the country as a whole will benefit.

The American Government in 1925 made a standing offer to Italy for mutual abolition of passport visa fees. The matter remained in abeyance because the Italian Government tried to induce America to abolish not only the fee but also the visa, so that the formalities at the consulates could be dispensed with except in the case of emigrants.

The American Government would not accept this proposal and the negotiations dragged on till the present agreement was concluded.

Welsh Miner, Life-Long Trade Unionist, Elected Chairman of Conservative Council.

FIRST WAGE EARNER IN POST

Gwilym Rowlands Says Appointment Indicates Party's Democratic Trend —Lord Kylsant a Vice Chairman.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—From pit boy inone of the Welsh hotbeds of socialism to leader of the united Conservative organizations throughout Great Britain is the romantic achievement of Gwilym Rowlands, who succeeded Colonel John Gretton, wealthy brewer, as chairman of the Council of National Union of the Conservative and Unionist Associations today.

Mr. Rowlands will preside over the next conference of the Conservative party, which would elect the party's choice for successor to Prime Minister Baldwin should he retire—and is the first workingman to achieve such a position. He was elected unanimously by the 700 delegates, who at the same time appointed Lord Kylsant, the wealthy ship owner, Lady Iveagh and Colonel George Herbert as his vice chairmen.

All of his working life Mr. Rowlands, who is a big, rosy-cheeked man in middle age, has been a trade unionist, working among the mines and furnaces of the Rhondda Valley in Wales, where he was born and bred and still resides. "I am the first wage earner to occupy the post of chairman of the Conservative Council," he said afterward, "and consider my election an indication of the democratic tendency of the Conservative party today."

Mr. Rowlands was a strong supporter of the government's trade disputes act of 1927, designed to safeguard the country against a repetition of the general strike. Asked whether he experienced trouble among his working associates owing to his views, Mr. Rowlands replied: "Not at all. Anyway, I could more than hold my own."

Mr. Rowlands ran twice unsuccessfully for Parliament in the West Rhondda and Caerphilly divisions and is running for Pontypool, Monmouthshire, in the next election.

ASK BEAUTY TO AID HUNGARY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 26.—Even beauty is grist to the mill of Hungarian irredentist propaganda.

Elizabeth Simon, a lovely Hungarian girl who has just been elected Miss Europe, is to be turned to political account by opponents of the Treaty of Trianon if Budapest enthusiasts have their way. Miss Simon is soon going to Hollywood to compete for the position of supreme beauty of the world.

An important section of the Hungarian press sees in her an opportunity for advertising its grievances afresh and demands that she appear before the judges clad in national mourning dress of deepest black and bearing the famous irredentist badge of map-mutilated Hungary, inscribed with the words "Nem nem soha," meaning "No, no, never," the phrase with which Hungary received the terms of the Treaty of Trianon.

Thus does Budapest propose without consulting the girl, but doubtless Miss Simon, on arriving in Hollywood, will dispose of the matter of a costume, not according to the dictates of nationalism, but to those of an older tyranny obliging to wear what pleases man, her judge.

You can buy rugs, draperies and home furnishings, for instance, in Gimbels, without making mistakes as to the colors.

Daylight lighting is more satisfactory when buying clothes also. Not only is the color exactly as it was in the store, but the customer looks just the same in the garment after she gets it home as she did in the store. In many stores, the dim or shaded lighting and artificial lighting, create an effect that is entirely different from the bright daylight.

Gimbels has daylight lighting because it is good storekeeping. The merchandise in Gimbels can stand the brightest kind of light. And the prices, too. Quality for quality, value for value, condition for condition, fashion for fashion, and price for price, Gimbels is rarely undersold. Gimbels merchandise has its proper place in the sun—in the daylight store of Gimbels.

EXPERTS NOW AWAIT DEBT OFFER BY REICH

Paris Negotiations Reach Stage Where Payment Figures Must Be Dealt With.

LOAN PLANS DISCUSSED

Departure of Morgan and Stamp for London Today Starts False Rumors of End of Parley.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—J. P. Morgan is going to London tomorrow. He says the purpose of his trip is to have a cup of tea in his Grosvenor Square house. The fact that Sir Josiah Stamp, the chief British delegate on the Experts' Reparation Committee, is also going to London tomorrow gave rise to a report in Paris tonight that the committee had hit the rocks and that the negotiations had been broken off.

This is absurd. Have not both Mr. Morgan and Sir Josiah bought round-trip tickets? They both plan to be back on Monday.

However, the premature preachers of catastrophe have this to be said for their case: The conversations have reached the stage where the Germans must come forth with a reasonable offer or agree to discussion on the basis of allied figures before further progress can be made.

Payment Procedure Settled.

The committee has done an enormous amount of work during the first fortnight. It has constructed what might be called a complete house, which must now be inhabited. The structure for the future payments of reparations has been raised, but the figures to go into it still remain totally unsettled. Every one has about agreed how future reparation payments may be made, but no progress has been made on what future payments are to be made. Tonight the allied delegates all say the next step is up to the Germans, and Germans are saying nothing.

Bearing in mind that the size of the German payments might in many respects depend somewhat on how payments are to be made, the experts in the first two weeks tackled the rather theoretical proposition of how the unknown sum was to be paid annually. The German demand for continuation of the transfer clause protection has been met by a tentative agreement to divide the Reich's payments into two parts, one of which is to be fixed and the other subject to appeal to a financial committee, which may or may not be called the transfer committee.

Furthermore, the bankers who have been meeting on the commercialization issue, and who, indeed, held an unofficial meeting today, have agreed to try and arrange a mobilization scheme based on the use of the fixed part of the German annuities. Mr. Morgan, Lord Revelstoke and the other financial magnates have tentatively agreed that it may be possible to float a series of German Government loans to be cared for by the fixed annuities, the first of which might be for $1,000,000,000 or $1,500,000,000.

They have considered many problems, as, for example, whether these German bonds should be delivered to the governments or whether they would be issued for marketing when feasible by some consortium or other central agency. They have considered what rates of interest the bonds might bear. They have considered how the governments may cooperate to make these bonds attractive to investors.

Original Loan Plans Changed.

In their work the bankers have evolved many changes in the original loan plans. The scheme to discount the last years' allied payments to America has been dropped for the time being. The system most favored now calls for mobilization through the sale of German bonds for the benefit of Germany's creditors who have already spent money on their war debts. This means reimbursement of what England has paid America over what she has received from her war debtors and reimbursement to France and Belgium for reparation of war damages. This would leave the Allies to pay America out of the mobile part of the German annuity, they always remaining debtors of the United States. In French circles this is called Morgan's plan.

But all these schemes and plans refer to what may be done with the German annuities, without any progress being made on the fixation of those annuities.

The position of the Allies may be stated to be that they will surrender the benefits of working the index of prosperity feature of the Dawes Plan, but think the German annuity should remain about the 2,500,000,000 marks fixed in the Dawes Plan.

The French and English appear quite united on this point. On the other hand, the Germans want a large reduction of the Dawes annuity, but have not said how much. The Allies say wait for Germany's offer. The nearest Dr. Hjalmar Schacht has come to an offer was in a private talk with Sir Josiah Stamp, in which he mentioned 800,000,000 marks. Sir Josiah replied that negotiations were impossible on such a basis, and now it is reported that in other private talks the Germans speak of 1,500,000,000 marks, which obviously is still far from the 2,500,000,000 the Allies ask.

May Want to Go to Berlin.

Dr. Schacht has repeatedly avoided an invitation to indicate officially a figure for discussion, but it is generally held that he must come out into the open next week, and even then it is reported that he may say he is forced to go to Berlin to consult the German Government.

Such a procedure would irritate the Allies, for they made plain before the committee met that there was a chance for Germany getting only a small reduction, if any reduction, below the 2,500,000,000.

Naturally, the success of the whole procedure depends on an agreement on sums. If there is no agreement on sums nothing can come of the bankers' plans to float loans. Indeed, if there is no agreement on the size of the annuities the whole business goes back to execution of the Dawes plan.

The League of Nations Council meets in Geneva next week, and if the experts still have made no progress, arithmetically speaking, it is entirely possible that M. Briand, Austen Chamberlain and Dr. Stresemann may take some action.

There will be no more meetings of the main committee until the end of the week, and doubtless the Germans have been told to think things over and try to make an annuity offer by the beginning of next week. If they do, Mr. Morgan and Sir Josiah Stamp will be on hand to hear it. Thus Dr. Schacht becomes for the moment the central figure in the Paris reparations negotiations.

SUGGESTS A PLAN TO PAY REICH DEBT

WOULD HALVE ANNUITIES

With Fixed Total and Issue of Bonds Payment Period Could Be Cut to 30 Years.

A "practical solution of the reparation problem," was presented yesterday to the Board of Trade for German-American Commerce by Dr. Max Winkler, expert on international financial problems and vice president of Bertron, Griscom & Co.

Assuming that Germany will be called upon to pay as much as the Allies are scheduled to pay to the United States, with an additional sum to cover Belgian and French reconstruction, Dr. Winkler said that this would effect a reduction in the annuity for a standard year by more than 40 per cent; the present sum of $600,000,000 might be reduced to $350,000,000.

Steps should then be taken to fix the total amount that Germany is to pay, he suggested. Adhering to the 1921 agreement fixing Germany's reparation payments as 132,000,000,000 gold marks, Dr. Winkler would eliminate the Class C bonds, placed at 82,000,000,000 marks, leaving a total of 50,000,000,000 marks, which, capitalized on the basis of 4½ per cent interest, would yield $4,000,000,000, or the amount of the outstanding industrial and railway bonds provided by the Dawes plan.

"It would seem feasible," continued Dr. Winkler, "to issue immediately a sufficient amount of these bonds, representing the present value of the last twenty-five years' payment of the Allies to the United States and estimated at about $750,000,000. In this way the period of payments all around would be reduced to about thirty years. During this period, on the other hand, Germany would contribute enough to her creditors to enable them to meet their obligations to the United States.

"Assuming that reparations are definitely fixed and that bonds are issued representing the present value of the total, it may not be impossible to have bonds receive, in addition to a specified rate of interest of 5 per cent or 6 per cent, a certain share in the profits of Germany's corporations. The latter are scheduled to contribute toward reparation payments, such contributions taking the form of interest payments on first mortgage bonds issued to the Reparations Commission. Such additional payments may be determined on the basis of the net return on the capital invested in Germany's industries.

Dr. Winkler declared that the "haste" indicated in recent months to settle the reparation question arose out of the fact that "for every dollar Germany paid out on account of reparations she received a little over $1.85," and Americans, he said, were "privileged" to contribute the major portion, so that for the four years ending Aug. 31, 1928, Germany paid the allied and associated powers $1,863,000,000, a sum representing more than double Germany's customs receipts for a whole year; equivalent to more than 36 per cent of Germany's annual taxes, or to the net annual output of the coal industry or to the amount required annually for new buildings in the Reich.

LONDON REASSURES REICH.

Denies Belgian Military Agreement —Brussels Explains to Holland.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The Wilhelmstrasse received today a statement from the English Government regarding the publication in Holland of the alleged terms of the Franco-Belgian military treaty. The English Government denies the existence of an English-Belgian agreement as asserted in the Dutch paper and states that there is no other agreement between the general staffs of the two countries.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 26.—Following instructions from his government, the Dutch Minister to Belgium called on Foreign Minister Hymans today to ask whether the text of the Franco-Belgian military convention as published in a Dutch newspaper Sunday was correct. M. Hymans denied the authenticity of the document and later in the Chamber of Deputies described it as "a tissue of inventions and lies."

Mr. Hymans seems to have emphasized his denial by accusing the Dutch in turn of permitting the fomentation in a very anti-Belgian spirit of propaganda in certain districts of their own country. In his speech in the chamber he described the ententes with France as purely defensive and providing for collaboration only in case either were attacked.

He charged the fabricators and publishers of the false document with seeking to stir up trouble and suspicion between the two countries just at the moment when negotiations were under way between them for a settlement of the Scheldt difficulty.

Weather Keeps King George Shut In

BOGNOR, Sussex, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Snow, wind and mist conspired to prevent King George from enjoying the invigorating sea air through open windows today. His bedroom windows had to be kept closed. The King, however, sat up and read newspapers for a while. The King was particularly interested in the press reports of today's levee, at which the Prince of Wales presided in his absence. It was officially stated this evening that the King had passed a good day.

By WYTHE WILLIAMS.

was not to their liking and that they really did not care to tie-up with any combination unless they were first assured the taxes would be reduced.

At a late hour tonight, however, the People's Party caucus, seeing in what a serious situation they had placed the government as a result of this afternoon's refusal to cooperate with Dr. Stresemann, issued an ambiguous statement by which it is averred the party may retain a place in the coalition.

Whether this action will satisfy the Centrist and other parties remains to be seen.

Disbelieve Pact Denials.

Although the government is mute on the subject of the alleged Franco-Belgian understanding the press is almost unanimous in its candid disbelief of the denials emanating from Paris, Brussels and London. And into all this naturally comes fresh criticism of the Foreign Minister for following what is termed his conciliatory policy, adopted at Locarno and Geneva, instead of making a stronger show of independent spirit.

The fact that since the recent accord was established between Signor Mussolini and the Pope the strong Catholic Centrist Party has shown an inclination to lean more definitely to the Right brings added fears for the present Cabinet and even encourages hints of a possible Fascist régime.

Concerning the alleged Franco-Belgian pact, all parties of the Right maintain that the flood of denials by the powers concerned cannot convince them that warlike plans against the Reich do not exist—and, as is pointed out generally, at a time when Germany is doing her utmost to preserve cordial and peaceful relations not only politically but at the council table of the reparations experts.

"How do you harmonize the fact that Brussels reluctantly admits the existence of a pact, while Paris vociferously denies it and says that only the defensive agreement of 1920 exists? We cannot believe the understanding between these powers is merely a technical agreement which does not violate the Covenant of the League.

British Position "Doubtful."

"Despite London's denial, the British position in this game seems very doubtful. It is even admitted that their Generals took part with French and Belgian officers in discussions of war plans and possibilities and that the Franco-British naval arrangement was part of these discussions. If we add to this the new pact, supposedly dated shortly after the failure of the Geneva tri-power conference, we are convinced that international political interests of great importance are at work.

"We must ask England whether she considers the Locarno pact only a one-sided affair, solely binding England and France together, or whether she still adheres to the rôle of an intermediary between France and Germany. Indeed, there seems nothing changed since the war that should force Germany to assume a standpoint different from the other European powers.

"The French denial is weak, inasmuch as in consideration of this so-called supplement of 1927 it merely says that no new military agreement was signed then, but it does not say whether any alteration of the pact of 1920 was made then."

Dictatorship Plan Denied.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Details of the visit of the two leaders of the "steel helmets" Herr Seldte and Colonel Duesterburg to President von Hindenburg's palace were made public today.

The President had desired the visit because the "steel helmets" are suspected of planning a campaign to end parliamentary government and to set up a dictator. As President von Hindenburg was made an honorary member of this organization when it first gathered the war veterans into its ranks soon after the revolution, he naturally desired to know if the suspicion was true.

Both Herr Seldte and Colonel Duesterberg declared that they had no such plans and though they were in opposition to the system now followed in Germany they would not use illegal means to remove it. Their attitude toward the former Kaiser, which has been questioned by their political opponents, was merely that of soldiers to their former commander, they said.

President von Hindenburg accepted this explanation and declared he saw no reason to resign from membership.

EXPOSITION WILL BE CLIMAX

Rural Society and Industrial Union Waging Struggle Over Tariff Revision.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 26.—British manufacturers are preparing to make an organized attack upon the Argentine market in an attempt to oust American products from the domination they are now enjoying. Indications point to a two-year plan being prepared, to culminate with the British Industries Exposition, which is being held here from December, 1930, to February, 1931, and which promises to be a great concentrated effort to induce Argentine buyers to forego the preference they now have for American merchandise.

It is reported that a group of British manufacturers are attempting to raise a $5,000,000 advertising fund with which to launch their first attacks in South America, principally in Argentina, the most important market.

Rural Society Supports British.

That the exposition will be a great event is practically assured, because, while it is sponsored by the British Chamber of Commerce, it counts upon the solid support of the Argentine Rural Society, which is now leading a campaign to force the government to retaliate against the United States' tariff policy. Simultaneously with the first announcements of the coming exposition the Rural Society published articles in its official publication calling attention to Argentina's debt to the British because they import such large quantities of Argentine products, and urging the consumption of British products.

However, the Rural Society's propaganda favoring British goods is not altogether convincing, because the Argentine Industrial Union, which represents the manufacturing interests, is taking the Rural Society to task, claiming that its activities are contrary to the best interests of the nation.

Struggle Over Tariff Question.

Both organizations are locked in a struggle concerning the tariff question. The Rural Society wants either small duties or none at all for favored countries, such as the United Kingdom, and heavy duties for the United States, while the Industrial Union wants heavy tariffs for all imports which are produceable here.

The Industrial Union does not look upon the United States tariff policy as directed against Argentina, but has constantly asserted that the United States was taking legitimate measures to protect its domestic economy and Argentina should profit by its example, since the protective system enabled the United States to reach its present industrial eminence.

The Rural Society, which is undoubtedly inspired by competitors of American manufacturers, has a different opinion and finds more suitable to its campaign the assumption that the United States policy is directly hostile to Argentina. Both organizations have before President Irigoyen petitions urging tariff action, the one favoring reduced or no tariffs in some cases, and the other asking a general revision of duties upward.

America Held Responsible.

For the first time the tariff question has been put squarely before the country, and while the United States is directly responsible for the question coming to a head at this time, nevertheless the scene of the tariff agitation, in so far as Argentina is concerned, has been shifted directly here.

If the British expected the Rural Society's play would secure them customs advances present indications tend to dispense such expectations, because the Industrial Union appears to have the upper hand in the presentation of its thesis, and has an added argument for Presidential favor in that industrial expansion benefits the working man, and President Irigoyen is profoundly interested in the workers, whose support gave him his overwhelming election last year.

SNOW MARS PRINCE'S LEVEE

Royal Procession Abandoned on Account of Bad Weather.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The sudden return of arctic conditions today, accompanied by a heavy snowfall, caused the abandonment of the royal procession for the first levee, over which the Prince of Wales presided at St. James's Palace on behalf of the King.

Instead of riding in the silver and gold state coach, attended by a squadron of lifeguards from Buckingham Palace, the heir to the throne walked through falling snow from his residence, York House. It is said he considered it unnecessary to expose the troops and police to such inclement conditions.

The decision was made at the last minute, and messengers were hurriedly sent to advise the waiting crowds that there would be no procession. Many, however, waited to cheer the Prince as he entered the palace, wearing his tall bearskin busby and big guards overcoat over a brilliant scarlet uniform. The presentation of the diplomats occupied more than an hour.

The renewed frost enables skating to continue in most parts of the country, except the Southwest.

SOFIA CONCORDAT DENIED.

Orthodox Church Still Strongly Opposed to the Vatican.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SOFIA, Feb. 26.—Although reports that Bulgaria is prepared to conclude a concordat with the Vatican in order to remove the Vatican's objections to the marriage of King Boris with Princess Giovanna of Italy caused some excitement here, it brought emphatic denials from authoritative circles.

The Bulgarian Orthodox Church is so strongly opposed to Rome that it is stated its leaning toward the Protestant churches is more likely to become apparent than any desire for a Roman concordat.

The Italian Government, it is contended here, must have the same interest as Bulgaria in the projected marriage. It is therefore up to Rome to remove any difficulties with the Vatican.

COMMANDER E. BOOTH SAILS FOR HOME TODAY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Commander Evangeline Booth, American Salvation Army leader, will sail for home on the Berengaria tomorrow, convinced that her brother, Bramwell Booth, has never been told of her wish to see him. Information reached the Commander today which made her positive the old General's family has been standing in the way of an interview.

She had little comment to make tonight on the new statement by Dr. Ernest Wardlaw Milne, Bramwell Booth's physician, in which he explained why the commander was not allowed to visit her brother.

"As Bramwell Booth knows, Commander Booth has been one of the prime movers in the agitation to depose him," wrote Dr. Milne.

"He knows his deposition on the grounds of his physical incapacity was carried out against all the medical evidence produced before the High Council and also that his sister was a candidate for the vacancy caused by his deposition.

"It is obvious a meeting with her could not be anything but deeply distressing to the old man suffering from the shattering blow delivered by those upon whose loyalty he had always felt he could depend."

When Dr. Milne's statement was shown to her tonight Commander Evangeline merely repeated her conviction that her brother's family was to blame for the refusal of her request to see her brother. She seemed resigned to the prospect of not seeing him but added a hope and prayer that some time in the future she and her brother might be able to meet again.

SALVATIONISTS COME HOME

Seven Executives Return From Meeting of High Council in London.

Seven territorial executives of the Salvation Army returned last night on the Cunard liner Aquitania from England, where they attended the sessions of the High Council which deposed General Bramwell Booth.

Commissioner Adam Gifford of San Francisco described the events which led up to the election of General Edward J. Higgins as executive head of the army and said that what had been done was "done for the best."

He said that Commander Evangeline Booth, who sailed for home yesterday, had at no time entertained a desire for leadership of the organization and had consented to the placing of her name on ballot as a concession to enthusiastic adherents.

Also on the Aquitania were Count and Countess Luigi de Santa Elia of Rome. The Count is master of ceremonies to the King of Italy. He has come to attend the inaugural ceremonies in Washington on March 4. He and the Countess will tour America. Another passenger was Nahun Sokolow, chairman of the World Zionist Executive Committee.

RUSSIAN REDS SPLIT OVER FARM POLICY

GRAIN COLLECTION IS ISSUE

By WALTER DURANTY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Feb. 26.—The struggle between the Right opposition and the Communist majority machine is clearly defined by two editorials, one published in Sunday's Pravda, which is the organ of the Communist party Central Committee, and the other in today's Izvestia, which is the organ of the Soviet Government.

Before going further it must be understood that the Right opposition differs greatly from the opposition of the Trotskyists in being conducted upon "legal" party lines; that is, it represents criticism of current policies of the Kremlin by a minority group which remains willing to accept the majority ruling even should that be adverse. Trotsky, who was never a real Bolshevist, made the fatal error of continuing his opposition, despite majority decisions, by "underground" and "illegal" methods.

Today circumstances have about brought a "crisis" between town and country. The Pravda editorial puts the issue clearly. There are 25,000,000 small individual farms in Russia, each of whose owners has only one ambition, to get richer and bigger. These farmers produce nearly as much grain as before the revolution but will not give it up to the State on account of the disproportion between grain prices and the cost of manufactured goods. These same peasants, who from more than four-fifths of the Russian population, are individualist and anti-Socialist.

A year ago the Kremlin, faced by the same situation, collected grain from the peasants by "extraordinary measures." This made the peasants so cross that in July the Kremlin was forced to disavow the said measures and promise that they would never be repeated. This year different tactics are being employed.

The Pravda editorial outlines them. They are, first, immense farms, to promote which Thomas D. Campbell of Montana was called on; second, communal grouping of small peasant units into collective farms, and, third, supply of good grain fertilizer and implements to the poorer peasants on a contract basis whereby they pledge themselves to deliver a certain proportion of their crop at prices fixed by the State.

Here is where the present conflict between the Right and the majority develops. The Right says it will be several years before these methods of socialization bear fruit, and, therefore, in the meantime it is necessary to foster the individual producer. So spake Rykof—whom Trotsky called the leader of the Right in his letter published by The New York Militant—in his speech a few weeks ago to the agronomic experts.

The Izvestya in an editorial today shows how the situation has developed since then. It admits the temporary importance of the individual peasant producer, but insists quite clearly upon the "cowardice" and "petit bourgeois spirit" of all who do not recognize that rural socialization by the methods described above is the most urgent present problem before the Soviet State.

From the political viewpoint the most important feature of the Izvestya editorial is that based on a statement made last night by M. Molotof to the conference of Moscow Communists. "Right deviations" were rife in the Moscow party and a number of hitherto leading officials were recently dismissed on this account, he said. M. Molotof today is Stalin's closest henchman and has replaced M. Bukharin as the principal Kremlin spokesman. He declares uncompromising war on the Right.

So for the time being there is no doubt that the party machine sides with M. Molotof and Stalin, but the issue will really be decided by results. If grain collections improve and the coming harvest is satisfactory the Right will not have a leg to stand on. If they do not and the harvest is bad, some new compromise will be necessary.

HOPE TO SELL ART IN VIENNA

Soviets Seek Contracts for Auction Sales Barred in Berlin.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—Soviet art treasures "from Stag nationalized and private collections" which the Soviets are not able to sell in Berlin, will be offered at auction in Vienna.

A preliminary agreement has been signed with two leading Vienna auctioneers, who already have gone to Moscow to inspect the collections, which are said to include valuable antiques.

The Soviet authorities frankly admit the failure of their attempt to dispose of these art treasures in Berlin was due to the opposition of Russian émigrés, and they have now decided to attempt to sell them here despite the determination of the Vienna émigré colony to prevent the auction. If the auctioneers are so disposed, after inspecting the collections, a final agreement will be signed in Moscow obliging the auctioneers to deposit immediately 60 per cent of the value of the treasures.

Due to the events in Berlin, however, the auctioneers have inserted a clause obliging the Soviets to pay the entire legal costs in case any action should be started by a third party with the object of preventing the sale. The firms would thereby be able to safeguard themselves against the difficulties experienced by the German auctioneers in handling such treasures which Russian émigrés maintain are "stolen."

Norden Reaches Sudan After Penetrating Abyssinian Interior.

By HERMANN NORDEN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GALLABAT, Sudan (via Khartum), Feb. 26.—I have just reached the Sudanese border after an extensive caravan trip through Abyssynia, where all foreigners are viewed with suspicion. Each province is like a watertight compartment and the powerful Rasses (chiefs) and the priests are defying the central government. Passports issued by Ras Tafari are valueless. Civil war is easily possible and the attitude toward foreigners is the keynote to the situation.

Chiefs and subchiefs held me prisoner for days, an armed force surrounding my camp. The brisk trade in slave-dealing is an open secret. The roads are unsafe. Yesterday I saw some robbers snatch four caleo-laden donkeys from a trade caravan. Is such a medieval government entitled to belong to the League of Nations and to send diplomats abroad?

Vienna Editor Held for Treason.

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—There was an echo of Sunday's Fascisti and Socialist marches today when Paul Kohn, editor of the Vienna Communist newspaper, Rote Fahne, was arrested on the charge of high treason. On Sunday he published a poem glorifying high treason against the State, which he accused of promoting Fascism. In all, seventy arrests followed the demonstrations. Five of those seized were committed to trial and the others released.

1,458,000 ARE JOBLESS NOW IN GREAT BRITAIN

Unemployed Were Increased by 115,495 During the Week—'Relief Works' Failure.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Great Britain's unemployed were increased last week by 115,495 persons, it was announced tonight, and the total now stands at 1,458,000. While the sudden jump in figures may in part be due to stoppages of work caused by the frost and snow, it is now more than ever apparent that all the Government's costly and widely advertised schemes for dealing with this canker have gone by the board and the public's hope for remission of taxation in the forthcoming budget has gone with them.

In April of 1926, a month before the general strike, the unemployment figures fell to 996,645, which was the lowest point reached in Britain's post-war industrial crisis. The strike, in the estimation of Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill, inflicted a loss of revenue of $400,000,000 and now it is clear that the country, even after two years of industrial peace, never has recovered from this staggering loss. It may well be that three or even four years of common sense are required to balance the nine months' folly of a stoppage in the coal mines, which continued long after the general strike was ended.

The government's latest policy aims at the absorption of the unemployed into productive industry and their transference from areas of distress, rather than the granting of moneys from the public Exchequer for "relief work," and further to remove those forms of taxation which increase the costs of production.

How futile have been the attempts to find employment by "relief works" is shown in the figures available tonight. It is estimated that the expenditure of $5,000,000 gives direct employment to only 2,000 men on road work for one year. The Unemployment Grants Committee estimates that during five and a half years they have sanctioned the expenditure of $520,000,000 and provided directly the equivalent of one year's work for 330,000 men.

Under housing schemes the expenditure of $375,000,000 gave employment for 105,000 men for one year, while the schemes sponsored by the Ministry of Agriculture, costing $6,500,000 in six years, provided the equivalent of one year's work to only 11,200 men.

It is apparent from these figures that relief schemes demand colossal financial effort and produce comparatively small results, even when allowance is made for employment indirectly created and for the material and moral assets produced. In effect, by depleting the national exchequer, it is now realized that relief schemes are more likely in themselves to create unemployment and the public is awaiting with anxiety to know what the government's next move will be.

ART EDITOR DOUBTED HAHN WORK IN 1920

TWO MORE AID DUVEEN

Restoring Expert Sure Painting Was Not Done on Wood in Manner of Leonardo—Another Agrees.

The identification of a fifteenth century masterpiece by trial by jury, now in its fourth week in the Supreme Court here, turned temporarily from its general examination of the nature of artistic judgment yesterday. The court received evidence of artistic doubt recorded in Kansas City in 1920, several months before a New York newspaper published the judgment of Sir Joseph Duveen that a painting offered by Mrs. Andrée Hahn to the Kansas City Art Institute for $250,000 as an original by Leonardo da Vinci, was only a copy of an original in the Louvre in Paris entitled "La Belle Ferronière."

Fourth Question Raised.

The evidence of artistic doubt was brought before the court through the personal testimony of Mrs. George E. Powell, who was art editor and music critic of The Kansas City Star in 1920; and it raised a fourth question for the jury which must decide whether Sir Joseph Duveen slandered Mrs. Hahn's property and whether he must pay her $500,000 damages. The arguments of opposing counsel and the rulings of Justice Black had previously raised three questions: Did Leonardo paint this picture? Had Sir Joseph any right to deny it? And, had Mrs. Hahn arranged a sale in Kansas City before Sir Joseph spoke in New York, or was it only a prospect?

In the same manner yesterday the new question arose: Was Sir Joseph responsible for the doubt which Jesse C. Nichols, Kansas City realty man and president of the Art Institute, was unable to attribute to any specific source, when he testified concerning his loss of interest in starting a subscription fund to purchase the Hahn painting for his city?

"Mrs. Hahn came to my office at The Star on her own initiative," Mrs. Powell testified, fixing the time as January, 1920, six months before Sir Joseph Duveen voiced his opinion.

"She said she had a Leonardo," Mrs. Powell continued, "which was awfully difficult to believe, for I couldn't see how a Leonardo could ever come to Kansas City. I tried to make her understand that Kansas City business men would not buy it on a French expert's opinion, and she grew very angry when I said they would have more confidence in an American. I hesitated to write any article about it then."

Article Supplied by Mrs. Hahn.

Mrs. Powell identified her later articles in The Kansas City Star quoting Mrs. Hahn in defense of the picture months before Sir Joseph was heard from; in particular, an article which Mrs. Powell said Mrs. Hahn supplied in her own words, as follows:

"A reported news incident is being published broadcast which denies the authenticity of the famous picture 'La Belle Ferronière,' which has been identified as a genuine Da Vinci. The source from which this news originates is undoubtedly upon the strength of Messrs. Marcel and Guiffry of the Louvre."

Duveen Specialists Heard.

In addition to Mrs. Powell, the judge and jury heard two more witnesses in support of Sir Joseph Duveen yesterday. Unlike the six of Sir Joseph's muster of famous connoisseurs, who have testified in person or by deposition so far, his two experts yesterday disclaimed the esthetic sense.

"I do not wish to testify on anything but restoring paintings," said Stephen S. Pichetto. "I have restored tens of thousands of them during the past twenty-five years at the Metropolitan Museum of Art."

When George R. Whiteside of Sir Joseph's counsel turned him over for cross-examination by S. Lawrence Miller, for Mrs. Hahn, however, he was asked: "Do you see any difference between the right and left eye in the Hahn painting?"

"Yes, I see a difference," Mr. Pichetto replied. "They are not mates at all. But I don't want to go into the esthetics of it."

Mr. Pichetto said he would "stake his reputation as a restorer" that the Hahn painting had never been on a wooden panel, such as Leonardo used. He was very positive that Mrs. Hahn was mistaken in believing it had been removed from wood to its present canvas three centuries after it was painted, and that the strip of gray paint at the bottom of the picture was put on when it was removed.

"Based on my experience in restoring tens of thousands of pictures," he declared, "I would say that gray strip was put there when the painting was done."

"Can you say why the artist put it there?" he was asked.

Laughs at Picture.

"To me," he replied, "there are so many things unexplainable and senseless in this picture. * * *" He laughed at it as he sat in the witness chair. Mr. Miller took it away from him and pursued him so vigorously with questions that Mr. Whiteside protested.

The deposition of Professor Arthur P. Laurie, paint specialist, of Edinburgh, was read into the record. He was questioned in Paris in 1923 after examining the Hahn painting and the Louvre painting, side by side, in preparation for the present trial.

"I have no faith in literary statements of critics," he said.

He testified that he found no pigments in either painting that were incompatible with a claim of origin in the fifteenth century, but that the paints and technique of application indicated they came from different schools. He also testified that the Hahn painting showed no sign of ever having been on wood.

Treasury Estimates 14,000 Millionaires Will Be Shown in March Income Tax Returns

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The filing of income and corporation tax returns for the calendar year 1928 on March 15 is expected to show that there are more than 14,000 millionaires in the United States.

This estimate was made at the Treasury today on the basis of calculations of Joseph S. McCoy, chief treasury actuary, that there were 11,607 individuals in 1927 with taxable incomes in excess of $100,000. An income of this amount is held to represent actual wealth of more than $1,000,000, and it is figured that there are some 3,000 more persons who were millionaires, but who for various reasons involving exemptions did not report incomes of $100,000.

In the three years ending with 1927 the number of millionaires was estimated to have increased by 3,000, or, roughly, 1,000 a year on the average. Mr. McCoy said today, however, that it was doubtful whether an increase of another 1,000 would be shown in the returns for 1928, since 1927 was, on the whole, a year of unusual prosperity.

The wealth of individuals with incomes of $100,000 or more was estimated today at an aggregate of $50,000,000 last year. This figure included multimillionaires, of whom 283 in 1927 filed tax returns on incomes of $1,000,000 or more. It is believed that there will be a slight increase in the number making up this group in the returns filed on March 15.

In the opinion of officials, the number of individual returns this year will be somewhat above the 4,122,242 filed on March 15, 1928. A considerable increase is expected over the 2,458,859 who then reported taxable incomes.

Income and corporation tax payments up to now have been about $20,000,000 behind a year ago, due to a drop in corporation taxes as a result of the year-end recession of 1927. Present estimates, however, place the March collection at about the $515,000,000 received last March. The collections next month will have a decided effect on the surplus, since there will be a relatively narrow margin between receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30. To date there is a deficit of $404,100,000 as compared to $65,819,000 a year ago, meaning that the government is $338,181,000 behind last year. In the fiscal year 1928 the surplus was $398,000,000.

SEVEN 'OLD MASTERS' AUCTIONED FOR $9,550

Seven paintings which the owners vained in 1910 at $138,700 brought $9,550 yesterday morning when put up at a sheriff's sale in the rotunda of the county court house. The canvases were sold as the work of Van Dyck, Gainsborough, Landseer, Romney, Bouguereau, Jules Breton and Denilly.

The works attributed to Van Dyck and Bouguereau tied for the high price at the sale. They went to C. H. Lane of the Hotel Commodore for $2,950 each. A landscape attributed to Gainsborough went to the Empire Trust Company for $2,500. The others brought less than $500 each.

Years ago the paintings belonged to Arthur Philip Heinze, copper man, and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Noyes Heinze. Some twenty years ago Mr. Heinze met with financial reverses. Subsequently Mrs. Heinze borrowed $15,000 from the Empire Trust Company, executing a chattel mortgage on fourteen paintings as security. Subsequently the loan was reduced, but accumulated interest and the costs of yesterday's auction have increased the indebtedness to approximately $18,000.

It was in settlement of the mortgage that seven of the paintings were auctioned yesterday. The other seven are to be auctioned on March 6 at the court house in Mineola.

The painting attributed to Van Dyck in yesterday's sale was a large portrait of the Countess of Bedford. This was listed in the chattel mortgage as being worth $100,000, and it was reported at yesterday's auction to have cost Mr. Heinze $80,000. This painting, like the other six, was auctioned "as is." None, so far as could be learned yesterday, had been submitted to connoisseurs for authentication.

WOULD CURB MILLS ON CANADIAN WHEAT

AMERICAN VALUES URGED

New Basis on Steel Products Backed by T. J. Doherty—Duty on Ship Repairs Attacked.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A demand that steps be taken to curb the milling of Canadian wheat in bond for export as flour to Cuba, under the reciprocity tariff arrangement between that country and the United States, was the subject of controversy between spokesmen for opposing groups of domestic millers at the Ways and Means Committee hearing on the tariff today.

The discussion revolved around the large increase, since a duty was put on wheat, that has occurred in the output of mills at Buffalo, N. Y.

Representatives of Southwestern millers and wheat farmers alleged that this was due to an advantage given by the 20 per cent duty preferential allowed by Cuba on flour milled in the United States from duty-free, bonded Canadian wheat.

This displaces flour made of American wheat in the Cuban market, which is in reality an extension of our home market," declared Representative Garber of Oklahoma, who proposed, as a modification of his bill pending in Congress, that there be put on wheat imported for reexport as flour a duty equivalent to any preferential tariff benefits accruing to the flour abroad.

Increase in Exports Cited.

Flour exports to Cuba through the port of New York have increased 121 per cent since 1922. With like exports from Gulf ports declining one-half, asserted E. H. Hogueland and C. M. Hardenbergh, of Kansas City, who with G. G. Sohlberg of Oklahoma City, and W. H. Shroud of Nashville, Tenn., spoke for groups of millers desiring a curb on milling in bond operations. They attributed the shift as well as a 172 per cent gain in output of milled in bond flour of five mills in Buffalo to advantages accruing on account of tariff equations.

On behalf of the Iron and Steel Institute of America, Thomas J. Doherty of New York City urged the making of wholesale prices of comparable domestic goods the basis of assessing duties on products, particularly of metal.

"From what I have heard here, I see no particularly good reason for increasing the rates in the metals schedule," said Representative Baccharach, Republican, of New Jersey. "Your industry seems to be very prosperous. To apply American valuation now would mean staying here all Summer to adjust rates to it."

"Landing value" at ports as an assessing basis was recommended by Wilber F. Wakeman, formerly appraiser of merchandise at the Port of New York.

Duty on Ship Repairs Disputed.

Protest against present 50 per cent duty on non-emergency repairs to American flag vessels abroad was expressed by Ira Campbell of New York City, who spoke for the three leading associations of steamship owners. He urged that at least ordinary voyage upkeep repairs be exempted, while Representative Cramton of Michigan urged exemption of repairs involving exclusive use of domestic labor and materials. These pleas were opposed by Henry C. Hunter, who spoke for the National Council of American Steamship Builders and the New York and New Jersey Drydock Association.

T. D. Richardson, a Detroit merchant, recommended that only tourists who are out of the country for more than twenty days be permitted to bring in $100 worth of incidental merchandise each.

Colonel A. P. Thom of the American Railway Association protested against allowing railroad and steamship companies to pay customs inspectors for overtime work and urged that the government provide twenty-four-hour inspection services, including Sundays and holidays where needed.

TARIFF REBATE OPPOSED.

Cuban Manufacturers Say It Would Ruin Native Industry.

HAVANA, Feb. 26 (AP).—Opposition to a proposed Cuban tariff rebate trade project with the United States was entered today before Congress by the Cuban National Manufacturers' Association.

The proposed semi-free trade project, introduced last week by Congressman Santiago Rey, would allow entry of American products with a 50 per cent tariff rebate in exchange for duty-free importation of 3,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar into the United States. The manufacturers oppose the plan as being "ruinous to native industry."

U. S. STEEL TO ADD $496,679,000 STOCK

stock to be offered employes for subscription under the plan, or to buy the needed shares in the open market.

The corporation's bond retirement plans were furthered this year, it was indicated, by the $26,000,000 income tax refund from the United States Treasury. This was added to the corporation's bank account early in January, and followed a $3,000,000 refund to one of its subsidiaries in 1928. Further claims for tax refunds are now under negotiation and the corporation may get back, as a result, something like $100,000,000 more.

According to the belief in Wall Street, the corporation will offer rights to buy additional common stock in the ratio of one share for every six already owned. There are now outstanding 7,116,235 shares, so that an offer on such a basis would involve the issuance of 1,186,039 additional shares. The subscription price generally mentioned in financial circles since it became reasonably certain that an offer was to be made is $150 a share, which would net the corporation close to $180,000,000. There has been no intimation from any official quarter as to the terms of the offer.

The authorized capital stock of the Steel Corporation will exceed $1,000,000,000 for the first time since the early days of its organization. It has long been a $1,000,000,000 company in point of assets. The authorized stock will total $1,250,000,000 par.

There was no indication by the management of a dividend plan with respect to the increase, although it was assumed on the basis of the corporation's statement that the dividend rate would not be decreased. The redemption program will extinguish the remaining bonds of the original issues created at the formation of the corporation.

The consolidated funded debt of the corporation, including obligations of subsidiary companies, is $472,206,529. It is calculated that at least $84,000,000 of securities were retired within the last few months.

The consolidated funded debt at the end of last year was something more than $400,000,000, allowing for the recent bond purchases. The obligations of subsidiary companies subsidiary companies, is $472,26,529. amounted to $94,540,000, according to the latest records, while the total of subsidiary companies' bonds not guaranteed by the parent company was $61,159,900.

The corporation, according to recent analyses, had redeemed from April 1, 1901, to the end of 1927 a total of $312,983,574 of bonded and mortgage debt. Shearson, Hammill & Co. drew attention in their recent survey to the fact that some of the bond indentures "stipulate that the bonds redeemed be kept alive and that the corporation continue to pay the regular interest thereon until their maturity, such interest payments to be applied by the trustees for the purchase of additional bonds." This firm's analysis was the subject of widespread discussion because of its forecast in 1928 of the 40 per cent stock dividend that was declared in the Spring of 1927. The analysis issued from this brokerage house came on the eve of the Steel Corporation's announcement, but this was merely a coincidence, because the plans revealed yesterday have been under consideration for many months, it was learned.

Taylor Discusses Plan.

Mr. Taylor, who is chairman of the finance committee, said yesterday in announcing the action of the directors that the decision was the result of an exhaustive study of the corporation's financial set-up. Ratification of the plan by the stockholders is regarded as assured.

The readjustment is largely the work of Mr. Taylor, who succeeded the late Judge Elbert H. Gary as the head of the finance committee. He regards it as one of the most constructive steps ever proposed for the corporation, since it will greatly simplify the capital structure, reduce its interest charges and substantially enlarge the return on common stock.

It was the announcement respecting the stock offering, more than the bond redemption program, which stirred the stock market community. Traders were left in the dark, however, on what they regard as the most important feature of such an offering—the subscription price and the ratio.

James A. Farrell, president, reported after Mr. Taylor's announcement, that operations are near a capacity basis and in every sense satisfactory. The industry as a whole, as he sees it, is sound and prosperous, and the outlook for several months to come is promising.

"Steel" Is Market's Leader.

For many years the shares of the United States Steel Corporation have been considered the market leader. More money probably has been made in the shares of the Steel Corporation than in those of any other company listed on the Exchange. The floating supply has been always big, but, on the other hand, because of its investment rating, it has been a prime favorite with those who sought a good return with the addition of a speculative opportunity. Foreign holdings are especially large.

The year's low was 157½, established early in January. Then the stock started climbing and touched a high of 192¾ three days ago, when it was rumored that there was "something doing in Steel." It gained 7¾ points on Monday, when $52,482,235 was added to the open market value of the outstanding shares. Yesterday, although 208,000 shares were traded in, it traveled over a wide range. It opened at 188½, sold up to 190¾ and closed at 186¾, with a loss of 2¾ points for the day.

ERROR DEFEATS BILL FOR MRS. WITTPENN

Move to Restore Her to Jersey Board Fails in House When Measure Is Not Explained.

Shell Fisheries Supervisors Are Accused by Senators of Exceeding Budget.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 26.—Opposition in the House defeated today the bill which would have permitted Governor Larson to restore Mrs. H. Otto Wittpenn of Jersey City to the board of control of the Department of Institutions and Agencies. The measure, passed in the Senate under suspension of rules, increased the board membership from eight to nine, the additional place to be filled by Mrs. Wittpenn, who was dropped from the board three years ago by Governor Moore.

When the bill was presented in the House under suspension of rules, Majority Leader Knight failed to offer an explanation of its purpose. Assemblyman Barison of Hudson County, Democratic leader, objected and the bill received only 21 votes, 31 being necessary for passage. The bill was tabled. After the House had adjourned and Mr. Barison learned the purpose of the measure, he said he would waive his opposition the next time it came up.

There will be no session of the Legislature next week. Both houses adjourned today until March 11. The Senate and House will be represented by delegations at the inauguration of President Hoover next Monday and the work will be caught up by a three-day session the following week. A resolution, adopted by both houses, makes the week of March 11 the final week for introducing bills.

The Shell Fisheries Commission was subjected to severe criticism in the Senate when Senator Yates of Passaic County declared the board was guilty of defiance of the Appropriations Committee in exceeding its budget. Senator Abel of Morris and Senator Simpson joined in the criticism.

The attack developed during the debate on a bill by Senator McAllister, limiting dredges engaged in oyster-planting work to 190 pounds. The Senate adopted the bill, 12 to 0.

NEW RADIUM MINE TO OPEN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—An attempt will be made soon to break up the "monopoly" in radium which has hampered British hospitals in recent years. A company is being formed to buy radium-bearing land in Northern Portugal and sell the precious product to hospitals and medical men at a rate far below the $80,000 a gram now being demanded.

Most of the world's radium supply comes from a Belgian company operating mines at Katanga, in the Belgian Congo. A few mysterious stocks of radium from Czechoslovakia are lying in the vaults of a London bank, but aside from the Belgian Congo source, radium has been difficult to get.

A London financier, whose name is withheld and who has been sponsoring the Portuguese project, has agreed to hand over the new mines to a British company without any profit to himself. The first gram of annual production will be distributed free to hospitals by the holders of founders' shares in the new company. A total annual production of twenty grams is expected by the backers of the Portuguese mine.

Huge Emerald Found in Brazil.

VICTORIA, Espirito Santo, Brazil, Feb. 26 (AP).—An emerald weighing 1,500 grams, on which local jewelers have been unable to set a value, has been found in the bottom of a cave by Dr. Paulo Pessoa of Affonso Cludio.

BOOTLEGGING MUSEUM OPENED FOR PARENTS

Women Drys Show Seized Liquors and Paraphernalia in Booth at Exposition.

A museum of bootleggers' paraphernalia, said to be the first ever shown publicly, has been assembled in the booth of the New York Women's Committee for Law Enforcement at the Parents' Exposition. The exposition, sponsored by the United Parents' Association, occupies four floors at the Grand Central Palace and will be open until Saturday evening.

Thousands of articles, ranging from forged labels to bottles containing bootleg liquor, were crowded in the booth. Three agents of the staff of Prohibition Administrator Campbell explain to visitors how the bootleggers operate.

Labels of the best brands, certifying the age of the liquors, were spread on the counter. Plates from which the forged labels were printed are included in the display.

Ranged behind the labels rise many bottles containing bootleg liquor seized in and around the city. A white sticker on the bottle tells the place, date and victim of the prohibition agent's raid.

"Smell this," he said to a visitor. "Iodine, water and alcohol, and it sells for Scotch whisky."

Mr. Brierton explained that most of the exhibits indicated high percentages of wood alcohol. He pointed to many small containers of powders, colored liquids and flavors used by bootleggers. Some of the labels read: "Caramel coloring," "Sherry wine flavor," "Scotch flavor," "Brandy flavor."

Electric machines for stamping bottoms of barrels are exhibited, as are capping instruments, corks and straw wrappers. Many visitors stop to smell the contents of the bottles. Some want to know whether samples are given away. Others want instructions on how to manufacture "the real stuff," but the dry agents do not enlighten them.

RUMANO-POLISH TALK ENDS.

Minorescu Discussed Trade Treaty and Minorities at Warsaw.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, Feb. 26.—During a conversation with press representatives here today, the Rumanian Foreign Minister, M. Minorescu, was asked if Rumanian participation in the Litvinoff protocol to the Kellogg treaty would result in the de jure recognition of the Soviet Government by Bucharest.

M. Minorescu replied evasively, saying the Rumanian envoy to Warsaw, who went to Moscow to sign the protocol, had a specific mission and nothing but the signing of the protocol was done at Moscow.

M. Minorescu seemed very pleased with his stay at Warsaw. He said three definite problems were discussed with the Polish Government: The question of the Polish optants in Rumania who want to keep their land; Poland's desire for a new trade agreement to give Poland better export facilities and the request for better treatment of the Polish minority in Bukowina.

It is hoped a trade agreement will be ready for signature in May this year when the Polish Foreign Minister, M. Zaleski is expected to return M. Minorescu's visit.

The Polish Prime Minister, M. Bartel, went tonight to Danzig. It is the first visit he has made to the Free City and emphasizes Polish satisfaction concerning the improvement in relations due to the change in Danzig's administration made two years ago.

SALESMAN IS HELD IN STOCK SWINDLE

Deputy Attorney General Tells of Obtaining Injunction Against Accused Corporation.

Magistrate Weil in Jefferson Market Court held Murray R. Lazarus, 32 years old, a stock salesman of 235 West 102d Street, in $2,500 bail yesterday for a hearing Friday on a charge of grand larceny in connection with an alleged stock swindle which Jacob H. Denenholz, Assistant Deputy State Attorney General, said would show frauds totalling $100,000 to $150,000.

Fred Dearing Jr. of 632 Eighty-eighth Street, Brooklyn, and seven other persons are said to have been victimized. Dearing charges that as a result of false representations by Lazarus he turned over $1,500 in cash and thirty-four shares of capital stock of the Roxy Theatre Corporation, valued at $1,350, in exchange for a total of fifty-seven shares of capital stock of the defunct Publishers Gravure Press, Inc. of 225 West Thirty-fourth Street.

Dearing said Lazarus represented that the corporation had a "growing plant," with $1,000,000 worth of orders for gravure work on hand, a contract about to be completed with The New York World, and the prospects of contracts with other newspapers. On July 21, 1928, according to the complaint, Dearing learned that Lazarus's representations were false, and that the concern was in the hands of receivers.

Mr. Denenholz said yesterday that the company formerly had a plant at Annabelle Avenue and Rawson Street, Long Island City, but that it was dispossessed by the landlord. He said he had obtained a preliminary injunction against the company last Oct. 18 on the ground of making false representations in the sale of stock. According to Mr. Denenholz, the president of the company was Charles Singer of 152 Irwin Street, Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn, and his brother, Jack Singer, and Lazarus, a nephew, were the fiscal agents.

The seven witnesses in addition to Dearing, who were in court yesterday, are John Russell of 75 Brinkerhoff Street, Jersey City; Paul A. Drobel of 148 St. Paul's Place, Brooklyn; Sarah Marks of 45 West Forty-seventh Street, Simeon Gobeit of 160 Bleecker Street, Mrs. William Garnett of 23-72 Jamaica Avenue, Astoria, Queens, and Fannie Baxter and Mrs. Carl Kloving, both of 336 Fulton Avenue, Hempstead, L. I.

BETHLEN LOSES STRENGTH.

Christian Socialists Withdraw From Hungarian Coalition.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Christian Socialist party, one of the main parts of the Christian Economic party and source of much of the parliamentary strength of Count Stephen Bethlen, Prime Minister, announced today that it would withdraw from the government coalition.

The Legitimists, who are trying to bring about the election of Archduke Otto, the 16-year-old son of the late Emperor Charles and the Empress Zita, saw in the announcement a strengthening of the boy's chances for the vacant throne of St. Stephen. The Christian Socialists said they were deserting Count Bethlen because he had failed to make a clear announcement that he favored the ultimate crowning of Otto. The withdrawal means the retirement from the Cabinet of the Rev. Dr. Joseph Vass, a priest, as Minister of Public Welfare.

PLAN NEW MOTOR ROAD ALONG HUDSON RIVER

Realty Men Name Committees to Work for $45,000,000 Driveway From Here to Peekskill.

Committees were appointed yesterday by the Hudson River Association of the Westchester County Realty Board at a meeting in the Arrowhead Inn at Riverdale to promote the movement for a Hudson River Boulevard, a highway for motor traffic to extend from the northern terminus of Riverside Drive to Peekskill. Jay Downer, chief engineer for the Westchester County Parkway Commission, said the project would cost approximately $45,000,000.

The proposed drive would cling to the shore of the Hudson along its entire length. According to tentative plans, it would bridge the tracks of the New York Central Railroad at certain points or be constructed on supports planted in the river, just off shore. The sponsors of the movement say it would relieve the congestion between upper Westchester and Manhattan, would improve scenic beauty and be of tremendous commercial value.

One committee was chosen to start a prize contest in the grade schools and high schools of Westchester County, offering $100 to the boy or girl originating the best slogan to give impetus to the drive project. The slogan would be stamped on plates similar to automobile licenses and would be distributed among motorists. The prize money was donated by members of the association.

Committees representing the communities interested in the project will arrange for the building of large roadside signs in their respective towns to advertise the movement.

LIKENED HIS FOES TO PIGS.

Baldwin in Crisis Told Churchill They Were as Hard to Drive.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—What passed between the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill, and Prime Minister Baldwin in those tense moments on the Treasury bench of the House of Commons last with recalcitrant backbenchers in a with recalcitrant backbenchers in debate over the awards to Southern Irish Loyalists, was revealed by Premier Baldwin himself tonight.

He was telling a gathering of Worcestershire men that one of their characteristics was that they would not be "druv." He had applied the same phrase to the men of Oxfordshire, who included Mr. Churchill, who was dining alongside of him.

"Forty years ago," he said, "I met an old drover having trouble with his pigs. 'Hard things to drive, many of them, is pigs,' said the drover to me. I whispered that to the Chancellor in the House of Commons when we saw what we were up against, and we surrendered.

FORMER DIRECTORS SUED FOR $1,667,411

COMPANY IN BANKRUPTCY

Transfer of $250,000 Business for $1,000 Alleged—Profits of Stock Sales Assailed.

A suit for $1,677,411 damages was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday against the former directors of the real estate management business of Frederick Southack & Alwyn Ball Jr., Inc., now defunct, in behalf of creditors of the company, who assert that this loss was sustained because of the mismanagement or negligence of the directors. Albert G. Walker, a real estate man, who is trustee in bankruptcy of the company, is named as a defendant because of his trusteeship, but the complaint recites that the damages are demanded only from the former directors.

Mr. Walker, who was elected trustee by the defendants, referred inquiries yesterday to his attorney, Walter E. Ernst. Mr. Ernst said the complaint made no charges against the trustee and that the allegations were answered fully in the bankruptcy proceedings in Federal court.

The complaint was filed by David L. Podell as attorney for John Lowry, Inc., a judgment creditor for $162,067. The suit is also in behalf of a committee of merchandise creditors having claims in excess of $200,000. Mr. Walker was chosen trustee when the company was adjudged bankrupt on May 21 last. The other defendants named are Alwyn Ball Jr., president of the defunct concern; Alwyn Ball 3d, vice president; Charles H. Trisman, secretary and treasurer; W. E. A. Wheeler, a salesman of the company's stock, and the following directors: George C. Comstock, who was the company's counsel; Alrick H. Man, Joseph M. Perrine, John S. Ball, Ellsworth G. Allen, William L. Rich, Harvey N. Wadham, Harry J. Arnold, Edward D. Fife Jr., Edward A. Russell, Joseph I. Lese and Albert E. Maves.

The complaint asserts that Mr. Wheeler made $232,000 by selling the company's stock, which was $74,000 in excess of a reasonable sum for his services. This is the first claim asserted against the defendants. Another claim is for $249,000, on the ground that the directors permitted the real estate management business of the company to be taken over by the Southack & Ball Management Corporation and that they permitted the sale of its stock to their own members for $1,000, when the stock was worth $250,000. The complaint alleges a loss of $565,279 through its promotion of the Thayer West Point Hotel on the West Point Military Reservation, which also went into bankruptcy, and makes a claim for $500,000 profits, which the plaintiffs assert should have been made.

The complaint asserts that the trustee was not requested to bring the action in behalf of the creditors because he had been chosen over their "emphatic objections," because he had "suffered the assets of the estate to be sold without taking any legal measures or steps to protect the creditors" and because he was "virtually a representative of the principal defendants."

It was announced yesterday that an application would be made before Federal Judge Mack today to set aside an order approving the settlement of all claims against the defunct corporation for only $70,000. United States Attorney Tuttle said the case has not been brought to his attention.

COLD WORSE IN DENMARK.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 26.—Serious ice difficulties continue in Scandinavian waters. The Traffic Minister said today the present Winter was the coldest since 1888. When questioned as to what the Rigsdag had done to overcome the traffic difficulties, he admitted the State Railway equipment had proved insufficient and must be augmented.

Icebreakers, including the Finnish vessel Sampo, are busy in the insuler waters, and fliers are busy carrying mail and provisions to outlying islands and icebound ships. They are also carrying members of the Rigsdag who had uncautiously gone home for the week-end.

Today ten tons of mail were carried by airplanes, which also fetched sixteen German sailors from Laesoe, where their boat is fast in the ice.

Copenhagen today registered its lowest temperature of the present snap. One of the numerous tragedies of the cold wave was discovered this morning when, after a fire on the Swedish schooner Hildar, at Flensburg Harbor, the captain's charred body was found in the cabin, where, presumably, the captain had been suffocated after overheating the stove.

The rest of the code consists of nine subdivisions of what is called Rule 4, dealing with negligence cases, the first of which relates to "Statement as to Retainers." The revolutionary nature of this subdivision is shown by the following text:

"Every attorney who shall accept a retainer or enter into any agreement, express or implied, for compensation for services rendered or to be renederd in connection with any such claim or action, whereby his compensation is to be dependent or contingent in whole or in part upon the successful prosecution or settlement thereof, shall, within ten days from the date of any such retainer or agreement of compensation, sign and file in the office of the Clerk of the Appellate Division, First Judicial Department, a written statement setting forth the date of any such retainer or agreement of compensation, the name and address of the client and of the attorney, the date and place of the occurrence of the personal injury, and the terms of compensation. No attorney shall accept or act under any written retainer or agreement for compensation in which the name of the attorney is left in blank at the time of its execution."

Must Deposit Collections.

The rule provides further, under the heading "Deposit of Collections. Notice," that whenever an attorney collects any money upon a claim or action, either by settlement or after a trial, he "shall forthwith" deposit the money in a "special account, separate from his own personal account, and shall not commingle the same with his own funds." The lawyer is required within ten days afterward to cause to be delivered to his client, either personally or by registered mail, a written statement as to the sum received and all other information concerning the payment, together with notice as to the sum claimed by the attorney to be due him.

Another subdivision, prohibiting the "combining or grouping of claims," provides that no attorney for claimant or plaintiff "shall for the purpose of settlement or payment combine or group two or more such claims or causes of action or judgments therefor on behalf of separate clients," and "each such demand or action shall be settled or compromised independently upon its own merits and with regard to the individual interest of the client." The same rule applies to any attorney for a defendant.

A rule said to be designed to prevent claim agents of casualty companies from making settlements with claimants without the knowledge of the attorneys in such cases reads as follows:

"No attorney shall communicate directly or indirectly upon the subject of any such pending claim or action with an adverse party plaintiff or defendant known to him to be represented by attorney without the latter's knowledge and consent; nor shall he permit any claim agent or other representative of his client to interview an adverse party plaintiff or defendant or obtain any statement from him, or make any settlement with him, without the knowledge and consent of the latter's attorney."

The final rule provides that the Appellate Division may designate from time to time, either upon the application of the bar associations or upon its own motion, a Supreme Court Justice to hold "an investigation into the practices and conduct of attorneys as to whom there may be shown to be reasonable cause to believe that they are engaged in objectionable practices in connection with any such claims or actions."

Some Proposals Omitted.

The recommendations of Justice Wasservogel's report, not included in the new rules because of the necessity of amending existing laws to carry them out, and which are now embraced in pending bills at Albany, relate to declaring 33 1-3 per cent a maximum share of any recovery to be paid to an attorney for his services when a contingent retainer is made with a client, and also deal with an extension of the power of the courts to punish perjury and criminal contempt.

Justice Wasservogel recommended the addition to a judiciary law of a clause describing the power of the court to punish for a criminal contempt, the following: "Wilful disobedience to its lawful mandate, or the doing willfully and knowingly of an act without the mandate or authority of the court, where a statute requires such mandate or authority to be procured before such act may be done."

Justice Wasservogel also recommended that perjury and subornation of perjury be punished as a misdemeanor.

Asks Life Parole, Gets Jail.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—Frank Freeman, a New York automobile salesman, pleaded for a life parole rather than a jail sentence today, but Federal Judge Schoonmaker ignored his request and sentenced him to six months in jail. Freeman, convicted of violating the prohibition law, was accused of having 9,000 gallons of alcohol in a plant here.

CALLS SUBMETERING COSTLY TO PATRONS

Brooklyn Edison Counsel Tells Utilities Board That System Has Many Defects.

When the hearing on submetering was resumed yesterday before the Public Service Commission many of the alleged evils of the system were brought out by William L. Ransom, counsel for the Brooklyn Edison Company and the other companies which have refused to supply electric current through master meters.

Charles L. Harold, general sales manager of the company, told of a corporation in Brooklyn supplied current to its many tenants through a master meter. Two of the company's checks for current used came back marked "insufficient funds," and the current was turned off, said Mr. Harold, depriving all of the tenants of current, which, he added, could not have happened if tenants had done business direct with the Edison Company.

Representatives of submetering companies criticised this testimony because none of their companies was involved.

Mr. Harold said his company maintained a service to attend to 300,000 "trouble" calls a year from customers.

Mr. Harold testified that submetering companies were not required to test their meters and that they failed in many ways to give the service rendered by the Edison Company. S. Stanwood Menken asked if the company ever did anything for its customers that was not of direct service to it, and the witness replied:

Mr. Harold pointed out that rates for current supplied through submeters were not regulated by public authority. He asserted that Edison customers got better service and frequently at a lower price.

E. F. Jeffe, an engineer, questioned Mr. Harold about a contract between the company and the Bush Terminal, which involved a payment of $200,000 by the company for substituting direct current for alternating current and the removal of the private plant. Mr. Harold replied by saying that he did not know the details of the contract and Chairman Prendergast of the commission suggested that the contract could be produced.

Another witness, Edward P. Shalvey Jr., called by Mr. Ransom, testified that he was overcharged $10 one month by the Economy Electric Meter Company, a submetering concern, and that when he deducted the amount from his bill the current was shut off from his apartment and for two months, including the holiday season, he was without the service.

J. R. Malone, secretary of the New York and Queens Electric Light and Power Company, testified that twenty-five private electrical plants in Queens had been removed and service by his company substituted for them. The hearing will be continued today.

$24,000,000 FUND OUT OF SENATE BILL

Deficiency Measure Is Reported Without Big Dry Grant and Will Be Adopted.

HOUSE TO PASS JONES BILL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The overpresent issue of prohibition will come to the front again in Senate and House tomorrow in what probably will be the final battle in the Seventieth Congress over dry law enforcement.

The Senate is expected to take up the second deficiency bill, heir to all the dry troubles of its predecessor, the first deficiency measure, which came to an untimely end when the two houses became deadlocked on the Senate amendment for $24,000,000 additional for enforcement. The Senate Appropriation Committee today declined to approve this amendment and reported the bill with the $2,727,914 additional for prohibition recommended by President Coolidge.

Although he will fight for the $24,000,000 fund, Senator Harris will not filibuster against the deficiency bill if the Senate votes down the amendment, he said today. Other Democrats may attempt to filibuster, but it is not considered likely that they will be able to kill the bill, which contains, among other items, the $250,000 with which Mr. Hoover is to carry out his survey of dry law conditions and appropriations for public buildings in all parts of the country.

In the House the Jones-Stalker bill to make first liquor law offences punishable by $10,000 fine or five years' imprisonment or both will be brought up under a special rule, calling for only one hour's debate. An hour's debate is permitted on the adoption of the rule, so that in all there will be about two hours of discussion of the measure, which is bitterly opposed by the wets.

Representative LaGuardia of New York today presented a minority report of the Judiciary Committee opposing the passage of the Jones-Stalker bill, maintaining that it is "discriminatory," "as inconsistent as impossible," as ridiculous as prohibition itself," and that it "is being jammed through the closing days of the session without the deliberation and study its highly penal provisions require."

"The bill has been described as providing additional prison terms for second and habitual offenders of the prohibition law," said Mr. LaGuardia's report. "It does not add one day to the maximum prison term for second and habitual offenders provided in the existing law. It gives to every judge the vehicle to let off the wholesale, habitual bootlegger with a mere fine and to impose heavy prison terms on the possessor of a pint.

"The existing law would submit any person who has two or more times been apprehended for the mere possession of a hip flask to imprisonment for a term of five years. This is the only class of persons who will suffer under the provisions of this bill.

"It permits the wealthy prominent and the financially affluent to entertain and purchase and serve to their friends capacity liquor and wines of rare vintage, with the risk of obtaining a simple fine; while the unfortunate and obscure who happen to sell two or more glasses of California claret at 10 cents a glass faces a prison term of five years."

That the bill can and will be passed is generally conceded, even by the wets.

WEINER IS RETURNED TO PRISON FOR 3 YEARS

Once Saved From the Chair, He Is Sentenced With Three Others for Unlawful Entry.

Robert Weiner, 20 years old, of 872 Rockaway Avenue, Brooklyn, whom the Court of Appeals about a year ago saved from the electric chair by reversing his first-degree murder conviction for participation in the slaying of the warden and a keeper in the Tombs by three prisoners in 1926, was sentenced to the maximum three-year term in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Mancuso in General Sessions for another offense. The same judge had presided at his murder trial.

Weiner, with Abraham Tischler, 27 years old, of 226 Division Avenue, and Philip Zeigler, 31 years old, of 747 Glenmore Avenue, both of Brooklyn, had pleaded guilty a week before to unlawfully entering the establishment of the Royal Furniture Company, 3,190 Third Avenue, on the night of Dec. 3 last.

Tischler and Zeigler received similar sentences, the court stipulating on the papers that all three were to serve the penitentiary term. At the expiration of this sentence, however, Tischler will be taken to Sing Sing to serve seventeen months on an uncompleted sentence of four and a half years, imposed in 1924 for a hold-up.

The three might have been sentenced to longer terms in Sing Sing as burglars had not a uniformed patrolman interfered with the trap three detectives, who had been trailing them, had set for them. The first-degree burglary indictment which had been returned against them had to be ignored, because their arrest, through the unexpected appearance of the policeman, interrupted the completion of the more serious offense.

URGES PENSION NEED IN SCHOOL SYSTEMS

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26.—An adequate and interlocking pension system to provide for the old age of public school teachers was advocated by Will H. Hays today at a session of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association. Mr. Hays addressed the National Council of Teachers' Retirement Systems, meeting in conjunction with the superintendents' convention.

Mr. Hays, former Postmaster General, and now supervisor of motion picture activities, recalled his own experiences as head of a layman's committee which raised $18,000,000 to solve the ministerial pension problem in the Presbyterian Church. He said adequate provision for the old age of pastors had brought about a changed viewpoint in the church, and predicted a similar salutary effect in the schools if financial security were assured.

Mr. Hays spoke in part as follows:

"The world has abandoned forever the fallacy that any virtue, any stimulus to performance, any useful quality whatsoever, derives from a condition of want. I do not care who has made such claims; they are outworn fallacies, concocted as a sop to the spineless.

"Neither community respect nor self-respect accompanies inability to pay the butcher, the grocer and the landlord.

Urges Provision for Old Age.

"I submit that to place before our young people the pitiful examples of teachers who have come to the evening of life with no provision for decent comfort, no just and reasonable assurance of continuity of livelihood during that period when success in other callings brings independence as well as honor, is to lead away from the teaching profession the quality and ability of personnel which our schools and our children must command if civilization is to advance.

"The teacher is the most important agent of the taxpayer.

"In this swiftly changing world the next generation is of infinitely more importance than the present; our mistakes must be rectified; our neglected opportunities picked up and fulfilled, our tentative efforts toward a better civilization coalesced into tangible accomplishment, by those who are to come.

"To provide for the old age of teachers is the most intelligent insurance it is possible to achieve of the efficiency of the teacher during his active years.

"I do not depreciate for a moment the value of the spirit of self-sacrifice. We are not likely, by the elementary justice of helping the teacher provide a modest old age annuity, suddenly to transform teaching into an El Dorado among the professions. I wish we could. Because a school teacher has chosen a profession where the consciousness of vital accomplishment must of necessity be part compensation, seems little excuse for the community to be callous of his welfare. That callousness, like every stupid and selfish policy among men or groups, reacts on the offender."

Cody to Head Superintendents.

Frank Cody, Superintendent of Schools of Detroit, Mich., was chosen the next president of the Department of superintendence at a session here today. Mr. Cody was the only man placed in nomination, and thus represented the unanimous choice of the convention. E. C. Hartwell, Superintendent of Schools at Buffalo, N. Y., nominated Mr. Cody. The formal election will be held tomorrow.

Four men were nominated for second vice president: L. W. Mayberry, Superintendent of Schools of Wichita, Kan.; Norman N. Crozier of Dallas, Texas; Frank G. Pickel of Montclair, N. J., formerly connected with the Cleveland schools, and D. E. Waldeman of Bellingham, Wash.

Two men were nominated for a vacancy on the executive committee: David E. Weglein, Superintendent of Schools, Baltimore, Md., and L. J. Hanifan, Superintendent of Schools, Paducah, Ky.

The convention will ballot on the nominees tomorrow. The results will be announced on Thursday.

At least three cities are seeking the 1930 convention. They are New Orleans, Kansas City and Atlantic City. Cleveland is not a contender inasmuch as the convention is moved about from year to year. Selection will be deferred until April.

Honorary life memberships were voted to Mrs. Susan Dorsey, 75 years old, of Los Angeles, who last year received the Ella Flagg Young Medal for work by a woman educator, and to William McAndrew, former Superintendent of Chicago Schools, who was removed by Mayor Thompson for "pro-British tendencies."

Back Urges Individual Training.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26 (AP).—American business wants the school to train its children according to their individual ability and wants the school to keep more closely in touch with the needs of business, Cameron Beck, personnel director of the New York Stock Exchange, declared at the annual convention of school superintendents here today.

"Business men of America have an abiding appreciation of the public school system," Beck said. "Our great business leaders of today are the product of our public school, and we know that the service of the public schools has not been in vain.

"The butcher, baker and candlestick maker all should have a college education, Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue University, said. "We should have college-trained milkmen as well as doctors, college-trained linotype operators as well as lawyers."

"Compensated" Investor in Will.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP).—A request of $10,000 to Mrs. Edith Forbes of Scarsdale, N. Y., to compensate her for loss she sustained through an investment he advised was contained in the will of Matthew Sloan, interurban railway and coal magnate, filed for probate today. The estate was valued at $500,000.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR G. S. YOUNGWOOD

Mount Vernon Attorney Buried in Queens—Wife and Son Still in Serious Condition.

Funeral services were held yesterday at the Riverside Memorial Chapel, Amsterdam Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street, for Gabriel S. Youngwood, attorney of Mount Vernon, who committed suicide early Sunday morning, after attacking his wife and four-year-old son, George Harold Youngwood.

Rabbi Irving Reichert of Fremont Temple officiated and delivered a brief eulogy following which a Masonic service was conducted by Samuel Starkman, master of Guardian Lodge A. F. of M., of which Youngwood was a member.

The coffin was covered with pink roses and lilies of the valley, and among the other floral pieces was a large wreath from Youngwood's classmates of City College. Burial was in Mount Carmel Cemetery, Cypress Hills, Queens.

Youngwood's son is in an unconscious condition in the Mount Vernon Hospital where it was said his condition was critical and that there was little hope for his recovery. Mrs. Youngwood, the boy's mother, was reported as slightly improved.

"MISTER GALLAGHER" ILL.

Vaudeville Actor in a Sanitarium After Break-Down in 1926.

Edward Gallagher, who was the "Mister Gallagher" in the vaudeville team of Gallagher and Shean, is in the Rivercrest Sanitarium in Astoria, it was learned yesterday. But no information could be obtained as to the seriousness of his illness. Gallagher has been ill since 1926, when he suffered a breakdown after his attempted "comeback" as a vaudeville attraction failed. His home in Beechhurst, L. I., was sold soon after and it is said that his fortune has melted away.

According to information obtained at the sanitarium, Helen Gallagher, divorced wife of the sick man, visits him frequently there.

"Ed is game," she is quoted as saying. "He is not afraid to die. He has written some songs since he has been sick. Even now he CAN'T count coming back and fixing up an act. He cannot walk but he says he would do his act in a wheel chair."

6 YEARS FOR BANK CASHIER.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 26.—Arthur L. Cruikshank, former assistant cashier of the National Bank of Hawthorne, and three men with whom, according to his confession, he conspired to rob the bank to cover a trail of embezzlement, were sentenced to State prison today by Common Pleas Judge Delaney. The four men had pleaded guilty, throwing themselves on the mercy of the court.

Cruikshank was sentenced to serve six years, Anthony Zarrelli at Paterson three years, Carmine Crescente two years, and Daniel B. Hart one year.

Dr. Moley at Barnard Asserts Traffic "Show" Diverts Attention From Crooks.

FINDS PUBLIC IS GULLIBLE

Spectacular Round-Ups Also Futile Gesture and Menace to City Remains, Law Professor Avers.

Dr. Raymond C. Moley, professor of public law at Columbia University, speaking on "Politics and Crime" at Barnard College yesterday afternoon characterized Commissioner Whalen as a man who had successfully diverted the attention of the public from the long list of unsolved crimes in New York by centering his activities upon traffic conditions in Times Square. Mr. Whalen is essentially a dramatist, Dr. Moley asserted. And in making himself popular through a series of spectacles moves.

"Although it is absurd to think that we can allow ourselves to be fooled by a concentration of attention upon traffic conditions," he declared, "still we become so greatly interested in it that we forget all about the crime problem.

"We become aborbed in Mr. Whalen's petty activities and see him photographed in front of a traffic light. We read about his apprehending some ex-convict from Sing Sing as a desperate criminal, even though we know it to be a fact that the smartest criminals constitute 82 per cent of the underworld and have never served a prison term. Mr. Whalen is giving the Police Department a lot of publicity through his wholesale round-ups of criminal suspects and is pleasing the public, but he is getting nowhere in solving the city's crime problem."

Calls Drama Whalen's Mission.

Dr. Moley asserted that Mayor Walker had not appointed Mr. Whalen to head the police staff because of any special aptitude in the administration of justice but wholly because of his ability to dramatize. He had previously dramatized Mr. Wanamaker and other figures, Dr. Moley said, and now he is setting out to dramatize the Mayor of New York.

"The public always fails for a man who can make crime spectacular," he said. "People would hardly be interested in the chief of police who really performed his duties properly because he would have to spend his time in his office making an intensive campaign against crime, instead of filling the front pages of the newspapers. Mr. Whalen knows that and is consequently making his activities spectacular."

Dr. Moley criticised the public for this extreme interest in crime as a drama. He pointed out that crime and politics are closely related, since the underworld has taken an active part in the impeding the administration of justice. In Chicago, particularly, he said, many politicians are closely associated with the criminal elements.

Beat Prosecutions Impossible.

"The underworld in Chicago controls the avenues of public justice," he added, "to such an extent that even witnesses against criminals can not be secured to important cases. Through blackmail and threat it has become almost impossible to bring a gang leader to court. Under these conditions there can be no justice."

Politics has hindered progress of justice to some extent in New York, he declared.

"Members of the police force here are doing the best they can and are efficient workers," Dr. Moley said, "but they are handicapped by the politicians above them. Instead of working out important cases they are forced to do minor traffic work."

BLAMES I. R. T. FOR DELAYS.

Lancaster Says in Report Subway Platform Men Lack Training.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company has failed to maintain its subway schedules on its Manhattan lines despite the fact that the Transit Commission has shown how it can be done, Colonel William C. Lancaster, chief engineer of the commission, declared yesterday in a report based on an official headwaygraphic and investigation by the commission's service bureau.

"Service on the I. R. T. is not up to our expectations," he said. "We demonstrated to the company that schedules could be kept up but they have fallen down. I can only repeat that this failure to maintain schedules is due to the lack of intensive training of the platform men. If they were properly trained and on their toes at all times subway service could be maintained according to schedule."

The commission's headwaygraph records showed that during the morning rush hour yesterday operation through Times Square was nine express and four local trains behind schedule, while at Grand Central express service was five trains short and local service one train better than schedule.

early next week the results of a survey made by the newly organized protective traffic committee, representing Eighth Avenue merchants and midtown hotel owners and restaurateurs, according to an announcement by J. W. Danahy.

Explaining his order restoring two-way traffic on the streets between Sixty-second and 110th streets, Commissioner Whalen said that the movement of vehicles in that area was too light to justify special restrictions.

"We have the streets and we might just as well get the full advantage of them," he said. "There is no sense in keeping a regulation when you are convinced it is not needed."

Policemen will begin today removing the "one-way" signs from the streets affected by the order which goes into force tomorrow at 6 A. M.

The prohibition of testimonial dinners, the commissioner said, was decided upon after he had become convinced that they were a "nuisance outside the department as well as in it." Several times a year, he said, patrolmen and merchants were asked "to come across," for a dinner in honor of some high officer's promotion, retirement or anniversary. The policemen were afraid to refuse for fear of discrimination by their superiors and the tradesmen likewise were "blackjacked" into subscribing for fear of hold-ups or broken windows.

The practice paved the way for petty graft, Mr. Whalen asserted, since the promoters of dinners frequently pocketed part of the receipts. He wished to make it clear, he said, that the order did not affect organizations within the department such as the Honor Legion and the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, which would receive permission for proposed functions directly from him.

The commissioner issued a pamphlet of instructions for policemen during the day. It explains the names and addresses and telephone numbers of charitable and welfare organizations which may be called upon to give assistance to strangers and unfortunates. Policemen were ordered to keep the handbook always with them.

GARMENT MEN WANT 'STREET MARKET' BACK

Police Commissioner Whalen's traffic regulations have abolished an old New York institution known as the garment cutters "market," it was revealed yesterday by David Dubinsky, manager of the Amalgamated Ladies' Garment Cutters' Union, who forwarded to Commissioner Whalen a resolution adopted by his union.

From the resolution it appeared that these 1500 cutters have congregated on a corner in the garment district during the lunch hour so that employers, foremen and head cutters might know where to find available workmen. At this corner, it was said, employed cutters who knew of vacancies were accustomed to meet their friends and direct them to jobs.

At first the "market" was at Broadway and Twelfth Street, but as the garment district moved uptown the meeting place was moved. When Commissioner Whalen promulgated his edict making Seventh Avenue between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-eighth Streets a one-way street for Saturday pedestrians, the "market" was at the southeast corner of Seventh Avenue and Thirty-Seventh Street.

The new regulation, according to the resolution, "deprived a great number of cutters of their means of obtaining a livelihood, since employers do not seek cutters anywhere else than in the cutters' market" and "hundreds of cutters have complained to our office of the suffering and inconvenience which the elimination of the cutters' market has caused them." Mr. Whalen was asked to assign a corner in the garment district to the cutters so they might continue their old custom.

The Prism that is found by dental research to discolor teeth and foster serious tooth and gum disorders

FOR years thousands thought their teeth naturally discolored and dull. Then they made a simple test that brought a glorious surprise.

Every 9 in 10 found teeth were "off color" merely because a film coat covered them. When it was removed, teeth grew white and sparkling. The special dentifrice called Pepsodent is compounded solely for that purpose.

Film—its dangers

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel this film. It absorbs stains from food and smoking and turns white teeth dull. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It is the chief cause of the commoner tooth and gum disorders. Film hardens into tartar, germ by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Film must be removed each day. Ordinary brushing fails to do it successfully. So dentists urge the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

First, Pepsodent curdles film, then removes it in gentle safety to enamel. No other way will make teeth as sparkling white. Write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago. Or ask your druggist for full-size tube. Find out how white your teeth really are.

CALLS WGY DECISION A HOLLOW VICTORY

CRITICIZES ZONE SYSTEM

Condemns Law Based on "Arbitrary Division of Facilities," Urging More Clear Channels.

Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, chief broadcasting engineer of the Radio Corporation of America, characterized as a "hollow victory" yesterday the decision won by WGY on Monday in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals. As the decision stands now, it permits WGY to broadcast full time with 50,000 watts power on the 790 kilocycle channel, also occupied by KGO of Oakland, Cal., the power of which is 10,000 watts.

"The stations will sap the strength of each other if they operate at their respective powers simultaneously on the same wave," said Dr. Goldsmith, "so the WGY victory is a hollow one, which under best operating conditions will cause interference to some listeners of each station. A 50,000-watt station in Winter, during the night hours, has a nation-wide occasional range. Therefore two stations such as WGY and KGO could not operate together in the United States without causing beat note interference over relatively large areas in intervening territories. Accordingly, if WGY is to use the 790-kilocycle channel at night, Station KGO will have to receive a different frequency.

"All of this illustrates clearly the necessity for providing adequate rural and urban high-power stations to which are given good full-time channels. It justifies further the recommendations of the radio engineers that numerous full-time, unshared channels should be provided. This is the logical trend of broadcasting as a serious service to the public in city and country under all atmospheric conditions."

Dr. Goldsmith also expressed the opinion that the "zone system of radio equalization has largely outlived its usefulness" and that "any law based on an arbitrary division of the radio facilities between zones is illogical, unscientific and not in the public interest."

Station WEAF and a chain of associated transmitters scattered from coast to coast will join with WJZ's network shortly before the Sharkey-Stribling bout is ready to go on the air at about 10 o'clock tonight, so that a nation-wide audience can hear the description of the fight from Miami Beach, Fla. Commercial programes scheduled for broadcasting over the networks have been canceled to give the contest the right of way.

Station WEVD, New York, will operate with 1,000 watts power beginning on March 1, in accordance with permission received from the Federal Radio Commission, it was announced yesterday by a station representative. The power is now 500 watts.

Would Give States Quarantine Power

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—A joint resolution to permit a State to order a quarantine against diseased cattle shipped from another State was passed today by the Senate and sent to the House. Under existing law the Secretary of Agriculture only is authorized to order a quarantine.

FOUR RED EDITORS INDICTED

Daily Worker and Freiheit Chiefs Accused of Libeling Hillquit.

The grand jury filed with Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday indictments charging criminal libel against four Communist editors, the Daily Worker Publishing Association, which publishes The Daily Worker, and the Freiheit Publishing Association, publishing Freiheit, a Yiddish Communist newspaper.

The indictments named Robert Minor, editor, and William F. Dunne, assistant editor of The Daily Worker, and Melech Epstein, recently editor, and Moissaye Olgin, president of Freiheit. The indictments were based on a complaint by Morris Hillquit, Socialist leader.

The evidence was presented to the grand jury by Assistant District Attorney Hastings and concerned articles appearing in Freiheit on Jan. 21 and 22 and in The Daily Worker on Jan. 23 and 24, which were alleged to reflect on Mr. Hillquit's honesty.

Woman Jaywalker Guilty.

Mrs. Emily A. Whytock, 30 years old, a private secretary, of 655 West 190th Street, was found guilty of disorderly conduct for jaywalking in the theatre zone by Magistrate McAndrews in West Side Court yesterday. Sentence was suspended. Patrolman Joseph Wartell, on duty at Forty-third Street and Broadway Thursday night, took her to the police station and gave her a summons when she crossed the street against traffic lights. The patrolman testified that she tried to cross three times and finally got across. She said she was "preoccupied" and followed "a tall man" across.

CRUISER NAMED LOUISVILLE.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Secretary Wilbur today selected the name Louisville for the 10,000-ton cruiser now under construction at the Puget Sound Navy Yard. The vessel was the only one unnamed of the eight laid down in accordance with authorization by Congress in 1924.

The keel was laid July 4, 1928, and the probable date of completion is March 13, 1931.

The Louisville is 600 feet over all, 64 feet 5¾ inches in extreme breadth and has a mean draft of 19 feet 8½ inches. She will be armed with nine 8-inch guns.

ASKS 20 CHANNELS TO BROADCAST NEWS

He Declares Here That Organization Will Have Reporting Staff and Seek Newspaper Clients.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Charles Sloan, president and managing director of the National Radio Press Association, Inc., of New York City, filed an appeal with the Federal Radio Commission today asking that the twenty short transcontinental wave assignments, granted to the American Publishers' Committee, be given to his organization for "broadcasting of news by radio stations to the radio public." He asked that he be allowed to intervene at the hearing on March 7, when the American Publishers' Committee is heard on the allocation of the twenty channels granted to the newspapers.

"We respectfully request," said Mr. Sloan in his appeal, "that all short-wave channels allocated and reserved to press communications be assigned only to bona fide organizations whose sole interest lies in the broadcasting of news by radio stations to the radio public."

The association proposes to erect stations in nineteen cities. On this question Mr. Sloan's petition reads:

"We herewith apply for construction permits under these licenses for stations to be located in or near New York, Washington, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio, Cincinnati, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis, New Orleans, Atlanta, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Philadelphia, Dallas and Minneapolis, these licenses and permits to govern the construction of short-wave transmitting stations at a minimum power of 5,000 watts and a maximum power of 50,000 watts, each to be constructed in accordance with the provision of the permit so granted."

Cites Growth of Radio.

"We herewith apply for the immediate issuance of licenses and the allocation of twenty intracontinental wave channels to National Radio Press Association, Inc. Under these licenses National Radio Press Association, Inc., will agree to abide by all the restrictive provisions desired by your commission."

In connection with the dissemination of news by newspapers and broadcasting stations, Mr. Sloan said:

"While in the past newspapers and newspaper agencies have been conceded to hold a paramount and commanding position, without major competition, in the field of the dissemination of news for the public, and as such to be entitled to primary consideration of disposal of matters pertaining to that field, no such conditions now exist.

"The rapid growth of radio broadcasting in the past decade has resulted in that industry becoming of equal importance with newspapers and newspaper agency as a source of news and as a carrier of that news to the public. Radio broadcasting stations in that sense are now directly competitive to and in major competition with newspapers and newspaper agencies and as such are entitled to equal consideration in the distribution of all matters in the field of public information."

Mr. Sloan asserted that in more than one hundred years of growth "newspapers have only been able to obtain a total net circulation in the United States of 37,972,592 copies daily, whereas in the ten years of development, a radio audience has increased to the total of more than 40,000,000."

Radio News Service Planned.

Mr. Sloan said that "allocations of short-wave press communication channels solely to newspapers and newspaper agencies will result in aggravation of a monopoly which already is causing radio broadcasting stations, and the great radio public to be deprived in varied extent of an opportunity to gain accurate reports of spontaneous news happenings through the media of radio."

H. H. Snelling, attorney for the association, stated that it is not affiliated with any other radio organization, and that it is underwritten for $1,000,000. He declared that the association proposes to organize a press service for the radio broadcasting stations, similar to press associations now serving daily new

YALE 'PROM' GIRL ON STAGE.

Elizabeth Bowman, Broker's Daughter, Quits School.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—Elizabeth Bowman, 18-year-old daughter of Jesse R. Bowman, State Street broker, until early this month a student at the Bennett School of Applied Arts in Millbrook, N. Y., is playing a rôle in "Pleasure Bound," a musical show now appearing in New York. Two weeks ago she went to New Haven to attend the Yale Junior Promenade, and the next time her parents heard from her she was on the stage.

Mr. Bowman denied tonight that his daughter had run away from school. He said he was not surprised that she had gone on the stage, because she always had shown talent in singing and dancing.

Mrs. Bowman went to New York when she learned of her daughter's stage engagement, and now is living with her at the Hotel Montclair, Forty-ninth Street and Lexington Avenue.

Mr. Bowman said his daughter's venture has his wholehearted approval.

WINS RADIUM SUIT MOVE.

Corporation Gets Court Order for Medical Test of Two Women.

Federal Judge William N. Runyon, sitting in Newark yesterday, decided that the two women plaintiffs in two damage suits totaling $500,000 brought against the United States Radium Corporation must submit to a medical examination and must answer within twenty days twenty-three questions which the corporation sought in a bill of particulars.

Edwin F. Smith, counsel for the corporation, made application for the rulings last week. The action alleges that the two plaintiffs, Mrs. Helen Tuck of 46 Eleventh Avenue, and Mrs. Ethel Wynn Metz of 61 Third Avenue, both of Newark, contracted disease by handling radium while employed by the company. They ask $200,000 damages each and the husbands each seek $50,000 damages.

Dr. James H. Brothers of 128 Broad Street, Newark, and Dr. J. M. Rector of 681 Bergen Avenue, Jersey City, were named by Judge Runyon to examine the plaintiffs.

TALK OF HONOR FOR SHAW.

British Again Expect Playwright May Be on King's List.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—George Bernard Shaw is mentioned, as usual, in speculation as to the King's postponed New Year's honors list to be published Friday, as a prospective recipient of some high honor.

It can safely be said that Mr. Shaw, had he desired it, could have numbered himself among titled persons for many years past, but as a professed Socialist he has preferred to remain just plain George Bernard Shaw. But there is one honor about which, perhaps, he might think twice before refusing. This is the Order of Merit.

The distinction carries no title with it, but the recipient can place the letters O. M. behind his name and that means he is included among the most distinguished persons in the land. The order is limited in number to twenty-four. The noted British composer, Delius, also is mentioned as a possible recipient of the Order of Merit.

MRS. S. L. CROMWELL NAMED

New Jersey Senate Confirms Choice for Education Board.

Mrs. Seymour L. Cromwell of Mendham, N. J., was confirmed Monday night by the New Jersey State Senate as a member of the State Board of Education. Mrs. Cromwell was first appointed a member of the board in 1921 by Governor Edward I. Edwards, following the passage of a bill granting the privilege of serving on the board to women. She was reappointed for another eight-year term by Governor Larson.

Mrs. Cromwell, who is the widow of the late president of the New York Stock Exchange, was the first woman to serve on the State education board, and also the first woman to serve on the State hospital board, a post she held for five years, after appointment by Governor Walter E. Edge. She was a member of the local Board of Education in Mendham for fifteen years and president of that body for five years.

The New Jersey law admitting women to membership on the education board was passed six years before the New York law, Mrs. Cromwell said yesterday.

These Are the Good Old Days

Do you remember how your heart warmed when as a child you were given a few animal crackers or a fig by the storekeeper when you came to buy?

Those were fine days when nearly everybody was very human and you often got a little something you hadn't paid for.

The St. George still is like that. You get many things that aren't on the bill — friendly, human touches of service that are just another expression of the St. George Idea—the policy which will have made the St. George Greater New York's largest hotel before January 1, 1930!

The St. George still is a homelike and intimate hostelry to which come men and women, from every walk of life, who want quality and atmosphere and whose expressed satisfaction carries St. George reputation to the far corners of the earth.

The St. George has grown and kept abreast of every advance, yet its honorable traditions are as bright and evident today as any new feature — like the Dual-Use Room, for example.

MUSIC

By OLIN DOWNES.

Levitzki Piano Recital.

Mischa Levitzki, admirably endowed as a virtuoso, played the piano last night in Carnegie Hall. Mr. Levitzki grows constantly in the arts of the performer. His playing last night was conspicuously fluent, dexterous, full-toned, complacently adequate to the demands of various important compositions. It is to be hoped that there were many music students present, since the performances furnished a hundred admirable examples of the way to meet the technical and tonal problems of piano playing. Whatever Mr. Levitzki undertook he played with ease and aplomb. He seldom or never forced tone. His loud passages were full and sonorous. He phrased as a musician. He has not only virtuosity, but a singing style.

With all these traits it is to be added that for at least half, and the larger half of his program, Mr. Levitzki did not give evidence of a quiver of inward feeling, or show a trace of significant individuality in his interpretations. These interpretations were well considered, well proportioned, well done. Indefatigably, inescapably, inexorably well done. The listener positively longed for something not so well done. The pianist played the Beethoven C minor variations—the 32—in the most appropriate and finished style, and without the Promethean flash. He played Schumann's G minor sonata even better, with energtic tempi, with appropriate coloring, and, despite these estimable exterior qualities, without the poignancy of introspection, the troubled passion which give the sonata its power. He played the stupendous and mystical "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue" of Cesar Franck with all imaginable skill, and with due contrast of color and nuance—just as well, one would say, as he would have played any other well-known piano composition, and with no more illumination of the composer's soul. This, in fact, was hopelessly well-behaved playing.

Mr. Levitzki became personal, and moved his audience, when he began to play Chopin. He interpreted the C minor Nocturne, with true dramatic feeling and a finely poetic mood in the middle section. He played three of the preludes—if memory serves, those in G major, C major and A major. He repeated the first and last of these Preludes, and worthily, since he played them with an apparently artless grace which became the music well. There was a virtuose performance of the study in sixths. The same may be said of the C sharp minor scherzo, which, of course, had also a deeper dramatic note. A waltz and the A flat major Polonaise served as encores for this group, and the knightly Polonaise was delivered with a fine pomp and with duly exciting effect. This last was an admirably conceived, performance. It achieved its ends without distortion or exaggeration. Another pianist might have lost his head with such noble and fiery music; not so Mr. Levitzki, who, particularly in his Chopin group, delighted a large audience.

There was a final group of modern compositions and sure-fire Liszt pieces. There were more encores. There were certain artistic achievements, and there were triumphs, sheer triumphs, of glib mediocrity.

MANY HEAR FLONZALEYS.

Famous Quartet Gives Fine Program —Farewell on March 17.

The third and last subscription chamber music concert of the Flonzaley Quartet took place last night in the Town Hall. Local audiences will have but one more opportunity to hear this famous organization, which, on the completion of this its twenty-fifth season, will disband. A "farewell concert" is announced for March 17, for the benefit of the Musicians' Foundation, with Ernest Schelling as piano soloist. After a tour, which will continue until next May, the quartet, formed in 1903 by Edward J. de Coppet, a banker, at his home in Switzerland, will pass into history.

All but one of the original members of the organization were heard last night in a program that comprised Mozart's quartet in D major, the Brahms quartet in C minor, Op. 51, No. 1; and Smetana's quartet in E minor, the first of the two autobiographical sketches "From My Life," in which the composer depicts his happy childhood and his early hopes and aspirations. Messrs. Betti, Pochon, Moldavan and d'Archambeau cooperated in a performance of this and the preceding classics which had the technical finish and the perfection of style which have long been a model of the best traditions of chamber music. The audience was large and enthusiastic.

A JOINT RECITAL.

Mary Seller, Harpist, and van Bommel, Baritone, Give Program.

Mary Seller, harpist, and Jan van Bommel, the Dutch baritone, gave a joint recital last night in Steinway Hall. Miss Seller also provided harp obligatos for a group of Dutch folksongs sung by Mr. van Bommel, whose other offerings included songs in French and German by Rhené-Baton, Borodine, Massenet, Strauss, Weingartner and Gretchaninoff. A large and friendly audience was cordial in its applause. Wilma G. Hillberg was the accompanist.

Will Appear in 'Boris'—Schumann-Heink to Sing in 'Siegfried' Last Time Next Week.

Feodor Chaliapin in Moussorgsky's "Boris" comes back to the Metropolitan next Monday, when New York's opera season enters its final quarter. The Russian bass also appears the following Friday in a special matinee of "Faust," with Lauri-Volpi and Mary Lewis, the latter appearing for the first time this year.

Mme. Schumann-Heink is to make her last scheduled appearance as Erda in "Siegfried," with Kappel, Laubenthal and Schorr, at a Thursday matinee in the Wagner cycle. The nineteenth week will also present the forty-fifth opera of the current repertory, Puccini's "La Rondine" on Thursday night, when Gigli returns from a concert tour to sing with Bori, Fleischer and Tokatyan.

"The King's Henchman," with Easton, Johnson and Tibbett, will be repeated next Wednesday evening; "Tales of Hoffmann" on Friday night, with Morgana, Corona, Bori and Jagel; "Jonny Spielt Auf" at the Saturday matinee, with Easton, Fleischer, Laubenthal and Bohnen, and "Rigoletto" on Saturday night, March 9, with Mario, Gigli and Basiola.

ARLISS REMAINS HEAD OF EPISCOPAL ACTORS

The Right Rev. Dr. Herbert Shipman, Suffragan Bishop of New York, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Episcopal Actors' Guild, held yesterday afternoon at the Broadhurst Theatre. He spoke on the theatre and the church. Otis Skinner and Edwin Milton Royle also spoke, and an entertainment program included songs by Carmella Ponselle and a monologue by Mrs. Francis Rogers.

In the election of national officers only one change was made, the Rev. C. Stanley Mook of Seattle, Wash., being chosen to replace the Rev. Neal Dodd, as a vice president. Bishop Manning continues as the Guild's honorary president, and George Arliss as president. Other officers re-elected were the Right Rev. J. H. Darlington and Grant Mitchell, vice presidents; the Rev. W. Harold Weigle Jr., resident chaplain; the Rev. Randolph Ray, warden and chairman of the council; Thomas S. McLane, treasurer; the Rev. Charles B. Ackley, recording secretary, and Percy Moore, executive secretary. Two new members, Reginald Mason and Harold W. Gould, were elected to the council.

Alfred E. Aarons, a member of the council, is head of a committee to provide a rest house for the Guild, which the organization has been hoping to acquire for several years. A suburban site, within commuting distance of Manhattan, is desired. The house, it is planned, will cost about $500,000 and be open to actors and actresses of all creeds.

BOSTON ACTRESSES' CLUB.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 26.—Boston has a Charlotte Cushman Club, which is a real home for actresses. It is sponsored by society and club women. Mrs. Malcolm B. French is its president.

The club was organized last May "to create an organized centre for women of the dramatic profession," and was named for Boston's beloved actress. The Cabot home at 1 Marlboro Street was purchased for it.

It is a real home, with artistically furnished living rooms that have an air of being "used"; with comfortable bedrooms to which each guest may add her own personal touch; with a pleasant dining room and an atmosphere throughout of genuine well-being. The young actress on a small salary may obtain at the Cushman Club for as low as $15 a week, if she shares a room with others, board and room, facilities for laundry and every advantage she would have in her own home. There are rooms for which girls pay more, but the food is the same for all. For room and board $20 is the highest paid.

Mrs. French says the response of stage folk to appeals for helping the club has been warm. Many noted actresses have rooms named after them. Among them are Ethel Barrymore, Ellen Terry, Jane Cowl, Fritzi Scheff, Julia Marlowe, Effie Shannon and Mrs. Thomas Whiffen.

BRITAIN GETS SCOTT FILM.

Duke of York Accepts Antarctic Expedition Record for Nation.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Epic of the South Pole," a film record of Captain Scott's last Antarctic expedition, became the property of the British nation tonight when the Duke of York accepted it on behalf of the British Empire Film Institute.

A year ago there was some apprehension lest the Scott film go to America, but now this record of the British adventure of heroism will forever remain a national possession. It is a forerunner of other historic films like "The Q Ships," "The Battles of Corenel and the Falklands" and others which will keep a film record of British achievements.

One such film, called "Royal Remembrances"—a collection of news reels—is being shown in London this week and brings to life once more the stirring events in the history of the British throne since the last years of Queen Victoria. In all probability this film, too, will be acquired by the Empire Film Institute as national property.

FRENCH ASK FILM LIMIT.

Distributers Join Producers in Demanding Restrictions on America.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The French official cinema control commission is expected to limit further the importation and licensing of American films as the result of the adoption today by the French film distributers of a resolution similar to that already voted by the French producers.

Whereas 500 foreign films were allowed into France under the agreement negotiated last year by Will Hays, only 350 can be imported this year if the French distributers' and producers' resolutions are adopted by the control body.

THE PLAY

By J. BROOKS ATKINSON.

Schnitzlerean Sadness.

PLAYING WITH LOVE, a comedy in three acts, by Arthur Schnitzler. Staged by Ruth Collins Allen; produced by The Players' Cooperative. At the Cherry Lane Theatre.

|---|---|
| Fritz | Lewis Leverett |
| Theodor | Maurice Underwood |
| Mizi Schlager | Viola Oliver |
| Christine Wehring | Catherine Bonn |
| The Gentleman | Everett Sloan |
| Kathrina Binder | Maud Scheerer |
| Hans Wehring | Ell Dormont |
| Lena Binder | Evelyn Rubin |

Cherry Lane, where Thespis is regularly thumped by some restless organization or other, is now host to a heart lamentation by Arthur Schnitzler, "Playing With Love," which was acted last evening for a draggled handful who had come in out of the February drizzle. This English translation of "Liebelei" is the sort of romantic sadness you accept only from the most accomplished players. Beneath the surface of both the play and the acting you perceive the elements of a tender, moving tragedy which in 1896, when it was written, or in 1905, when it was first played here, had a perfect right to fill the playgoing eye with tears. For then, and indeed until very recently, Schnitzler was the master of crstonne assignations between young gentlemen and young ladies. It was sin with the fragrance of lilac water; both as sin and as lilac water it was good.

But now, alas, young ladies and young gentlemen do not behave that way. They do not sup, in a foursome, in Fritz's curtained chambers, with refined trepidation, waltzing the "Blue Danube" measures and pledging healths daintily. Nor is the main fact of their relationship so mysteriously buried beneath the sigh, pouts and chirps of the mating season, or graceful comments on the view from the windows or guarded references to the prowess of the Emperor's army. "O, your love tragedies—they bore me," Theodore murmurs plaintively. But when he thinks of the dairy maids in the country, his spirits brighten. "Ha-ha-ha," he comments, still with breeding. They do not behave that way any longer.

"Playing With Love" is the threnody of Christine, whose love for Fritz is not so much a pastime as a passion. To him it is a pastime, although a charming one. Meanwhile, he has lost his head over a married woman, and ultimately he loses his life in a duel with her husband. But the etiquette of love is so rigid that, although Christine suspects the truth, she knows nothing of the terrible details until after the funeral. Of course, from our indecorous point of view, in the second act she should have bounced him on the button, and brought him and the play to our senses.

The hesitating and rather embarrassed performance, on the circumscribed platform in Cherry Lane, leaves the playgoer embarrassed on his own account. Neither the play nor the directing redeems the acting from awkwardness. Under more propitious circumstances two or three of the actors might give creditable accounts of themselves. But it was damp last evening, indoors and out.

THREE MORE PLAYS TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

'Indiscretion,' 'She Got What She Wanted' and 'Conflict' Added to Earlier List.

Three new plays are announced for production in New York next week. Two of these, "Indiscretion" and "She Got What She Wanted," will open on Monday night, while the third, "Conflict," will have its première on Wednesday.

"Indiscretion," which comes to the Mansfield, is the work of Myron C. Fagan and will have Minna Gombell in its chief rôle, with Louis Kimball, Diantha Pattison and Betty Lancaster also in the cast. With this booking the Chanins announce that they have resumed complete control of the Mansfield Theatre, which had been for a time under the direction of Lew Fields.

"She Got What She Wanted," opening at Wallack's on Monday, is a play by George Rosener, known as an actor in Shubert revues. The cast will include Galina Kopernak, Alan Brooks and Frankiyn Ardell.

"Conflict," coming to the Fulton on Wednesday, is the work of Warren F. Lawrence, brother of Vincent Lawrence, and has been seen in the try-out towns under the name of "Scars." In the cast will be seen Peggy Allenby, Spencer Tracey, Edward Arnold and Frank McHugh.

Previously announced for next week are the Modern French Musical Company, which will present operettas at Jolson's in French, and "The Earth Between," which, together with O'Neill's "Before Breakfast," will open at the Provincetown on Tuesday.

GUILD DROPS NEW PLAY.

"Game of Love and Death" Replaced by "Man's Estate."

The Theatre Guild, after rehearsing "The Game of Love and Death" for four weeks, has called off the production for the present season and is substituting the play called "Man's Estate," by Beatrice Blackmer and Bruce Gould. This is the play tried out by Jed Harris last Spring under the title of "King's X." The Harris production was seen only two weeks on the road.

"The Game of Love and Death," by Romain Rolland, had been announced to open at the Biltmore Theatre on March 11. The Guild directors, it is said, reached a sudden decision to call the play off after viewing a dress rehearsal last Sunday night. Casting difficulty was unofficially assigned as the reason.

After "Man's Estate" the Theatre Guild will present "Through the Camel's Eye," a comedy by the Czechoslovakian playwright, Frantisek Langer.

New "Edition" of "Blackbirds."

A "Spring edition" of "Blackbirds of 1928," the negro revue which has been running on Forty-second Street since last May, is announced to open with the midnight performance tomorrow night. Eddie Rector, Corinne Martin and Wilhelmina Wade, dancers, will be added to the cast at that time, and there will be some new songs and sketches.

Boys' Club Has Benefit at Opera.

A special performance of "La Bohème" took place last night at the Metropolitan Opera House for the benefit of the Boys' Club of New York. The cast included Lucrezia Bori, Nanette Guilford and Messrs. Lauri-Volpi, Danise, Pinza, Picco, Malatesta, Paltrinieri and Reschiglian. Vincenzo Bellezza conducted.

MUSIC NOTES.

ALMA RUBENS TO GO TO STATE INSTITUTION

Former Film Star Will Be Sent at the Discretion of Her Mother or Husband.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP).—From the glitter of Hollywood's filmland, where she once reigned as a star Alma Rubens today will go to the Spadra State Hospital, a victim of the narcotic habit, as the result of complaints made by her husband and mother. She was under the care of physicians at her mother's home in Beverly Hills tonight and will be removed to the institution at the discretion of her husband or mother.

Judge McComb was called from a theatre to his court chamber by the mother, Mrs. Teresa Rubens and the actor husband, Ricardo Cortez. They asked that a warrant for the confinement of "Alma R. Cortez" be issued at once. Judge McComb complied, but refused to discuss the case. Earlier today a city official said she had already been sent to Spadra.

FILM MONOPOLY CHARGED.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—That "4,000 British cinema theatres are being held for ransom by an American electrical undertaking whose operations in this country threaten to defeat the working of the cinematograph film quota" is the scare started by the film correspondent of The Daily Express. The American concern in question controls a recording and reproducing system which will be employed by at least seven leading American producing firms for making talking films.

The British exhibitors cannot do without these films, but it is stated that before they can get them they must install reproducing apparatus of the American electrical company at a price which the latter fixes—exceeding $15,000 in some cases—and they must pay a salary to the man appointed by the American concern to keep the apparatus in order. The exhibitor is not allowed to show British, German or othed rival talking films over the same system, and can only screen those American films which have been produced by that system.

"This scheme, if successful," says The Daily Express correspondent, "will establish a solid monopoly in the British cinema theatres for the output of seven leading American companies, and the purpose of the cinematograph film act designed to remove that monopoly will be defeated before it has had a chance to operate."

SHAW BOOK BRINGS $2,850.

First Edition of 'Quintessence of Ibsenism' With Author's Notes Sold.

A copy of the first edition of George Bernard Shaw's first work on the drama, "The Quintessence of Ibsenism," which Shaw himself used in making revisions for the second edition, brought $2,850 last night at auction at the galleries of the American Art Association. On nearly every page are corrections and deletions in Shaw's autograph, with additional material amounting to about 1,400 words.

This was one of several Shaw items included in the auction, which comprised the library of Thomas Hatton of Leicester, England. The Brick Row Book Shop, Inc., bought "The Quintessence of Ibsenism" and also paid $1,700 for about 200 words in the autograph of Shaw on the attitude of the Church toward war. The same buyer paid $1,500 for Shaw's own first edition of his "Augustus Does His Bit" and Shaw's own copy of the first edition of his "Dramatic Opinions and Essays With an Apology." Shaw's annotated copy of Locke's "Essay Concerning Human Understanding" went to the same buyer for $1,500.

The 290 items in the two sessions of the sale brought a total of $46,680. At the afternoon session a complete set of the "Penny Pickwick" went to C. E. Moran, agent, for $1,910. A long autograph letter which Dickens wrote to Mme. de La Rue went to Gabriel Wells for $1,900.

SCHUMANN-HEINK'S HOPE.

Contralto Thinks She Has Discovered Successor, Ingeborg Wank.

Mme. Schumann-Heink announced yesterday that she had discovered a young American contralto who she hopes will one day be her worthy successor. The young singer is Miss Ingeborg Wank of this city, who left last week for study in Europe under the patronage of the distinguished contralto, who is making her final appearances at the Metropolitan opera this season.

Miss Wank is on her way to Hamburg, where she is to gain preliminary experience in operatic routine. For several months she has been a pupil of Mme. Schumann-Heink, who regards her voice as one of the most promising she has heard. The expenses of the young singer's study abroad will be met by Dr. and Mrs. Carl Eggers of New York.

In making the announcement Mme. Schumann-Heink deplored present conditions, which she said made it necessary for promising singers to get their early experience in Europe. Business organizations should interest themselves as much in music as in civic affairs, she declared.

NEW VOTE AT CITY COLLEGE

Student Officers Chosen After Previous Election Is Set Aside.

City College held its second election of student officers within a week yesterday, after the results of the first election had been set aside because of agreement among the candidates that insufficient notice of the election had been given to the student body and ballots had not been distributed to all students.

Sol Cheser, Louis Kaplan, Max Reiskind, Ben Nelson, Leo Bradstein, Leon Calasmira and Robert May were elected to the Student Council, of which Harold I. Cammer is president. Cammer was not a candidate in this election, having been elected previously.

The Campus, a college publication, will carry an editorial this morning urging revision of the election system to make it more widespread in the student body.

Plane 'Train Uncoupled in Air And Gliders Drop Safely Down

Wireless to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The Raab-Katzenstein airplane factory made its first successful test with an "air express" today by starting an airplane to which two motorless gliders were attached.

When the train reached an altitude of 1,200 feet, the two gliders disconnected the rope attaching them to the airplane and landed safely.

Several long-distance flights are planned for next week.

NEWSPRINT CONTRACT IS REPORTED SIGNED

Agreement Fixing 1929 Price at $55.20 a Ton Is Understood to Be Completed Here.

Signing of the newsprint price agreement between manufacturers and publishers for 1929 took place here last night, it is understood. The price fixed upon is said to be $55.20 a ton with a 75 per cent limit on production. At a meeting last night in the Sales Department headquarters of the International Paper Company, 100 East Forty-second Street, A. R. Graustein, President, Joseph L. Fearing, Vice President and Sales Manager, and other officials were present.

The signing ends a series of conferences which have been going on here since last August. At that time Canada's largest industry found itself in a state of overproduction which called for the intercession of Premiers Ferguson of Ontario and Taschereau of Quebec. The situation was aggravated last October by the report that a contract closed with William R. Hearst interests by the International set a price of $50 a ton for five years.

Company statements since that time have informed stockholders that price schedules would soon be adjusted, made uniform and announced.

Neil C. Head, spokesman for A. R. Graustein, president of the company, declined to comment last night. At 11 o'clock Joseph L. Fearing, vice president and sales manager of the International company, was reached by telephone at the company's sales offices. Asked to verify the understanding that the agreement was being signed, he said he knew nothing about it and happened to be in his office merely to leave his baggage there on his return from Florida.

COMPANY IS FORMED TO PRINT WELLS BOOK

Author, Huxley and Doran Organize Concern Solely to Publish 'Science of Life.'

A publishing company, formed to issue only one book, and headed by H. G. Wells, Julian Huxley and George H. Doran, publisher, was incorporated in Baltimore yesterday. Mr. Doran said last night that the project was an "experiment untried in the history of book publishing."

The book to be published is "The Science of Life," nearing completion in England. It will be the second part of a trilogy planned by Mr. Wells to be written by him in collaboration with other authors. "The Outline of History," which sold into the hundred thousands of volumes, was the first part of the trilogy, and the projected "Conquest of Power" will be the third and last part.

Mr. Doran, who is president of Doubleday, Doran, publishers, of Garden City, L. I., said last night he had contracted with Mr. Wells for the book before the merger of his own company with Doubleday, Page. This contract was not included in the merger, he said.

He explained that the special company had been formed "to enable the authors to participate in a very fair way in the income that will probably be derived from the sale of the book." "In addition," he said, "it takes part of the risk of publication from the publisher. In this situation a special company seems the most equable way of apportioning both the risk and probable profit of what will be an expensive venture."

First copies of the book will be published late this year, Mr. Doran said, but it is expected that the book will not go on public sale until 1930. The company is chartered to carry on the business of the book in the United States and in Canada. It is known as the Doran, Wells, Huxley Corporation.

MRS. RUTH PRATT HONORED

Republicans of 15th A. D. Give Dinner for Representative-Elect.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt, Representative-elect, was the guest of honor last night at a dinner given at the Hotel Roosevelt by 200 Republicans of the Fifteenth Assembly District.

Keyes Winter, Republican leader of the district, and Mrs. Pratt were the only speakers. Mr. Winter lauded the work of Mrs. Pratt as Alderman and asserted she would continue the same sort of legislative activity in Washington. He praised her cooperation with the party organization.

Mrs. Pratt thanked the organization members for their support, and praised Mr. Winter and Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman, the former leader. She said she had taken a house in Washington but would be in New York often and would continue her association with the district as closely as ever.

Among those present were Judge Coleman and Federal Judges Henry W. Goddard and William Bondy, Joseph Steinberg, George Hyman, Stanley M. Isaacs, Jacob Lesser, George Knox Bell, Mrs. William O. Hoppin and Mrs. Laura Oppenheim.

35,000 Expected to See Sharkey Meet Stribling in Miami Beach Ring Tonight

STRIBLING TO FACE SHARKEY TONIGHT

35,000 THRONG EXPECTED

SHARKEY FAVORED, 6 TO 5

Odds Expected to Lengthen Today—Hotel Accommodations Exhausted, Resort Has Greatest Crowd.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Special to The New York Times.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26.—Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling are resting easily tonight, awaiting the summons to Flamingo Park tomorrow night for their widely heralded battle of the North and the South. The starting gong will send them off on a journey of ten rounds, or less, to determine which shall remain in the chase for the world's heavyweight championship title discarded by Gene Tunney.

The training periods have concluded, the boxers are reported fit and ready, the stage has been arranged in a setting unique for ring warfare—in short, everything is in readiness for the most important ring encounter the South has experienced in thirty-five years, or since the night back in 1894 when James J. Corbett knocked out Charley Mitchell in three rounds at Jacksonville, Fla.

The same Corbett is on the ground, one of the two former heavyweight champions of the world to witness the struggle. The other is Jack Dempsey, co-promoter with William F. Carey of the Madison Square Garden Corporation of the last fight which the late Tex Rickard arranged.

Crowds Converging on Scene.

Crowds are converging on this point from all directions and by all means of conveyance. From the most remote sections of the United States, from Canada, Cuba and the Bahamas, fight fans are pouring into this locality, whose accommodations are taxed to the utmost. Quarters are at a premium.

With the demand for accommodations greater by far than the supply profiteering has resulted. The Miami and Miami Beach City Commissioners have found it necessary to issue warnings against excessive charges for hotel accommodations.

Many are sleeping aboard special trains, other are quartered in private homes, and hotel rooms are not to be had for any money. It is the greatest crowd this Winter resort has ever entertained.

Every walk of life is represented. Statesmen of national and international reputation, millionaires who have discarded business for the more pleasant pursuit of play, and leaders of society from different sections, the prominent and obscure all are gathered here.

Mayor Walker on Ground.

Among the notables reported here are Mayor James J. Walker of New York and Chairman James A. Farley of New York's State Athletic Commission. Promoter Humbert Fugazy, who plans to confer with Dempsey on a proposition involving Dempsey's future, arrived today, as did Paulino, the Spanish heavyweight, who is prepared to fill the rôle of emergency man should he be needed.

The weather forecast is favorable. Unless the weather man's predictions go awry Sharkey and Stribling will fight under a cloudless sky and a beaming moon, with a refreshing breeze blowing across the pine stadium, which stands in the centre of a fringe of swaying palms and pines, within earshot of the ocean's roar. In the event of rain the bout will go over to Thursday night.

It is estimated that close to 35,000 men and women will see Sharkey and Stribling in action. The stadium can accommodate only slightly more than 35,000. The receipts are expected to exceed $350,000. Promoters Dempsey and Carey, the former carefree and unaffected by the reported attempt on his life early yesterday morning, agree on the bout's unqualified success, but disagree on estimates.

Dempsey supports the prediction of Joe Boynton, box office head, that the gate will reach $400,000. Carey, conservative, predicted this afternoon the receipts would reach $360,000. The bout will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company over a nation-wide network of thirty-eight stations.

Advance Sale Is $325,025.

The advance sale today was placed at $325,025, with money actually on deposit amounting to $296,534. The $25 ringside ticket supply has been nearly exhausted. The $20 seats are not proving popular and neither are the $15 seats. The $10 tickets have been practically unnoticed, but the $5 admission tickets experienced such a demand that the supply this afternoon was said to be exhausted. To meet this additional demand the $10 section is being eliminated and tomorrow morning tickets there will be offered at $5.

The bout is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock. There is no difference in time between here and New York. The fight may start earlier. There are nine preliminaries, seven of them four-round bouts and one a battle royal among twelve negroes, with an eight-round semi-final between Johnny Grosso, Mount Vernon heavyweight, and Marty Gallagher of Washington, D. C. The first event is scheduled to start promptly at 7:45 P. M.

Lou Magnolia, New York referee, will officiate in the Sharkey-Stribling bout and Johnny Brandi of Boston will act as alternate. In all, nine States are represented among the officials, New York and Florida leading with two each. The other New York arbiter is Tommy Connolly,

The fight will be waged under New York State Athletic Commission rules, with but one important deviation. Instead of six-ounce gloves, five-ounce gloves will be worn.

The rules were discussed and endorsed this morning at a meeting attended by Magnolia, Johnny Buckley, manager of Sharkey; Pa Stribling, manager of his son; Dempsey and the American Legion Post Athletic Commission, under whose auspices the fight is being held.

Buckley will be Sharkey's chief second and Pa Stribling will be chief second for his son. The gloves will be the time-honored wine-colored leathers instead of the cream-colored gloves the Striblings recommended. The objections of Sharkey brought about the change.

The boxers will weigh in at 2:30 o'clock at the Kennel Club. Announcement that Joe Humphries would do the introducing was contradicted here today when it was learned Humphries had declined to come South. Jack Adler, another New Yorker, has been engaged.

There is little betting in evidence. Surprisingly enough, the best odds reported today were 6 to 5, with Sharkey the favorite. It is expected, however, that odds will lengthen tomorrow. Majority opinion here favors a Sharkey victory, although Southern critics are confident Stribling will surprise observers from other sections, who hold his chances for victory slight.

BOTH FIGHTERS VOICE CONFIDENCE ON RESULT

Sharkey Predicts Knockout Victory, While Stribling Says He Is Fit and Will Beat Rival.

Special to The New York Times.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26.—On the eve of the battle both camps are confident. Sharkey worked lightly today, loosening up his muscles, while Stribling remained idle. That there was anything wrong with Stribling was denied by his father.

"My boy is all right now," said Pa Stribling. "He is in the best fighting shape of his career and we will have no excuses to offer on the outcome. He is going to knock Sharkey out. Make no mistake about that. I know a lot of fellows don't give my boy much of a chance, but these people don't appreciate his improvement. He'll prove tomorrow night that he is the best heavyweight in the world. After Sharkey we'll take on anybody who wants to fight him."

Stribling wouldn't predict that he would stop Sharkey.

"I'm going to try for a knockout, and I'll score it in the first round if I can," he said. "I'm in shape now and have no ailments which will interfere with my fighting. I've worked harder than I have ever worked before, because in the past I have depended on my ring activity to keep me in shape. I have come through a hard training campaign feeling fit and ready. I'll just do the best I can. I think that'll be enough to beat Sharkey."

"There's nothing much to be said," said Sharkey. "So far as I am concerned this is going to be just another fight for me and another victory. I'm fit and have been for a month.

"I'll win, and not by a referee's decision or on a foul either, if I can help it. I'll knock Stribling out, and after Stribling I want another crack at Dempsey."

Manager Johnny Buckley chipped in: "Yes, and there isn't a fighter in the world who can take Sharkey's measure today. He'll win easily. We're going back to Boston on Thursday on a special train Sharkey has engaged for his family, trainers and friends."

237 BOUTS FOR STRIBLING.

Busy Career Has Yielded 114 Knockouts—Sharkey Has Had 38 Fights.

He is credited with winning 114 by knockouts, getting decisions in seventy-five, losing six on decision, engaging in twelve draws, winning two on fouls and taking part in twenty-eight no-decision contests.

Jack Sharkey has not been so active since he started his professional career in 1924. In that time the Bostonian has engaged in only thirty-eight fights, being credited with knockouts in eleven, winning sixteen on decisions and losing five verdicts, drawing in one, winning three on fouls and losing two by knockouts.

CARAGLIANO STOPS JACKIE SCHWEITZER

Tony Caragliano, former amateur star, scored a knockout over Jackie Schweitzer, east side featherweight, in the third round of the feature eight-round bout at the new Lenox Sporting Club last night. The knockout was as unexpected as it was complete and came after 2:31 of fighting in that round. Severe body punishment brought about the end of the east side boxer. The crowd of 2,500 was thrown into excitement in the first round when Caragliano floored Schweitzer twice for counts of 8 and once caused him to sag down on one knee. On the second knockdown in this round Schweitzer, on the canvas, grimaced as if he had been hit low, but when Referee Griffith continued the count he arose and lashed out strongly until the bell.

Schweitzer opened the second with a two-handed attack which slowed Caragliano up a trifle. Caragliano resumed his heavy attack in the third, sending in hard lefts and rights to the stomach, and as Schweitzer lowered his guard, Caragliano crashed over a hard right to the jaw that brought him down for the full count.

Johnny Filucci, 134½, of Harlem, and Angelo Gentile, 134, of Corona, fought to a draw in the eight-round semi-final. The bout was hard fought all the way, with Gentile swarming all over his opponent through the first half of the bout. Filucci, however, scored heavily to the head and body through the closing rounds.

Jimmy Rappaport of the Bronx, 125½, won an eight-round decision over Joe Malone, 129¾, a neighborhood rival. Rappaport's speed dazzled Malone, who missed frequently with vicious blows.

Jimmy Parkhill, Long Island City middleweight, and Marty Sampson of Harlem fought eight lively rounds to a draw. Sampson set a fast pace through the early going, but he tired badly in the closing sessions.

KELLY KNOCKS OUT WRIGHT.

Spider Kelly of Kansas City knocked out Howard Wright in the seventh round of their scheduled ten-round feature bout at the Twenty-second Engineers Armory last night. Kelly weighed 148 pounds and Wright, representing the 369th Infantry, 146. In the semi-final Joe Barry, 135, of the Fourteenth Infantry, Brooklyn, won in the tenth round on a foul from Battling Clements of Kansas City.

In the first six-rounder Jock Berry, 142, of Twenty-second Engineers, got the verdict over George (Red) Kinsella, 145, of the 106th Infantry. Lew (Kid) Santi, 132, defeated Johnny Long, 134, and Mickey Polo won the decision from Tom Watkins.

Ruby Stein Loses to Hayes.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—Johnny Hayes, 127 pounds, Philadelphia, won the decision from Ruby Stein, 133, New York, in an eight-round bout here tonight.

Censored Description of Sharkey Bout To Be Given at Amateur Tests in Garden

Progress of the Sharkey-Stribling fight at Miami Beach, Fla., tonight will be transmitted through the voice amplifying system in Madison Square Garden during the bouts in the New York State amateur title tournament, but the broadcast will be censored by the officials of the Amateur Athletic Union, it was announced yesterday by Jacob Stumpf, chairman of the boxing committee of the Metropolitan Association.

According to Chairman Stumpf, it was realized that the spectators would appreciate the details of the Florida fight coming directly from the ringside and transmitted through the Garden in the intervals between rounds in the amateur matches, but that any description alluding to clinching, stalling if any should take place, roughing or anything not strictly clean, aggressive fighting, would be deleted.

SIX MORE YANKEES JOIN SQUAD IN CAMP

SUN HELPS CONDITIONING

Dickey Wires He Has Shaken Off Flu—St. Petersburg Youngsters Swarm on Field.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26.—Yankees young and old, but none of them indifferent, swarmed Crescent Park all day today. As evening fell it was safe to say that every muscle present was freed of the icicle cargo accumulated over the Winter months.

Two days of unmitigated sunshine have completed the conditioning processes most of the players began before reporting here. For six of them today was their first Florida exposure of the year. Durst, Paschal, Southpaw Edwin Wells, the former Detroit Tiger, and a pony battery, Lee Craig and Arndt Jorgens, wore Yankee uniforms today for the first time this year.

Except for Bill Dickey, the catcher who has caught nothing so far this year except influenza, the muster roll for the camp's first week is all checked up.

Besides the twenty-six players at work today and the half-dozen coaches, a bevy of St. Petersburg's younger ball-tossing set barked at the heels of the Bronx heroes, fought grounders and dodged fungo flies, making Miller Huggins look like a manager building for the 1942 season as well as for this year's race.

Dickey to Arrive Soon.

A telegram from Dickey today said that he had shaken off his influenza and would arrive here in a day or two.

Floyd Van Peit, right-hand rookie, pitcher and alleged holdout, who has caused much concern among thinking members of the training camp these past several days, dropped out of the station pack in front of the Yankees' hotel tonight and gave everybody a broad smile.

The squad now includes eleven pitchers, three catchers, the entire infield squad of seven and five outfielders.

Myles Thomas, Wiley Moore, Henry Johnson, Al Shealy and Fred Heimach, all well acquainted with Yankee Stadium, compose half of the twirling corps. Wells, before Detroit shipped him to Birmingham, also uncoiled his slim southpaw frame at the Stadium, and Fay Thomas wore his first New York livery as a Giant pitcher. Roy Sherid trained here last Spring, then won fifteen and lost seven for the Montreal Internationals.

The other two are strangers, Gordon (Dusty) Rhodes, the rugged right-hand ace of Hollywood's 1928 Pacific Coast League aggregation, and Lee Craig, also right-handed, who pitched for Oklahoma City last year.

Jorgens Joins Catching Staff.

Arndt Jorgens, a sparely built Norseman, joined Bengough and Grabowski in the catching department today. Jorgens lives in Chicago and was Craig's battery mate last year at Oklahoma City, where he batted .335.

Lazzeri, Gehrig, Koenig, Durocher, Robertson, Lary and Burns scored a 100 per cent attendance for the infield squad at yesterday's first marshaling of forces.

Combs, Meusel and Ruth are not carded for active service until Monday, the outfield squad today listing Durst, Paschal, Byrd, Funk and W. A. (Chink) Outen. Byrd and Funk have been sub-Yankees for a year or more. Outen is a collegian without professional experience.

CANZONERI VICTOR, DEFEATS FERNANDEZ

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP).—Tony Canzoneri, knock-out conqueror of Armand Santiago and Joey Sangor, defeated Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino star, in a ten-round battle in the Coliseum tonight.

Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, gained the decision, but the courageous Filipino got the cheers of the crowd for his gameness in absorbing Canzoneri's barrage of punches.

Canzoneri, the superior boxer, won the honors in eight of the ten rounds. Canzoneri scaled 128 pounds, Fernandez 125. A capacity crowd of 10,000 attended.

Princeton Shifts Hockey Game.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 26.—The second hockey game between Princeton and Dartmouth, originally scheduled for Hanover, will be played instead in the Boston Arena at Boston Saturday afternoon, the Princeton Athletic Association announced today. The probability of unfavorable ice conditions in Dartmouth's outdoor rink caused the change.

ABSENTEES MOVING INTO ROBINS' CAMP

HENLINE AND MOORE ARRIVE

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 26.—Tidings having some bearing upon future relations between the delinquent Dazzy Vance and the Brooklyn baseball club were borne into camp early this morning by Raymond B. (Rube) Bressler, first of the Robins' regular outfielders to report for Spring exercises. Bressler chose a circuitous route into the tangerine belt which led him via Dover Hall, Ga., where Manager Robbie holds forth.

Bressler, who evidently settled his misunderstandings, if any, with Uncle Robbie, reported that the Brooklyn president-manager probably would not arrive here until Saturday, as he intended stopping at Homosassa, Fla., to confer with his star pitcher. If Robbie does this, it is quite likely that he will bring Vance to Clearwater with him, all signed and ready to prepare for the business of battling against his fast year's earned run record, which was the best in the National League.

The situation as it affects Vance and the Robins briefly is this: The big blond strike-out king was offered a contract at the same salary he received last year—$20,000. He merely returned it. It is understood, unsigned and without comment. The next move thus was left to Robbie. Vance being in the position of silently demanding an offer instead of a specific salary.

Vance Training in Homosassa.

Dazzy should be in good condition when he arrives, as he has been laboring diligently with saw, axe and hammer helping to build a large guest camp in Homosassa. That town with the peculiar name once was considered as a training ground for the Robins. It lies in the midst of a number of lakes in whose waters it is more or less reliably reported fish abound that actually jump out of the water after the descending hooks of the fishermen.

Captain Max Carey and his lieutenant, Coach Otto Miller, put the young and old Robins through their second day's workout, beginning at 10:30 this morning and calling it a day at 12:40. The Carey system of calisthenics again was brought into play at the opening exercise, followed by a run around the field.

Lee Impresses Observers.

A rangy young outfielder, acquired by Brooklyn from Mississippi College last year and who played with the Macon club, drew favorable comment on his batting stance from Carey. He is Hal Lee, only 21 years old and regarded by other baseball judges as most promising player.

Austin Moore, right-hand pitcher, also from the Macon club, and Butch Henline were the other two Robins to report today. Moore promptly caught the return of his first pitched ball on the end of the index finger of his pitching hand and had to be patched up by trainer Doc Hart.

Bill Clark was another slight casualty, being hit on the leg by a ball from Rube Bressler's bat. Henline, who with Alfonso Lopez constitute half of the catching staff, arrived in his automobile from Lake City about noon. He had driven from his home in Bloomington, Ill.

Hank De Berry, who has been the receiver of Vance's fast ones for years, is reported on his way and not to be considered a hold-out. Johnny Gooch also has an explanation for his failure to report on time which has nothing to do with holding out.

201-POUND OARSMAN STEPS THROUGH SHELL

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—C. D. Collins, the young 201½-pound giant who is stroking the Cambridge crew, now in training for the Oxford race on March 23, put his foot in it today. He missed his step and his shoe went through the bottom of the shell.

Fortunately, Cambridge already had ordered a new shell, as only a few days ago one of its frail craft was pierced by an ice floe on the upper Thames.

In 1906 the shell in which Cambridge beat Harvard was built in four days. Oxford already has a new shell with swivel rowlocks. The Cambridge craft will be the same length, sixty-two feet, but the beam will be broader and the shell deeper to accommodate the heavier crew.

LAYTON WINS 2 CUE GAMES.

Beats Trunkett and Then Jackman at Three-Cushion Billiards.

John Layton, the world's three-cushion billiards champion, won two games yesterday at the Strand Billiard Academy. He defeated Joseph Trunkett in the afternoon in fifty innings, 50-21. Layton had two runs of 5 and Trunkett had two runs of 3. In the evening Layton defeated George Jackman, 50-10, in thirty-five innings. Layton made runs of 12, 3, 6 and 4.

In the 161 innings Layton played yesterday and the day previous he made 200 points. This afternoon he will play John Carr and tonight, Harold Robins.

M'GRAW IN CHARGE AT GIANTS' PRACTICE

GRAYS BEAT WHITES, 5 TO 2

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 26.—John McGraw assumed active command of the training operations of the Giant forces here today. It marked the beginning of the twenty-seventh campaign for him as manager of the New York club, but if any one believes that this considerable stretch of time has in any way dimmed his enthusiasm for the job he does not know John McGraw.

It has been frequently reported in recent years that McGraw harbors a desire to retire. Doubtless there have been times, following the wear and tear of a seething pennant race, that the venerable Giant pilot feels the urge to step aside and to settle down to a life of ease at his home in Pelham.

But after seeing McGraw in action today it becomes more forcibly apparent than ever that he could as soon fly the blue Atlantic in an umbrella as give up baseball. Mentally, the McGraw of today is the McGraw of ten or twenty years ago, and with the same abounding enthusiasm to instruct and command the men under his charge.

Promptly at 11 this morning McGraw, in uniform, jogged out of the dressing room at the ball field at the head of his squad. Quite a number of years have elapsed since baseball fans have seen him in a uniform. But in a training camp he finds a uniform quite necessary.

McGraw in Thick of Drill.

In no time at all McGraw was right in the thick of the training session. Stationing himself at second base, he lined up the three rookie infielders, Jordan at first, Kavanaugh at second and Marshall at short, and for more than twenty minutes, while Bert Niehoff batted grounders, he supervised the drill, giving special attention to the way Marshall and Kavanaugh covered plays around second base.

Alone, he switched to the men engaged in batting practice, giving pointers to this player, correcting the faults of another. Nothing seems to escape him.

"Here, Marshall, you're swinging down on the ball. Bring your swing more across on a line with the ball and step squarely into it," was his advice, and Marshall would return to the plate and surprise himself. This youngster, by the way, already seems to have made a profound impression upon McGraw.

"That boy is quick to learn," said McGraw, "and those are the fellows who will go a long way. You never have to correct him for the same mistake twice."

Grays Play Whites Again.

Following the batting drill the squad was divided into what has been styled the Schalk Grays and the Niehoff Whites, and a six-inning game was staged with McGraw standing behind the pitcher's box doing the umpiring. Needless to say, there were no audible objections to the decisions.

The game developed into quite a spirited affair with the Grays downing the Whites, 5 to 2.

Curley Ogden, working the last three innings for the Grays, did the best job of the lot. The big fellow appeared in fine fettle and held the opposition hitless and scoreless.

| Whites. | | Grays. | |

DARTMOUTH-BROWN NOT TO PLAY IN 1930-31

Heneage Says There Is No 'Break' Between Teams—Green Will Meet a California Eleven.

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 26 (AP).—Official announcement that Dartmouth and Brown would not meet in football during 1930 and 1931 was made here today by Harry R. Heneage, supervisor of Dartmouth's athletics. He said football relations with the Rhode Island university, which have been a fixture on the Green's gridiron schedules for many years, would be interrupted after the 1929 game on Nov. 9 to enable Dartmouth to play a two-game series with a California college.

Heneage, who is expected to be able to announce the California contests some time this week, said the first one probably would be played on the West Coast in 1930 and the second one in Boston the following year.

"There has not been any 'break' between Dartmouth and Brown," Heneage said. "I want to make that clear. It is one of the trends of the times to shake up football schedules and reach out for new opponents."

14 NEWARK PLAYERS SAIL FOR FLORIDA

Mamaux and Brennan in Group Off for Bears' Camp at St. Augustine.

Fourteen players aspiring to permanent posts with the Newark Bears, headed by Wilbur Crelin, the club's business manager, set sail yesterday noon on the S. S. Mohawk of the Clyde Line for Jacksonville, Fla., from which point they will travel by bus to St. Augustine, there to open their Spring training siege.

The squad will be swelled greatly soon after the Bruins pitch camp at the Hotel Alcazar in St. Augustine on Friday, for many of those who have already signed contracts are to go direct from their homes to the camp. Manager Tris Speaker is among the latter group.

Don Brennan was one of those who sailed yesterday. The veteran of last season tipped in at the lowest weight that he has ever started the annual training trip. He scaled 175 pounds, compared to 210 last year. A siege of colds and an attack of influenza has caused the drop in weight. Brennan declared that he has been coming along at a fast pace and that he will be in fine fettle in a few weeks.

Others who sailed were Al Mamaux, Ed Fallenstin, Chick Davies, Teddy Entner, Frank Uzmann, Carl Fischer, Bill Skiff, Chant Parkes, Martin Martineck, William Devine, Bobby Stevens, Merwin Jacobson and William Hickey.

Prominent officials of Newark as well as a delegation of fans were expected to be present at the start of the trip but a steady downpour kept them away.

Morgan-Zorilla Bout April 9.

BATTERY ASPIRANTS OUT AT COLUMBIA

BOHRER PROMISING PITCHER

Coach Has High Regard for Sophomore Southpaw—Swettman Trying for Vacant Catching Berth.

Fifteen battery candidates for the Columbia baseball team reported to Coach Andy Coakley yesterday in the Columbia gymnasium. Only two veteran pitchers from last season's varsity were on hand, but Coakley expects the squad to increase during the next few days.

Joe Burke and Charley Cerny were the experienced twirlers to report. Art Smith, the third member of last year's pitching staff, was graduated last June. The two veterans worked with the rest of the candidates for over an hour. Herman Swettman, catcher on the 1928 freshman nine, also was present. He is the only outstanding candidate at this time for the receiving post.

George Bohrer, star freshman lefthander of a year ago, practiced for nearly two hours. Bohrer is regarded by Coakley as one of the most promising moundsmen in the squad.

Coakley plans to work his men lightly for the first week, but with the opening game of the season only five weeks away the Lion coach is anxious to get his men outdoors. The call for infield and outfield candidates will be issued in two weeks. At that time Remey Tys and Ed Obey, members of the varsity basketball team, will be available.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—Columbia not only prevented Pennsylvania from clinching the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League championship tonight but gave the Red and Blue its first defeat in the current league series and also broke Penn's winning streak of seven in the league and nine games in all. The score was 35 to 23.

The Lions won by bottling up Captain Joey Schaaf and outshooting the Red and Blue in the second half, when it appeared that Penn was destined to come through with one of its typical rallies.

Pennsylvania, by losing tonight, still tops the circuit but must win one of its remaining games with Dartmouth at Hanover, Saturday, or Princeton here, March 9, in order to gain its second straight championship, unless Dartmouth loses at Cornell tomorrow night, which automatically would give the title to Penn.

Columbia started such a whirlwind pace that it had an 8-2 lead five minutes after the game started. Coach Meenan sent in Urback to relieve Gregory at centre when Penn started to press and the Lions held a 13-10 lead at the end of the half.

With Don Noble in for Brodbeck, Penn started a spurt at the opening of the second half, and Noble's field goal tied the score at 15-15. From that time on, however, Obey and Urback made a number of sensational shots and the Lions pulled away.

BRUINS TURN BACK MAROONS BY 1 TO 0

CANADIENS TRIUMPH, 4-0

Defeat Pirates at Montreal Rink—Cougar Sextet Blanks Black Hawks, 3 to 0.

BOSTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Boston Bruins ended their 1929 series with the Montreal Maroons by winning a 1-0 victory here tonight in a National Hockey League game. Twenty-two penalties were called. Just before the final gong Clapper, Boston forward, drew a major penalty for board-checking Trottier. The Bruins kept one point behind the Rangers by winning.

The Maroons played a hard game and it was not until half-way through the final session that Carson and Oliver were able to break through for a score. Carson tried to pass, but Stewart checked him, and the disk rolled toward the Montreal net. Oliver swept in and poked the rolling disk past the Maroon goalie.

RANGERS MAINTAIN FIRST PLACE EDGE

KEELING-MURDOCH SCORE

Tally in First and Second Periods of Fast Game Before Crowd of 7,000 in the Garden.

Fighting off a savage last-period rush that threatened to sweep all before it, the New York Rangers succeeded in holding a two-point lead gained in the first two sessions to defeat the Ottawa Senators in a seething contest at Madison Square Garden last night by 2 goals to 0.

A crowd of 7,000 persons saw the New York sextet battle to hold its one-point lead over the Bruins in the American division of the National Hockey League. The victory enabled the Rangers to remain in the top perch, equalizing the triumph of Boston over the Montreal Maroons.

Murray Murdoch and Melville Keeling contributed the goals that enabled the Rangers to emerge victorious. Murdoch cut through for his tally in the first period, and Keeling followed in the next. The Senators came along with their terrific rush in the final session, bombarding the New York net with a sustained assault that forced the Rangers to bring all their defensive resources into play.

Abel Draws Early Penalty.

Play had barely got under way when Abel was banished for holding. The Senators carried a high-powered offensive against the Rangers, Clancy and Kilrea alternating at skating dangerously close to the New York net, but the defense held stanchly and capably smothered the frequent threats.

Roach made a great stop of one of Clancy's thrusts after the latter managed to work his way through the entire Ranger sextet.

Kilrea was banished for holding and the Rangers concentrated upon a heavy drive against the Ottawa net, but to little advantage. Boucher made frequent sallies into Ottawa's territory, but always was stopped before he got close in for a shot at Connell.

The action proceeded at a brisk clip, with the Rangers taking the offensive and storming the Ottawa citadel from all angles; and in a lively struggle deep in the Ranger territory, Murdoch extricated the disk, skated at breakneck speed along the north wall, and sent the disk through for a New York pointer in 17 minutes 31 seconds. The period ended without further scoring, though both teams maintained a fast offensive.

Rangers Again Press Forward.

The Rangers picked up their attack in the second session from where they left off at the close of the first and subjected the Senators' goal to a veritable bombardment. Bourgault brought the disk up to the net, only to miss by a narrow margin. He was followed by Abel, who brushed all opposition out of his path, failing to score, however, when a close shot went wide.

Ottawa was hard pressed to sustain its defense, rarely having an opportunity to take down the disk. Bun Cook and Thompson alternated at sending long shots at the Ottawa goal, and Connell was kept busy repulsing their thrusts.

After 10 minutes and 14 seconds of the period, Keeling cut in on an Ottawa foray, snared the disk, and sent it through for the Rangers' second score.

The Senators pressed desperately after this tally and fired at the Rangers' net from every angle. Roach was equal to the situation, however, and succeeded in turning aside every attempt. Clancy and Finnegan carried the burden of the Ottawa attack but, though they tried incessantly, could not put their team into the scoring column before the period closed.

New York Holds Fast Pace.

The Rangers did not abate their attack in the third period, continuing to advance the disk with relentless aggressiveness. Kilrea dashed down the ice after taking the disk from Bun Cook, but was halted before he gained a position to shoot. Following this, the Rangers pressed the Ottawa defense time and again, with Bun Cook shooting frequently, but failing to get past Connell.

Near the middle of the period the Senators assumed the offensive, and stormed the New York net time and again.

Abel received a major penalty when he held Touhey forcibly, preventing the latter from shooting at an open net, and with the Rangers' star defense man off the ice the Senators persisted in storming the Rangers' goal. The Ranger defense fought furiously, resisting the savage Ottawa defense successfully to the end.

The line-up:

|---|---|

WINTER SPORTS WON BY NEW HAMPSHIRE

PEDERSON TAKES 3 EVENTS

Special to The New York Times.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 26.—By finishing first in all three of today's events, a one mile down-hill ski race, Slalom ski race and ski-jumping competition, Ernest Pederson added 15 points to New Hampshire's total, making it 43, which today won for that university the intercollegiate Winter sports union championship, held at the Lake Placid Club.

McGill University was second with 26 points, Dartmouth third with 15, Ottawa fourth with 3 and Williams fifth with 1 point. Middlebury failed to score.

The Slalom and down-hill runs were over a steep course that led from the grave of John Brown, famous Abolitionist, past intervals of ski-jumping hills to Ausable River. The performance of the many contestants showed a marked increase in skill over what American college boys were able to do a few years ago. The course was in fine condition.

Pederson not only won the jump with a point score of 218.8, judged on form and distance, but his jump of fifty-two meters was the longest standing jump of the competition. J. Landry of Ottawa and J. W. Lovell of New Hampshire, each jumping forty-eight meters, made the next longest jumps.

Five of the best ski jumpers of the West made exhibition jumps at intervals over the hill this afternoon, during the course of the championships to demonstrate the suitability of the hill for use in the 1932 Olympics if the pending award of the Winter games is made to Lake Placid.

Sigourd Ulland of Norge Ski Club, Chicago, jumped further than any one ever has before on the hill, making a standing leap of 61 meters or 200 feet.

MISS HICKS WITH 81 WINS GOLF MEDAL

MRS. STERRETT IS SECOND

Miss Hicks led Mrs. H. D. Sterrett of Hutchinson, Kan., by two strokes, the latter scoring an 83. Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, present holder of the South Atlantic title, was tied for third with an 86. Mrs. Stewart Hanley of Detroit and Miss Virginia Holzderber, Baltimore, Md., also having 86.

In earning medalist honors Miss Hicks triumphed over the largest field ever to enter this tournament since its inauguration in 1926, seventy-two women playing today.

Miss Hicks scored a 40 on her outward round missing par at only two holes. Coming home she scored a three on the 241-yard tenth but had a five on the eleventh. After that she carded two more pars in a row. She was one over men's par on the next five holes and finished the nine in 41. Her card:

| In | 3 | 5 | 4 | 5 | 3 | 4 | 4 | 6 | 6 | —41—81 |

Mrs. Sterrett started her round with a 6, but reeled off the next three holes in par. A birdie 3 at the eighth and another par at the ninth aided her score and she was out in 41. A 6 on the seventeenth and a poor 7 on the last hole forced her to take a 42 on the second nine. Her card:

| In | 4 | 5 | 4 | 4 | 5 | 3 | 4 | 6 | 7 | —42—83 |

Miss Van Wie was out in 42, but came home in 44 for an 86. Mrs. Hanley scored two 43's with a 7 and four 6's on her card. Miss Holzderber was out in 45, carding three 6's on the first nine, but took a 41 on the second nine. Miss Lillian Holland of Sunset Hill was 43, 45—88.

O'CONNOR WINNER OVER NOAH, 4 AND 3

STEVENSON ALSO TRIUMPHS

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—George O'Connor of Southampton, L. I., maintained his winning pace in the first match round of the annual Dixie golf championship today on the Country Club course. O'Connor, the medalist, eliminated R. K. Noah of Akron, Ohio, by 4 and 3.

Two extra-hole matches featured the play in the championship division, and in one of these Ben Stevenson of Chicago, the defending titleholder, won from Ed Romfh, son of the former Mayor of Miami, 1 up, at the twentieth. In the second round tomorrow O'Connor opposes Stevenson.

Linius (Pony) McAtee, star jockey, triumphed in the second division over C. A. Fifer of Quincy, Ill., by 6 and 5.

O'Connor lost the first hole by taking three putts, but he was three up at the turn, winning the second, fifth, eighth and ninth. He had a 37, one over par, for the outgoing half.

Coming back, they halved the tenth and eleventh in pars. A birdie 3 gave the Long Islander the twelfth, and another par 3 won the fifteenth, after the two previous holes had been halved, gave O'Connor the match.

Lee Chase, former New York State amateur champion, disposed of a fellow-townsman from Buffalo, Lloyd Newman, by 1 up. Chase had a 41, 37—78 and

BUTTER JOHN FIRST IN OLEANDER PURSE

MARSHAL SETH SETS PACE

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26.—Butter John won his first race since the early days of the year when he carried 111 pounds through the rain and mud to victory in the Oleander purse at Jefferson Park today. A heavy rain storm that swept the course throughout the afternoon made conditions bad but the son of Hildur out of Lightfoot appeared to like the going and won with half a length to spare. Buddy Basil was second, Marshal Seth third and Lynn Haven and Armes Naves finished in the order named.

Butter John was top weight of the field and was timed in 1:53 2-5 for the mile and seventy yards. The winner is owned by Mrs. C. Crane and was third choice in the betting, paying $10.80 for a $2 ticket in the mutuels.

Off to Good Start.

The start was exceptionally good in view of the very uncertain footing and Buddy Basil was quickest to begin. But within two furlongs Marshal Seth had run into a long lead, and the others were at least five lengths behind before the half-mile mark was reached. Buddy Basil was second at this stage, leading Butter John by a scant head.

Marshal Seth's great burst of speed began to tell on him as the field went around the turn and Buddy Basil and Butter John drew very close. Jockey Anderson was having trouble controlling Buddy Basil, and Butter John moved up to second place and then set sail for the winner. A furlong out he overhauled Marshal Seth, now beginning to tire badly, and went on to win in a drive. Buddy Basil also passed Marshal Seth and got the place by three lengths.

Jockey Moon Gets Double.

Jockey J. Moon was up on Butter John and the result completed a double, as he had previously ridden Matthew to victory in the fourth race. Jockey Elmo Shropshire also secured a double with Seth's Premium and Culpeper.

With Matthew, Moon had rather an easy time, as the horse broke on top and led from start to finish with only a faint challenge from Roodles toward the end of the six furlongs. The margin Matthew had over Roodles was two lengths, while Thunder Call raced to the show, three lengths behind Roodles. Matthew paid $15.10 for a ticket and completed his route in 1:18.

THE FRESHMAN TAKES FEATURE AT MIAMI

Bowns's Horse, Pigeon Wing II, Friedjof Nansen and Sun Altos Finish Heads Apart.

Special to The New York Times.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—In the most thrilling finish of the afternoon, The Freshman, owned by Harold S. Bowns, got up in the closing strides to win the Flamingo Stadium Claiming Handicap at Hialeah Park today. Four horses finished heads apart and in order behind The Freshman were Pigeon Wing II, Friedjof Nansen and Sun Altos.

At a mile and seventy yards, the big thrill of the contest came at the head of the stretch when Pigeon Wing II, Friedjof Nansen, John J. Williams and Agapanthus swung into the straightaway almost abreast and with each boy driving hard. The Freshman was outrun at this point and on the outside, but Jockey D. Mergler drove him for all he was worth and had his head in front as they swept by the post.

The Freshman's time was 1:43 4-5. He carried 111 pounds and was held at 4 to 1. Sun Altos was the favorite, with John J. Williams a heavily played second choice.

HOPE THAT NURMI WILL RUN TONIGHT

Finn, Banned for Non-Appearance in Nationals, to Get Hearing at 5:30 P. M. Today.

Though Edvin Wide will be unable to start tonight in the mile and a half handicap run, featured in the program of events at the New York County American Legion games in the 102d Engineers Armory, there is an outside chance that Paavo Nurmi, Wide's rival, may compete.

Nurmi is under suspension of the Amateur Athletic Union because of his failure to keep an engagement to run in the national championship in Madison Square Garden last Saturday night, but this suspension can be lifted in time for him to compete tonight.

The Metropolitan Association's registration committee will meet at 5.30 this afternoon to consider Nurmi's case as well as those of other athletes who are barred from competition for various infractions of the rules. Nurmi is expected to appear before the committee in an effort to explain his actions of last Saturday night. If the Finn's replies are satisfactory, the committee may reinstate him.

As for Wide, the Swedish star is lamenting his fate and promising that never again will he allow curiosity to get the better of him, for it was his desire to see what Ove Anderson was doing on the opposite side of the track during the mile and a half event at the Warinanco A. C. games in Elizabeth Monday night, that caused the injury to Wide's ankle, forcing him out tonight.

BILLY BARTON DOES WELL.

Jumper Continues to Show Form for English Classic.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Billy Barton, the American jumper which has been in training in Wales, is coming on well, according to all accounts, and only has to continue the same form to start among the favorites for the Grand National Steeplechase. He has been entered for one of the rich prizes at Cheltenham next week.

Owing to the frost, such good chasers as Master Billie, Trump Card, Billy Barton, The Coyote and The Ace II have not seen a public race course for a long time, and this fact has upset form and the prospects for the big race at Aintree.

REID IS DEFEATED IN CLASS C SQUASH

WERTHEIM BEATS HASKINS

Other Second Round Winners Are Stokes, Leyandecker, Cohalan and Wyckoff.

Harry Reeve of the Park Avenue Squash Club put out one of the strongest contenders in the national Class C squash tennis championship last night when he defeated Fergus Reid Jr. of the Yale Club on the Crescent A. C. courts in Brooklyn. The match went to three games and was decided by the unusual score of 15—1, 9—15, 15—13.

Reid, a member of Yale's championship Class C team, never was able to find himself in the opening game. Beginning with the second chapter, however, he lifted his game considerably and took the play away from Reeve, scoring on beautiful low drives around the corners. The third game was an even struggle, with the outcome in doubt until the last point was won by Reeve.

Under the direction of Jimmy Reid, the field of eighty-two players in the championship were reduced to less than half that number last night. Among the other second-round winners were W. W. Stokes Jr. of Yale, R. A. Leyendecker and P. J. Cohalan of the New York A. C., W. O. Wyckoff of Fraternity and Albert Wertheim of the City A. C.

Wertheim put out Lathrop Haskins, Harvard's squash racquets star, in one of the closest matches of the tournament, 15—12, 11—15, 18—15. Stokes barely came through against C. H. Donner of Princeton in two games of extra points and Leyendecker likewise was extended to the limit to prevail over his clubmate, R. L. Hutchinson.

MISS GOSS VICTOR IN FLORIDA TENNIS

MRS. STENZ ALSO SCORES

Conquers Mrs. Candee, 6-1, 6-0, in Second Round—Miss Goss Wins in Doubles.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26.—All matches except one were completed in the first and second rounds of the women's nineteenth annual Florida tennis championship here today, with Miss Eleanor Goss of New York, the defending champion, making a splendid showing. The New York star gained the third round when she triumphed over Miss Peggy Phipps of Palm Beach, 6—2, 6—0.

One of the closest matches of the day was that in which Miss Genevive Fox of Newport eliminated her sister, Miss Cathleen Fox, in the second round this morning. The score was 6—1, 4—6, 6—4. The victor dropped the second set because her service weakened and because her sister pressed the attack at the net, but the reverse was true in the third and deciding set. The winner will meet Miss Virginia Hilleary, junior star, in the third round tomorrow morning.

Mrs. DeForest Candee of Garden City, L. I., took a straight-set match from Mrs. Walter Hochschild in the first round, but was defeated by Mrs. Bernard F. Stenz of New York, 6—1, 6—0, in the second. Mrs. Stenz played a sparkling game and is rated by many tennis followers here as the favorite with Miss Goss to take the final honors.

Four matches were completed in the doubles tournament, which started during the afternoon. Four of the teams have been seeded as follows: Mrs. J. S. Phipps and Miss Goss, Miss Hilleary and Miss Dorothy Andrus, Mrs. B. F. Stenz and Mrs. L. G. Morris and Mrs. Stokes Weaver and Mrs. Candee.

Two of the matches in doubles were real battles, one of them taking three sets to decide. Miss Anne Page, paired with Miss Lucy Jane Hedberg of Glencoe, Ill., defeated Mrs. Harrison Smith and Miss Eleanor Cottman, 6—4, 4—5, 6—6. Mrs. Phipps and Miss Goss had little trouble in defeating Mrs. C. O. ## Sports of the Times

By JOHN KIERAN.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—Jack Sharkey and William L. Stribling are now waiting at the crossroads, ready to go somewhere. Just where they are going is the point that will be at issue in their debate at Flamingo Park tomorrow evening. Sharkey says that he is headed for victory here and the heavyweight championship of the world whenever the Muldoon-Tunney Trophy Committee gets around to handing over the title and the silverware. Stribling says the very same thing of himself. Both can't be right. That's one reason why a number of people have bought tickets to the fight.

Standing at the crossroads is no new situation for the silent sailor. He stood at the crossroads when he put up his padded gloves against Jack Dempsey. Later in the evening he was lying down at the same crossroads, somewhat the worse for wear and tear. He was standing at minor crossroads when he faced Heeney and Risko. He went nowhere in particular during those bouts or after them.

No one should be allowed to clutter up the crossroads indefinitely. If Sharkey isn't going anywhere, he should move out of the road and let somebody go by who can travel.

But perhaps Sharkey will start to travel in this bout. It is never too late to get going in the right direction.

Hitting the Main Road.

Stribling's case is different. This is his first appearance on the real high road. Most of his pugilistic career has been spent bushwhacking among the bushes and felling dead timber around the clearings in the forests. It was profitable enough. Taking on minor opponents for minor purses in minor towns is a profitable business if done in a big wholesale way. And that's just how Billy the kid did it. He has fought nearly 250 bouts, and if there is any village or hamlet in which he hasn't flattened or outscrambled an opponent, it's because he never heard of the place.

It's easy to point out that Sharkey's record is much more imposing than Stribling's. The silent sailor has fought every outstanding heavyweight of recent years with the exception of Gene Tunney, and he was quite willing to meet Gene Tunney.

Stribling didn't take on Heeney, Godfrey, Wills or Dempsey. Sharkey did, not altogether successfully, but he fought them, and he gained something by it in addition to a share of the gate receipts.

Nevertheless, Stribling's record calls for attention in one particular and that is his list of knockouts. Granting that most of his opponents were hapless rustics or otherwise unidentified strangers, it takes a punch to knock over even an unidentified stranger. Stribling must have a punch. Whether or not he can land it on a fast-moving target like Sharkey is yet to be decided.

Comparative performances in the ring are as misleading as comparative scores in football games, but what else is there to drag in as evidence when there's a big bout in the offing?

Invidious Comparisons.

Plunging into the labyrinth, it is on record that Stribling defeated Johnny Risko twice, whereas the Cleveland sailor boy took a decision from Jack Sharkey in Madison Square Garden that year. The recent Pauline-Christner fight didn't enhance the reputation of the Boston sailor. Jack had to work fast through the last five rounds to earn a decision over the peaceful puddler of Akron, Ohio, whereas the wild woodchopper from the Pyrenees gave Christner a merry mauling through eight of the ten rounds.

Switching to the other side: Sharkey looked like a real champion in several big fights around New York, whereas Stribling was a rude disappointment almost every time he fought in or around New York.

On what the fighters showed in New York from time to time, Sharkey should win all by himself. But this bout will be fought in Flamingo Park, Miami Beach, and the Southerner is a different performer in a tropical climate.

That brings the discussion back to the starting point.

It is probable that Sharkey will have a ten-pound advantage over Stribling when they step into the ring. Beyond the 200-pound mark, the weight doesn't make much difference, but below that mark it is an obvious advantage unless the heavier fighter is carrying the odd weight around his waistline.

Peaceful Evening Predicted.

It might be said that Sharkey is faster on his feet than Stribling, but Stribling is faster with his hands than Sharkey. Both are adept at protecting themselves, a feature which has caused many veteran observers to shake their heads sadly and predict a very peaceful evening all around.

Condition is important, but who can tell anything about condition? Dempsey was reported in perfect condition for his first bout with Tunney. Dempsey himself said that Heeney was in wonderful shape for Tunney, and Honest Tom, the village blacksmith, went into the ring with his blood pressure high enough to blow the cylinder head off an eight-wheel locomotive.

Probably the best way to handle the situation is to gather up all the evidence and toss it lightly out the most convenient window. Sharkey and Stribling are strapping big fellows, and there is fame and fortune waiting for the winner of this bout. That should be enough to make them take the cover off all their guns and keep firing as long as there is a shot left in the locker.

THE HOUSE FEELING ITS OATS.

Not for several years has the House of Representatives shown so many signs as at present of a determination to assert itself against the Senate. Its action on bill after bill has made certain Senators turn purple with rage, but perhaps that is one of the very things which the leaders of the House hoped to accomplish. They have resolutely stood by their own ideas of what the General Deficiency bill should be, especially in the matter of money for prohibition enforcement. They have compelled the Senate to recede from many of its amendments to the Interior Department bill, and have insisted, at last accounts, upon rejecting even the pet fragment of an amendment which Senator WALSH strove to draft upon that measure. When Senator SMOOT told Mr. WALSH that if he remained stubborn the whole bill might fail, he rejoined, "Let it fail." Apparently his thought was that the House would not dare incur that final responsibility. But it has boldly altered several other bills dear to the Senatorial heart, and seems bent on vindicating its own dignity and authority in a way that seems novel.

It was not always the case that the Senate was the "dominant member" of Congress. For a long time after the Civil War the House was, in the public impression at least, the more important body. Its debates were the more fully reported. Its personalities were the more vivid and commanding. But little by little, in the slow accretion of political power, largely through an increasing control of the increased Federal patronage, the Senate began to overtop the House, and for a long time past has been the chief source of legislation and the most interesting centre of discussion. Washington correspondents long ago were sensitive to the change and transferred their major activities from the Press Gallery of the House of Representatives to that of the Senate and to the Senate office building. Just now there seems to be a swing backward toward restoring the House to something of its old eminence.

This movement will be hastened if reports of Mr. HOOVER'S attitude are even partially correct. He has been holding frequent and long conferences with Speaker LONGWORTH. This of itself is calculated to intensify the apoplectic jealousy of the Senate. To think of a President arranging his legislative program with main dependence upon the House of Representatives! But the defense made by Mr. HOOVER'S friends is that to his orderly mind the Senate seems a chaotic and unmanageable assembly. The House has rules permitting it to do business. It has leaders who can count upon their followers, whereas the Senate leaders never know when they will be deserted. Particularly with reference to a farm relief bill and a limited revision of the tariff it is explained that Mr. HOOVER sees more hope in the House than in the Senate. It is even hinted that if the Senate takes the House bill for limited tariff changes and stuffs into it all kinds of upward revisions of its own, he will refuse to sign any such measure.

This is probably premature. Yet the mere rumor of it is enough to cause cruel Senatorial heartburnings. If Mr. HOOVER is really resolved, after he becomes President, to exalt the horn of the House of Representatives, Senators will vow that they have horns of their own with which to gore him.

BACK ON THE JOB.

In "about a week" the Police Commissioner promises to take up the complaint of the Civil Liberties Union against the "liberal" use of nightsticks under the Whalen dispensation. The gathering complaints about the new traffic regulations in the Times Square district he expects to deal with sooner; the Rothstein case is "in hand." Such are the mild and not inflammable sparks that flew from the magnet as it established contact with the job again after three weeks' absence.

Since that holiday, taken quickly after the tense strains of "reorganization," was lengthened from two weeks to three, it is possible that the Civil Liberties Union may have to wait two weeks instead of one for an answer to its complaint. In the answer, whenever it comes, the public will take great interest, because outward order and decency of the city are Commissioner WHALEN'S important trust. While no one wants the police turned into a prastorian guard, if a little rough treatment dampens the belligerency of our hoodlums and gunmen there will not be violent protests. Though changes may be needed in the traffic regulations, New York is willing to see them given a fair trial and is, on the whole, pleased with the Commissioner for at least making an effort at betterment.

The chief criticism is the same as that of his Tammany associates. New York City officials seem to be full of play and indulge themselves in more of it than the burdens of their work require. Having been so short a time in his new office, and with the Rothstein case unsatisfactorily moving, Mr. WHALEN would have impressed the community with a deeper belief in his serious purpose if he had let Palm Beach drag along for this season without him. His remark on returning about how his "reorganization" had proved itself by "functioning" so well during his absence was a bit of claptrap, as he must have known. Unless crises arise, Police Departments, like button factories, run themselves in matters of routine. There was no difference between the police record while Mr. WHALEN was at Palm Beach and that when Mr. ENRIGHT and Mr. WARREN chanced to be away when they were Police Commissioners.

UNION LEAGUE TO MOVE.

Another old familiar face is to vanish from transmogrified Fifth Avenue; a Boston Queen Anne face, jeered at on account of its origin at first. Time has endeared it. When the Union League Club moved up from Madison Square to Thirty-ninth Street, Fifth Avenue was mostly in the brownstone-and-stoop period. Mr. GEORGE MCANENY had not laid his righteous but ruthless hand on the prime characteristic of the Manhattan scene. There was at least one butcher shop, there were several beer saloons, on the avenue. These accentuated the contemporary splendors. The Union League Republicans were pioneers, frontiersmen, for the avenue ended at Thirty-fourth Street, at least on week days. On Sundays there was a "parade," which still exists in the newspapers. At night, even in the lower reaches of that extremely dim thoroughfare, sturdy beggars emerged from the side of stoops, wheedling and threatening.

That famous house of Republicans, into whose windows the outlander looked curiously, hoping to see a statesman or a boss, a Collector or a naval officer, has long pouted at a street devoured by trade. The rampant prosperity begotten of the tariff is about to drive the club to Park Avenue, but only two blocks south. To be sure, some members want a more sumptuous hotel with all the modern devices. One sympathizes with the sentimentalists or creatures of habit who cling to the old style; but in a city of perpetual movement, demolition and reconstruction a club must not try to be too sedentary. Fortunately, progressives and conservatives have maintained the strictest amity. This was but natural in an establishment from which the first fine fervors of straight Republicanism have cooled and too many of whose chairs are understood to be occupied by Smith Republicans.

The Union League has a leasehold to sell. When that is sold, it will adventure into the joys and pangs of owning its own house on its own land. That, as Herr BAEDEKER puts it, is "expensive but good." For clubs, where men go to forget their troubles, have their own. They cannot make up by food prices the loss which prohibition brings to compensate for its moral gain. If they have a choice site and house, the tax authorities see to it that their unearned increment is remembered in the bill. They can't afford to get too far from their centre of population or venture into too distant or doubtful neighborhoods. They can't be jacking up fees all the time.

Like many another gentleman's home, a club is mighty likely to accumulate a deficit, as Sir Boyle would say. May good fortune and good fare accompany the migrating Union League when it gazes on Park as once it gazed on Fifth Avenue; and may the soft Campanian allurements of its future home prevent not the occasional emission of those "ringing" Republican resolutions which have been music to the ear for two generations. Either the ear is obstructed or the ring is not so clear and hard as it used to be. That is all the worst hater of his kind can have against the Union League.

ARCHITECTURE AND THE TREASURY.

It was fitting that the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects should invite the Under-Secretary of the Treasury to be a guest of honor at its annual dinner. Public buildings are one of the "extra-curricular" activities of the Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. MELLON has taken a keen personal interest in the great Federal program, particularly as it relates to beautifying Washington. Throughout he has worked in close cooperation with the leading architects of the country. Their colleagues here in New York must have listened with unusual interest to the progress reported by Mr. MILLS.

Congress has already set aside the generous sum of $200,000,000, and other funds are available. Most of the money to be spent outside of the District of Columbia will go for postoffice buildings in places now without Federal buildings. For public buildings at the capital, several of which are already under construction in the "triangle" group, Congress has allotted $75,000,000. New Yorkers naturally wondered what Mr. MILLS would have to say about the new structures which this city needs. Treasury officials estimate that the present program here will call for a total expenditure of about $50,000,000. This includes the new Appraisers' Stores, the Stapleton Marine Hospital, an annex to the General Postoffice near the Pennsylvania Station and additions to the Brooklyn Postoffice. As to the old Federal Building in City Hall Park, Mr. MILLS states that city and Treasury officials are working on a plan which contemplates the erection of a building to house both courts and postoffice on the block bounded by Vesey and Barclay Streets, West Broadway and Church Street. Whether it will be possible to agree what compensation the city should allow the Federal Government for vacating the present site, Mr. MILLS is unable to say, "but it does seem as if with a little good-will on both sides an agreement could be reached."

The country is fortunate to have as Secretary of the Treasury at this time a man who appreciates the place of the esthetic in community life. There would be something symbolic about the passing of our ancient eyesore in City Hall Park if it were to mark a transition from the Mullet era to a Mellon era. The founding fathers, as Mr. MILLS observed, attached much importance to beauty in public buildings. We still have cause for gratitude that WASHINGTON consulted L'ENFANT, and that THOMAS JEFFERSON left his own impress on the architecture of his day. Mr. MILLS recalled that when JEFFERSON was in Paris in 1785, he was asked by the State of Virginia to secure a plan for a State House. He did so promptly, only to be informed that an impatient Legislature had not waited for his design, but had begun the erection of a building less suited to its purpose. As they scatter their architectural largess over the country, the present Federal authorities might well take as their motto the protest which he thereupon registered with his friend JAMES MADISON:

> How is a taste in this beautiful art to be formed in our countrymen unless we avail ourselves of every occasion when buildings are to be erected of presenting to them models for their study and imitation?

FOREST EXHAUSTION.

There may be something like carrying coals to Newcastle in the warnings addressed to the convention of the American Paper and Pulp Association on Thursday to the effect that Canada's forests are being depleted at the rate of 270,000 acres a year, whereas only 2,000 acres a year are replanted. Yet the subject of forest exhaustion continues to receive too little attention on both sides of the border. Fortunately, the longer view is at last beginning to prevail, and timber owners are looking ahead and endeavoring to decide what can be done economically to prolong the life of forests. This is a marked advance over the attitude of a decade or more ago, which was to look on forest lands as having but a single yield, to be cut over as cheaply as possible and then abandoned.

Among the suggestions made by Dr. HERTY of the Chemical Foundation was that extensive reforestation should be undertaken in the Southern States. But there, as elsewhere, part of the difficulty lies in the cost of the replanting operations. It is the contention of lumbermen that in most cases taxes eat up all possible profits during the years when the trees are left to grow. To meet this criticism several States have placed a premium on reforested lands. The subject deserves further study and wider public discussion.

A few main facts stand out. The acreage of forests has been steadily reduced here as well as in Canada. In many cases but little attention has been paid to leaving enough trees to facilitate reseeding by natural means. The few experiments made in replanting by lumber companies have not yet convinced the industry that it is a practical solution. To offset these discouraging items is the fact that the campaign for reforestation has gained headway in recent years. New York and other States which have provided nurseries to furnish trees at cost for replanting have found an increasing interest in this movement and have seen many acres replanted. Both Federal and State forestry authorities have long been aware of the dangers of the present situation.

One of the unfortunate aspects of the reforestation question is that the differences between conservationists and the lumber industry have engendered bitter public attacks. These have served to distract public attention from the main issue. Some of the mill owners are determined at all costs to fight efforts to extend government supervision over forest lands and timber cutting. It is only natural that they should view the entire problem with an eye to profits. Conditions in the lumber industry have been bad enough in numerous districts in recent years without the addition of fresh burdens. But over against the owners stand those who have no direct interest in forests other than to see that what remains of our forest heritage shall be preserved from further ruthless destruction. They point out that in Europe necessity has forced the development of a policy of cropping the forests instead of wiping them off at one sweep of the saw, as we have done here. Somewhere between these two views lies the practical remedy.

NEW JERSEY BILLBOARDS.

New Jersey is planning to spend $180,000,000 in the next five years upon highways. That State at last has been aroused to the billboard abomination. It not only disfigures the roadside by unsightly advertisements but actually shuts out scenery from the view of automobile users and pedestrians. New Jersey as a sort of corridor between New York and Pennsylvania suffers more from this abuse than any other State in the East. No one objects to tasteful and well-placed outdoor advertising in its proper place. But the countryside should be reserved for the health and pleasure of the millions who ride and walk. No one seeks the country to find out what is best to eat, drink, wear and take for the ills of the flesh, or what hotel to stop at. Yet innumerable billboards crowd upon motorists to spoil their excursions and holidays.

There are stretches of highway in New Jersey where billboards stand almost end to end for miles. The measure introduced at Trenton by a woman Representative, AGNES C. JONES of South Orange, requires that billboards be set back 200 feet from public roads outside city limits, that a tax of 5 cents per square foot of billboard be imposed annually, that outdoor advertisements be licensed by the Department of Taxation and Finance, and that no advertisement shall shut out traffic hazards or the approach to a railroad crossing.

There is nothing "drastic" about the Jones bill. It may be that it is only a beginning in regulation. Its object is to lessen the number of billboards and keep them back from the highways. There is no good reason why the licensing power should not prohibit undesirable forms of advertising.

"COSMIC DUST."

Professor NERNST of Germany asserts that it is "on the whole" true that sun and stars have been developed from "cosmic dust." Out of it the earth began to be built more than 1,600,000,000 years ago and the sun from 700,000,000 to 900,000,000 years earlier. Other suns were formed trillions of years before that, since, as he tells us, their light has had to travel that length of time to reach the earth. Beyond, even beyond our imagining, the cosmos stretches in time and space, and still beyond that into the time of cosmic dust, when things were "without form and void," as the Genesis account of the creation of the earth declares.

Whatever change in form the radioactive destructive and constructive energies may bring about, such a degree of balance will be maintained, this chemist adds, that even if all goes back to cosmic dust again the mother of all energy will bring forth new systems. He speaks of EINSTEIN'S formula, which gives this assurance, as sufficing to make him immortal, yet his own experiments have been devoted to destroying that culminating life of all creation which can alone give the sort of immortality to which he would entrust EINSTEIN'S reputation and memory.

Behind the initial cosmic dust and forward beyond the final cosmic dust, if ever it comes to rest in the permanency of perfect equilibrium, the mystery still dwells. No theory can resolve it, however far creation is pushed back or the last judgment postponed. The great Swedish astro-physicist ARRHENIUS imagined a universe in which spores of life drifting beyond the atmosphere of one star or planet and wandering in space finally entered as stardust immigrants the atmosphere of another and began a new order of life. The mind can comprehend this in theory, whether or not it happened in fact. But even if there was such wandering from star to star, how came the wanderer to make the first voyage—who created him, put into him that desire and sent him on his way? The mystery is not solved by spontaneous generation of life out of the cosmic dust. How came the dust to be, out of which the spores of life that grew to man were generated?

Quite within the bounds of what we know, the question arises from reading the report of Professor NERNST'S lecture on "The Balance of Energy in the Universe," how one with the consciousness of a billion of years of earth's planning and building and a million years of human life upon it can seek to disturb the balance by compounding poison gases to destroy the flower of all creation. For whatever purpose the cosmic dust was moved upon by the breath of the Creator, it cannot have been to doom man to such a destiny. Happily he is not in his spiritual experience subject to such determinism. Mystery encompasses the original cosmic dust and still dwells in the creature who rose from it and who now aspires to something which rigid mechanism cannot account for. There is, we must believe, something that was before this cosmic dust and that will survive when all comes back to cosmic dust again.

FAME FOR GHOST WRITERS.

Authors who sign their names to what they write did not accept into full fellowship those who wrote for another's signatures until the "ghost writers" became extremely numerous and important. Even then they did not see them quite on the same plane as themselves, for they took up their sad case from the point of view of professional ethics. The Authors' League held a meeting about two years ago to discuss the subject. Some of those present received a distinct impression that most of the people there who specialized in articles rather than fiction had been guilty of the practice. Since then the writers who "assist" celebrities by doing 99 per cent of the book or article bearing the famous name have come a little more into the open. The public was at one time completely credulous on the point. Now it seems unlikely that it believes in any of the noted athletes, singers or politicians who break out in print. The few honest ones are discredited along with the many who employ writers.

The ghost writer has now come out of his cabinet. The final accent to his release from anonymity is placed by FREDERIC F. VAN DE WATER in his confession in the March Scribner's. He has been a thorough and versatile ghost. The odor of "faintly reprehensible" morals still hangs over his profession, but it must soon disappear if many of his colleagues follow his example. He has performed the paradoxical feat of making a name as a ghost writer. Editors used to send for him when they wanted the stories of well-known persons, making their own comments on their rise, conditions in their own field and other matters on which they seemed qualified to speak. He succeeded so well that now the celebrities themselves seek his services. He has put authorship within the grasp of beauty specialists, Senators, pugilists, society women and Cabinet members. Some of them tried to alter an occasional phrase. A traveled Senator objected to "China is collapsing into the pit from which she was digged." He preferred "dug," and the ghost yielded, though he might himself have clung more closely to his source and substituted "whence" for "from which."

Mr. FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE, another confessed ghost, wrote in The Authors' League Bulletin that he regarded this kind of anonymous writing as immoral, for it both deceives the public and is harmful to the writer. Under such terms he can never achieve a reputation. It also has a detrimental effect on those who use the ghosts. They usually begin by calling it "our book," and conclude by calling it "my book" and believing that they really wrote it. The Authors' League wants the ghost to have a little line under the name of the celebrity—"by So-and-so, as told to The Ghost." Failing this, it was suggested by two of the nameless that the league should at least establish double rates of compensation for work done under another's name. That would be a more business-like if not a more moral method.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Banks With Two Billions.

To Wall Street, and perhaps to the public at large, the question of particular interest arising from the merger of the Guaranty Trust and the National Bank of Commerce was that their union would make the new institution's consolidated resources the largest of any American bank. The Guaranty alone reports $1,032,511,000, the Commerce $934,302,000. Each was exceeded by the National City Bank with its $1,847,705,000 and the Chase National Bank with its $1,430,308,000.

Wall Street, true to its habit of searching for the picturesque and dramatic in otherwise dry details of finance and banking, began at once to ask if further mergers would not necessarily be involved, through the determination of other banks to recover their previous relative position, particularly the City Bank. Much of the recent speculation in shares of banking institutions has been inspired by such ideas.

Impressive to the imagination as is the creation of what is practically a "two-billion dollar bank," and appropriate as it may appear to be in reflecting the dollar-measurement of recent American achievement in finance and industry, it nevertheless is true that, in magnitude of resources, the great London banks still overtop our own. Three of those joint-stock London banks have lately submitted annual balance sheets showing assets ranging in English values from the £836,063,000 of Barclays Bank to the £430,790,000 of Lloyds Bank and the £497,714,000 of the Midland Bank. The last-named is now the largest in the world.

It is true that these London institutions have more extensive power of establishing and acquiring branches than is possessed by American banks, but the consolidated assets exist nevertheless, and run in American values as high as $2,140,000,000 for a single institution. Considered as a race for financial prestige, it is possible that the wish of America to overmatch England might be as powerful a motive in further consolidations as the wish not to lose an old place in the American order of precedence.

Standing Upon Ceremony.

In the days when MARK TWAIN wrote of the adventures of a Yankee at the court of King ARTHUR, a proper knowledge of court etiquette was not expected of Americans. A bull in a china shop and a Yankee at the Round Table were kindred similes. The Yankee's heart might be in the right place, but his knives and forks seldom were. He went his rampaging, original way, regardless of broken rules or smashed conventions.

But we have changed all that. Americans—at least some of them—have developed a hearty respect for haloed tradition and lofty ceremonial. Even American women, once imperious, self-willed creatures, now meekly bow to European form and custom.

A recent example is that of an impetuous American, once of the stage, then the wife of a man of wealth, and now the free mistress of a French chateau. Her engagement to the scion of a noble Spanish family was lately announced. Consultations with the royal mother followed. The shadow of court etiquette fell upon the wedding preparations. Because of the death of the Queen Mother, no marriage of a member of Spanish royalty may fittingly take place for some time. Even to announce an engagement would be indelicate.

In this country such profound respect for Old World pomp and circumstance could only have been learned on the stage, where royal whims still are law.

"Secret Treaties" Produced on Demand.

It would seem that of the making of secret treaties there is no end — especially of the sinister variety conceived in hatred and dedicated to the proposition that the next war shall be bigger, better and busier than the last.

Europeans are divided as to the origin of the latest "binding alliance" between France and Belgium. Some say it was invented by Germans to affect the reparations settlement; others that it was designed to influence Americans. These reasons are as plausible as those usually attached to "secret" treaties.

Their publication in Europe appears to have an inevitable reaction. There is a flurry, followed by indignant denials from the foreign offices concerned, and by a few jingoist articles in the press of the nation against which the treaty is supposed to be directed. A few days later every one accepts it as a joke, and the matter is forgotten.

Manufacturers of these impostures ignore the fact that there are already registered with the Secretariat of the League of Nations so many treaties much more "biting" than those which they invent that the sinister product of their trouble-breeding brains seems like an anti-climax.

Was It Poetic Justice?

When ALFRED E. SMITH spoke during the 1928 campaign at Louisville, symbol of legendary hospitality, there were complaints by local auditors and by the Governor's traveling companions that the First Regiment Armory was unbearably hot. The charge was even made that the armory officials, Republicans, had turned on the heat. Some of the correspondents accepted the assertion as true because of what they considered a hostile attitude adopted toward them by the city's Republican policemen.

Now The Kentucky Irish-American, the steadfast organ of Democracy in those parts, records with glee the arrest of several armory officials for having liquor in their possession. Seventeen half-pints of liquor were found in desks, and although the officials denied all knowledge of the supply, they were held under bond by the United States Commissioner. Says the weekly referred to:

> Now that a whisky output has been discovered in this county building, maybe some of the custodians were soused that day and didn't know whether the heat was turned on or off, or the nature of the weather.

On the other hand, the Republican city administration could point out that since the raid was authorized by a Republican judge and carried out by Republican policemen the argument of deliberate political malice against SMITH is not sustained. Yet many of those who suffered from the amazing heat that day will see a form of retribution in the new difficulties of the armory staff.

Making the Loser Pay.

I note THE TIMES report of Judge Finch's speech before the Bar Association regarding a change in the laws which would make the loser in a suit pay counsel fees. I understand this is the English method and it is my opinion that it is the only really equitable basis.

CATCHING STRAY DOGS.

Homeless Animals Easier to Handle Than Former Pets.

I cannot agree with Merrill Hitchcock, executive secretary of the A. S. P. C. A., who in a recent letter to you asserts that the home dog, when lost, is easier to catch than the mongrel stray; that "his one thought is to appeal to some friendly human to help him find his master." In my experience of many years in rescuing dogs I have found that the home dog, when set adrift by accident and parted from everything he has known, is often such a prey to terror that he is suspicious of every one and very hard to catch. Here are two typical instances:

The other day a man telephoned the Ellin Prince Speyer Hospital for Animals that a fine Boston bull had been living for weeks, a vagrant, in Hanover Square, feeding on scraps and sleeping on an old coat this man put under some steps for him. Efforts to catch him only frightened him. Would we see what we could do? I went there with a woman friend and a dish of meat, but it took hours of patient coaxing before we could slip a leash over his head. And it has taken a great deal of petting at the hospital to make him realize that we are his friends.

A homeless chow, just caught in the woods on the V. Everit Macy estate at Scarboro, evaded capture for seven months. His appearance and the costly brass-studded harness he wore indicated that he had been a valued dog, but he would trust no one. Finally he was surprised and caught while snatching some food that a samaritan had put out for him. Now, a guest in Adoption Row at the Speyer Hospital, he shows every sign of gentle breeding, but it was days before the suspicion born of his hardships was overcome.

I find that the dog that has lived a homeless life always (I must protest Mr. Hitchcock's term, "mongrel stray," for many a home dog is a mongrel and is as loyal and intelligent as a thoroughbred) is often subdued in spirit and easy to catch. A sad problem he is when caught, for while the home dog may be restored to his owner, or, failing that, placed with some one who will love him, no one wants the poor canine derelict. And often he is filled with longing to be wanted.

Do not think me lacking in admiration for the A. S. P. C. A., whose good work I have long known. Their founder, Henry Bergh, helped me in my first dog rescue. Some fiend had covered this dog with a thick coat of green paint and turned it loose on Fifth Avenue. As I signaled for a coupé—then there were no taxis in those days—Mr. Bergh came along, and together we took the dog to the A. S. P. C. A. veterinarian, who put it out of its misery. Mr. Bergh's trousers, my petticoats and the interior of the coupé were all ruined with green paint.

The Late Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead.

The name of Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead, who died Feb. 22 in Santa Barbara, Cal., must awaken grateful echoes in the bosoms of the many artists who have been attracted to Woodstock in Ulster County, New York. Here it was that, some thirty years ago, this disciple of John Ruskin and William Morris inaugurated on the stony soil of the Catskills a social experiment that had been popular in England a decade or so earlier.

Mr. Whitehead acquired a large tract, maybe 10,000 acres, of wood and pasture, and at once commenced building picturesque homes for a prospective art colony. He started schools of pottery, wood carving, weaving, metal working, drawing, painting and dancing. His library he placed at the disposal of the students and also built for them an admirably equipped theatre and gymnasium.

Soon little Woodstock reacted to this generous impulse. Birge Harrison, America's foremost landscape artist, drew to Woodstock a large and enthusiastic following, and the farmers for miles around found their land rise in value as more and more artists made this favored valley their home.

Today Woodstock has probably 1,000 residents, as compared with a dozen or so when first known in 1900.

Mr. Whitehead was a modest and hard-working man; a man of generous ideals, a scholar of the Oxford and Cambridge type. It is to such noble pioneers that America owes the little bit of leaven that is eternally struggling to raise us above the level of mere money getters. God bless the memory of Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead as God has blessed the work he inaugurated.

A Meeting Place for Strangers.

THE TIMES quotes Bishop E. H. Hughes of Chicago as declaring from his pulpit that "the loneliest place in the United States is not on the Arizona desert, but on one of the busiest corners of New York or on the corner of Clark and Washington Streets, in Chicago."

In this connection, I wish to call attention to the International Club, which meets at 2 West Sixty-fourth Street on Sunday afternoons, from 3:30 to 6 o'clock, and is designed to attract strangers and give them an opportunity to make worth-while acquaintanceships. It is only necessary that visitors, who we hope will become members, are interested in the programs we give, which consists of lectures, musicales, forums on international questions, &c. One evening meeting a month, on the first Wednesday, is given over to sociability and dancing. A social hour, when tea is served, follows the afternoon program. A minimum fee is charged.

The club has been in existence almost eight years and Dr. Felix Adler, leader of the Society for Ethical Culture, was one of the founders.

SHADOW.

There is no slightest breath of wind
Now as night glooms. I draw the blind,
And on the shade's simplicity
The shadow of a leafless tree
Is sharply etched in black and white,
It seems so near that my hand could Reach out and touch the Winter wood,
The frozen hardness of it feel
Like unto blackened rounds of steel.
And yet I well know it to be—
As all—but shadow that I see,
Light intercepted in a course
Through space from its eternal source.

PRESBYTERIAN HEAD PREDICTS A REVIVAL

GUEST AT RECEPTION HERE

Moderator Has Just Finished a 20,000-Mile Visitation Tour of the Country.

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Kelso Walker of Los Angeles, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, said last evening at a reception in his honor in the parish house of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, that he believed his denomination was on the verge of a great revival of religion and that there was today a tendency toward a deeper spirituality, especially among the men. The reception was under the auspices of the Presbyterian Social Union of New York City. Dr. Walker was introduced by the Rev. Dr. Robert S. Donaldson, the new president of the union. A greeting from the Presbytery of New York was given by the Rev. Dr. Harlan G. Mendenhall, stated clerk of the Presbytery.

The Moderator, who is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Los Angeles, has just completed a 20,000-mile visitation of Presbyterianism.

"In spite of all the criticisms and the detractions that are going on concerning the churches in this country, the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America has a membership of over 2,000,000, making it the largest Presbyterian body in the world," said Dr. Walker. "When I was a boy it had perhaps 500,000 members.

"The Presbyterian Church gave last year to all causes $77,000,000, an average of $38.50 per member. A large proportion of that money has not been given to our boards. But I believe they will receive considerably increased contributions this year."

Dr. Walker said he had found an increase in the number of candidates for the ministry in the theological colleges.

"In the last eighty years our foreign missionary enterprise has grown from seventy-eight missionaries to more than 1,700," he went on. "Since 1848 the communicant members on the foreign field have grown from 131 to 227,000. Contributions have increased from $79,000 in 1848 to $5,000,000 last year. Since 1910 the contributions to all our boards have trebled.

"We have spent $40,000,000 in the last three years on beautiful new church buildings. We have thirty churches that have been built recently, each of which cost $1,000,000 or more.

"I believe there is today a very decided tendency toward a deeper spirituality, especially on the part of the men of our church. There are many evidences that we are on the verge of a great revival of religion. Our evangelistic work is being carried steadily forward. We received last year 16,000 more new members than we did the previous year. I predict that the number will be very much larger this year."

Dr. Walker was the guest of honor yesterday at the eleventh annual luncheon of the Princeton Seminary Alumni Association at the Princeton Club, 39 East Thirty-ninth Street.

ASKS NEW MARRIAGE RULES.

Prof. R. H. Johnson Presents Views to Eugenics Society Group.

A set of rules on marriage problems was presented yesterday by Professor Roswell H. Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh at the luncheon of the committee on cooperation with clergymen of the American Eugenics Society at the Town Hall Club.

He suggested eighteen years as the minimum age for marriage, avoidance of too long a delay thereafter and financial aid by well-to-do parents.

Professor Johnson urged the Church to revise its standards relative to eugenics on a biological basis. He praised the efforts of "atheistical Communists" of Russia in this direction. He has recently made a world tour studying the subject. He called upon the Church to "aid in the hard fight against the declining reproduction in superior groups."

Professor Ellsworth Huntington of Yale also spoke, and his brother, Henry S. Huntington of Scarsdale, chairman of the committee, announced the winners of a nation-wide sermon contest held last year. The Rev. William A. Matson of Livingston, Col., won first prize, and the Rev. R. Homer Gleason of Rochester, Minn., second prize.

FINDS FRATERNITY USEFUL.

Dr. W. H. S. Demarest Says System in Colleges Is Here to Stay.

The fraternity system in colleges and universities is here to stay, said Dr. William H. S. Demarest, president of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary and former president of Rutgers University, in an address before members of the New York Delta Upsilon Club at a luncheon yesterday at the Fraternity Clubs Building, 22 East Thirty-eighth Street. Dr. Demarest talked on "The Contribution of Fraternities to Universities."

Fraternities are not only a contribution to the student, but a contribution to the higher educational systems in maintaining social life, high ideals and in regulating discipline, he said.

His only criticism of fraternity life was on the "unquietness" of a chapter house, which he said makes it almost impossible for a student to meditate or enjoy a few hours of quiet reading. Another peril, he said, was the letting down of selectiveness in some fraternities in obtaining pledges.

PLAN VETERANS PREFERENCE

H.F.REMINGTON HEADS DRYS

State Anti-Saloon League Re-elects Davis as Superintendent.

Judge Harvey F. Remington of Rochester was elected president of the Anti-Saloon League of New York yesterday at the annual meeting of the league's board of trustees at 150 Fifth Avenue. Arthur Davis was re-elected State superintendent. A resolution was adopted pledging support for the Jenks State enforcement bills and announced the league's intention of "reaching the student life of the State" as well as the foreign-speaking population "with the presentation of the facts and arguments in favor of prohibition."

The paragraph on the Jenks bills held a warning for the Republican party in New York. It said:

"We declare especially to the Republican members of the Legislature our belief that their attitude toward these bills of Mr. Jenks will determine in no inconsiderable degree the immediate failure of their party in this State. The prohibition public will refuse longer to 'go along' politically with any policy of delay."

In another paragraph the resolution said, "We have read in the public press with great satisfaction that the executive mansion at Albany, since the first day of January, is dry and will so remain during the incumbency of its present occupants. We commend this practice of the Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt to all our citizens."

Marble Mover With Sure Balance Sense Dies; Never Broke a Statue in His 30-Year Career

Emmett Lawrence, mover of marble statuary, died Monday in the studio of George Gray Barnard, sculptor, at 700 Fort Washington Avenue, a victim of consumption. He was a negro, born 55 years ago in Georgia, with a peculiar sense of balance, which made him invaluable to most of the great sculptors of this generation.

"Emmett Lawrence's strange gift comes to perhaps one man in many thousands," Mr. Barnard said yesterday. "He obeyed the laws of gravity with uncanny instinct, toiled always with supreme patience, and was one of the finest characters I have ever known."

Lawrence devoted his life to the moving of famous statues. In the past thirty years he placed in most of the large cities of the East the works of MacMonnies, Daniel Chester French and Augustus Saint-Gaudens. The work was delicate, but never in his career did the marble mover break or mar a piece of statuary.

"He could judge by his eye, to the fraction of an inch if a statue weighing tons was off balance," Mr. Barnard said, "and no one had his genius for placing the wooden supports and other mechanical devices where they were needed."

About two years ago Lawrence became ill. He had exposed himself too often to driving rains, to finish his work. For six months he lived in Mr. Barnard's studio and then, his condition becoming worse, he went to a hospital. Six months ago the sculptor had him returned to the studio and befriended him until he died.

Lawrence leaves his wife and two children. The funeral will be held Thursday morning.

MARTIN AGUIRRE DEAD.

Last of the Old-Time Sheriffs of California.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP).—Martin Aguirre, 71 years old, last of the old-time sheriffs of California, who generally used a knife instead of a revolver to maintain order in the days when a "six shooter" and a quick draw were considered symbols of authority, died in his sleep yesterday in a dingy hotel room here.

"You see," he once explained, "if anything starts I don't know where bullets might go or whom they might hit, but I know where this knife is going."

Aguirre and his bowie were respected when Los Angeles was a sleepy adobe pueblo. Probably his most famous exploit was the single-handed rescue of nineteen persons during a flood of the Los Angeles River in 1886. He was near the river bank when the flood water came down with a rush, carrying houses with terror-stricken men, women and children huddled on the roofs. Aguirre plunged his horse into the surging debris-choked stream and carried nineteen persons to safety, one at a time.

Aguirre had been constable and deputy sheriff before the flood. Three years later Los Angeles County made him sheriff, a position he held for ten years. Afterward he was warden of the San Quentin prison until 1903 and since, had been deputy sheriff, jailer and court bailiff.

SAYS PAY WAS SLOW FOR LOCKE WORKERS

Ex-Executive Asserts Salesmen Often Complained of Trouble in Collecting Commissions.

DEFENSE ASKS A MISTRIAL

But Objection to Part of Testimony Falls—Witness Tells of Earning $9,000 on Stock Circulars.

Salesmen employed by Cameron, Michel & Co. to sell Canario Copper Company and other stocks frequently had difficulty in collecting their commissions, Columbus O. Steele, a former assistant sales manager, told Judge John C. Knox and a jury yesterday in Federal Court at the trial of John T. and Herbert C. Locke, George F. Shurtleff and their associates accused of using the mails to defraud. This difficulty in collecting commissions took place at a time when, the government alleges, the defendants were obtaining more than $5,000,000 by high-pressure sales methods applied to an elaborate "sucker list."

Steele told of his employment as a salesman and the circumstances which led to his becoming assistant sales manager, a position which he described as "a sort of an assistant to Herbert C. Locke, but without much authority." After detailing the enthusiastic reports regarding the stock and the mine's future prospects which he had received from Shurtleff and the Lockes, Steele testified that in November, 1924, he had had a discussion with Mr. Locke regarding the complaints of the salesmen over difficulties in collecting commissions.

Says Locke Was Perturbed.

"Herbert Locke was perturbed by the demands of the salesmen for their commissions," Steele said, "and I discussed it with him. I told him he was acting very foolishly, because these were the men who were bringing the money in to the company. Instead of flying into a sputtering rage, as he sometimes did, he cooled down."

This conference, Steele said, brought him the position "without much authority," as assistant to Mr. Locke.

"The only difference was," he added, "that I made a little less money than before and I was a little more abused."

Walter E. Godfrey, chief of defense counsel, rushed to the front of the court room with a demand that a juror be withdrawn and a mistrial declared when Steele started to tell of Locke's alleged efforts to avoid a salesman by leaving the room by a rear door when the man entered. The objection was based on the fact that the witness had not seen the incident and that none of the defendants had been present when the incident was reported to Steele. Judge Knox denied the motion.

Clarence M. Smith, who had been in charge of the incoming mail, told of a pamphlet the firm used over the facsimile signature of John Carter Anderson, the engineer, which set forth a glowing account of the mine's prospects. Anderson told him, Smith said, that he did not like the way the circular was prepared and the facts were presented. The circular was not prepared by Mr. Anderson, Smith said, but by one of the Lockes.

Walter Theodore Ott told of preparing circulars for use in the mail campaigns of 1926 and 1927 for which he received 2½ per cent commission on business brought in from his material. He said that in all he had earned between $8,000 and $9,000 in commissions.

LOTOS CLUB CONSIDERS CONSTITUTION CHANGES

Proposals Include Dues Payment by Army and Navy Men and Ban on More Life Members.

Proposed changes in the constitution of the Lotos Club, suggested in a pamphlet received by members of the club yesterday, would provide for an increase in the initiation fees of non-resident members, for the payment of dues by army and navy members, and for eliminating the further election of life members.

An amendment to the first article of the constitution would increase the classification of members in the club from three to four, adding "commissioned officers of the army and navy" as a class to the three present classes of resident, non-resident and life members. An amendment to another section of the same article would provide that members, excepting army and navy and life members, residing within a radius of fifty miles of City Hall, instead of thirty miles as at present, should be classed as resident.

Life members of the club, who are exempt from the payment of dues, would not be elected in the future, but all present life members would continue to enjoy this exemption and would have the "same rights and privileges as resident members." Resident members would continue to pay twice the dues of non-resident members, while army and navy members would pay dues of $50 yearly, with no initiation fee. The initiation fee for non-resident members would be increased by $25.

A standing clause in the constitution provides that an artist may contribute, in lieu of an initiation fee, some work of art "passed upon by the art committee and accepted by the directory," while a proposed amendment would allow the dues of such artist to be remitted by the directory.

WINS HER CUSTOMS CASE.

Divorced Wife of J. P. Knapp Upheld in Foreign Residence Claim.

Claims to foreign residence, made by Mrs. Sylvia T. Knapp, formerly of New York, in contesting the payment of duties on personal effects brought here from France on a visit in 1925 are sustained by the United States Customs in a decision made public yesterday. Mrs. Knapp, who was divorced from Joseph Palmer Knapp in 1904, brought her protest in 1925 through William H. (Big Bill) Edwards, former Collector of Internal Revenue.

Mrs. Knapp said she was a citizen of the United States but maintained her residence in France. Her trip here, she said, was to visit her daughter, Mrs. Claire Knapp Penny, of St. John's Island, S. C., and Joseph Fairchild Knapp of Mastick, L. I.

Customs attorneys said yesterday the case would have no effect on the decision in a similar protest by Mme. Ganna Walska, since the singer was not legally separated from her husband.

FUSION GROUP URGES CITY CONVENTIONS

NO TALK OF CANDIDATES

MEASURE WILL BE PUSHED

Chadbourne Asserts That Only One of Old Independent Body Has Favored Retaining Primaries.

Eighteen members of the Fusion Committee of 107, which nominated and elected the late John Purroy Mitchel for Mayor in 1913, met yesterday at luncheon at the Down Town Club and decided to support the bill to restore the city convention as a method of promoting fusion for the city election next Fall. A committee will be appointed to urge the passage of the bill, which has been introduced in the Legislature by Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter and Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat.

According to William M. Chadbourne, host and sponsor of the luncheon, candidacies were not discussed and no plans for an anti-Tammany fusion movement, other than support of the city convention bill, were even suggested. Mr. Chadbourne said that all the discussion at the meeting centred on the bill as a method not only of promoting fusion but of bringing about the nomination of better candidates for city office by both major political parties.

Many Favor Smith for Mayor.

Many Democrats and independents who were on the Committee of 107 favor the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for Mayor on the Democratic ticket. Joseph M. Price, who declined to attend the luncheon, but who wrote Mr. Chadbourne that he was for the city convention bill, already has declared for Mr. Smith's nomination. Mr. Chadbourne said he knew other members of the committee who hoped to have Mr. Smith made the Democratic nominee. He added that he believed Mr. Smith's nomination might be brought about much more easily at a city convention than by direct primary.

Norman Hapgood, Frank L. Babbott, John Davis, William A. Cokeley, Marcus M. Marks, Olin J. Stephens, James M. Gray, George W. Felter, Frederic R. Coudert, Audley Clarke, Timothy Healy, Joseph M. Levine, William H. Williams, A. H. Eastmond, Richard W. Lawrence, Charles L. Bernheimer and Henry de Forest Baldwin.

Mr. Hapgood, who with Dr. Henry Moskowitz wrote a recent official biography of Mr. Smith, is an independent. Mr. Marks, former Borough President of Manhattan, Mr. Bernheimer and Mr. Baldwin, Republicans, and Mr. Coudert, independent Democrat, participated actively in the first Mitchel campaign.

Mr. Lawrence is president of the National Republican Club and formerly was chairman of the Bronx County Republican Committee. Mr. Cokeley, a Democrat, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for President of the Board of Aldermen on the Hylan ticket in 1925. Mr. Davis, a Democrat; Mr. Stephens, an independent, and Mr. Levine, a Republican, also are from the Bronx. Messrs. Babbott, Gray, Felter, Clarke and Eastmond are from Brooklyn. Mr. Healy, a Republican, is a Manhattan labor leader. Mr. Williams is a Democrat from Queens.

Sixty-four Invited to Luncheon.

"Of the original Fusion Committee of 107, 64 were found and invited to the luncheon," Mr. Chadbourne said. "Some, like Colonel Henry L. Stimson, were out of the country. Responses were received from almost every one invited. Only one of the committee heard from favored the present system of making nominations."

Those at the luncheon adopted the following resolution:

We believe that the restoration of conventions for the nomination of city, borough and county officers in New York City will improve the character of nominees for such offices of all parties. Accordingly, we urge upon the Legislature and the Governor the enactment of appropriate legislation to this end.

Mr. Chadbourne said that the committee to work for the passage of the bill would be appointed after consultation with other members of the Committee of 107.

So far as could be learned, the measure has not obtained the support of the local Republican organizations or of State Chairman H. Edmund Machold, without which there would be little chance of it passing the Legislature.

MRS. QUINN JOINS CONCERN.

Former Horsewoman Takes Over Paris Office of Apparel House.

Mrs. Mildred Bedell Quinn, who obtained a divorce from Edward V. Quinn in Paris six months ago, has disposed of her string of horses in this country and entered upon a business career, it was learned yesterday.

She has been placed in charge of the Paris office of Bedell & Co., 19 West Thirty-fourth Street, and will make four trips to New York each year at the opening of the various style seasons.

Mrs. Quinn arrived last night on the Aquitania, bringing her first collection of styles, consisting of 100 latest Parisian models, and after making her début as a lecturer on styles in New York early in March, she will tour the principal cities of the country with her display.

She is the daughter of Alfred M. Bedell of Mayfair House, 610 Park Avenue. Mrs. Quinn has been active at horse shows for some time and was the owner of Powder Puff. She married Edward V. Quinn on Sept. 10, 1924.

Engineers to See New Device By Which Light Makes Music

John B. Taylor, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, will demonstrate a new laboratory experiment, which makes sound visible and light audible, at the dinner of the American Institute of Science at the Hotel Astor tomorrow night.

A light beam moves about the room, causing music when it hits a mirror target, according to the announcement. When the light leaves the target or when it is intercepted the music stops. Mr. Taylor calls it "narrowcasting" to distinguish it from broadcasting.

The equipment is a photophone, utilizing the perfected photoelectric tube, electric pick-up and newly developed amplifiers and sound reproducers.

MEET AGAIN TOMORROW

State and City Heads Compare Proposal With Program Devised by Berry.

Ultimate endorsement by the Board of Estimate of the transit unification plan prepared by Samuel Untermyer, special counsel for the Transit Commission, was foreseen yesterday following a conference at City Hall among members of the board, the Transit Commission and the Board of Transportation. The impending decision of the United States Supreme Court in the I. R. T. seven-cent fare case and the fact that adoption of the Berry plan, the only alternative, would mean a long delay and the discarding of negotiations that have been in progress for two years between the city and the B. M. T. were seen as vital factors in the situation.

Another Conference Tomorrow.

According to Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee, who presided at the conference, the Untermyer plan was taken up "line by line" with a view to correlating it with the Untermyer bill for a board of rapid transit control, now pending in Albany. Others at the conference were Controller Berry, Chairman John H. Delaney and Francis X. Sullivan of the Board of Transportation and Transit Commissioners William G. Fullen and Leon G. Godley. Another conference will be held tomorrow afternoon. Mayor Walker will preside at other meetings to follow.

At subsequent conferences the Berry plan will be taken up. Unlike the Untermyer plan, it provides for inclusion of buses and surface car lines in a unification scheme. It also provides for abolition of the Transit Commission and Board of Transportation and the creation of a transit authority, which would direct the unification program.

Discarding of the Berry plan was forecast last month, when city and State transit officials held two long conferences with representatives of the B. M. T. At that time the conferees received summaries of the two plans. The summaries, prepared by representatives of the B. M. T. and the Transit Commission, contained only two paragraphs which could be construed as recommendations. Both indicated that the Berry plan lacked favor, because its adoption would set at naught the two years of negotiation on unification.

Political Expediency a Factor.

The pending Untermyer bill for a board of rapid transit control, if enacted, will permit the use of the Untermyer unification plan as thus far developed as the basis for a complete consolidation. The essentials of the Berry plan, except for the establishment of a transit authority, could also be worked out under the pending bill, it was said yesterday, but less satisfactorily.

The impending fare decision, the possibility that a higher fare opinion might force the city to exercise its right of subway recapture, and the growing pressure of political expediency were seen yesterday as factors which could be counted on to cause the Board of Estimate subcommittee to report favorably on the Untermyer plan.

APOLOGIZES TO COURT.

Leebove, Lawyer, Locked Up in Row, Makes Amends to Magistrate.

Isaiah Leebove, the lawyer who was detained last Friday for an hour and a quarter in the prisoners' pen of the Tombs Court by order of Magistrate Hyman Bushel when he engaged in a controversy with the court at the arraignment of his client, Dapper Don Collins, the confidence man, publicly apologized to the magistrate yesterday.

Magistrate Bushel was hearing a case in Tombs Court when Leebove, accompanied by his lawyer, James D. C. Murray, walked in and asked to be heard. He explained that in his zeal in behalf of Collins, who is being held for the alleged swindling of Joseph Webber of Egg Harbor out of $30,000 in Paterson, he "went too far" in opposing the magistrate's decision to hold his client without bail for a month.

"Anything I said at the hearing, either directly or by innuendo," said Leebove yesterday, "I wish the court to understand was not meant personally. Many statements attributed to me in connection with the incident were directed to the men who manhandled me, and not to the court. I want to assure the court I had no intention to offend."

Magistrate Bushel's reply to the lawyer was, "I accept your apology. I think it is a manly thing to do. In your zealousness, you did lose your head."

Brazil's Liberal Chief 90 Years Old.

He is still an active leader of the party opposing the Conservative government now represented by the administration of President Washington Luis.

HISTORIC CHURCHES CONSIDER MERGER

MEETING SET FOR MARCH 6

New Proposal Seen as Cause of Delay on Union of Pilgrims With First Presbyterian.

A plan whereby the Plymouth Congregational Church, Orange and Hicks Streets, Brooklyn, would merge with the Congregational Church of the Pilgrims, Henry and Remsen Streets, Brooklyn, has been submitted by the board of trustees of Plymouth Church for the consideration of the special committee composed of three deacons, three trustees and three members of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Pilgrims, which will meet on March 6, according to J. Morton Halstead, chairman of the board of trustees of the Church of the Pilgrims.

Such a union, it is understood, would end the old "near-split" between the two churches which was occasioned by the expressed belief of the Rev. Dr. Richard Salter Storrs, pastor for fifty years of the Church of the Pilgrims, in the guilt of Henry Ward Beecher during the famous trial which lasted for 111 days, when Theodore Tilton sued Beecher for $100,000.

The tentative plan for the merger, it was said yesterday, was in the possession of the board of trustees of the Church of the Pilgrims at the time of the meeting in the church on Feb. 6 of the trustees and of the church society to determine whether it would merge with the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn Heights, of which the Rev. Dr. Morgan Phelps Noyes is pastor. This letter was read at the meeting, but was not entered in the minutes because, according to Mr. Halstead, it was irrelevant business. It was subsequently not mentioned to reporters, who were barred from the meeting.

It is believed that this offer of the Plymouth Church is, more than any other factor, responsible for delaying the plans to "associate" with the First Presbyterian. Such reasons as "sentimental attachments" formed by members of the Church of the Pilgrims for their old religious home and a "more careful consideration of certain provisions in the proposed merger plans" were given on Feb. 6 after the meeting in the Church of the Pilgrims, but the Plymouth proposal is now seen as having been the chief deterrent factor.

Mr. Halstead said yesterday that the "association" plans with the First Presbyterian were not yet dropped, but that the committee would decide on March 6 whether the Church of the Pilgrims would unite with the former church or consider the Plymouth plan.

The Rev. Dr. Stanley Durkee, pastor of Plymouth Church, admitted yesterday that his church had submitted such a proposal to the older church, but refused to disclose any of the details involved in that plan.

It is understood that the plan provides that a statue of Dr. Storrs be placed in the garden of Plymouth Church alongside that of Henry Ward Beecher.

The Church of the Pilgrims, organized in 1844, was the first Congregational Church to be organized in what is now New York City, and throughout its history has been regarded as the "mother church" of Congregationalism in and about the city. Plymouth Church was organized three years later, and while it is mostly famous because of the reputation that Henry Ward Beecher brought it, it has enjoyed the leadership of other well-known pastors, including Lyman Abbott and the late Newell Dwight Hillis.

Theodore Tilton, whose wife, Elizabeth, confessed to him her relations with Henry Ward Beecher, brought suit against his former friend for $100,000. Although the jury disagreed, the trial was considered to have been the beginning of Beecher's public decline. He was determined to carry on as if nothing had happened, but Tilton, soon afterward, left for Paris, where he continued to reside for many years.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 26.—Gerhard Peter Van Arkel of Haddonfield, N. J., a senior at Princeton University, won the $125 prize for Princeton in THE NEW YORK TIMES Current Events Contest, it was announced here this evening by the faculty committee which judged the papers. Second prize of $50 was awarded to Richard Holzman Demuth, a sophomore, of New York, and winners of five third prizes of $15 each were also announced.

Unusual interest was reported here this year in the competition, which is annually conducted by THE NEW YORK TIMES in the colleges of the country, due largely to the fact that Princeton students have won the intercollegiate contest for the past two years.

The winners of the third prizes are: John Joseph Howley of Jersey City, Datus Clifford Smith of Pasadena, Cal.; Donald Leo Newborg of New York, William Cattell Trimble of Baltimore, Md., and Paul Ezekiel Paddock of Minneapolis, Minn.

The faculty committee in charge of the competition here is composed of Professors Robert G. Albion and Sheldon J. Howe, both of the history department, chairmen; Professors V. Lansing Collins, secretary of the university, Henry Robinson Shipman of the history department, John Dickinson of the politics department and James Douglas Brown of the economics department.

FIFTH TORY MEMBER DIES.

A. E. Jacob Is Added to Month's Parliamentary Death Role.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Yet another Conservative Member of Parliament, A. E. Jacob, Member for East Toxteth, who lived in Liverpool, died today. He is the fifth Conservative member to die this month and brings the Parliamentary death roll to twenty-eight since the present House of Lords was elected in 1924.

Five by-elections consequently are now pending—in Holland, Lincolnshire, North Lanarkshire, Bath Eddisbury and East Toxteth. Henry Mond, son of Lord Melchett, has been invited to succeed Mr. Jacob, who recently announced he would retire at the end of this Parliament on account of ill-health.

Equitable Drops Bus Merger Deal With B. M. T.; Also Cancels Its Plea to Amend Franchise

In a sudden move that surprised transit advisors, the Equitable Coach Company yesterday withdrew its proposed contract with the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, under which it would have assigned its Brooklyn and Queens bus routes to the B. M. T.

The company also filed with the Board of Estimate late yesterday afternoon notice of the withdrawal of its application to amend its franchise. The amendments would have permitted not only the assignment of the Brooklyn and Queens routes to the B. M. T., but also the assignment of its Manhattan routes to the Manhattan Equitable Coach Company, a subsidiary of the Equitable.

The withdrawal of the petition throws the situation back to the status it held in 1927, when the bus company got its franchise, according to transit advisors last night.

The move came as the city officials were awaiting Comtroller Berry's report which was to have been made after a three weeks' investigation into the financial arrangements between the Equitable and the B. M. T.

In the agreement the B. M. T. had undertaken to pay the Equitable $600,000 for promoting the franchise.

Among the items for which the Equitable would have been paid by the B.-M. T. was one of $500,000 which supposedly represented $125,000 paid for services of the J. G. White Management Corporation, and $375,000 as damages for the cancellation of a three-year contract that was unexpired.

Whether the Controller will give his report despite the action of withdrawal by the Equitable could not be learned last night.

The taxpayers' suit brought in Supreme Court by Jason Meth, seeking to restrain the Equitable and the Board of Estimate from taking further action on the Equitable's application to amend its bus franchise, came up yesterday before Justice Sherman. At the same time he heard a joint motion by the city and the Equitable to dismiss the suit for failure to state a cause of action. Justice Sherman reserved decision and ordered briefs filed by Friday.

$498,737 TAX FRAUD LAID TO J. J. DUNNE

Alleged Beer Manufacturer Is Indicted for Failure to Pay Levy on Income for 3 Years.

RETURNS SHOWED LOSSES

But Government Says Ex-Plasterer Took In $1,807,868 During 1924, 1925 and 1926.

An indictment charging that John J. Dunne of West New York, N. J., one of the defendants two years ago in the Manor Brewery seizure at West New Brighton, S. I., owes the government $498,737.11 in income taxes was handed up to Federal Judge Bryant in Brooklyn yesterday.

Dunne sailed for Havana last Saturday on the Cunard liner Caronia, it was disclosed last night by his secretary, P. J. Carroll of West New York. Dunne was a plasterer ten years ago but he has been classed recently as a millionaire with a hobby of lighting cigars with $100 notes. He is a motorboat and horse racing enthusiast.

Three Years' Taxes Involved.

The government accuses Dunne of failing to make complete income tax returns for 1924 and 1925 and of not filing any return for 1926. It is expected that Dunne will appear for pleading next Monday.

The indictment sets forth that for 1924 Dunne filed a return showing an income of $15,000 as president of the Penn State Products Company but alleged he suffered business losses of $39,000, leaving a net loss of $24,000 for the year. The government contends his income that year was $454,676.80 and that he should have paid a tax of $179,139.56.

For 1925, the indictment continues, Dunne filed a return showing an income of $50,000 as president of the same company, but asserting that he suffered losses of $28,000, leaving a net income of $22,000, on which he paid a tax of $750. It is charged his actual income for that year was $382,223.59 and that he owes a tax of $85,826.76. The government also charges that although Dunne filed no income tax return for 1926 his income that year was $970,968.14, on which the government demands a tax of $233,770.79.

In January, 1927, six months after the Manor Brewery was seized by prohibition authorities, Dunne was indicted with others associated with him in the operation of the brewery. After a long legal battle Dunne pleaded guilty of possessing liquor and paid a fine of $500. Eleven of his associates were fined a total of $1,200.

Income Said to Be From Beer.

Assistant United States Attorney Wilkinson said yesterday he could not give out many details of the government's case but charged that Dunne's income came from beer. He added that Hugh McQuillan of the intelligence unit of the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue had gathered the government's evidence against Dunne. Mr. Wilkinson said he had evidence to show that the Penn State Products Company was a fictitious concern.

Carroll said he probably would not know where to reach Dunne until this morning, when he expects a cablegram from Havana.

Dunne is reported to be worth $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. Several years ago, he purchased the former home of Lotta Crabtree at Lake Hopatcong, which he refurnished. He owns a string of race horses.

$35,000 Fire Sweeps Loft Building.

Three alarms were sounded yesterday for a fire which swept through the six-story loft building at 862 Madison Street, causing damage estimated at more than $35,000. The fire was discovered by two schoolgirls living in the adjoining tenement at 860 Madison Street. Nettie Willig, 15 years old, was carried from the tenement by firemen, but all other tenants got out unassisted.

LINDBERGH RETURNS TO MEXICO CITY

WILL FLY WITH FIANCEE

Will Probably Remain in Mexico for a Few Days—Wedding Rumors Quieted.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh returned to Mexico City from Cuernavaca this afternoon, driving an automobile and accompanied by Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, his fiancée, and her sister, Elizabeth Morrow. It was gathered from embassy circles that he is not likely to leave Mexico, at any rate, for a few days.

The aviator's presence here has quieted insistent rumors that he would be secretly married at the Ambassador's country residence and has removed some tension regarding the real program of a man who has always had world news "by hair," because of his habit of doing the unexpected.

In usually reliably informed circles the opinion is that he will remain in Mexico City for some days before flying north again. In view of the authentic announcements of the last twenty-four hours, the belief is that Colonel Lindbergh will not marry Miss Morrow on this trip, but will return alone to the United States and that announcement of the time and place of the marriage will be made some time after his departure.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—During his stay here Colonel Lindbergh plans to take his fiancée, who is almost as enthusiastic about flying as he is, for a flight over the city as he did during his last visit to Mexico.

The aviator and Miss Morrow are called "Carlos" and "Anita" in an editorial in Excelsior de la Tarde, which says that their courtship here has given to the world another picture of Mexico than that supplied by the bandits, politics and bloodshed so often called to its attention. It shows, the newspaper says, that "Carlos" believes that he can visit Mexico without danger to his life.

AGREE ON REDISTRICTING.

City Republican Leaders Approve the Map Tentatively Drawn.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 26.—The Republican leaders of Queens, the Bronx and Richmond, in conference with the Republican legislative chiefs today, gave their approval to the tentative reapportionment map which is to be incorporated in a bill presented to the Legislature within two weeks and rushed to passage before the session ends.

Jacob H. Livingston, Kings County leader, is reported to have already approved plans for redistricting Brooklyn to enlarge its legislative representation, and only the final outline of the Manhattan reapportionment is said to be necessary to complete the new metropolitan map.

The redistricting of Manhattan, however, which stands to lose two Senators and four Assemblyman on account of loss in population and the growth of the adjacent boroughs, presents the most controversial problem. It was indicated, however, by the Republicans that they had obtained assurances of Democratic acquiescence in most of the proposed changes.

$7,885 Pledged to Clinic.

A total of $7,885 in pledges to meet the operating deficit of the Birth Control and Clinical Research Bureau at 46 West Fifteenth Street for the coming year was raised last night at a dinner at the Hotel Plaza. About 250 attended the dinner. Margaret Sanger told of the work of the bureau in helping poor and sick mothers and of its needs.

CHICAGO BALLOTS WITHOUT A SHOT

33 Aldermen Are Elected and There Is No Call for an Ambulance.

CROWE-THOMPSON VICTORY

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Chicago's election of Aldermen, in which the reform element was arrayed against the Crowe-Thompson forces, was held today without a bombing, shooting, kidnapping, or, as yet reported, even a ballot-box theft. Returns indicated the defeat of six sitting members of the present Council, four of them Thompson candidates. Thirty-three sitting Aldermen were elected outright. Nine were sent to the run-off election set for April 2. Mayor Thompson, as a result, retains his control of the Council by a large majority.

Outstanding among the Thompson successes was the indicated re-election of Alderman Oscar F. Nelson, the Mayor's Council floor leader and candidate in the Mayor's home ward. The opposition scored, according to early returns, with the defeat of at least four candidates in the fifteen wards where the Mayor's supporters faced contests.

Alderman Leonard J. Grossman of the Fifth Ward, a former Democrat, who turned Republican two years ago and became one of Mayor Thompson's floor leaders, was beaten by former Alderman Charles Scribner Eaton, and Alderman Titus A. Haffa was defeated in the Forty-third by former Alderman Arthur Albert, who was ousted by the Council two years ago and his seat given to Haffa on a contested election. Haffa was recently sentenced to Leavenworth and to pay a fine of $11,000 for bootlegging, and is out on $25,000 bail pending appeal.

In the "Bloody" Twentieth the Eller gang succeeded in defeating Alderman A. J. Prignano. Morris Eller, City Collector and member of the Mayor's Cabinet, backed State Representative William V. Pacelli, who was recently discharged as ward superintendent for "being on too many payrolls."

The chief excitement in the Eller ward was caused by the arrest of George Boscoe, an election judge, who is wanted for murder.

The police and the State's Attorney's office, the County Judge and the Election Board had made unusual preparations. Word was sent out to "treat the hoodlums rough" if they attempted anything untoward at the polling places.

In the Fourth Ward the battle was a furious one. Alderman E. A. Cronson, nephew of Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson and a Thompson floor leader, won by a majority of 319 over all other candidates. Cronson had the backing of the Harding-Passmore-Krutkoff combination, while Alexander Kieferstein was supported by the Municipal Voters' League, Julius Rosenwald and the Deneen forces.

County Judge Jarecki and Police Chief Russel were jubilant tonight when the ballot boxes were delivered to the City Hall without a major crime. They agreed that it was an election almost unique in the city's modern history.

The political underworld has been intimidated. Judge Jarecki commented in analyzing the situation.

COLD CHECKS FLOODS MENACING OHIO TOWNS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 26 (AP).—Cold weather tonight was expected to check the rising of rain-swelled rivers and streams that flooded several sections of the State today, driving thousands of people from their homes, imperiling the lives of many persons and causing considerable damage.

Scores of persons were rescued from precarious places, where the flood had driven them, but no loss of life was reported. The thawing streams, augmented by rainfall and melting snow, overflowed their banks and sent their waters pouring into a dozen cities and towns. Highways were flooded clear across the southern section of the State.

Springfield was hardest hit. The waters of Buck Creek and Mad River crippled almost all that city's industries, flooded the business section, paralyzed traction and railroad service, menaced the water supply and left the town with intermittent light. The city returned to normal slowly tonight after a day in which almost all business was suspended and all but one of the town's schools were closed.

Hundreds of persons living in the Buck Creek valley were rescued by city rowboats after they attracted attention by shooting guns and ringing bells.

Twelve persons who had gone to an island at the mouth of Rocky River near Cleveland to gaze at an ice jam were placed in grave danger when the jam suddenly broke as preparations were being made to dynamite it. The rushing water crushed against the island and threatened to destroy a dance hall, where the twelve persons took refuge but suddenly receded and made the rescue of the marooned group possible.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Lieut. Commander Paris who made an unsuccessful attempt last year to fly across the Atlantic with a hydroplane, plans to start this week on a flight to South America along the regular French mail route.

The first hop will be from Berre, near Marseilles, to Keynitra, and thence to Saint Louis, then by way of the Cape Verde Islands to Fernando Noronha, Natal, Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. At Saint Louis the hydroplane will receive a cargo of mail.

Lieutenant Paris will not attempt to break any record on his flight. The object of the trip is to test the hydroplane over the 2,000 miles of ocean between the African and the American continents.

The flier will be accompanied by a mechanic, Marrot, and a radio telegraph operator, Cadou.

Will Rogers Discusses Troubles of Cabinet Making

To the Editor of The New York Times:

No wonder Hoover can't get a Cabinet. Big man won't take it, for they won't take a chance on a Senate insult. If he has ever earned more than a Senator, he is in league with big business. If he ever drove a Standard Oil truck, or was a bookkeeper in a Morgan bank, he is in league with monopolies. If he is independently rich, he is in league with the devil.

But if he has never done anything, and been a financial failure at that, he will pass the Senate as a brother, and every time Hoover finds a man of that type he is a Democrat. And that's another stanch rule. You can't use even an able man from the other party. That would revert to democracy, and not politics. Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

SILLOWAY SHIFTED FOR CHICAGO CHARGE

Doran Transfers Dry Deputy Who Asserted Police Had Part in Moran Massacre.

ARREST OF 17 ORDERED

Police Will Hold Them for Examination, Though None Are Named as Slayers.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—As a result of his statement that there was evidence that Chicago police played a part in the massacre of seven Moran gangsters two weeks ago, Fred D. Silloway, Deputy Prohibition Administrator, was transferred to the East today by James M. Doran, Prohibition Commissioner.

While reluctant to say that the nature of the deputy's charges caused his removal, Commissioner Doran admitted that he considered that Silloway's usefulness in Chicago would not be as great as in some other city. He said he considered the latter a good official and desired to keep him in the service.

Commissioner Doran also made it clear that he was transferring Silloway so that there would be no obstacle to close cooperation between the Chicago police and the prohibition department. He praised the work now being done by Police Commissioner William F. Russell.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP).—Seventeen men, most of them allied with one or another of Chicago's gang factions, were sought tonight for questioning in connection with the slaying ten days ago of seven members of the Moran gang in a north side garage.

The police order for their arrest on sight was not specific as to their possible connection with the wholesale slayings.

None was in custody tonight, possibly because the list was handed to the newspapers about the time it was handed to the police.

The polls at today's aldermanic election were watched for the appearance of some of the men on the police theory that those with political alliances might do some campaigning, but none appeared even to vote.

Among those sought were men identified with almost all of the larger Chicago gangs, including Jack McGugn, lieutenant of "Scarface Al" Capone; some of the members of the gang that was almost wiped out in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, and members of the Aiello brothers' gang, a north side ally of the Moran gang.

DEATH TOLL PUT AT 28 IN SOUTHERN STORMS

$500,000 Damage Done by Winds in Mississippi, Texas and Arkansas—Relief in Progress.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 26 (AP).—Search of the ruins of Duncan, Miss., today revealed the bodies of additional victims of yesterday's tornado and increased the storm toll in the States of Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas to twenty-eight.

An official check of the dead at Duncan listed three white persons, four Chinese and ten negroes. Two negroes were killed on a plantation near Marks and three on another plantation near Jonestown, Miss. Arkansas had two deaths near Dewitt and four persons were victims of a tornado in Texas.

Duncan was a scene of desolation today. The greater part of the business section lay in ruins and the stores that remained standing bore deep scars of the wind's fury. Many homes were leveled.

Officials estimated the damage to Duncan at $250,000 and the damage in Texas at another $250,000.

A. W. Shands of Cleveland, Miss., Red Cross chairman for Bolivar County, was authorized by national headquarters today to appeal for relief funds, and a campaign will start tomorrow in New Orleans, Memphis and Jackson. About 250 homeless persons received food today at a Red Cross service canteen.

Senate Continues Vare Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Senate without a record vote today approved the resolution of Senator Norris to extend the life of the special Vare campaign fund investigating committee into the next Congress. Mr. Norris added that he would not now press his other resolution to deny a seat to Senator-elect Vare, who, he said, was "a very ill man."

Guatemalan Volcano Again Active.

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Feb. 26 (AP).—After several days of calm, the volcano Santa Maria has resumed activity, throwing great quantities of ashes over towns along the Pacific Coast and creating an atmosphere of darkness by obscuring the sun. In the same region there have been strong earthquakes. No casualties or property damage have been reported.

CONFESSIONS BACK CHARGES BY HARVEY

BRIEGER BUSY ON SUMMARY

HIGHWAY INQUIRY GOES ON

Investigator Checks Records—Higgins Will Resume Work in Day or Two, Harvey Says.

Signed confessions from fifteen employes that on orders of their superiors they illegally disposed of supplies and gasoline were said yesterday to be included in the evidence to be presented tomorrow to District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe by Borough President George U. Harvey and Superintendent of Streets Fritz Brieger to substantiate their charges of alleged graft in the Street Cleaning Department in Queens.

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Brieger conferred yesterday afternoon on the summary of the report covering the six weeks' investigation of alleged graft which is to be given to Mr. Newcombe. They said the data in more coordinated form would be ready for the prosecutor so that he could go ahead with his investigation and at the same time have enough evidence to warrant asking for a special grand jury.

Brieger Denies Hiring Lawyer.

"While we have absolute proof," Mr. Brieger said, "that supplies amounting only to about $10,000 have been stolen, we know that an investigation by the District Attorney or the grand jury will disclose that many thousands of dollars' worth of supplies have been misappropriated. If the investigation into previous administrations in the borough extends back far enough it will be found that the misappropriation of supplies will total $1,000,000 or more."

Mr. Brieger denied the report he had engaged a lawyer at his personal expense to draft the summary for Mr. Newcombe. He said he was doing the work himself and planned to give to Mr. Newcombe in condensed form "the crime, place, time, by whom committed and names of those making corroborating affidavits."

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Brieger said their investigation of the Street Cleaning Department had been completed. They declared that any further inquiry of the department must be by the prosecutor or by the grand jury.

Highways Inquiry to Go On.

Mr. Harvey said the inquiry into alleged irregularities in the Bureau of Highways in Queens by Commissioner of Accounts James N. Higgins would be resumed in a day or two. He said in the meantime, however, an investigator working under the direction of Superintendent Irving Klein was checking the records in the Bureau of Highways.

At the office of District Attorney Newcombe it was said yesterday that he had no comment to make on the graft charges. Mr. Newcombe was quoted as saying he would make no statement until after he had again talked with Mr. Harvey and Mr. Brieger tomorrow and had looked over the evidence.

DENOUNCES SHOOTING OF YOUTH BY DETECTIVE

Magistrate Clears Victim of Police Bullet—Whalen Said to Plan an Inquiry.

In a special court session convened at his bedside in the Kings County Hospital by Magistrate Marvin of Jamaica yesterday afternoon, Harry Lagowitz, the 17-year-old youth who was shot in the hip by a detective early Monday morning in Woodhaven, Queens, was cleared of a charge of attempted burglary.

While Magistrate Marvin was denouncing the shooting as "unnecessary," David Gold of 89-04 Jerome Avenue, Woodhaven, the youth's uncle, was in conference at Police Headquarters with Commissioner Whalen. The commissioner is said to have promised Gold that a thorough investigation into the shooting would be made.

Although it was reported that Lagowitz might be paralyzed for life as a result of the bullet wound, this was denied last night by physicians at the hospital. The wound is healing nicely, it was said, and Lagowitz soon will be able to leave the hospital.

In testifying yesterday at the trial Detective Robert Wood, who shot Lagowitz, told Magistrate Marvin that he and Detective Morlock of the Richmond Hill Station were riding in a police automobile through Jerome Avenue on the lookout for three men who had just robbed a store when they saw a youth loitering in the doorway of 9,104 Jerome Avenue. That is the residence of Mrs. Florence Heller, Lagowitz's aunt.

Wood said they stopped their car and called to the boy, saying that they were police officers and wanted to talk to him. Thereupon, Wood said, Lagowitz started to run. Wood said he fired two shots, then a third, and the third time Lagowitz fell. They took him to the hospital.

Lagowitz seemed cheerful yesterday afternoon, and his principal concern was for the suit of dinner clothes he was wearing when he was shot and which he had hired to attend a family wedding Sunday night. The bullet pierced both coat and trousers, the youth explained, and besides that he must pay rental on the suit for each day until it is returned.

Lagowitz's father has been seriously ill in the Jewish Hospital and has just been brought back to his home at 1,919 Eighty-first Street, but his condition is still so grave that he has not been told of the shooting of his son.

Stocks Move Variably, Money 9%.—Steel Finance Plan Unknown in Business Hours.

Other matters of discussion were at least for the time superseded in Wall Street when the United States Steel Corporation, after the close of business, announced its debt retirement plan. That the funded indebtedness of the company will be extinguished in whole or part, and that the process may require an increase of 5,000,000 shares in the authorized common stock, or something like 70 per cent, was made plain enough. But it did not appear on what basis the new stock would be issued; the question therefore was left open what and how much the existing shareholders would gain from the subscription terms.

Virtual conversion of bonded indebtedness into stock, and consequent increase of share capital outstanding, may in principle operate in very different ways. On this it is useless to comment until the stock issue terms are known. As regards the debt retirement operation, considered by itself, that is entirely in line with the enlightened and prudent financial policy which the company has pursued ever since the unhappy experiment of 1902 in turning "steel preferred" into bonds. The debt reduction already effected, in advance of dividend payments for many past years, is one of the most remarkable achievements of this company.

No announcement was made regarding the Steel Corporation's finance plan during business hours. Wall Street had gathered that action was to be taken for reduction or retirement of the company's debt, and had drawn its inferences as to a possible "bonus" for the stock. Those more or less vague impressions were the occasion for the 35-point rise in United States Steel's common shares during January. From the high point reached that month there had subsequently been a 23-point reaction; followed up to last Monday's closing by a 20-point recovery. With these variations in the price behind it, the stock declined 2½ points on yesterday's market, leaving Wall Street to conjecture how the actual announcement after the market's close would affect it.

The stock market as a whole moved yesterday in a good deal of confusion. There were one or two violent advances, Radio shares in particular being bid up 24 points, and in numerous other stocks there was fairly convincing evidence that the "pools" in certain so-called "speculative favorites" were active. This manoeuvre may have been inspired by belief that something would occur in the Steel directors' meeting to excite the public mind, but it was based more probably on the policy of keeping the tipster's business alive. With all the reduction in the market's activity since the Reserve Board spoke, the surroundings of speculative Wall Street have continued to present the picture of a public crowding about the bookmakers.

Yet the course of yesterday's prices was by no means uniformly upward. Declines probably exceeded advances numerically, and some of them, at the day's lowest prices, marked losses of 5 to 10 points. For this the money market situation was more evidently responsible than has heretofore been the case. Call money went to 9 per cent again, and closed there, and Wall Street began to talk of the Reserve banks' policy at the month-end. Last year and the year before, the member banks increased their rediscounts $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 at the end of February, to finance the monthly payments. The question therefore arose in the market's mind as to whether the Federal Reserve banks would or would not apply the new policy, against the granting of increased rediscount facilities to member banks maintaining an already heavy loan account in the speculative market.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Under the leadership of the copper group and aided by a brief flurry in the oil shares, the stock market gave what Wall Street considered a fairly good account of itself yesterday. As on Monday, movement of prices was mixed, but most of the "trading favorites" gave at least one demonstration of strength. A few of them were strong all day, many lost their earlier gains, while a considerable number ended the day behind minus signs. Many stocks in which there was no great amount of interest went lower on comparatively light offerings. Sentiment, so far as professional Wall Street is concerned, was divided, but the more aggressive operations were by those speculative interests at present committed to the advance.

Easy to Lose; Hard to Win.

As the miner said of the faro game, the present stock market is "sure hard to beat," if one is to accept the word of a dozen or so speculators met in the course of a day's travels through the Street. The market moves quickly, blowing hot one minute and cold the next, and if one happens to buy stocks on one of the half-hourly bulges, there is a good chance of quitting the day with 2 or 3 points loss. Many speculators have grown so dissatisfied with the market's uncertainties that they have stepped aside for the moment, awaiting at least the indication of a definite trend.

"Little Steel" as a Hedge.

One good reason for the recent wide fluctuations and the heavy trading in United States Steel common, assigned in Wall Street yesterday, is that many large traders were caught flat-footed short of large lines of it which had been used as a "hedge." It has been the custom of some big speculators for many years, when laying in a long line of stocks, to sell an equal or almost equal line of Steel, on the theory that a part of possible losses would be regained, no matter which way the market fluctuated. Probably the usefulness of Steel common as a market hedge has now ended, for on many recent days it has acted as violently as any of the wildest of the market wildcats.

Light Demand for Loans.

The advance to 9 per cent in the call-money rate took place yesterday in the face of only a moderate demand from brokerage houses and was based, apparently, simply on a drying up of available funds. The banks called about $25,000,000 of loans, mostly in connection with month-end requirements. Comments have been made in many quarters recently that the brokers have been calling for a smaller volume of loans, the result partly of liquidation that has taken place and partly of the larger margin requirements that have now become general throughout Wall Street. Despite the moderate demand, however, rates have been tending upward because of the disinclination of the banks to make collateral loans, in view of the present level of their own indebtedness to the Federal Reserve Bank.

Railways and Interstate Commission.

The success of the New York Central in its application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to merge its chief subsidiaries has given food for thought, it was said in railroad circles yesterday. The remark was made apropos of the application of the Missouri Pacific to merge twenty-two subsidiary lines on lines similar to those proposed by the New York Central. The suggestion was made that other systems with numerous companies in their financial structures may follow this lead, but definite predictions were not made.

After the Largest Bank Merger.

Heavy buying of the stocks of half a dozen large banks at rapidly advancing prices held much of the attention of Wall Street yesterday. The buying was based on "merger reports," none of which, however, was confirmed. The idea that a general movement toward mergers among the large New York banks will be expedited by the completion of the Guaranty Trust-National Bank of Commerce consolidation has gained ground. Executives of most of the leading banks said yesterday, however, that no specific amalgamations were being worked on at present and that if any are taken up later it would take a long time to work them out. They pointed out that a bank merger was no simple proceeding. Size alone could not govern. Two banks must be found whose activities complemented each other and did not present a mass of duplication which would have to be done away with after consolidation. When such banks were found, it frequently was the work of months or even years to get the directors, officers and large stockholders to see the advantages of union.

Keeping Counsel.

Wall Street agreed that it was evident, in view of the big financial news of the last two days, that Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. had taken an active hand both in the plans for the merger of the Guaranty Trust Company and the National Bank of Commerce and also in that for increasing the capital of the United States Steel Corporation. Yet Mr. Lamont left New York to sit in the reparations conference in Paris without dropping so much as a hint of these important financial developments to the twenty or so financial news reporters who see him daily when he is in the city.

MONEY.

Money market was firm and after opening at 8 per cent for Stock Exchange loans jumped to 9, at midday. There were no concessions from this figure in street trading. Funds were in fairly good supply but demand was light, aside from withdrawals of approximately $25,000,000. Time money was unchanged at 7¾ per cent, but only little business was reported. Commercial paper and acceptances were unchanged, in quiet markets.

Associated Gas and Electric System

Financial Strength

One of the most important factors in the service of a large enterprise to the public is the securing of capital when it is required.

During 1928, when the bond market was more depressed than in many years, seven great investment banking firms according to the Wall Street Journal participated in bond syndicates to the amount of $600,000,000 or more.

Six of the seven, including the two at the top of the list, were bankers for the Associated Gas and Electric System. The first on the list, both in heading syndicates and in total bonds offered, was the head of the Associated banking group.

$184,000,000 Associated Bonds
at Less Than 4¾%

During the past fifteen months $184,000,000 principal amount of bonds have been marketed through or with the assistance of the Associated group of bankers. The average rate of interest was less than 4¾%. All these bonds were wholly unsecured. A substantial part of the proceeds was used for refunding numerous small issues with high rates of interest.

In addition the Associated Company has sold during the same period to its old stockholders, and to new ones with the assistance of individual security dealers, junior equity stocks of a total market value very largely in excess of $75,000,000.

The raising of these tremendous sums bespeaks the ability of the Associated System to serve adequately the territory now occupied and to give improved service in the territory of properties acquired from time to time.

MERGER TALK SPURS BANK STOCK BUYING

NATIONAL CITY DEAL DENIED

Loasby Says Equitable Has No Plan for Consolidation—Rumors Link Various Other Banks.

Heavy buying of the stocks of a dozen of the largest banks in New York, which forced prices up anywhere from $14 to $80 a share, brought forth rumors yesterday of a large number of important bank mergers which in some cases would rival or exceed the $2,000,000,000 consolidation of the Guaranty Trust Company and the National Bank of Commerce, which was officially announced on Monday.

All of the new merger rumors were denied by the officials of the banks concerned, but wild buying of their stocks continued and a large part of the financial community appeared convinced that, while nothing may be done immediately, this year is almost certain to see the completion of several consolidations among some of the leading banks of the city.

Aside from the rise in the general market for bank stocks, the principal aftermath yesterday of the Guaranty-Commerce announcement was a heavy buying movement in the rights to subscribe to the new stock to be issued by the National Bank of Commerce prior to the actual merger. Trading started in these rights around $180 and at the close of the day they were being actively bought and sold in the unlisted securities market at $200. The Commerce will issue 50,000 of the new shares in increasing its capital from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. The new shares will be offered to stockholders at $100 a share in a ratio based on their present holdings. The announcement of this capital increase on Monday was unexpected and constituted a valuable bonus to the Commerce stockholders.

A long list of bank stocks participated in the upward movement, which represented a continuation of a buying movement that set in the previous day. Some of the active stocks yesterday and their prices included National City Bank, $380 bid, $385 asked, an advance for the day of $14 a share; Equitable Trust Company, $632 bid, $640 asked, an advance of $18; Corn Exchange Bank, $840 bid, $860 asked, an advance of $55; Bank of Manhattan Company, $975 bid, $990 asked, an advance of $20; National Park Bank, $950 bid, $970 asked, an advance of $35; Seaboard National Bank, $940 bid, $960 asked, an advance of $70; Bankers Trust Company, $1,340 bid, $1,380 asked, an advance of $80, and Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, $1,015 bid, $1,035 asked, an advance of $15.

Many other bank stocks advanced a few dollars a share, and trading throughout the list was active. The stock of the National Bank of Commerce, however, was unchanged for the day and Guaranty closed $25 a share lower, the market's action of the previous day having discounted the merger developments. Officers of these two banks said yesterday that no decision had been reached yet as to the date of the stockholders' meetings that will ratify the merger or as to a name for the new institution. Lawyers are working on the legal details of the merger.

The advances in National City and Equitable Trust Company stocks led to a revival of rumors that these two organizations were to be merged, but Arthur W. Loasby, president of the Equitable, denied that his institution was considering a merger with any bank, and asked that it be emphasized that there was no foundation for the rumors. Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank, is in Florida, but other officers of the City said no merger was being planned.

A report that the Seaboard National Bank, which has resources of $314,000,000, was to be merged, either with the National City Bank or the Chase National Bank, was definitely repudiated by H. D. Campbell, vice president of the Seaboard. Another rumor circulated was that the National Park Bank would be merged with one of the larger institutions also was denied.

TURNOVER IN MARCH TO BE $2,000,000,000

Corporations to Start Month With $400,000,000 in Dividends and Interest.

TREASURY FINANCING HEAVY

$500,000,000 New Securities to Be Sold and Larger Amount of Old Ones Paid.

More than $2,000,000,000 of funds will be turned over in the two weeks beginning on March 1 in connection with the operations of the United States Treasury Department and the disbursement of dividends and interest by corporations. Preparations for the month-end distributions of dividends and interest were reflected in a strong tone yesterday in the money market, with call loans quoted at 9 per cent.

In the few days after the first of the month corporations will pay out about $400,000,000 in dividends and interest, while on March 15 the government will distribute about $80,000,000 of interest on its obligations. Further payments to be made in the month by corporations will bring disbursements to around $500,000,000.

The quarterly financing of the government, which will be dated March 15 but some of which actually will be effected a week or so in advance of that date, will be the biggest money-turnover event of the month. The treasury will offer about $500,000,000 of new securities as part of its refunding operation. At the same time it will pay off $571,000,000 of maturing securities, consisting of two issues of certificates of indebtedness.

On March 15, also, the government will receive quarterly income tax payments. These are expected to total about $500,000,000, the same as last March, despite the fact that the corporation tax now is 12 per cent, against 13½ per cent a year ago. Larger corporate earnings in 1928 than in 1927 are expected to counteract the reduction in the rate.

PUTS RESOURCES SECOND.

E. H. H. Simmons Tells the Dutch Skill Is More Important.

The resources of a country may prove only a secondary part in its prosperity, it was said by E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, at a dinner of the Amsterdam Stock Exchange committee in the Hotel Europe, Amsterdam, Holland, last night. The text of the speech was given out here. After pointing out how the United States and England had followed Dutch tutelage in establishing their fiscal systems, he said:

"Naturally, the geographical differences between Holland and the United States are very great. We have within our national borders the heart of an enormous continent, unusually rich in almost all those natural resources demanded by large-scale manufacturing and trade today. The American is therefore apt to presuppose the existence of such extensive natural resources in any leading commercial and financial country. For this reason, it is for us a very astonishing experience to visit a country as pre-eminent in industrial progress, commercial undertakings and international finance as the Netherlands, and realize to what a small extent your position in the world can be attributed to the natural resources within the borders of your own land.

"Not so many years ago we were told that Russian Government bonds were bound to be a splendid investment because of the great undeveloped natural resources of that vast country. The subsequent experience of investors, both here and in my own country, has conclusively shown that, thus far at least, such a view was in reality a dangerous fallacy. It is necessary always to consider not merely the possession of great natural resources, but also the ability of their possessors to utilize them. Indeed, in the long run, I am persuaded that natural resources are in our modern world only a secondary advantage."

CALL MONEY AT 9 PER CENT.

Predictions of Higher Rate Made for Today and Tomorrow.

Call money climbed to 9 per cent again yesterday on the Stock Exchange, after renewing at 8, reflecting the usual month-end money requirements. Although the 9 per cent rate prevailed for a time on Monday, the range on that day was from 6½ to 9. Wall Street banks called approximately $25,000,000 in loans yesterday.

Many men were inclined to predict that an even higher rate might reasonably be expected today and tomorrow in view of the fact that withdrawals from the collateral loan market may be in excess of $150,000,000.

Implement Makers to Merge.

Formation of a company to take over the farm implement companies of Nichols & Shepard, the Hart-Parr Company and the Oliver Chilled Plow Works and to be known as the Oliver Farm Equipment Company, was announced yesterday. It will have $20,000,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock, 500,000 shares of $3 participating stock, convertible share for share into common, and 350,000 shares of common stocks. It will give its shares in exchange for those of the companies absorbed.

FORMS NEW TRUST FOR MANY ACCOUNTS

AIMS AT DIVERSIFICATION

Operation Consists of Composite Fund, With Company Acting as Trustee and Manager.

A new form of trust has been developed by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company by means of an adaptation of the basic principle of revocable voluntary trusts. The principle underlying the new plan, which is to be known as the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company Uniform Trust "A," is said to be that there is no essential difference between managing a single trust and managing a thousand or more similar trusts.

The operation is in the nature of a composite investment fund created for purposes of large-scale diversification and made possible by the mingling of numerous individual trust funds. Under the plan as announced yesterday, the trust company acts both as trustee and as manager of the fund. While accepting all the responsibilities of the former function, the company also enjoys unlimited powers of management.

In effect, each trust fund set up under the plan is a complete and self-contained unit, differing from the ordinary voluntary trust in the important particular that all uniform trusts may be mingled and invested at the sole discretion of the company to enlarge the investment opportunity and especially to permit of large holdings of extensively diversified securities in the common interest.

The trustee's compensation is limited to a commission of 1 per cent to be paid upon the establishment and termination of an investment fund, and an annual commission of one-half of 1 per cent upon the value of each trust fund. All expenses incurred by the trustee in the administration of each trust fund are covered by these charges. No charge of any kind may be made by the trustee for any of the services rendered by it, nor for any services rendered by any director, officer or employe of the trustee, other than its commissions.

Spring Manufacturers to Merge.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Agreement has been reached for the merger of the Kay Manufacturing Company of Brooklyn with Nachman-Springfilled Corporation, Fred A. Nachman, president of the latter concern, announced today. In addition to the same line of spring constructions manufactured by Nachman-Springfilled Corporation, the Kay Manufacturing Company likewise produces all metal spring constructions as well as accessories for furniture manufacturers.

History and Business: The predecessor company of Merit Hosiery Company, Inc., was incorporated in January, 1915, under the laws of the State of New York, with a paid-in capital of $25,000. In 1929 the present Company acquired all the assets of its predecessor.

The Company manufactures ladies' full-fashioned silk hosiery, both dip-dyed and ingrain. Its products are of the higher grade, ranging at retail prices from $1.25 to $6.00 per pair, and are sold under the Company's own registered trade-mark "Claredge" and under special brands of leading retailers.

When the predecessor company started business operations in 1915, it occupied a small floor space in the Bush Terminal Building in Brooklyn, N. Y. Reflecting increased business, in 1920 the first unit of its plant was built in Ozone Park, Long Island, and in 1926 this plant was considerably enlarged, thereby doubling its capacity and leaving ample room for further expansion. The business has grown from the reinvestment of earnings and, with the exception of $25,000 of additional capital in 1917, its entire expansion has been financed out of earnings.

Sales and Distribution: The Company maintains sales offices in New York City, Chicago and Boston, and through these offices and its salesmen distributes its products to approximately 1,500 retailers, including department stores, shoe stores, specialty shops, etc. Sales have increased constantly, amounting to approximately 110,000 dozen pairs in 1926, 125,000 dozen pairs in 1927 and 150,000 dozen pairs in 1928.

Earnings: Net earnings of the business for the two fiscal years ended December 31, 1927, and for the eleven months ended November 30, 1928, after adjustment of Federal income taxes to the present rate of 12%, and the elimination of certain non-recurring charges based partly upon estimates made by the management and averaging $59,584.00 on a yearly basis, as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, have been as follows:

| 1926 | $143,741 | $60,000 | $83,741 | $1.52 |

Plant: The Company's plant at Ozone Park, Long Island, has a floor space of 84,000 square feet, and is equipped with machinery of the latest type and the finest gauges. The Company also owns land adjoining the factory, which, if utilized, would enable it to almost triple the present floor space. The Company has approximately 400 employes in all branches of its business.

The Company manufactures all merchandise sold, and does its own dyeing and finishing. The adjacency of its plant to New York City is of great advantage in enabling it to make prompt deliveries to this highly important market.

Financial Position: Upon completion of this financing, the condensed Balance Sheet, as at November 30, 1928, as certified by the above named public accountants, shows Total Current Assets of $733,967.02, against Total Current Liabilities of $62,120.23. This is a ratio of 11.8 to 1, and leaves a Net Working Capital of $671,846.79. The plant, which is carried on the Balance Sheet at $680,287.34, was appraised by the American Appraisal Company at a sound depreciated value in excess of $1,300,000.

Purpose of Issue: This financing will, after providing for the retirement of certain obligations of the Company, afford ample funds for expanding its business.

Management: The active management of the Company will remain in the hands of the men who have been identified with the business since its inception and are responsible for its growth.

This Preference Stock is offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approval of counsel. Legal matters in connection with this offering are to be passed upon by Messrs. Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft for the Bankers, and Messrs. Olvany, Elsner & Donnelly for the Company. The accountants for the Bankers are Messrs. Haskins & Sells and for the Company Messrs. Loewenwarter, Teich & Co.

COL. STEWART HERE, FINDS VOTES GAINING

CALLS RESULTS PLEASING

Adds If Rockefeller Had Stayed at Home to Watch Fight He Would Not Take It So Lightly.

Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, who is being opposed for re-election by John D. Rockefeller Jr., declared yesterday that he had received the support of a majority of the stockholders.

"In fact," he added, "a large majority. Our total of votes is increasing each day and the results are highly pleasing. The progress of the fight is satisfactory."

Colonel Stewart was in New York only a few hours to attend the meeting of directors of the National City Bank, of which he is a director. He returned on a late train last night to Chicago. Opponents of Colonel Stewart declared his statement did not mean a great deal, because of the wide distribution of the stock and the large number of holders of ten, twenty, thirty and fifty shares.

"I believe if Mr. Rockefeller had stayed here at home and observed at first hand the progress of this fight he would not have taken it so lightly or so hastily," he said. "This is a fight to determine whether the wishes of a few investment stockholders are to triumph against the most pronounced opposition of the company's employes, who, after all, make the company. The employes and the company's consuming public want the present management and its policy continued. I am pleased to report that business is good with the Indiana Company out in the Middle West.

"Our company, which is, as a matter of fact, a great chain organization, has a great support because of the feeling among the people in the territory we serve that it is largely an employe and customer owned institution. For ten years it has been our policy to encourage investment in the company among our employes and customers. That is the reason our stockholders now number nearly 58,000, against 4,600 ten years ago. I am happy to say that a large majority of the stockholders in our territory are voting for me."

Colonel Stewart expressed deep regret at the death in Venezuela yesterday of Beaumont Parks, a director of the corporation, who had been an associate of Colonel Stewart since he was named chief executive of the corporation.

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, which holds 44,000 shares of Standard Oil of Indiana stock, announced today that it would support John D. Rockefeller Jr. in his effort to oust Colonel Robert Stewart from the chairmanship of the board.

RUMOR OF SUIT IN OIL FIGHT.

Chicago Financial Circles Hear Injunction Action May Result.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Rumors of an injunction action as the outcome of the proxy battle for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana between John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the company, were current today in financial circles.

On what basis either Mr. Rockefeller or Colonel Stewart might start an injunction suit was the subject of speculation, however.

ORGANIZE TO UNITE HOTELS.

Backers Form United Realties, Inc., for Iowa Properties.

United Realties, Inc., has been formed to combine a group of hotels, apartment houses and other properties in the Middle West. The new corporation will acquire the entire capital stock of the Black Hawk Hotels Corporation, which in turn will own the Black Hawk Hotel and Kimball Building at Davenport, Iowa, and leases of the Fort Des Moines and Hotel Savery at Des Moines, the Hotel Davenport at Davenport and the Hanford Hotel at Mason City.

The company will have authorized capitalization of 100,000 shares of $2.50 convertible prior preference stock, 100,000 shares $2.50 convertible preferred stock and 500,000 shares no par value common stock. There will presently be issued 48,000 shares of prior preference stock, 10,000 shares of preferred stock and 100,000 shares of common.

Dick R. Lane of Davenport will be president of United Realties, Inc. Associated with him on the board of directors will be J. Reed Lane, chairman of Federal Bakeshops, Inc., Davenport; T. J. Walsh, president of Walsh Construction Co., Davenport; H. C. Kahl, Davenport; L. J. Douherty, vice president of the Guaranty Life Insurance Company, Des Moines; Harry Wardman, president of Wardman Real Estate Properties, Inc., Washington, D. C., and V. F. Valdes of Mirkil, Valdes & Co., Philadelphia.

TRUNK COMPANY TO ELECT.

Innovation Stockholders Meet on March 6 to Choose Full Board.

Stockholders of the Innovation Trunk Company have been called to meet on March 6 at the corporation's offices, 13 East Forty-seventh Street, to elect a full board of ten members and to adopt amendments to the by-laws authorizing the establishment of an executive committee and the addition of the offices of vice president, assistant secretary and treasurer. Reports that this move is preliminary to a merger with a company controlling three other lines of trunks were not confirmed last night by officials of the company. They said no decision had been reached.

The new executive committee, it is proposed, will consist of three directors who have had personal experience in the conduct of the company's branches of manufacture or sales and in the general management of its business. The company reports January sales 64 per cent larger than in 1928.

MISSOURI PACIFIC PLAN IN.

Road Asks I. C. C. Permission for Economical Linking of Subsidiaries.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—A closer and more economical association between the corporations making up the Missouri Pacific System was proposed today to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Missouri Pacific Company, which now operates twenty-one subsidiary corporations, including the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico, the International Great Northern, the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico, the San Antonio, Uvalde & Gulf and several others, told the commission that the maintenance of these corporations as operating units with separate accounting represented "unnecessary expense." The Missouri Pacific owns all of them either by complete control or majority stock ownership.

To eliminate bookkeeping expenditure the central corporation proposes to take leases over the property of each of its susidiaries.

Lehigh Coal & Navigation Election.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26 (AP).—William P. Gest, president of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company, was re-elected to the board of managers of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company today at the annual meeting of stockholders. He resigned last December to make room for a representative of a Cleveland company that had purchased a large interest in the coal producing company. He now succeeds Erskine Hewitt, who declined renomination. Samuel D. Warriner was re-elected president.

Boston Reserve Bank in Report for 1928 Finds Business at Highest Point in 3 Years.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY SLOWER

But Its Depression Failed to Hurt General Conditions—Loans to Member Banks Up $40,000,000.

In making the fourteenth annual report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston to the Federal Reserve Board, Frederic H. Curtiss, chairman and reserve agent, gave a graphic account of the recovery staged by New England business in general during the latter part of the year, of the increases in employment, of larger commercial borrowings to carry on the enlarged business, and declared emphatically that industry in the New England district was on the distinct gain, both in volume and number.

"It is evident that the majority of new industries are new undertakings," he declared, "financed chiefly by New England capital, and that in the exchange of industries between different sections, New England is gaining."

In outlining the activities of the Reserve Bank of Boston for the year the chairman said: "The outstanding feature of the operations of the bank for 1928 was the increased volume of Federal Reserve credit in use in New England, accompanied by a loss in the gold holdings of the bank. This increase was due both to an increase in rediscounts of loans to member banks and to the volume of bankers' acceptances purchased. The borrowings of the member banks were the result of steadily declining deposits in those banks from the high points reached in April, and this reduction in deposits may probably be deemed to have been due to depositors' withdrawals of funds for use in the securities market and to the withdrawal of foreign balances; it was accompanied by an increase in the borrowings for commercial purposes in the Boston banks, the outside banks actually experiencing a decline during the year in their demand for commercial loans. For the district as a whole, the volume of commercial borrowings was substantially the same as in recent years."

In commenting on the business situation in New England the report said: "The fundamental strength in the situation began to show in August and by September and October it had recovered to the highest point in thirty-six months, and by the last quarter of 1928 business was on a level fully 5 per cent higher than in the same quarter of 1927; the trend was steadily upward rather than declining, and sentiment was more confident than a year earlier."

The fact was stressed that business as a whole held up well in the face of a greatly retarded textile industry.

The principal changes in the institution's balance sheet, as compared with the end of the previous year, were as follows: loans to member banks showed an increase of $40,000,000; bankers' acceptances bought in the open market showed an increase of $6,000,000; United States securities held showed a decrease of $25,000,000; gold reserves showed a decrease of $22,000,000; capital stock and surplus showed an increase of $2,500,000; deposits showed a decrease of $12,000,000, and Federal Reserve notes outstanding an increase of $12,000,000.

The bank's net income was sufficient to pay to the member banks the 6 per cent dividend on capital stock, as provided by the Federal Reserve act, and after setting aside $122,000 for depreciation on building and equipment, $99,000 for losses on United States securities and $60,000 for other items, $1,725,000 was added to the surplus account.

On October 31, 1928, the Shareholders, at a special meeting called for the purpose, authorized an increase in the Company's Capital Stock from 2,000,000 shares to 3,000,000 shares.

From the additional shares authorized, a 5% stock dividend (100,000 shares) was paid to Shareholders December 1, 1928. This action indicates the policy of the Directors of your Company to conserve the Company's cash resources and at the same time to allow Shareholders to participate in the steadily increasing earnings of the Company.

Financial The policy of your Management is to have always available ample cash resources to provide for the continued expansion of the Company's business. It is the policy of your Company to finance all of its own requirements without recourse to its credit.

It is interesting to note that bad debts for the year 1928 were $12,025; the five-year average of this item was $19,381.

Sales Intensive merchandising of Gillette Blades during 1928, in both domestic and foreign markets, resulted in splendid increases in sales. Razor sales were also substantially larger in domestic and foreign fields.

Manufacturing The continued development of automatic machinery and consequent elimination of manually performed operations has enabled your Company to make substantial savings in its payroll and in the cost of production.

Your Company's three plants, at Boston, Montreal (Canada) and Slough (England), are operating on a high standard of efficiency and are maintaining the fine quality of Gillette products which is our constant aim.

Foreign razor orders for 1929 already equal half of the Company's 1928 entire output. It may also be of interest for the Shareholders to know that the ramifications of the Gillette Safety Razor Company's operations are so extensive that they cover the most remote corners of the earth. So broad a market adds great strength to the Company in its business. Varying conditions may affect any one of these markets, but never has history shown that all markets were affected alike and at the same time.

We regret to record the death during the year of Mr. Robert C. Morse, a Director in your Company since 1917.

Submitted on behalf of the Directors,

Chairman

MARKETS IN LONDON, PARIS AND BERLIN

LONDON MONEY IS DEARER

Paris Dull, With Bank Shares Declining—Berlin Opens Firm, but Shows Losses.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Heavy American buying of Rolls-Royce shares marked an otherwise dull and gloomy session on the Stock Exchange today. The shadow of the approaching general election seems to be looming over the financial markets, causing many speculators to shorten their sails. The hope of an early reduction of the bank rate seems to have vanished and today the market for gilt-edged securities was in a depressed condition.

Prices declined all along the line and there were even rumors tonight of a still further rise in the rate. Four per cent war loan and consols both declined ¼ to 101⅝ and £75⅞, respectively, while 4 per cent funding loan declined ¼ to £88⅝. The foreign market was sluggish and prices dropped for sheer lack of support.

Rolls Royce shares made a spectacular advance and furnished the only sensation in the industrial list. The shares, which closed at 50s yesterday, forged ahead to 57s 6d today. Guy Motors and Leyland Motors each rose 1s to the new prices of 24s and 36s respectively. The drooping news of the market affected the artificial silk group, gramaphone, tobacco, cable and wireless shares alike. American Celanese dropped ⅝ to 11⅛; Columbia shares declined ⅝ to 14¼ and His Master's Voice shares dropped to £13 15/16.

Conditions on Lombard Street tightened still further with short loans in strong demand at 5½ to 6 per cent. The New York exchange weakened slightly to 4.85¼-4.85 9/32.

French Rentes Are Quiet.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Profit taking continued at the opening of today's session of the Bourse, which was dull. Even the important announcement that the Bank de Paris would convoke a general assembly to increase its capital from 200,000,000 to 500,000,000 francs had only a temporary effect in stimulating bank shares and they relapsed to show losses on the day's business.

Some circles attributed the unsatisfactory condition of the markets to the internal political situation, but official quarters blame the technical conditions attending the approaching month-end liquidation.

Rentes were quiet but maintained their positions. Threes closed at 71.15; 1918 4s, 85.25; 1920 amortizable 5s, 117; 1928 5s, 95.25; 1920 6s, 101.65 and 1927 amortizable 6s, 106.85.

Berlin Prices Decline.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The Boerse opened firm, but after a few foreign orders had been fulfilled the tendency weakened on account of domestic sales offers during the first hour.

Dyestuffs, Siemens & Halske and artificial silk shares recovered some of yesterday's losses, but lost their gains entirely in the second hour. Polyphone shares were again offered and lost 14 points. Potash shares lost 10 points.

The fact that money for the month-end settlement was less plentiful than had been expected and the influence of a number of false rumors further depressed the markets and speculators reacted with short sales.

TO REORGANIZE BRAZIL BANK

Papers Report President Luis Plans to Suggest Changes Soon.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, Feb. 26.—The Federal Government is planning to submit a scheme for the reorganization of the Bank of Brazil to the stockholders' meeting in April, according to statements published today by O Jornal of Rio de Janeiro and the Diario de Sao Paulo.

It is understood that President Washington Luis has two plans for reorganizing the bank, and is said to prefer the one making the institution a central bank of issue and rediscount. According to reports, he prefers to limit the bank's activities to these two functions, but since it is impossible to liquidate the bank's discount transactions in a short time, the bank would continue these operations only while the changes were being made.

The foreign markets, principally New York and London, have been hearing reports that the government plans to cancel the stock of the bank which the National Treasury holds, but it is said that investigations have shown the reports to be inexact.

CZECHS FIX CROWN VALUE.

Monetary Unit Is Set at 33.75 to the American Gold Dollar.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 26 (AP).—Dr. Vilem Pospisil, Governor of the National Bank of Czechoslovakia, said today that the country's strong economic and financial position justified the government in fixing the gold value of the Czechoslovakia crown at 44.58 grams of pure gold or 33.75 crowns to the American gold dollar.

The statement followed an announcement made yesterday from the same source of the intention to adopt the gold standard, with the gold American dollar as a measure of value. It was said that no revalorization of the crown would be necessary, as it had been virtually stabilized for some time.

Cuba to Build Power Plants.

HAVANA, Feb. 26 (AP).—Presidential authorization was granted today to the Cuban Electric Company for the establishment of central generation stations at several industrial and sugar milling centres. Transmission lines of 2,200 and 110,000 volts to electric sub-plants are allowed under the permit. The government hopes lower costs for sugar grinding at remote inland towns will result.

Radiophone to Luxemburg.

American telephone users will be able to reach directly one of the smallest independent European States beginning March 1 when transatlantic telephone service will be extended to include the city of Luxemburg, capital of the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg. The rate from New York will be $48 for the first three minutes and $16 for each additional minute.

New Week-End Cable Rates.

The Western Union Telegraph Company announced yesterday that a new rate of three cents a word for 100 words or $3 a message for week-end letters to Great Britain and Ireland is now in effect.

CRITICIZES BOSTON & MAINE

New Hampshire Commission Charges Neglect of Branch Lines.

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 26 (AP).—A charge that the Boston & Maine Railroad in this State has become a main-line business, with little concern for the interests of citizens except those resident in the centres of population, was contained in a report to the Legislature today by the Public Service Commission.

The commission concluded a long investigation into the "reasonableness and adequacy" of the service of the railroad in New Hampshire by holding as justified the fear of further efforts by the system to abandon its branch lines.

In its summary of passenger service the report said that "the unreasonable theory has been advanced that a service which did not pay ought to be discontinued, and in many cases has been."

The commission found that through passenger trains on the main lines were "obviously not designed for accommodation of citizens of the State, except such as are served at the infrequent stops," and that "the schedules are intended to serve the centres of population and the termini."

Passenger train miles have decreased 11 per cent. since 1928, the number of trains 20 per cent. and the number of station stops 30 per cent, the report said, adding that there had been "a greater decrease in passenger train service than in passenger train revenue."

WHEAT IN A RALLY AFTER EARLY EBB

OUTSIDE INTEREST BROADER

Corn Shows Independent Strength and Values Advanced Steadily to Close at the Top.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 26.—Persistent buying of wheat futures by houses with Eastern connections absorbed the surplus in the pit after a small decline early, and a bulge of 1¼ to 2 cents from the inside figure followed. Strength in corn had considerable influence. The close was at net gains of ⅝ to 1 cent with March showing the least advance.

Scattered liquidation was in evidence in the near-by month and the purchase of 15,000 bushels No. 2 hard Winter was made to come here at 6¼ cents under Chicago May, the widest discount on the crop. However, bearish developments had but little effect after the market started upward and the bulge was checked by selling against offers.

A broadening in outside interest is apparent, and the open interest at the present time is nearly 127,000,000 bushels, or about the largest known since records have been kept.

The export demand remains as slow as ever and no sales were reported at the seaboard. Liverpool closed ⅝ to 1 cent lower. Winnipeg gained only ¼ to ½ cent for the day. Buenos Aires closed unchanged.

Primary arrivals today were 1,322,000 bushels against 1,009,000 bushels a week ago and 700,000 bushels last year, while shipments were 942,000 bushels against 84,000 bushels a week ago and 394,000 bushels last year.

Corn showed independent strength from the start, and prices advanced steadily and closed at the top with net gains of 1⅞ to 2¼ cents, with May leading.

It was claimed that the Continent bought a little corn at the gulf late Monday on favorable freights and easier premiums. Foreigners were credited with having bought futures on a fairly liberal scale. Buenos Aires closed unchanged for the day.

Primary arrivals today, 1,224,000 bushels; week ago, 1,042,000 bushels; last year, 2,227,000 bushels. Shipments, 722,000 bushels; week ago, 560,000 bushels; last year, 726,000 bushels.

COTTON PRICES LOSE PART OF DAY'S GAINS

Advance of More Than $2 a Bale in Two Days Leads to Late Profit-Taking.

Although more than 40,000 bales of the local certificated stock of 75,000 bales of cotton were delivered on March notices yesterday, prices on the Cotton Exchange again advanced sharply. May touched 20½ cents, the highest quotation since the latter part of November, and urgent buying of March strengthened the near delivery until March and May contracts changed hands at the same figure in final dealings, compared with a discount of 8 to 10 points on Monday. With an improvement of more than $2 a bale in two days, the market ran into realising operations and lost part of the improvement, but ended with a gain of 2 to 9 points on the day. Mill price-fixing continued to be a feature of more general buying than has been witnessed in some time. Spot sales at Southern markets aggregated 28,000 bales, compared with 10,000 a year ago.

In addition to a gain of $2 a bale in American contract prices in Liverpool, quotations for Indian cotton were raised an equal amount, while spot sales increased to 12,000 bales, the largest volume of business since the turn of the year. The strength abroad brought a resumption of Monday's active buying movement in both New York and New Orleans and a large quantity of cotton changed hands on the opening call. Both commission house and mill interests took contracts from the ring and it was not until May touched 20.50 cents that the quantity of cotton for sale halted the improvement. Distribution of lines of July above 20 cents and reselling of March as notices circulated started a 15-point setback in later trading.

The fact that prices have fluctuated between 20½ cents and 19½ cents since the upward movement in November carried March and May around 20¢ cents induced profit-taking during the morning advance. Several times the market has recovered around 20¼ cents and then declined around 19½ cents in the last three months, but without breaking through either top or bottom crust.

Reports from Germany that the strike in the textile mills had been settled through an advance in wages, advices from domestic drygoods quarters that existing conditions continue to be decidedly more favorable than a year ago at this time, while exports are now 1,050,000 bales ahead of the corresponding date last year, the heaviest excess so far, all combined to stimulate market sentiment.

RISE IN INDIAN COTTON AREA

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Indian Government has sent its fourth report to the International Institute of Agriculture on the area and output of the cotton season of 1928-29.

The area under cotton is now estimated to be 2,687,500 acres, or 6 per cent more than last year and 5 per cent more than the average for the five preceding years. Production figures for 1928-29 are incomplete, but according to corresponding records the production was estimated last year at 1,014,000 metric tons, the previous five-year average being 1,000,000.

A communiqué issued by the institute concludes with the statement that in view of the serious damage suffered it is probable that the present season's production will be appreciably less than appeared from the estimate at the end of December.

Expect Marking Rule Modification.

Some modification in the present rules governing the marking of imported articles with the name of the country of origin is expected by importers as a result of current hearings at Washington, it was stated yesterday. Officials of the Treasury Department are claimed to be sympathetic to the protests of importers against certain provisions of the marking rules which are claimed to have fostered misconceptions in the minds of the consuming public.

C. E. May Forms Buying Concern.

Formation of a new resident buying organization was confirmed yesterday by Charles E. May. The new concern, known as the Charles E. May Company, has taken over the entire staff of the Alfred Fantl resident buying organization, with several additions, including Mrs. Nan Hatton as head of the underwear department and A. C. Clark, who will serve in a merchandising capacity. The stores represented, Mr. May said, do an annual volume in excess of $50,000,000. Stress will be placed on merchandising, sales promotion, financial control and research as well as resident buying. New quarters are being selected.

Weather Curbs Garment Call.

Reorders on Spring ready-to-wear continued this week to show the effects of bad weather in many sections of the country. The situation is given added point by the fact that Easter is now little more than a month away, and to secure normal turnover for both manufacturers and retailers much business must be done within that time. For the time being, retailers are continuing their testing out of the new styles and waiting for the turn in the weather. Should present conditions continue, manufacturers are predicting a mid-March scramble for merchandise, with quick deliveries of wanted styles and colors at a premium.

Explains Hide Exchange.

Operation and advantages of the new New York Hide and Skin Exchange, now being organized, were explained yesterday at the annual meeting of the National Association of Importers of Hides and Skins by Julius B. Baer, counsel to the Exchange. It is expected that the Exchange will begin functioning in May or June. Tariff questions were also discussed at the meeting, which was held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Prices in the imported hide market were reported steadier, after the decline during the first part of the year. Jacques Meyer of E. Weil, Inc., president of the organization, presided.

Rug Company to Expand Output.

Acquisition by the Public Industrials Corporation, New York, of a large interest in the Hightstown (New Jersey) Rug Company and the resignation of W. H. Thompson as treasurer of the latter concern were announced yesterday by C. H. Davison, head of the rug company. Heretofore interest in the Hightstown Rug Company has been closely held, Mr. Davison added. With the entry of new interests in the company an expansion of its production program will be undertaken, Mr. Davison further said that for nearly three years the company's plant has been operated twenty-four hours a day for five and a half days a week, but that despite this it has been unable to meet the demands made on it.

Prices Irregular at Fur Sale.

Irregularity of prices was one of the principal features of yesterday's session of the New York Auction Company's fur sale here. Twenty-four articles were disposed of, but only about half a dozen were of any real trade importance. Wolverine, with a top of $31, dropped 5 per cent. Leopard sold to $58, with Samalis unchanged. All other grades of leopard fell off 10 per cent. The following were unchanged, the figures being the highest prices paid for the best skins in each group: Ocelot, $5.25; fitch, $4.50; kolinsky, $4.20, and American opossum, $2.02. Sales so far have totaled $3,800,000. The auction will conclude today.

Hosiery Sales Irregular.

Although direct-to-retailer lines of women's full-fashioned silk hosiery are said here to be selling extremely well at the lower prices fixed by trade leaders some time ago, there apparently has been some slowing up in the call for lines sold to the stores through jobbers. Some of the larger concerns dealing through wholesalers say their sales to date are ahead of those of a year ago, but it appears that the bulk of the increase—if not all of it—took place prior to Feb. 15. In some quarters the reported slowing down is attributed to the early Easter and the resultant earlier buying, but in others the belief is growing that better merchandise will have to be turned out to keep sales up.

Discuss Textile Institute's Work.

General discussion of topics of importance to the cotton goods industry marked a meeting between officers and department heads of the Cotton Textile Institute, executives of other associations and representatives of the trade press at the Arkwright Club here yesterday. At the morning session President Walker D. Hines of the institute described its activities, and several department heads outlined the work of their divisions. The afternoon was given over to talks by A. W. Palmer of the Department of Agriculture and E. T. Picard of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce on how the government is cooperating in extending the use of cotton and cotton goods, and to open discussion. Secretary George A. Sloan of the institute presided.

Gray Goods More Active.

Trading in gray goods was more active here yesterday, and in a number of cases advances of a sixteenth to an eighth of a cent a yard were shown. Business in 39-inch 80-square printcloths was done at 10⅝ cents, with 10⅝ the general asking price at the close. Sales of 39-inch 68-72s were put through at 8 7-16 to 8½ cents. For 38½-inch 64-60s 7¼ cents was paid, and buyers of 38½-inch 60-48s had to pay 6½ cents for them. Prices for 37-inch 48-square four-yard sheetings ranged from 8 to 8¼ cents, according to "make," and the same was true of 40-inch 4.25s at 7⅞ to 7¾ cents. For 40-inch 2.85-yard sheetings 11 to 11¼ cents was paid. In drills there was business in 37-inch 2.95s at 8¼ cents, and small sales of 34-inch 4.75s were reported at 6⅝ cents. Sateens sold on the basis of 11¼ cents for 37½-inch 4.87s and 10¼ cents for 4.70s of that width. Among the sales of carded broadcloths were 100-60s and 90-60s at 10⅝ and 10¾ cents, respectively.

New Record on Coffee Exchange.

The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange membership of R. E. Jones has been sold to the Lowry Company for $31,000, an advance of $1,500 from the last previous sale and a new high record.

THE CUSTOMS COURT.

When a Customs collector orders a mark-of-origin stamp placed on a portion of an article which must necessarily be obscured by subsequent attachments or arrangements, it is an official determination by him that the articles are incapable of being marked within the meaning of Section 304 of the tariff act, according to a ruling by the Customs Court yesterday. The merchandise in question was fourteen "Stations of the Cross," made of Venetian glass and intended for the St. Pius Catholic Church, Cincinnati, Ohio. The mosaics were held free of duty but taxed 10 per cent of their value because the country of origin was not marked on the stations. Under orders of the collector the necessary marking was placed on the back of the mosaics. The decision remits the added duty.

A wool coat, presumably stolen from the Appraiser's Stores before it was delivered to the importer, is still subject to duty, according to another decision by the court. The fact that the coat entered the jurisdictional limits of the United States is held to be proof of importation, the decision states. On the question of government liability for the loss, the court points out that the government is not an insurer of goods and orders the plaintiff, Amsterdam, Inc., of New York, to pay the necessary duty of 50 per cent ad valorem and 45 cents per pound provided under paragraph 1,115.

RUBBER IN SHARP ADVANCE.

Crude rubber futures yesterday resumed the advance to record heights for the post-restriction period, and the list of nine active deliveries finished 20 to 30 points higher than on Monday. The turnover fell slightly under the preceding total, sales totaling 1,384 contracts.

The advance was all the more significant because it disregarded an easier tendency in the central and primary markets abroad, where the dip in prices was ascribed to a lull in buying and liquidating sales. Some sort of reaction was noted here on offerings from trade and commission house operators, but in the final hour the bullish element in both trade and speculative quarters was aligned behind the market, pushing prices to a firm close.

London was steady at the close; spot and March 13¼d, April-June 13⅝d, July-September 13⅝d, October-December 13¾d, all traded and down ⅛d net. Singapore was quiet and down ¼d to 5/16d.

Finer Rayon Deniers Hold Firm.

With the demand for the finer deniers in rayon continuing larger than present output, no revision downward in prices of these types is imminent, it was indicated yesterday. These deniers are finding rapid absorption for sheer silk and rayon mixtures and also for the better grades of women's underwear. Reaction to the lowering of the larger rayon deniers has led to expectation that price reductions will be made in finished goods in which they are used. Prediction is made that with these sizes cheaper there will be marked expansion in the use of rayon for men's underwear.

PLANS REGULATION OF FLYING SCHOOLS

Commerce Department Will Offer Program at April Aircraft Show in Detroit.

WOULD SUPERVISE AND RATE

Unless Congress Passes Empowering Measure, Move for Air Safety Would Be Voluntary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Plans of the Department of Commerce for regulation of aeronautics schools throughout the United States as a step in the program for increasing the safety of commercial flying are to be laid before representatives of the schools at a conference during the all-American aircraft show to be held at Detroit from April 6 to 14.

The program, which involves a semi-official regulation of the schools and their courses, is to be carried out regardless of the disposition in Congress of the amendment to the air commerce act, sponsored by Senator Bingham, president of the National Aeronautical Association, giving the department powers of regulation over the schools, Edward P. Howard, chief of the Air Regulations Bureau, asserted today.

The Bingham amendment is to be pressed for passage in the House before adjournment. It would give the department, at request of the schools, authority of supervision and rating. Plans for submission of the department's regulatory program to the school representatives were worked out by Mr. Howard in cooperation with officials of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, which already is rating schools for admission to its membership.

The plan involves creating a class of "preferred" schools which pass the department's inspection and permitting students of these schools to credit themselves with flying hours, which at present are not allowed to be credited toward various forms of licenses issued by the department.

This time is what is known as "check" time, being the time spent in the air with an instructor, following the student's solo flights. Mr. Howard said he was confident the schools which meet the department's requirements would welcome the opportunity for a rating because of the value to the schools and the students of the privilege of being allowed to credit this "check" time.

AIR TRANSPORT CHAIN TO LINK ALL AMERICAS

Pan-American System to Hook Up Present Routes From New York to Buenos Aires.

Pan American Airways, Inc., announced yesterday plans for a comprehensive air transport system to unite South, Central and North America by connecting present units already in operation. The company's Ecuador-Peru line, which is operated through Peruvian Airways, a subsidiary owned jointly by Pan American and W. R. Grace & Co., has extended its service 600 miles southward to Mollendo, close to the border of Chile. This airway for both mail and passengers is now 1,377 miles long and serves the principal cities along the west coast of South America from Guayaquil to Mollendo.

The company plans to join this line to the United States by direct airway by establishing an air transport line between Cristobal, now the southern terminal of the air mail route between Miami, Fla., and the Canal Zone.

The plan includes extension of the west coast line to Valparaiso and thence across the Andes and overland to Buenos Aires and Montevideo on the east coast.

"If present plans are successful," a representative of the company said yesterday, "this line will ultimately provide an air transport system through South and Central America direct to the United States and will bring Buenos Aires, Valparaiso, Lima and other South American capitals within five to seven days of the United States."

The Pan American Company with W. R. Grace it was said has conducted technical surveys over this entire system during the past year.

SEES AIR SAFETY GAINING.

General O'Ryan Tells Security League Radio Will Better Record.

At an aviation luncheon given by the National Security League in the Army and Navy Club yesterday, General John F. O'Ryan paralleled the installation of the modern airline with that of the construction and maintenance of railroads. After calling attention to the records of safety made by air lines, he added that with remote radio control for airplanes not far off, these records would become more perfect as the responsibility of the human element was consequently reduced.

The luncheon was attended by prominent men of the army and navy, the aviation industry and representatives of banking houses which have recently become interested in the development of air transportation. Among the guests of honor were Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, who introduced the speakers; Lady Mary Heath, General and Mrs. James G. Harbord, Miss Ethel Boyd Bowers, Arthur V. B. Menken, Major Lester D. Gardner, General John Ross Delafield, Colonel and Mrs. Arthur Schermerhorn, Major Edward H. Snyder, Commander William S. Bainbridge and George W. Ochs-Oakes.

DENIES AIRCRAFT MERGER.

Universal Aviation Corporation Says No Agreement Has Been Made.

Interests reported to be connected with an aeronautical merger involving the Universal Aviation Corporation continued silent yesterday. Pynchon & Co., who have declined to affirm or deny an interest in the reported negotiations, issued a statement in behalf of L. H. Piper, president of Universal Aviation, saying no agreement had been made. This coincided with reports that negotiations were still under way.

Senator Wagg Sells Estate.

Senator Alfred H. Wagg has sold his 100-acre estate in Wading River, Suffolk County, L. I., to Arthur G. Meyer. The acreage, which has about one-half-mile frontage on Long Island Sound, is improved with a large concrete residence and several farm buildings. Warren Murdock was the broker.

ASK CAPITOL DOME BEACON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—An air mail pilot's narrow escape from death last night has prompted officials of Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., contractors for the New York-Miami route, to ask that warning lights be placed on the Capitol dome.

Amberse Banks, northbound from Richmond and flying by instruments in a heavy fog, was startled to see the dark mass of the dome looming directly before his 120-mile-an-hour plane. He sheered off to miss a collision by little more than a wing's length.

It was the second time this Winter that a night pilot has almost lost his life by crashing into the Capitol, Ferdinand Eble, Pitcairn manager, said.

He asked that the dome, illuminated during night sessions of Congress, be kept lighted not only to serve as a warning, which he said Department of Commerce regulations required for obstacles, but as a beacon to aid visiting pilots.

MOVES IN MARKET INQUIRY.

Mayor's Committee Organized to Seek Data for Curbing Graft.

An organization meeting of the committee recently appointed by Mayor Walker to investigate public markets was held yesterday in the office of Commissioner of Markets Thomas F. Dwyer. Officers were chosen and work of defining a program was begun.

George L. Amoroux, engineer, of 35 West Ninety-fifth Street was named chairman and Moses A. Leavitt, executive secretary of the Jewish Social Service Association, was made secretary. The other committee members are Oscar D. Simmons of Pinehurst Avenue and 182d Street, Philip M. Senior, 80 Maiden Lane, and Benjamin Frankel of 221 Fourth Avenue.

All except Mr. Leavitt were members of the December grand jury which investigated charges of graft in market administration and recommended the appointment of the citizens' committee. Mr. Leavitt said the committee would seek ways to obtain more efficient administration and to eliminate graft. The committee, he said, would first attempt to determine whether push cart markets should be abolished and then, if it is decided to keep these markets, examine the question of fees and try to determine whether they should be exacted by the city and how large they should be.

MAP DRIVE TO SAVE WESTCHESTER BEAUTY

Many Civic Groups Join Campaign on Unsightly Signs and Litter on Roadsides.

Representatives of Westchester County interests, including women's clubs, realty boards, garden clubs and advertisers, met yesterday at the offices of the Outdoor Advertisers Association of America, 1 Park Avenue, and organized a campaign to safeguard the natural panorama of the county against encroachments that mar its beauty and to improve roadside conditions that are distasteful and obstruct the view of the countryside.

Mrs. Charles Gregory of New Rochelle, chairman of the roadside improvement committee of the Westchester County Conservation Association, under whose auspices the movement was started in cooperation with the Outdoor Advertisers Association, announced after the meeting that she would appoint a committee to outline plans for an active effort to protect the natural beauty of the county.

I. W. Digges, chairman of the public relations division of the advertisers association, gave seven recommendations based on a survey of roadside conditions. They included "clean-up of theatrical daubs and automobile graveyards, the securing of better looking and better placement of real estate signs, the removal of all signs tacked on trees and the dressing up of 'hot-dog' stands and service stations."

Mrs. Gregory commended the advertisers association for its "definite stand in trying to consider the wishes of the public." She said the conservation association was not "attacking any industry, nor shielding any."

Representatives of all of the organizations present pledged their cooperation. Criticism was aimed particularly at those responsible for small paper signs advertising theatricals and at persons who litter the roadside with loose papers, bottles and other refuse.

HOUSING FOR WORKERS IN WALL ST. PLANNED

The erection of modern housing in the Wall Street district to acommodate the increasing number of workers there is proposed for the near future, according to Leonard S. Gans of the real estate firm of Leonard S. Gans Company, Inc. Announcement of the site will be made shortly, Mr. Gans said last night in a lecture at the West Side Y. M. C. A.

The housing will be primarily for single men and women employed in the district, Mr. Gans declared. An important consideration in catering to this class of the population was proximity to amusement centres, he pointed out. Largely for this reason a site near a subway station was chosen, it was said. The inhabitants of the proposed housing thus will be as near to Times Square as residents in West Ninety-sixth Street, according to Mr. Gans. The principals who commissioned him to assemble the site were not announced.

Numerous large office buildings have been erected near the lower end of Manhattan Island within the past few years, and several more similar projects have been announced recently. These have crowded more and more several small tenement districts, remnants of the past century, before the skyscraper era. The largest of these surviving districts is the Syrian quarter on Washington Street, near the Battery.

A building to house a few of the more prominent men in the Wall Street district is now under construction on West Street facing the North River, between Battery Place and Morris Street. A $3,000,000 thirty-five story clubhouse to rise on this site will contain 150 bedrooms, according to plans prepared by Starret & Van Vleck, architects, for the Downtown Athletic Club, Walter L. Conwell, president. The need for housing in the Wall Street area was felt particularly during recent heavy trading periods on the Stock Exchange, when overworked staffs of brokerage houses went to Brooklyn hotels and the nearest Manhattan hostelries for short periods of sleep.

Mr. Gans, who has specialized in the development of new neighborhoods, believes that the lower east side, above City Hall, will within five to twenty years become another centre for "white collar" workers.

SEEK TO BUY LEASE OF UNION LEAGUE CLUB

Several Prospective Buyers Have Made Offers—Deal Likely Within Two Weeks.

Alfred E. Marling, President of the Union League Club, in discussing yesterday the future of the club in connection with the vote of the members on Monday night to move to new quarters, said several offers had already been received to purchase the club's leasehold on the present property at the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street. The Executive Committee, of which Charles C. Paulding is chairman, has been authorized to sell the lease and enter into negotiations with the Morgan interests for a plot at the southwest corner of Park Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street, 95 by 130 feet.

The present lease held by the Union League Club expires in 1938, but the club has an option for renewal. Mr. Marling said he expected negotiations for the sale of the lease to be closed in about two weeks, at which time some definite announcement might be made regarding the projected removal. No definite plans have yet been made for the new building beyond the statement that it would probably be at least ten stories high.

Mr. Marling intimated that the purchaser of the club's lease would probably erect a business structure on the site. The club-house is diagonally opposite the Lord & Taylor building and adjoins the Arnold, Constable store, which is on the Fortieth Street corner of Fifth Avenue; the new Ovington building is directly opposite.

Waiting lists will shortly be established for applicants seeking executive positions with Electrolux, Inc., pioneers in a new health industry now commencing its operations in the United States; these lists already exist in many of the forty-three countries in which Electrolux operates over 600 branches.

Electrolux needs right now about ninety men to fill executive positions, paying salaries ranging from $4,000 to $25,000; many men who have been with us a matter of months are earning these salaries; inasmuch as we are the only ones in our field, we cannot give experienced men for this new industry; the most important qualifications are intelligence, loyalty, aggressiveness and vision.

We have a remarkable disease removing product (an electrical household unit), a strong international organization, a strong financial backing; the men selected to fill these positions will be given an intensive training in our policies and methods of operation, and will receive handsome bonus and commissions during their training and qualifying period.

Men who apply for personal interviews, 10-12; 2-4 P. M., today, CAN be able to start work immediately if they qualify.

SHIP AGREEMENTS APPROVED BY BOARD

PORTO RICO TERMS GRANTED

Other Agreements Cover Shipping From Chile and California to Atlantic Ports and Danzig.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Cunard Steamship Company, Ltd., today was admitted by the Shipping Board to participation in an agreement approved Jan. 22 and entered into by carriers in the New York City and West African trade. The Cunard Line undertakes to maintain direct line rates on transshipment cargo in this trade.

The Shipping Board also approved conference agreements of various steamship companies with the Bull Insular Line, Inc., covering shipments on through bills of lading to Porto Rican ports via New York City. Through rates are to apply, four-sevenths being allotted to the Bull Insular Company and three-sevenths to the other carrier, transshipment costs at New York City being carried by the Bull Line. The other lines are the American Merchant Lines, operating to and from London; the Hamburg-American Line and the North German Lloyd, Hamburg and Bremen and the White Star Line and the Atlantic Transport Line of the International Mercantile Marine Company and the Cunard Line, Liverpool.

Other compacts approved were:

Calmar Steamship Corporation with E. V. Rideout Company—through billing arrangement covering movement of shipments from Atlantic Coast ports to South Vallejo, Cal., via San Francisco, upon combination of local rates of the participating carriers, the intercoastal carrier absorbing cost of transshipment when shipments aggregate less than 12,000 pounds, while the Rideout vessels are to call at Calmar pier for shipments of 12,000 pounds or more.

The New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company with Grace Line, Inc.—through billing arrangement covering movement of shipments of garlic and dried beans from Chile to Porto Rico upon a combination of local rates plus cost of transfer at New York City.

American-Hawaiian Steamship Company with the Baltic America Line, Inc.—arrangement covering movement of shipments on through bills of lading from Pacific Coast ports of the United States to Danzig and apportioning the through rates, which are to be based on direct line rates and cost of transferring shipments at New York City to be shared in equal proportions between the participating carriers.

FRIED BACK ON AMERICA.

Captain to Be Honored at Scranton on Eve of Saturday Sailing.

Captain George Fried will be in command of the America of the United States Lines when she leaves Pier 4, Hoboken, Saturday noon, for Southampton and Cherbourg. On the eve of her departure he will be the guest of honor at a dinner of St. David's Society at Scranton, Pa., and will be in New York only six hours before he takes the ship out. When the America made her last trip, Harry Manning, chief officer, who figured prominently in the rescue of the crew of the Florida, was in command and Captain Fried was touring the country.

Captain Fried will leave Hoboken Friday at 2:30 P. M. on the special car Scranton of the Lackawanna Railroad, and is scheduled to reach Scranton about 6:20 P. M. He will return to New York about 6:30 Saturday morning. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Fried, Owen A. Smith, passenger traffic manager of the United States Lines; John Dwyer, assistant passenger traffic manager, and Martin L. Petry, public relations director. W. H. Dominick, general passenger agent of the Lackawanna Railroad, and E. M. Moffatt, general superintendent of the railroad at Scranton, will also be in the party.

A gold medal will be presented to Captain Fried by Inwood Post of the American Legion, March 22, at the annual ball of the post at the Hotel Pennsylvania, if Captain Fried is in the city then. Otherwise it will be presented at a later date at Public School 52, Isham Street and Vermilyea Avenue.

CARRINGTON IS RE-ELECTED.

Hudson Night Line Directors Also Back Chief in Pier Controversy.

The directors of the Hudson River Night Line re-elected Colonel Edward C. Carrington president and chairman of the board at their annual meeting yesterday and gave him a vote of confidence in his canceling of the contract with the city for the sale of Pier 32. It was said after the meeting that the Night Line would operate from Pier 32 throughout the coming season.

It was also announced that the company had chartered the steamers Ferdinando Gorges and Mercules from the Maine Central Railroad pending the completion of two Diesel boats which are under construction. The railroad vessels are now operated on the Kennebec River, between Woolwich and Bath, Me.

Addition of the two boats to the company's fleet will result in the development of the freight business of the Night Line and eventually trucks and trailers will be employed to make possible the transfer of freight without the breaking of cargo at New York, Albany, Troy or intermediate points. The newly acquired boats will increase the automobile-carrying capacity of the Night Line to 300.

Shipping Board Sells Lake Vessel.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The steamer Chamberno, a lake-built steel cargo vessel of 3,610 deadweight tons, now laid up at Norfolk, Va., was sold by the Shipping Board today to the Baltimore and Carolina Steamship Company of Baltimore for $36,000.

FLEET IN LAST MANOEUVRES

ABOARD U. S. S. WYOMING, WITH THE UNITED STATES FLEET OFF PANAMA, Feb. 26 (AP).—The combined forces of the United States Navy, under the leadership of Admiral H. A. Wiley, Commander-in-Chief, resumed today their three-day program of tactical exercises which got under way yesterday.

Virtually the entire naval force of the nation, with the exception of the Asiatic fleet and a few unattached craft, is taking part in the manoeuvres off the Pacific entrance to the Panama Canal.

Battleships, cruisers, submarines, destroyers, aircraft carriers, mine layers, mine sweepers, supply vessels and tenders, together with hundreds of aircraft are engaged in solving technical problems which would be encountered in actual warfare. The combined fleet is manned by 48,000 men.

Navy Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ABOARD THE U. S. SUBMARINE TENDER HOLLAND, AT SEA, Feb. 25.—The baseball, swimming, rowing, tennis and golf championships were decided during the ten days that the United States fleet was preparing to go to sea for the three days' tactical exercises which will practically complete the Winter manoeuvres of the year 1929 so far as Panama is concerned.

After returning to port on Thursday the fleet will remain inactive until March 8, when the scouting fleet and auxiliaries will pass through the canal en route to Guantanamo, Cuba. The battle fleet and its train will depart on March 11 for the San Diego-San Pedro area.

The submarine divisions of the battle fleet departed this morning for Central American ports and will conduct engineering exercises en route to Punta Renia, Costa Rica, their first port.

An interesting feature of this leg of the voyage is that the tender Holland is to investigate a report just made by a German steamer that soundings of only ten meters were made at a point off the Costa Rican coast where charts show a depth of thirty fathoms. The possibility of its having been raised due to a recent volcanic disturbance has been suggested, but the probability is that the point in question is one missed in previous soundings.

PARTON BACK WITH SHIPS.

Retirement Ends With Call to Go on Laurentic Cruise March 9.

James Parton, for fifty years in the ship-operating field, who retired last year as manager of the London office of the White Star and associated lines, arrived here Monday night on the Minnetonka of the Atlantic Transport Line to prepare for his twelfth cruise to the Mediterranean and his forty-eighth crossing of the Atlantic.

Mr. Parton is known to thousands of Americans through his activities in the shipping field. He was called from retirement to assume charge of the White Star liner Laurentic, which will sail March 9 on a cruise of the Mediterranean.

IDENTIFY WEAPON IN ACTRESS MURDER

SHE SAW LOOT IN SUITCASE

Another Woman Testifies She Got Gifts Stolen From Harrington Home After Slaying.

A combination hammer and jimmy, alleged by the State to have been used by Frederick W. Edel, ex-convict, in the murder of Mrs. Ernestine O. Harrington, actress, in her apartment at 617 West 190th Street on Dec. 23, 1927, was identified by two witnesses yesterday at Edel's trial for first degree murder in General Sessions as one they had seen in Edel's suitcase the day after the killing.

Miss Lillian Lopez of 9 Fourth Street, Springfield, Mass., and Emil Angers, a taxicab chauffeur of 39 Oswego Street, Springfield, told Judge Nott and the jury they had seen the hammer in the suitcase in a room Edel occupied in a New Haven hotel. Miss Lopez said Edel had met her and Miss Emily Grayson of 23 Park Place, Springfield, at a party in Springfield in the evening after the slaying and later the chauffeur drove them and Edel to New Haven.

Saw Harrington Loot in Suitcase.

"I became suspicious of him when we reached New Haven," she went on, "and when he was asleep I opened his suitcase with the key I had taken from his vest. I saw the silver hammer and some letters addressed to Guy Harrington, Mrs. Harrington's husband, gas bills made out in Mrs. Harrington's name, two alarm clocks and a wedding ring with the inscription "From Guy to Emma."

She also identified a diamond ring and a wristwatch which Edel had given to Miss Grayson. Miss Grayson corroborated this testimony. Previous witnesses, including Harrington, from whom the slain woman had obtained divorce a short time before the murder, had identified the jewelry, letters and other articles mentioned by Miss Lopez. The Assistant District Attorney told the jury at the opening of the trial that Edel struck Mrs. Harrington on the head with the hammer before robbing her apartment.

Miss Grayson testified that Edel introduced himself to her as an engineer for the Westinghouse Electric Company and took her and Miss Lopez in Angers's taxicab to Holyoke and Hartford before going to New Haven. Edel gave her a fur coat, which had been identified in court Monday as the property of the murdered woman. Miss Grayson said she declined to keep the coat, with the comment that it be "couldn't give me a better coat I didn't want any."

Saw Blood Spot on Vest.

Miss Betty Jarvis of 206 White Street, Springfield, testified that on the night after the Harrington murder Edel gave her a mirror set, a fancy comb, a handkerchief and some drapery, which also had been identified as having been stolen from the Harrington home. She added that when she inquired about a blood spot on his vest Edel replied, "I've been drinking bad liquor and had a nose bleed."

Mrs. Lillian Holton of Flushing, Queens, informed the jury that she occupied the apartment under Mrs. Harrington at the time of the murder, told of hearing the screams of the actress at about the time of the murder.

How Quick the Story Spreads
"Tareytons keep Nerves Steady"

ALL SET? HOLD IT NOW! The photographer caught Transitman W. Littman busy on the job, laying out lines for an important construction project. "Sure," he said, when asked about cigarettes, "I smoke Tareytons all the time. Know why? Nerves have no place in my game . . . this is a precision job." And if you've ever watched a surveyor's gang work, you know it's no easy job, laying out line after line and keeping them all straight and true. Unless, of course, your body and your nerves are in the best of shape.

Smokers Everywhere Give the Same Reason for Choosing Tareytons

LIKE WILDFIRE! That's the way the good news has swept the country. East coast . . . west coast . . . from every state you hear the same story . . .

"We've turned to Tareytons . . . they keep our nerves steady . . . leave us feeling no after effects even following a heavy day's smoking!"

Think of the pace we follow today! Think of the high pressure jobs . . . the hurly-burly of modern life . . . traffic jams and crowded streets . . .

What Smokers Say

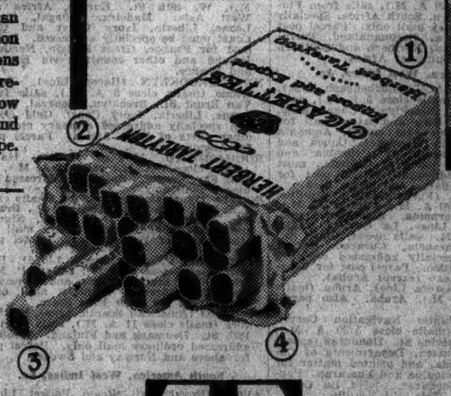
See if there isn't a difference!

Will you try it? Starting today?



1. Humidor Package. 2. Sealed Perforated Top. 3. Quality Tobaccos. 4. Heavy Foil. That's why there's no dryness . . . no crushing. The extra heavy foil used in Tareyton's famous humidor package assures you a fresh full-flavored smoke down to the last cigarette.

NEEDS STEADY HAND!—Can you imagine yourself patronizing a manicurist with jumpy nerves? Miss Florence King knows you wouldn't . . . so she keeps a watchful eye on her nerves. "Yes, I smoke," she said, speaking of nervousness. "Smoke all the time in my free hours. But I smoke Tareytons . . . they keep my nerves in fit condition." No wonder her patronage is large and growing!

HAS TO MAKE SPEED!—With drawings appearing weekly in leading humorous magazines, Russell Patterson has to be both funny and fast. "And don't think it isn't a drag on the nerves," Mr. Patterson commented. "I've smoked Tareytons for a long time . . . and they've kept my nervous system in shape to handle the daily big rush."
